6—In Memoriams

JOPLING, Margaret Harriet—In loving memory of my dear wife, who passed away August 30, 1947.
Her loving face I hope to see again,
Though the days have passed away;
Sleep on, dear wife, and take your rest,
They miss you most who loved you best.
—Sadly missed by her husband and daughter.

SWITZER—In loving memory of Myrtle Shannon, wife of S. W. Switzer, who died September 8, 1943.
God knew that you were suffering
That the hills were hard to climb
So He quietly closed your eyelids
And whispered peace be thine.
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair
Some time, some day I know not when I'll meet my loved one there.
—Sadly missed by her husband.

Trim Carrier 28 Feet To Pass Through Canal

PORT COLBORNE, Aug. 30. — The go-ahead signal has been given the trimming of the former United States Naval Air Training Carrier Sable which has been moored at Port Colborne for the past two weeks while her flight deck and sides were trimmed to permit passage through the Welland Canal.

Work on the 9,000-ton carrier, formerly the Greater Buffalo, operating passenger service between Detroit and Buffalo, was interrupted this week as United States customs clearance papers were withheld and while instructions on the trimming of the big steel craft were clarified.

Only the control tower had been removed from the port side and placed in the centre when the work was interrupted. The customs clearance arrived yesterday and H. E. Heighton, president of H. E. Heighton & Son, cutting of the ship for canal passage, after conference with canal officials, settled on a 28-foot reduction in width to 70 feet for the passage.

Steel Company had ordered 28 feet cut from one side, but the heavy list was considered much too dangerous and 14 feet will be taken from each side. It means burning through plates of the flight deck and going down through paddle-wheels on both sides of the ship. A 36-inch steel shaft on which the paddles are mounted, will have to be cut away eight feet on either side, each section to be removed and fastened amidship weighing about 12 tons.

The Sable will be 70 feet wide when she is towed through the canal and this extra width is permitted because her winches will be used to keep her steady in the centre of the locks. One of her boilers is sealed off and used as an air pressure tank to operate the winches. A gasoline engine will provide the pressure.

Find Explosives Arrest Man 23

LONDON, Aug. 30.—(Reuters). Monte Harris, 23, arrested in the East End Friday, appeared in court today charged with illegal possession of explosives.

He was remanded in custody until next Monday.

A Scotland Yard inspector told the court that he had seen Harris leave a shop of which he admitted he was the tenant. He went back to the shop with Harris and search the place.

When he was charged, Harris is alleged to have told the inspector 'This is a political and national matter."

"I have been caught red-handed and I am not giving you any sob stuff, Harris was quoted as saying. "I am guilty and I want it all cleared up."

Harris is alleged to have had in his possession 365 rounds of 303 ammunition, 25 detonators, 12 primers, four cylinders of dry guncotton and a charge of wet guncotton, a box containing 12 primers and a bag containing 48 feet of supply fuse.

Couple Determined Cross Ocean In Duck

MONTREAL, Aug. 31 —(CP)— Sunburned and smiling, Benjamin Carlin and his pretty 31-year-old wife, Elinore, arrived here early today in the U.S. tanker New Jersey, determined to make another attempt at crossing the Atlantic in their 24-foot amphibious truck—or "duck" as it was known in wartime.

The New York couple was picked up by the tanker last Wednesday after drifting helplessly for about 10 days, roughly 270 miles off New York. They had started from New York early in the month with the Azores as first port of call but irreparable mechanical trouble halted their voyage.

They were tossed around in their pint-sized craft for more than a week before the Montreal-bound tanker picked up their weak signal and went to the rescue.

Decide Edward Hill Will Stand Trial

BRANTFORD, Aug. 30. (CP) — Edward T. Hill, 50, charged with the murder last Aug. 6 of May Maracle, a woman with whom he lived on the nearby Six Nations Indian Reserve, was committed for trial today.

Norman Licker, Hill's Counsel, argued the Crown had not offered enough evidence to warrant a high court hearing. Five witnesses testified today the woman's body was found huddled beneath bedclothes in Hill's bedroom, beaten to death. Police said Hill later gave himself up and said he had killed the woman. The defence offered no testimony today.

G.B.S. Urges Russia To Agree On Words

LONDON, Aug. 30 — (AP). — George Bernard Shaw wrote another letter to The Times today, urging again that Russia and the west agree on some definitions of the words they are using.

"The Berlin crisis is facing us with the alternatives of negotiation or war," the Irish playwright said in his second letter to The Times in less than a fortnight. "Negotiation is impossible unless the parties know what their words mean and express it consistently in the same words."

In his first letter he proposed a new dictionary of common words "to clear our heads."

Grant Every Russ Citizen Right To Build Own Home

MOSCOW, Aug. 30 — (AP). — A special decree of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet today gave every Russian citizen the right to build and own a home.

At the same time, a decree of the council of ministers of the U.S.S.R. ordered municipal and rural governments to make available to citizens desiring to construct their own homes land plots "in eternal use."

The one problem which has to be solved now is how to get the house built. There are no contractors to whom the Soviet citizen can turn, since private enterprise on an individual basis is illegal in this socialist state.

There obviously are going to be several ways of getting homes built, of course. Apparent prospects include:

1. The citizen can build the house himself, getting help from private individuals — carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers — and purchasing the necessary materials from state retail outlets.

2. It is entirely possible that home building co-operative organizations will be formed to whom the prospective homeowner can turn for assistance on a contractual basis in constructing his house.

3. Within the next year it is quite probable that prefabricated houses will go on sale in Soviet retail stores with the price probably including erection costs.

In any event, it appears that the new decrees by the presidium and the council of ministers are intended to get Russian citizens into private homes and therefore the government probably will do something about see that they get built.

Likely Protest Firing At Plane

JERUSALEM, Aug. 30 — (CP). —Observers today expected a United Nations protest over Arabs firing Sunday at a United Nations plane high over the Holy City.

Anti-aircraft fire opened up in the old city of Jerusalem for the first time since Arab-Jewish fighting began in Palestine, when the United Nations plane flew over.

Gen. Aage Lundstroem, chief of staff to Count Folke Bernadotte, UN mediator, was expected here today from Cairo.

Gen. Lundstroem said Sunday night Jews and Egyptians have agreed to proposals for bringing peace to the neutral areas of Jerusalem. He said the agreement would bring to an early end the "ruthless battle" between Jews and Arabs in Jerusalem.

An official source said a group of UN observers was fired on by Arabs Sunday when they approached two points in the Holy City contested by Jews and Arabs. There were no casualties.

In Amman, Trans-Jordan, an Arab Legion spokesman today claimed Jews violated the truce six times Sunday in the Jerusalem area.

11th European Killed In Guerrilla Fighting

SINGAPORE, Aug. 30. — (Reuters). — Chinese insurgents today shot and killed the European manager and a Malay special constable in a dawn attack on Tmbah tine mine in Negri Sembilah, southwest Malaya.

The manager, named Hunter, has a wife and children living in Scotland. He was the 11th European killed since the guerrilla war broke out.

At nearby Pertang police station another Malay special constable was killed and two were wounded.

One rebel was believed to have been wounded.

One of two more terrorists killed in the last 24 hours shot himself after being wounded, it was revealed today in a police communique issued at Kuala Lumpur.

Two Trenton Fliers At Cleveland Show

TRENTON, Aug. 30 — (CP). — Two RCAF pilots will put a pair of Vampire jet aircraft through their paces at the national air races at Cleveland, O., Sept. 4-5-6, RCAF officers said today.

The jets, piloted by Flt.-Lt. J. F. (Stocky) Edwards, DFC and bar, DSM, of Battleford, Sask., and Flt.-Lt. C. L. V. Gervais, of Waubaushene, Ont., will not take part in the races but will demonstrate Vampire performance. A third plane, which will be flown to Cleveland Sept. 2 or 3, will remain on the ground for spectators to examine.

Engineering Officer, FO J. Y. R. Gaudrau, of Ottawa, and his crew of aircraftsmen, will be flown to Cleveland in a Dakota.

U.S. Heat Belt Gets Relief

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 — (AP). — Cool air from Canada fanned out over parts of the United States heat belt today and brought some relief to sweltering millions.

The welcome breezes, after more than a week of 90 to 100 degree temperatures, will be only a temporary break in the late August heat wave.

Hot weather, with daytime temperatures headed for the 90s, continued in the northern plains and midwest areas. More hot weather also was returning to areas cooled off Sunday in the midwest, forecasters said.

As some relief from the hot spell came, the death toll from the intense heat mounted to 173 in 16 states.

Cooler weather was forecast for New York City after Sunday's high of 95. The highest reading across the United States was 119 in Blythe, Calif., in the desert, breaking a 12-year record.

Well-Driller Dies

TISDALE, Sask., Aug. 30 — (CP). — Well-driller George Sorbo died Sunday from fumes at the bottom of a 40-foot well and an R.C.M.P. constable who attempted to rescue him is in hospital in serious condition. Police said Sorbo was overcome yesterday when he entered the well after exploding dynamite to clear some stone.

Consider Enlarging Brockville Boundaries

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 30 (CP).— It was learned here today that municipal authorities are considering enlarging the boundaries of the town so that it will extend to the second concession of the township of Elizabethtown and absorb territory in which considerable post-war building has taken place.

If carried out the plan would no doubt involve the laying of new water mains, new and enlarged sewerage and hydrant service. Application to provincial authorities would have to be made before the development would take place.

Say Civil War May Split Korea

HONOLULU, Aug. 30 (AP).— Lt.-Gen. John R. Hodge, retiring United States Commander in Korea, conceded to-day there is a possibility of civil war in the split country.

He added that he thought South Koreans would resist any Communist invasion attempt from the Russian-controlled North Korea.

(As General Hodge was interviewed in Honolulu, the United States Army in Seoul announced it had inercepted a North Korean broadcast in which the Russian-controlled regime threatened to destroy the elected government in the American zone.

(The North Korean broadcast heaped abuse on the new republic's leaders, whose election was supervised by a United Nations Commission in May.)

Hodge is en route to Washington for reassignment after three years in Korea and war duty in the Pacific.

Hodge expressed the opinion that North and South Korea might eventually be united. It depends, he said, on the success of the new South Korean government.

1200 Rubber Workers Return To Factory

KITCHENER, Aug. 30 (CP). — The more than 1,200 employees of the Dominion Rubber Company's tire plant returned to work today.

Workers of the Banbury (mixing) department returns to adjustments of their rates which mean approximately 6¾ cents an hour to the 51 employees of this department, say union officials.

For almost a week, the plant had been operating on an 80-percent efficiency "slowdown" basis, suspended Wednesday when plant operation ceased because of the heat wave.

Original Owner Offers To Buy Trenton Factory

TORONTO, Aug. 30. — The former owner of a Trenton jewelry manufacturing business said Saturday he has offered to repurchase the firm he sold in January, 1947, to put it on a paying basis.

L. G. Proctor, who founded the company of Benedict Proctor in 1912, said he had written owner, H. J. Craddock, after he said he would have to close the plant when employees asked for a wage increase. Later the workers voted to accept a five-cents-an-hour reduction to keep the plant open.

In a letter to Mr. Craddock, Mr. Proctor said: "I am willing to buy back your entire stock holdings and put the factory on a profit-sharing basis with employees as I am greatly interested in them. I feel sure the business can make money, as it did for a number of years. I am willing to gamble for the sake of the employees."

Earlier this week, Russell Harvey, an AFL organizer, said he was negotiating for purchase of the firm as a private individual.

Name Fisher One President

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 30—(AP). —Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, the Archbishop of Canterbury, was chosen today by the nominating committee of the World Council of Churches as one of the six presidents of the council. The election will take place at a plenary session later.

This nominee is Dr. T. C. Chao, dean of the School of Religion of Yenching University, Peiping, China.

The other four nominees for presidents are Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam of New York, Bishop of the Methodist Church, United States; Pasteur Marc Boegner of the Reformed Church of France, Paris; the Archbishop of Thyateira, Greece; Dr. S. Germandos, and the Archbishop of Upsala, Sweden, Dr. Erling Eidem.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP
is a lot of little things

SAFETY EDUCATION BEGINS WITH THE VERY YOUNG

Education in safety is a life-long process. It starts with youngsters when they are old enough to play. Wise parents then impress their children with the need to be careful. The first step is teaching them to put away their toys, to keep them off stairs and walks where they might be hazards for others. By training your children in the rules of safety until they become second nature to them, you are teaching them the principles of "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Chief Refuses To Enforce Sunday Blue Law

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 30. — (CP).—Western Ontario summer resort amusement centres ran wide open Sunday in defiance of the Sunday blue laws which, through the Lord's Day Alliance and the attorney-general's department, would have closed all concessions except refreshment stands.

At Port Stanley and Grand Bend, most accessible to London and district residents, operators of beach amusements opened their places of business at the usual times and continued to run until late last night.

In both centres, amusements were open with the full knowledge of local police forces who apparently did nothing to curb the concessions. At Port Stanley, on Lake Erie, Chief Ken Brockmeyer said pointedly he is employed by the village of Port Stanley and not the attorney-general's department.

"I don't care if they stay open and I am going to make no attempt to close them," he stated.

"I have no complaints from Port Stanley residents," the chief said, "and therefore I feel the residents want the amusements open. If they do, I am not going to do anything about closing them."

Police officials were not available at Grand Bend, on Lake Huron, but it was learned none of the concessionaires had been warned to close. Last Friday, John Manore, chief village trustee, said the village chief constable had been instructed the beach could remain open yesterday but must close next Sunday. No explanation was given for the week's grace.

SATURDAY'S BLISTERING HEAT failed to daunt the thousands who turned out at the CNE, Toronto, to witness and take part in the Warriors' Day ceremonies. This air view gives an idea of the multitude which swarmed in and around the new grandstand as Rear Admiral the Earl Mountbatten of Burma and Romney stood on a reviewing stand before the great structure and took the salute.

Australian Industrial Output Soars As Agriculture Lags

By ALAN REID.

CANBBERRA, Aug. 30—(Reuters). — Australia is no longer a hewer of wood and a drawer of water.

During the war Australia's industrial output outstripped her agricultural production, and this condition now is accepted as a permanent feature of the Australian economy.

During the year just ended Australia's factory production reached the record value of $1,651,600,000, more than double the value of output in 1939.

An official estimate by Prime Minister Chifley of the amount of fresh capital either invested or to be invested in Australia for the expansion of established enterprises from the United Kingdom is $26,000,000.

United States interests are placing in Australia nearly $44,000,000 capital, while other overseas concerns are responsible for another $4,000,000.

Basing his figures upon company registrations and the other sources of information, Chifley estimates that $72,000,000 will come from the United Kingdom, $24,000,000 from the United States, and $6,000,000 from other sources.

Expansion Programs

Expansion programs already cover a wide range of goods, including medical equipment, textiles, plastic fabrics, invalid foods, carpets, industrial chemicals, pharmaceutical goods, dyed and dressed furs, flexible steel shafting and other machinery, assembled motor vehicles, paper, cranes, decking and harbor equipment, garage equipment, refined oil products, internal combustion engines, paint and pigment, toilet preparations, fluid - measuring instruments, rubber products, elastic, metal alloys, vacuum cleaners, fractional horse-power motors, clothing and footwear, razor blades, bateries, tools and gauges, clocks and thermostatic controls.

Roughly one out of every three of Australia's working population now works in a factory.

International Regime

LONDON, Aug. 30 ((AP)—Britain was reliably reported Friday night prepared to accept in principle a United States proposal for an international regime for a large part of the Antarctic continent. An informed Whitehall source said Britain would retain sovereign rights she claims over the Falkland Islands, which are off the Argentine coast. But, he added, Britain would probably be ready to renounce claims to the Falkland Island dependencies in the Antarctic region.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Pearl Israelson, 28, and her son, Gerry.

Police said the woman apparently had been brooding over the death of her husband, an amateur softball player, in a traffic accident near Thessalon in northern Ontario several weeks ago.

Later, detectives learned from Calgary police McLaren was wanted for the shooting of Lem Young Wing and the murder charge was laid.

Roberts, Canadians Praised By Papers

MANCHESTER, Aug. 30 — (Reuters). — The Manchester Guardian says today that the fact there was no withdrawal from Normandy in 1944 was "one debt we owe to Maj.-Gen. (G. H.) Roberts and the Second Canadian Division" which carried out the Dieppe reconnaissance in August, 1942.

In an editorial on Earl Mountbatten's remarks on Dieppe at Toronto Saturday, the Guardian says that the former commando chief had no need to defend his conduct in regard to the Dieppe reconnaissance in force.

"Armies and navies like individuals learn by bitter experience," the editorial says. "An experiment against the fortress of Europe was vital to our combined operations."

Will Visit Canada

LONDON, Aug. 30 — (CP). — The Sunday Express said in its political column Sunday that Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has made "a definite decision" to visit Canada and will leave for Ottawa" about the 16th of next month." Office Clerks Flock To Save Britain's Harvest

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Aug. 30 — (CP). — Tens of thousands of office workers, clerks, typists, accountants and civil servants, joined farmers and farm-hands this week-end in Britain's battle for the crops.

From surrounding villages came local postmen, railway and post office workers, sextons, the squires' guests and thirsty customers from the taverns—all helping to retrieve the rain-battered crops.

In Lincolnshire, church congregations dwindled to six and the pubs were practically empty.

The oldest volunteer was Walter Nickols, 78. He stacked barley on a farm in Cornwall. One of the youngest was Pat Pegram, 12, driving a tractor in Hertfordshire.

In Gloucestershire, where 2,000 volunteers worked until after dark, farmers said the bulk of the harvest could be won by Thursday. Kent reported a yield of eight quarters of wheat to an acre in many districts with nearly all the cereals cut and restoeked, the grain dried out after the heavy rains.

Spring wheat in Sussex promised to be a record crop. In Dorset only 20 per cent. of the grain is still in the fields. In Suffolk, 60 per cent. has been harvested.

Midlands farmers, assisted by 25,000 holiday-makers, say four-fifths of the crops have been saved and the harvest is expecteo to beabove average. For night work they are using tractors to generate electricity for lighting.

Similar conditions prevail Scotland where farm workers a putting in 90-hour weeks assisted by thousands of volunteers.

FRIENDS RACE ON HIGHWAY, ONE KILLED

Tito Is Giving Lieutenants More Power

Outrages Russians By Arresting Greek Guerrillas

LONDON, Aug. 31 — (AP). — Reports reaching here said Premier Tito tightened his grip on Yugoslavia to-day, promoting to greater power his trusted governmental and party lieutenants, Eduard Kardelj and Alexander Rankovic.

Stanoje Simic, the non-Communist Foreign Minister, was replaced.

Vice-Premier Kardelj was promoted from Chairman of the Control Commission to Foreign Minister.

Rankovic, who heads Yugoslavia's police, now becomes a Vice-Premier. He remains Interior Minister.

Kardelj and Rankovic were singled out with Tito by the Russian - dominated Communist Information Bureau as the arch-foes of the Moscow line in Yugoslavia.

The shifts were announced in a decree of the ruling presidium of the Yugoslav National Assembly, which put into effect a "reconstruction of the Yugoslav government." The decree was broadcast from Belgrade by Tanjug, official Yugoslav news agency.

Kardelj retains his post as vice premier.

Intern Guerrillas

The announcement coincides with dispatches from Greece indicating that Tito further is outraging the Russians by interning Communist guerrillas fleeing across the border before the advances of Greek government forces.

It also coincides with the newest cominform (Communist international information bureau) bulletin which resumed its denunciations of Tito. The bulletin, issued in Bucharest, Romania said Tito's Yugoslav Communists can "afford to behave impudently" because they believe Russia will not abandon them.

Simic, stepping out of the foreign offices, takes a post as minister without portfolio, Tanjug announced.

Change Cars, Go 95 MPH Miss Curve

Belleville Man Dies But Brighton Driver Severely Injured

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 31 (CP).— Death today ended what police described as a wild, pre-dawn automobile race on No. 14 Highway south of here. A second driver was severely injured.

Fatally injured was George Aslestine, 30, of Belleville. In hospital with concussion and head cuts is Joseph McAnnaly of RR 2, Brighton.

Police said Aslestine and McAnnaly exchanged their new-model high-powered cars before setting out to cross Prince Edward county. Each driver was alone in an automobile.

Travelling at speeds which according to police reached 95-miles-an-hour, the vehicles approached a curve about three miles south of here. McAnnally was in front with Aslestine close behind. As the leading car slowed down for the curve, police believe the second car bumped it from the road and then went out of control too. The front vehicle grazed a tree, rolled over and was wrecked. McAnnally was hurt.

Meanwhile, the Aslestine-driven car on its side wrapped around the tree and its engine was catapulted nearly 100 yards. The driver was taken to hospital where he died on admittance.

Both vehicles piled up on the lawn of W. Reddick. His wife ran to the scene when she was awakened by the crash.

Aslestine is survived by his widow and two children.

QUEEN WILHELMINA of The Netherlands is celebrating her 68th birthday and the 50th anniversary of her ascension to the throne. Hundreds throng streets to pay her homage.

Dutch Queen Observes 68th Birthday

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 31 (AP)— Queen Wilhelmina, in the last week of her long reign over the Netherlands, today celebrates her 68th birthday and the 50th anniversary of her ascension to the throne.

It also is the first day of a week-long golden jubilee celebration, at the end of which she will abdicate and turn the duties of state over to her daughter, Princess Juliana.

Queen Wilhelmina came to Amsterdam Monday from her country estate at Apeldoorn. Hundreds of thousands of her subjects thronged the streets to pay her homage. She paused briefly at The Hague on the way to resume the duties of the throne which have been exercised by Juliana as Princess Regent.

Today's program calls for her to ride through the streets in state in an open carriage. A jubilee pageant will be held at the 1928 Olympic Stadium, climaxed by a fireworks display.

Amsterdam turned on the jubilee spirit Monday night. Colored lights blazed up all over the city and a carnival atmosphere took hold. Enough visitors are expected to double the city's normal population of 800,000.

For the small business man the jubilee is a windfall. For the taxpayer, it means more expense. Every shopkeeper donated a minimum of $20 and a maximum of $40 for decorations and some larger establishments donated what are called "fabulous" sums for preparations to boost the spirit of gaiety.

Military Governors Meet To Discuss Currency, Lifting Berlin Blockade

First Definite Word That Russians Ready To Halt Pressure Tactics; Announce Further Meetings Will Be Held

BERLIN, Aug. 31 — (AP). — The Big Four meeting on Berlin's east-west problems ended tonight, an hour after the four military governors of Germany met in their first session in five months. The State Department in Washington said the governors met to discuss measures to lift the blockade of Berlin and to solve the dispute over rival Russian and Western marks circulating in the German capital.

After the meeting ended, it was officially stated that there would be further meetings.

Press officer Michael McDermott told a press conference the military governors of the United States, British, French and Russian zones will discuss "certain technical questions involved in the restoration of communications."

McDermott's statement was the first definite word that the lifting of the Russian blockade of Berlin will be considered as well as a possible agreement to end the difficulties caused by use of eastern and western currency in Berlin.

The four-power Berlin talks got under way today as the outgrowth of preliminary discussions in Moscow.

Satisfactory Conditions

Diplomatic officials emphasized that holding the currency discussions means the Berlin talks were set up under conditions satisfactory to the western powers. If not, they said, there would be no discussions in Berlin.

The western powers have insisted that before they would even talk over the currency situation the Russians must lift the blockade of the former German capital.

McDermott's brief statement said:

"In connection with these further discussions, certain technical questions involved in the restoration of communications and the currency problem will require consideration and recommendations from the military governors in Berlin."

McDermott declined further comment on the Berlin discussions.

Denies Quebec Supporting Any Candidate

MONTREAL, Aug. 31—(CP).— Progressive Conservatives in Quebec Province have not promised support to any candidate who may be nominated for party leadership at the party's national convention in Ottawa, Ivan Sabourin, party leader in Quebec, said today.

He made this statement in the wake of Monday's caucus here, attended by some 100 delegates.

Immediately after the caucus, in a press interview, Mr. Sabourin said that should Premier George Drew of Ontario accept nomination for the party leadership being relinquished by John Bracken, Mr. Drew would carry the convention "as he would carry the next general election."

Mr. Sabourin added, however, that it was stressed at the caucus that every delegate should remain open-minded and it would indeed be unwise to think anything about forming a bloc around any one man "because we should be expected throughout the convention to think Canada wide."

(A Canadian Press story on Monday night erroneously quoted Mr. Sabourin as saying that the Quebec delegation to the Progressive Conservative national convention would support Premier Drew)

He was unable to say if Mr. Drew would accept nomination to succeed retiring John Bracken as National leader. "It is something he will have to decide for himself but it is the opinion of most provincial leaders that he will accept."

Sabourin, who will accompany Quebec delegates to the National leadership convention in Ottawa next month, said Quebec probably would propose a candidate but it was too early yet for any decision.

Canada Accepts Baltic Refugee Group

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 (CP).—The first of 29 of some 100 Baltic refugees who crossed the Atlantic in small boats this summer to escape from Soviet-dominated homelands will be formally admitted to Canada today.

The 29 are the refugees who crossed on the small motor-vessel Astrid and landed at Quebec City Aug. 14.

The refugees along with two boatloads which arrived at Halifax and another which docked at Saint John, NB, have been quartered in immigration detention barracks.

The immigration service, announcing the decision in the case of the first boat-load, said no verdict has been reached in the other cases.

Just as the 29 at Quebec were, the others are under investigation intended, principally, to make sure that all the refugees are just that.

In the course of the investigation, United Kingdom and other European authorities have been approached for information, a task made more difficult by the fact that the refugees' homelands are behind the iron curtain and ordinary channels of information on a potential immigrant are closed.

Most of the refugees are Estonians, with a sprinkling of Latvians.

Labor Department officials have interviewed the refugees to find out what skills they had and what employment they could fit. The Department is prepared to find jobs for the 29 who have been admitted.

Although the Quebec group were detained for 16 days before permission to enter was given, their case was considered sympathetically from the beginning.

A similar group was admitted last year after the United States had refused them permission to enter. A Canadian official said soon after the arrival of the Astrid that the refugees "will not be made to suffer."

Canada's Population Jumps Will Be 13 Million Soon

OTTAWA, Aug. 31—(CP).—Canada, riding the crest of the biggest immigration wave since 1930, soon will have a population of 13,000,000. A. H. LeNeveau, chief of the social analysis branch of the Bureau of Statistics, says that mark probably will be passed in October. The population was estimated last June 1 at 12,883,000, compared with 11,489,713 in 1941, the last census year.

But the increase in the 12 months ended June 1 told a more noteworthy story. The rise was 301,000, biggest annual increase in the Dominion's history. Of these, 90,000 were immigrants.

These are other population facts from the files of the Bureau of Statistics:

1. Most immigrants are going to Ontario.

2. British Columbia is the fastest-growing province.

3. Canadians aren't doing as much moving around from one province to another. But when they do move, the greatest numbers go to British Columbia.

4. Quebec has the biggest excess of births over deaths.

Ontario's immigration total for 1947-48 was 50,403, more than half of the Dominion's 90,566. In 1946-47, Ontario absorbed 25,128 of the 60,464 immigrants admitted.

Other provincial totals, with 1946-47 comparisons in brackets: Quebec, 13,740 (8,057); British Columbia, 10,684 (8,362); Alberta, 5,044 (4,629); Manitoba, 4,069 (3,671); Saskatchewan, 2,599 (3,611); Nova Scotia, 2,366 (3,822); New Brunswick, 1,369 (2,644); Prince Edward Island, 211 (495).

The percentage of population gain shows British Columbia well out in front, despite a drop to 3.6 per cent in 1947-48 from 4.1 per cent in 1946-47. In second place was Alberta with 2.9 per cent, compared with 2.4 per cent in the previous 12 months.

Ontario showed 2.6 compared with 2.1.

No Gain

Prince Edward Island, with no gain in 1946-47, recorded a 1.1-per cent population loss in 1947-48.

Quebec's excess of births over deaths during the 12 months ended June 1 amounted to 79,139 or 2.1 per cent.

British Columbia and Ontario were the only provinces whose populations were increased to any extent during 1947-48 by persons from other provinces. British Columbia attracted 17,900 from other provinces and lost 5,000, for a net gain of 12,900. Ontario won 17,900, but lost 11,300, for a gain of 6,600.

Say Hurricane Threat Lessens

HATTERAS, N.C., Aug. 31 — (AP)—A tropical hurricane moving north along the Atlantic coast will miss the mainland entirely if it keeps its present course, the United States weather bureau said today.

The bureau warned, however, that strong winds would be felt along the coast tonight.

A weather bureau advisory placed the hurricane at 10 a.m., 110 miles east southeast of Cape Hatteras, moving north northeastward about 12 miles an hour and apparently accelerating in forward movement.

This battened-down area, however, was still endangered by steadily-mounting winds and pounding seas as it caught the edge of the recurving hurricane.

The United States coast guard reported heavy seas rolling in from the ocean from Morehead City northward along the many miles of Outer Banks, the vast chain of island dunes that fashion North Carolina's coastline.

The Red Cross established facilities at Morehead City and neighboring Beaufort in preparation for the blow. The coast guard made a house-to-house canvass of nearby Atlantic beach warning vacationers and summer residents to evacuate to safer ground, but many remained at the beach preferring to ride out the storm.

Benes' Health Causes Growing Concern

PRAGUE, Aug. 31 — (Reuters) — Former President Edouard Benes' health caused serious concern today despite a medical bulletin Monday night saying there had been recent signs of improvement.

It was understood the 64-year-old ex-president of Czechoslovakia was suffering from hardening of the arteries aggravated by recent strain. A serious view was taken of a statement that his condition had deteriorated the last few months.

No further bulletin was expected until tonight from the three doctors attending him.

BULLETIN

HALIBURTON (CP)—Some 600 spectators today were forced by heat to stand by as fire gutted the Chapman Lumber mill here. Although water from the lake was in ample supply, the 12-man volunteer brigade, with four lines of hose, was unable to bring the blaze under control. Sparks, blown to nearby homes by a 25-mile-an-hour wind, were a hazard and firemen had constantly to douse houses with water. The tinder-like building and most of its contents burned in minutes but firemen had to watch the sparking embers for six hours when a sawdust pile continued to burn.

McMahon died in hospital Saturday, nine days after he was shot during a police chase. He said 42-year-old McMahon was when Neuen spotted him loitering near a parked automobile. He was shot in the chase.

Neuen was remanded today to Sept. 8 on $1,000 bail.

Ask Dry Ice Dropped To Save Fruit Crop

HAMILTON, Aug. 31—(CP).— The north Grimsby township council today telegraphed Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, urging that dry ice be dropped from aircraft in an effort to make rain fall.

The telegram, signed by Reeve M. S. Nelles, read in part:

"North Grimsby township council urgently requests that your Department give immediate consideration to project of dropping dry ice from aeroplanes in effort to make rainfall over this township."

"We are very much afraid," Mr. Nelles said, "that unless rain falls almost immediately, there may be heavy loss in fruit trees. The extent of this loss all depends on how long the drought continues, and then on how severe next winter's weather may be."

Bus Misses Curve

WINDSOR, Aug. 31—(CP)—A Windsor-bound Greyhound bus missed a curve on No. 98 highway near Ruscom 20 miles east of here, today and wound up on its side in a ditch. Two women required hospital treatment and other passengers suffered bruises, shock and cuts from flying glass. Clarence Bruner, of Sandwich East, driver of the bus which started its trip at London, is reported to have blamed the mishap on a failure of the steering apparatus. The passengers and driver continued the Windsor trip in a special bus. Bruner complained of soreness in his chest and legs.

Plan Special Training For Civil Servants

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 — (CP). — The Government announced today a plan aimed at helping Civil Servants take special university training. Benefits contained in an Order-in-Council are listed in a statement by the Civil Service Commission. They range from leave of absence at full pay—in "exceptional" circumstances— to straight leave of absence.

"Under one provision," the Commission said, "an employee may be granted leave with pay for a period up to three months to permit his attendance at refresher courses or at courses of special instruction for civil servants. In some cases, tuition fees and living expenses may also be paid."

Another arrangement provides for leave at full pay for longer periods.

Russia Trying Hard To Get Observers Into Kashmir

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 31— (CP)—Informed sources speculated today that Russia may be trying to get Communist-trained military observers into Kashmir, an Asiatic trouble spot.

These sources advanced such an aim as the probable reason behind the sudden calling Monday of an emergency meeting of the Security Council. Soviet delegate Jakob A. Malik, council president for August, ordered the meeting and listed Kashmir and Palestine as the emergency items to be debated.

The council, however, rebuffed Malik by refusing, by a lopsided vote, to accept the agenda. Then his opponents forced adjournment of the meeting.

It was recalled that when military observers were selected for the Palestine truce Russia was left out in the cold. Andrei A. Gromyko, then Soviet delegate, attempted throughout three meetings to get Russians in but got nowhere with the council.

Sources here now believed that Malik hoped to get a council decision to include Russians or at least military men from Eastern Europe in the Kashmir contingents. It was further believed he feared that, with the council now in a long recess until meetings start up in Paris, the Soviet Union might be crowded out again.

The keen Soviet interest in the Indian sub-continent is being tied in here with reports of stepped-up Communist activity in the Asiatic region. Dispatches from Burma, Malaya and other South Asia points tell of Communist-inspired clashes.

Bush Fires In Ontario Bring 'Snow' To Texas

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — White ash from the forest fires in Northern Ontario early this summer, "fell like snow" on Texas at intervals, Lands Minister Harold Scott revealed Monday in releasing further details of the costly outbreaks. The smoke drifted 1,000 miles to the south and at times blanketed Washington, D.C.

The fires in the Chapleau and Mississagi areas burned from the latter part of May through to the end of July and were the worst in the history of the province. The Chapleau outbreak got under way from a fire set to burn debris on a road construction job, which later spread off the right-of-way. The Mississagi fire is believed to have been started when muskrat trappers left a camp fire burning.

Fishing Boat Sinks Off Alaska In Storm Rescue Ships Fail To Sight Any Of Crew

SEATTLE, Aug. 31—(AP)— Planes and surface vessels today searched the storm lashed Pacific off the southwestern Alaska coast for the crew of a fishing boat that sank during the night.

The number of men forced to abandon the seiner Rutler was not known. Neither was its home port.

An SOS sent out at 7:15 p.m. PST, just before the Rustler went down, said the crew would attempt to ride out the gale in an outboard-powered tender.

Help was asked at once since there was doubt that the small, open boat could long survive in the towering seas. The distress call gave no further information after listing the Sender's position.

The United States coast guard cutter Hemlock, checking buoys and light stations nearby, reached the scene two hours later and reported just before midnight that no trace of the crew had been found.

There was a possibility, the Hemlock said, that the fishermen were able to reach shore a mile away. The Rustler's SOS reported it was sinking just off Port Bazan on Dall Island, approximately 90 miles southwest of Ketchikan in the Dixon entrance to the inland passage.

Will Not Slow Down Demobilization Plan

LONDON, Aug. 31 (Reuters).— Press reports that the cabinet has decided to slow down demobilization of Britons enlisted under the Wartime National Service Act were denied today by official government quarters.

The reports had suggested service might be extended by six months. The period of compulsory service now is 18 months.

It is common knowledge the government has been considering a demobilization freeze, should the international situation—particularly in Berlin and Malaya—become more acute.

But official sources indicated the position was still under review by the cabinet, and has still to be decided.

Testifies Peters Preached That US Must Be Destroyed

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP). — "J. Peters," described as head of the Communist underground in America, preached that the United States "must be destroyed," a witness a this deportation hearing said today.

Former Communist Whittaker Chambers identified the mysterious Peters as the No. 1 man in the underground at a House of Representatives un-American activities sub-committee hearing here Monday.

Sub-committee members then threatened Peters with contempt charges for his refusal to answer questions about his alleged Communist affiliations and about the activities of the Communist party in this country.

George Hewitt, an alleged former member of the Communist party national committee, was the witness who said Peters called for the destruction of the United States.

Hewitt, who said he renounced Communism four years ago, testified that "from the first day I was in the party I was instructed that the United States was a citadel of capitalism, the main obstacle to Marxist-Leninist success and this obstacle must be destroyed . . ."

The instruction was given, he said, by "the section organizer, the state organizer, Mr. Peters himself, and various officials of the party."

Schuman Asks Reinstatement In Premiership

PARIS, Aug. 31 — (AP). — Robert Schuman today will ask the national assembly to reinstate him as premier of France. He agreed Monday night to try to form a new cabinet and so end the latest French political crisis.

The tall, craggy-faced leader of Mouvement Republicain Populaire expressed confidence he would get the 311 votes he needs when the 620 deputies get down to voting this afternoon.

Schuman headed the government for eight months until last July 19 when he resigned in the face of defeat on a bill before the assembly. During his tenure, he hammered down a violent wave of strikes which all but wrecked France. The Communists hate him vehemently.

"Time presses and France has need of a government," Schuman told reporters Monday night when he went to Elysee Palace to inform President Vincent Auriol that he was ready to stand before the assembly again for approval.

The current crisis popped up Saturday when Premier Andre Marie and his coalition cabinet quit in a dispute over economic policies.

Schuman, foreign minister in Marie's government, hopes to form his new cabinet from the same three centre parties he had before—the M.R.P., Socialists and Radical Socialists.

There is every indication he intends to call on most of the members of his previous cabinet. That would mean dropping Finance Minister Paul Reynaud, whose conservative views on French financial policy caused the break-up of the Marie cabinet.

The Dominion's "interprovincial migration" total was 69,400, compared with 89,400 in 1946-47. British Columbia, with 19,000, and Ontario, with 3,400, were the only net gainers during that period.

There are no up-to-date figures on population by farm and city. But of the 11,489,713 Canadians listed at the 1941 census 6,250,619 were urban dwellers, 3,116,922 lived on farms and 2,122,173 lived in rural areas other than farms.

Figures for the three Prairie Provinces show sharp decreases in farm population between 1936 and 1946—from 1,235,451 to 1,009,672. Biggest loss was Saskatchewan's 30,000.

See Black Market Tie-Up In Counterfeit Currency

TORONTO, Aug. 31—(CP).—Possibility of a tie-up between counterfeiters and a "black market" in United States currency in Canada was seen by banking authorities Monday night after a man and woman had been arrested on charges of passing counterfeit US notes at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Leo Gauthier, 42, and Mary Boyce, 37, both of Toronto, in court Monday were remanded to Sept. 7 on charges of possessing forged American banknotes. Police asserted that Gauthier was the "front man" for an organized gang of counterfeiters who obtain engraving plates from Kingston.

One Toronto banking official told police: "We know a black market in currency exists, particularly in Windsor and other border points. This is not new. We catch 30 to 40 people a month at this game, some of them big operators but most of them petty chiselers."

It was suggested that the counterfeit ring hoped to cash in by selling spurious US currency to Canadians anxious to take more American currency with them on trips south of the border than the Canadian exchange laws allow.

Other Victims

Some Toronto bankers suggested that the black marketeers themselves might fall victims of the alleged counterfeit ring which police said they were tracking after the arrests at the CNE.

Police said Gauthier was carrying 12 counterfeit $10 bills, and Mrs. Boyce had one in her handbag. Police searched a downtown hotel and an east-central Jarvis Street boarding house but failed to find any of the bills or an engraving plate. They said they believed Gauthier is associated with a man who passed about $1,000 in counterfeit American bills at the Exhibition on Saturday.

Gauthier was sentenced in 1939, with Alex. McDonald, brother of the notorious Donald (Mickey) McDonald, to 10 years for the holdup of suburban Port Credit branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. He was recently released.

He and Alex. McDonald were jointly charged earlier with the murder of Jimmy Windsor, a local gambler, who was shot in a suburban restaurant. Both were acquitted.

Workers Needle Berlin Gov't

BERLIN, Aug. 31 — (AP). — The Russians today continued needling Berlin's anti-Communist city government while Germans awaited word on the progress of the Moscow four-power talks about Germany.

The official Soviet News Agency reported a meeting of Maj.-Gen. Alexander Kotikov, Soviet Berlin commandant, with a delegation of "workers" who blasted "war-mongering" in western Berlin and promised to keep up demonstrations against the city council. Last week there were two Communist-led assaults on Berlin's city hall.

The "workers" also added their forces to the Soviet-sponsored chorus for withdrawal of all occupation troops from Germany and the formation of a "democratic" national government with its capital in Berlin.

Taegliche Rundschau, official organ of the Soviet military administration, renewed demands that the coal-rich Ruhr be placed under four-power control.

Golds March Ahead In Active Trading

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP). — Golds marched ahead in the most active trading in more than two months and the Toronto Stock Exchange's gold index today climbed to its level of two months ago.

Industrials, base metals and western oils lagged in the trading and were generally steady although a few industrials did weaken fractionally.

Senior issues led the second successive days' climb in the gold list and gains ranging from 1 to 20 cents were scattered throughout juniors. Bralorne, La Luz, Teck-Hughes, and Wright-Hargreaves climbed from 3 to 15 cents. Central Patricia, Dickenson, Donalda, East Malartic, Giant Yellowknife, Lake Shore, Macassa, Negus, O'Brien, Sylvanite and San Antonio were among the other strong gainers.

Goods and manufacturing industrials eased narrowly while papers held firm on good fractional gains in the industrial groupings. Bell Telephone, Dominion Foundries, Ford A, and Consolidated Paper were down ⅛.

Base Metals Corporation rose ½ and Golden Manitou, Labrador, Noranda, Quebec Labrador and Sherritt advanced in the base metals list.

On The Water Wagon

SYDNEY, Australia—(CP)—A city council water-wagon driver, here for 23 years, was recently charged with driving his car while under the influence of liquor. Says U.K. Goods Priced Too High

WINNIPEG, Aug. 31 (CP). — There is a vital desire on the part of Canadians to buy British goods, but the high prices of such goods "constitute a problem" and there is "urgent necessity to review price structure."

This opinion was expressed by G. H. Ward, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain, who stopped here during a trans-Canada tour.

Primary purpose of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain is to foster and stimulate Canada's export trade, he said.

Link Scotland Yard With Local Police

LONDON, Aug. 31. (CP) — A closer radio link with Scotland Yard is being planned by police chiefs directing the drive against car thieves operating in London and adjacent counties.

One of the first big steps has been taken in Essex where a two-way radio telephone service is expected to be in operation before the year's end.

The system will be linked with the Yard's radio network and is expected to help reduce an alarming increase in crime during the past six months.

Later the system will be extended to the Colchester and Clacton areas. Main transmitting station will be a Chelmsford police headquarters where the latest equipment has been inbeen installed.

There will be satellite stations at Great Bromley, Sewards End and Warley.

Set Up Naval Lab On Pacific Coast

VICTORIA, Aug. 31 (CP). — Dr. Frederick Sanders, who spent his youth in Victoria, has returned home from Ottawa to set up a naval research laboratory for the National Defence Research Board.

For him, the entire Canadian Pacific coast will be a gigantic oceanographic laboratory, with his problems centred mainly mainly around underwater detection and communication.

Before he can solve the problems, though, he must study complicated variations of underwater temperatures, currents and degrees of salt concentration.

Many of his experiments will take him to sea on board naval craft, but most of his work will me at a shore laboratory in the dockyard at Esquimalt, B.C.

COLD WAR IN BERLIN continues as a worker paints the words "British Sector" on the street in the centre of Potsdamer Platz, scene of recent kidnapping raids by Russian soldiers and police. A German police officer holds back traffic while the job is completed. British authorities are erecting steel barriers and painting large signs so that there can be no mistake about the boundaries.

The band leader, his broken left arm in a sling and his face patched up with medical tape, escaped death when thrown clear of his capsizing power boat. His boat had swerved to avoid another craft. Lombardo said he believes future Gold Cups should be limited to entries that have averaged 65 miles per hour and placed in at least two previous "major regattas."

Third Operation

Milwaukee, Wis. — Mrs. Althea Phillips, 25, went through her third successful Caesarian operation in 23 months Monday. And, for the third time, it was a boy. Three Caesarians in 23 months is not a record. Dr. Morgan O'Connell of Chicago has reported three in 22 months.

LOS ANGELES.—Police have begun a probe into the death of Helen Lee Worthing, one-time Ziegfeld Follies beauty. Absolved In Shooting

MONTREAL, Aug. 31 — (CP). — Patrick McGuire, 17, burst into tears Monday as a coroner's jury absolved him of blame for the fatal shooting of 13-year-old Mabel Dickson last Saturday. See No Promise Of Needed Rain

TORONTO, Aug. 31 (CP)—The heat wave in central Canada was definitely ended today but weather forecasters held out no promise of rain badly needed throughout the province to avoid further damage to crops.

An Ontario agriculture department crop report said pastures had been "burned up" in many sections. The heat wave scalded crops, particularly tomatoes, and brought a sharp reduction in milk and egg products. Some dairymen are feeding hay and grain to cows, cutting into their winter feed supplies in order to keep up the present milk supply.

The Ontario peach crop survived the heat and a peak crop of good quality peaches began moving to markets today. But the heat damage to the tomato crop has been heavy. Agriculture Minister T. L. Kennedy Monday said perhaps 40 per cent of the tomato crop had been damaged, but he disagreed with reports that the tomato damage alone would amount to perhaps $3,000,000.

Mr. Kennedy pointed out that while much of the tomato crop is blistered, making it worthless on the retail markets, a great part of this crop can still be used by the canneries. For canning and for tomato juice, the canneries prefer tomatoes fully ripe, he said.

Boy Swims To Shore But Dog Adrift 4 Hrs.

PICTON, Aug. 31 — A pet spaniel dog drifted four hours in a rowboat on Lake Ontario before being rescued. The black and white dog was owned by Bobby Dulmage, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Dulmage of Picton.

The young lad and his dog were boating on South Bay when Bobby fell overboard. He swam to shore while the spaniel remained in the boat. Heavy seas carried the small craft further and further into the bay and there were no boats available near by to effect a rescue.

A call was sent to the Point Traverse fishing colony where the bay and the lake meet but all fishing craft were absent. Sherman Thompson of Black Creek secured a rowboat and went out in search of the helpless dog. He found the boat with its badly frightened occupant several miles from its starting point and fastened a line to the runaway skiff, towing it back to land with its canine cargo.

Cross Ocean In Ketch

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP). — Harry Atheridge of Fowley, Cornwall, England, Monday told of crossing the Atlantic in a 40-foot ketch. He said he did it the easy way, taking 14 months. An experienced sailor, Atheridge was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Turner and a wire-haired terrier. His ketch had an auxiliary engine which broke down only once, and that was in coastal waters off the United States.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 31 — (ENS).—Painfully injured when he accidentally fell into an open grease pit, Albert Hollings Sr. was removed on Monday to Belleville General Hospital suffering from broken ribs and a possible fracture of the hip.

The accident occurred at a local garage where Mr. Hollings was purchasing some car parts, and apparently did not see the pit in time to avoid a heavy fall.

Granted Remand

COBOURG, Aug. 31 (ENS). — Phyllis Bartlett, Toronto, arrested here during the week-end by Cobourg police on a warrant alleging that she passed a worthless cheque on a Port Hope store, appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp of Peterborough in court here Monday and was remanded until September 7.

Eldon Smoke, formerly of Roseneath, was remanded on a charge of breaking and entering and theft of a radio, to the same date. He was arrested by Bowmanville provincial police and brought to Cobourg.

Caretaker Asks Increase In Pay

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 31 — (ENS).—Seven members attended the regular monthly meeting of the Campbellford School Board on Monday night, the remainder being absent due to illness and absence from town. Attending in addition to the chairman, Don Meyers, were Trustees Mrs. W. F. Scott, Mrs. Petherick, A. K. Loucks, H. A. MacArthur, A. J. Armour and McEwen.

Among the correspondence was a letter to the board from W L. Buchanan, caretaker of the Campbellford high school, requesting an increase in salary. Mr. Buchanan also requested that he be asked to spend less time at night in the auditorium. These duties are placed upon him in the winter time, when he must be on the job at 4 a.m. to attend to the heating plant and the snow.

Chairman Meyers agreed that Mr. Buchanan had a point worthy of consideration, but felt that at this time the board will have to be "careful of our pennies," and thought that the board should find out what this year's attendance might be, so that a calculation of the annual grant might be made, before considering an increase of salary.

On motion of Trustee Mrs. Scott, the matter was left over to the October meeting.

Trustee A. J. Armour told the board that of the $52,000 appropriated for the alterations to the public school, the board had spent $36,822 to date.

Chairman Meyers intimated he had spoken to Trustee Nicholls, who had told him that the supply teacher, Mrs. Pierce, was willing to take over the duties of Miss Atkinson (on sick leave until November) providing that she would receive the same salary as Miss Atkinson for the two month period. Mr. Meyers remarked that this would place Mrs. Pierce among the highest paid teachers in the school, and might be the cause of some staff dissension.

On motion of Trustee H. A. MacArthur, the board agreed to leave the matter to the internal committee with power to act.

For the property committee, Trustee MacArthur presented the board with a bill from Aleric Cochrane for painting and other work on the high school. The amount, he explained, was $875.

Members agreed to a request from Don Bennett, conductor of the Campbellford Citizens' Band for the loan of some drums from the high school band equipment, which was purchased for the school by the Campbellford Rotary Club.

The school bugle band is not operating, due to the lack of an instructor.

At the request of Mr. Hendershott, the board agreed to erect a partition in the boys' upper cloakroom at the high school, in order to make a small conference and private interview room, in connection with vocational guidance. The property committee was given power to act in the matter.

Accident Victim Buried In Grafton

GRAFTON, Aug. 31 (ENS). — The funeral of Edward Breczuk of RR No. 1, Grafton, was held today from St. Mary's Catholic Church, Grafton, to the cemetery. He died in Cobourg General Hospital on Saturday night where he was brought after an accident in which he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle on Shelter Valley Road. Age 20, he was born in Warsaw, Poland, coming to Canada with his parents when he was three years old. Besides his father and mother, he is survived by two sisters, Helen, age 13, and Stella, seven, and a brother, Edward, age 11 months.

Car Is Damaged Buckhorn Road

Damage estimated at more than $150 was caused the car of an American tourist Monday afternoon when it got in difficulty on the Buckhorn road where construction work is going on. It struck some potholes about four miles north of Selwyn. The driver, Wilfred Neil of Kinmore, New York, told police that the car nearly overturned as it went off the road into the ditch. There were no injuries.

The fender, door and knee-action on the right side of the car were badly damaged in the accident.

Provincial Constables George Stephens and George Henderson investigated.

A Fair Success

The Peterborough Exhibition was resuscitated last week after being moribund during the war years: for three days it flourished; now it has waned until, we presume, next August. Judging from the numbers of people who passed through the gates and sat in the grandstand, the Fair was a success. We must wait until the ledgers are balanced to know the profit and loss account.

* * *

The job of organizing the Fair after a six-year hiatus, of refurbishing or reconverting buildings, of arranging prizelists and attracting contributors, of planning for industrial exhibits, midway and grandstand performances, was neither small nor easy. No one expected this first post-war Exhibition to be a polished, complete and splendid affair. There was general amazement that the Fair was as good as it was under handicaps that had to be surmounted or evaded. The good success of the Fair this year is a tribute to the officers and directors, and particularly to Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.B.E., a hard-working organizer of Exhibition work, who served in the dual capacity of Secretary-Manager.

* * *

It is easy to criticize the Exhibition unfavourably, but critics must remember that it was organized almost from scratch. We might ask if the midway games operated by professionals from out-of-town were necessary: if the sideshow which advertised female pulchritude was desirable; if the "Fine Arts" section could not be dispensed with or merged into the home crafts division; if the horticulture exhibits would not have been better in a canvas marquee than in a dingy unpainted structure; if some of the barns needed to be as unsightly as they were. The sulky races were interesting, but that development must be watched with care. Horse-racing has a habit of attracting hangers-on in the stables. There was a decided lack of balance in the various animal exhibits, which may be corrected in other years. The commercial and industrial exhibits were in general unimaginative and common.

* * *

There was a lack of proper display methods. The majority of people who went to the Fair were town folk. If they are to continue to patronize the Exhibition, some effort should be made to acquaint them with the breed of animal or fowl they are viewing. It is not encouraging to them to see a strange-looking hen, to stoop down to examine a scrawled tag, and then to find that they are looking at a "Lt Mole" when in reality they are seeing "Brahmas, Light, Male". Could not the cows, horses, pigs and sheep be properly placarded? People want to know what the monstrous animals they are looking at really are: as the show was, they often had to be content to know that they were looking at some kind of big pig which breathed heavily and did not smell sweetly.

* * *

This general question arises from the Exhibition this year. Why was it held? Did the Directors, the City and County Councils and other concerned people have any clear notion of what they were trying to achieve by it? Was it to raise money? Was it to encourage farmers? Was it to further good breeding? Was it to let the people know what is being produced in the city and district? Was it to promote good relations between town and country? The show this year revealed a lack of principle or purpose. When the Directors and others know why they are holding a Fair, what purpose they hope to achieve, then we shall have a more unified, a finer Exhibition. As long as it is a hodge-podge of this and that, without any truly distinctive features but a lot of everything, it will be nothing much.

French Government

The fall of the short-lived Marie government of France and the attempt first by Ramadier and then by Schuman to master support point to a weakness in the present French constitution, rather than in the multiple-party system. France has had a long succession of Premiers and Governments since 1936, but in the main the Cabinets and representatives in the Assembly have been steady: that is, the same men have continued to serve. This is obvious from the make-up of the recently defeated Government of Andre Marie, which had a life of one month. It included four former premiers: Blum (Socialist), Reynaud (Independent Republican), Ramadier (Socialist) and Schuman (M.R.P.—Popular Republican).

Only July 30th last we said, in commenting on the then new Marie Government that "though the Government seems strong, it is likely to suffer from the same cracks that afflicted the Schuman Government, for it is a plastered-up job. It stands divided on all the old questions which made the former Government unstable". The same phrases may be applied to the new Government now being formed. The questions which are agitating the state are economic. France is suffering from post-war inflation. The M.R.P. and the conservative Radical Socialists (Schuman is of the former party, Marie of the latter) propose to deal with the situation by having more free economy, taking off price ceilings and the like. The Socialists are not prepared to throw France into unrestricted "free enterprise". What has united the two groups has been fear of the extreme Left (Communists) and the extreme Right (De Gaullists).

That no stable Government seems possible is due to Communists and De Gaullists, and to the Constitution. Under the new constitution, a Government must have an absolute majority before the Assembly can invest a premier-designate with power to form a government. No absolute majority is possible unless all middle parties collaborate, or unless De Gaullists or Communists seize power.

Government in France is likely to be stalemated until either the Constitution is amended, there are general elections, or the extreme Right or the extreme Left secures support from sections of the middle groups. The impasse is deplorable in these tense days of international malaise.

Oley Speaks

The songs of the American singer and composer Oley Speaks who died a septuagenarian last Friday still thrill. They were made to vibrate the membranes of the ears as well as the tendrils of the heart. What adolescent of yesteryear has not thrilled to a high baritone voice soaring through the intervals and emotional repetitions of Morning, The Road To Mandalay, and The Lord Is My Light? Hearing them now they are like an echo from less complicated years when hearts beat high and hope was direct and the days were full of light. These were the songs of Oley Speaks. They are too fluffy and sentimental now for many cultivated ears—too enthusiastic and thrilling, and to speak honestly, they are musically banal and bumptious. They belong to other years and modes as surely as does his "When The Boys Come Home". But as this song of the Great War continues to live on in memory's ear, so will his solos for concert hall and religious service. The Lord Is My Light will probably endure as long as the pretentious gilt and pseudo - Gothic churches of this continent in which it has long been popular.

NOTE AND COMMENT

At long last our occasional sighs under this heading in this column are being heeded by the city officials. The town clock has had its face lifted. The timing of this operation is significant. The paint was not applied in June so that the clock would look pretty for our tourists. No, we have not sold out to tourists to that extent. It is being done for us alone, at a time when most of our visitors have gone. We alone shall benefit from the red and white beam of the old lady atop Charlotte and George Streets.

In foreign political affairs like the approaching American Presidential elections, Canadians properly stay on the sidelines. Judge of our horror then to see on a CPR siding in Peterborough a blatant bit of electioneering. A freight car had chalked on it in large pink letters this slogan: "There is only one way to get even with Truman: Vote Him Out". Perhaps we should not blame the C.P.R. for this breach of diplomatic manners—just some donkey engine which hauled the offending phrases in on the back of an American freight car.

Germany Re-visited

By JERRARD TICKELL
(In Time and Tide, London)

THOUGH we flew in high, translucent sunshine, skimming the soft bubbles of the clouds, rain stippled the grey elephant-skin of the North Sea and drenched the green geometry of Dutch fields. In Hamburg airport, the formalities of travel were conducted by German 'Zoll-Beampter' under the benevolent eye of a British Frontier Control Officer and the 'Volkswagen' that took us into the city was driven by an ex-lieutenant of 90th Light Panzer Division, a blond young Nordic who, in his time, had limped from El Alamein to Tunis. From the high windows of the Four Seasons Hotel, the waters of the Alster were the colour of slate and the spires of Hamburg as exact, as timeless and as decorous as a steel engraving.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN Number One War Crimes Court—unwittingly if aptly named "Curio-Haus"—five frightened women were on trial for their lives. More than three years had passed since the Red Army had overrun the fearful camp of Ravensbruck and the accused may have thought that time would have softened memory and vengeance. But the evidence for the prosecution was clear, living and remorseless, that for the defence fumbling and irrelevant. It was alleged that Frau "Z", a thin woman with a pinched mouth, had beaten a Polish girl into insensibility and then flung her into a pond where she drowned. For the defence, an elderly crone, a Jehovah's Witness, gabbled that the accused had always provided regular meals and had been known affectionally in the camp as "Auntie Marta". For one onlooker at least, the scene was deeply reminiscent of the heavy snows of 1946, when, in this dock in this room, the major Ravensbruck criminals had been tried, convicted and sentenced to death. Today's evidence was all sickeningly familiar and the well-worn words, blunted of their horror by time, seemed to be without real meaning. Appel; Bunker; Gaz-Kammer; Krematorium. These women before the court were merely the rag-tag-and-bobtail of Ravensbruck, a series of shabby afterthoughts. A handful of bored spectators yawned in the public gallery, long anaesthetized to vicarious human suffering, waiting for the brief stimulation of hearing the death sentence meted out to somebody else. The ghost of Carmen Mory grimaced from the corner of the dock as the court rose thankfully for lunch.

◇ ◇ ◇

PINK GIN, scandal and regimental small-talk in the Ladies Bar of the Four Seasons. In the restaurant, the mixed grill was fit for a conqueror and No. 106 in the wine list—a smooth and deceptive Mouton-Rothschild—as pliable as satin. The cadences of "Frascita" surged from the minstrels' gallery. Walking the pavements by the Alster, the citizens of Hamburg looked sardonically at the notice by the swing door. NO GERMAN CIVILIANS ADMITTED.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT was a morning of intermittent rain and sun. The shop-windows, cobwebbed and empty a few weeks ago, had miraculously filled with commodies and the shops themselves were crowded with busy housewives. At every street corner, flower-sellers offered pink, crimson and tawny roses. Gone was that sense of futility and hopelessness that had pervaded the shattered streets. The Western Mark had come—temporarily, at least, to discourage the Black Market—and there was a new buoyancy in the steps and in the faces of the shoppers. Though the introduction of this new currency was all but a mortal blow to the capitalist and to the elderly official whose meagre pension was his living, it was a godsend to the great working mass of the people and the strong sinews of the town were beginning to work again. The Panzer lieutenant turned chauffeur suggested that, after lunch, 'die Trummer', the ruins, the rubble, must be seen. He spoke of his rubble with a quiet, civic pride. There were few towns, he said, whose rubble could equal that of Hamburg. Might he show us the heart and the core of desolation. At 2.20? Jawohl. He would be waiting outside the Four Seasons.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE were rats in the ruins and tendrils of coltsfoot clining to the irregular polygons of stone that had once been houses. The naked acres numbed one's heart and added to the immensity of the sky. We saw the figure of a man slide out of a wet cavity, disappear into another. We followed him, crawling into the dank hollows of somebody's crumbled kitchen. In the yellow flare of a match, we saw him, a thin, bright-eyed, grey-faced man, stamped with tuberculosis. In the dripping gloom under an arch of broken stone, he talked to us. He was a marine engineer—unemployed. He lived in the rubble, in a cave he had himself made with his hands. "Bin Kaiser der Trummer," he said, grinning gauntly. All day, he groped among the debris for broken telephone lines. The copper wire was worth a mark a kilo and he could just live. We sat at the entrance to the kitchen, leaning against the twisted remnants of a refrigerator and he smoked greedily. Hitler had been a lunatic. It was the action of a lunatic to ask the Hamburgers to hate the English for the Hamburgers and the English had in their blood the indissoluble link of the sea. A sturdy, independent race, should the mariners of Hamburg take orders from a high neurotic who sat in Berlin? "Aber was!" He had used the one word on the lips of every German in Hamburg and he looked at me sharply. Did the English intend to stay in Berlin? If the English stayed in Berlin, then the defeat of Germany had not been in vain. If the English allowed themselves to be driven or hoodwinked out of Berlin; then Europe was doomed. It was as simple as that.

A FOOD-LADEN Sunderland took off from the Elbe and flew over the ruins where we talked and lifted its wings to the east. He watched it till it was out of sight.

"I was in Hamburg, in the submarine yards," he said, "when the RAF did this to the city." He waved a thin hand over the crunched acres, from the rim of the sky to the rim of the sky. "Now I pray that Almighty God may fly with your pilots...."

THE Garrison Theatre had a play that night for the troops, an English play. The house was more than half-empty, the plot trivial or vulgar in turn and the acting triste. At ten the theatre spilled out its bored battledress and was handed over to the Germans to put on a show of their own. By eleven, there was not an inch of space in the house and the curtain rose before a tense, breathless audience. A number of artists had come from all over Western Germany, including some from Berlin. Excitement mounted as each actor appeared. Half-way through the performance, Lisalotta Malkowski, torch-singer and 'diseuse', bowed and sang a song. It was called "Uber den Regenbogen" and it was a simple, melodious song telling how the men and women of Berlin scanned the sky to see the RAF coming in—"over the rainbows". Before she had finished, the audience was on its feet and waves upon waves of applause were rolling round the theatre. There was no shadow of doubt where Hamburg's heart lay.

As we walked home over the Alster Bridge, the red and green lights of a Sunderland crawled eastwards across the night sky in a surge of strong sound.

Letters To The Editor

GOD'S ACRES

Sir: Agricultural Minister Kennedy recently made a statement regarding the spread between farmers income and consumers costs which should be of vital interest to all of us, as it brings out the carelessness which man has permitted to develop in the handling of the basic problems of his existence.

In the face of high retail prices, the minister states that farm produce nets the farmer around $2,000 a year, and that he proposes to do something about it. Yet it appears doubtful if he, or any other individual or small group of individuals can really accomplish very much toward the correction of the basic error which present thought contains regarding agricultural production and consumption. The only effective correction calls for a clearer understanding of the necessary steps to maintain the earth in abundance of production, and the seeing to it that the farmer is put in a position where he can maintain it.

To the average individual the fact that the farmer nets $2,000 per year doesn't seem too bad. Yet if the farmer does not receive more than enough to provide for a fair living standard for his family, plus a bit to put aside for the day when he can no longer stand the strenuous labour of farming, he must forego the restoration and maintenance of the soil on which mankind depends for sustenance. Fundamentally this affects everyone, and in a society based on a belief in God goes back to religion, under which in its conception man is supposed to have dominion over the earth. This dominion calls for the responsibility to God for the proper wardenship of its condition for supplying the fullness of existence.

The effects of careless neglect in this responsibility are becoming more and more apparent, particularly, in the case of the productive condition of the earth. The farmer's yearly objective is the destruction of the fertility of the soil to the highest degree possible by the production of as large a crop as possible. After the harvest he gives thanks to God for a bountiful crop, and gives very little thought to the statement that "The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof", or if he does he finds himself limited in the measure in which he can restore the fullness which he has removed. Society does its utmost to urge higher production, and then does its utmost to keep the farmer from getting into a position where he can replace the feruility which this production exacts from the soil.

Of course we realize that the soil is running down, and more in a spirit of self preservation than responsibility spend millions of dollars telling the farmer what he should do about it, and at the same time permit a system to exist which does its best to prevent him from carrying it out.

The full measure of responsibiliy called for, is too great for one class to assume, and can only be correctly dealt with when religion opens its eyes to the many manifestations which the advancement of man is making evident, and places the proper emphasis in religious training on the basic points of responsibility in every day living which so sorely need correction.

The position of the farmer is only one case of the responsibility of man to God, and it will be found to apply in all of man's endeavours. The removal of man's lack of understanding in this relationship, and emphasis on the correction of the carelessness in the conduct of every day affairs would go far toward easing the strain and tension caused by existing conditions.

God's complete purpose for man is neither concisely set forth or detailed, but when a condition is made manifest both as to cause and effect, and then to permit a cankerous parasitic social growth to prevent its correction seems inexcusable, when viewed in the light of responsibility to God.

Yours truly,
RALPH G. KILBON.

Bailieboro.

PS.—Since writing this letter I have received my copy of The Examiner with your editorial comment on "Farm Crops and Income", and see that you also regard the matter in a purely materialistic way, not even placing the farmer with his capital investment on a par with the storekeepers along Charlotte St., or considering in the least what the farmer has to do with his income, in the way of maintainance and repairs, etc., etc. The C.G.E. or any other industry would soon go out of business if they did not make enough profit to set up a depletion and maintainance reserve, and though many people may not think so, farming is a business. It is a fallacy of thought to regard the farmer as a labourer for the national waist line.

In my reference to religious opinion, I know that there are minority sects like the Quakers, who in their quiet way take the responsibility to God into consideration in their every day way of life.

IMPROVEMENTS IN STONY LAKE AREA

Sir: After reading the printed article in today's paper, I do not see why it was stated that I had typed only 10 articles, why other important facts were not mentioned and why my name was thus printed in this issue and a few others having my articles of other dates. It was (Mrs.) Joseph Hamilton and not Mrs. Joseph Hamilton. These may seem trivial to you or others but to me they are important. At no time does my husband or any other have any part in my article typing.

I do wish that you would find it convenient to have the enclosed article printed just as I have the facts stated for they do now and would mean so much later to the people of this section. Sincerely,

MRS. JOSEPH HAMILTON.

Lakefield.

ED. NOTE: Limitations of space preclude our printing the long article in which Mrs. Hamilton makes the following points: (1) She typed over 100 copies of the letter which she recently distributed to arouse interest in improving roads and facilities in the Stony Lake area. (2) Tourist traffic has been heavy this season and therefore we should provide better roads. (3) More amenities are needed in our resort areas—like golf courses, better sanitation, public park areas. (4) Is the $5 license fee required of people offering tourist accommodation properly applied, or is it a bureaucratic abuse? (5) Action should be taken against people who dump garbage in lake water and along the shores.

Tackling Food Prices

The most important thing the Republican program does not do is to tackle the problem of high food prices. Thus it fails to come to grips with what we feel is the single most disturbing element in the present situation. This year's crops are good—good enough in all probability to bring about lower prices under ordinary circumstances. Yet the government is going to make loans to the farmers, running into nine or ten figures, to keep the price of food up. At the same time the banks are being discouraged from making loans, even for productive purposes. By their loud silence on this subject, the Republicans in Congress have made themselves equally culpable with the Administration.

Somebody Is To Blame

An American political observer makes a comparison between the American manner of singing their national anthem at the Philadelphia conventions and that of Canadians singing theirs at the Liberal convention. The Americans sing with all their hearts, but the Canadians without inspiration. This political observer seems astonished. He should not be. The American is a citizen conscious of the sovereignty of his country. Here, the national consciousness is, so to speak, non-existent. Those who have wanted to make of Canada—and continue to do so—simply a part of the British Empire are those really responsible for this absence of a patriotic Canadian spirit.—Le Droit, Ottawa.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils. And she went and told them that had been with him, as they mourned and wept. (Mark 16: 9, 10.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And, behold, two of them went that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was from Jerusalem about three score furlongs.. And it came to pass, that, while they communed together and reasoned, Jesus himself drew near, and went with them. But their eyes were holden that they should not know him....And it came to pass, as he sat at meat with them, he took bread, and blessed it, and brake, and gave to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he vanished out of their sight. And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the scripture? (Luke 24: 13, 15, 16, 30-32.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen. And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature....So then after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God. And they went forth, and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following. Amen. (Mark 16: 14, 15, 19, 20.)

Socializing Canada?

To read some Dominion newspapers one would imagine that the resolutions to be presented to the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation convention in Winnipeg next month, were intended to bring about the "nationalization of all Canadian business and industry." It is such fatuous exaggeration as this that makes for so much confusion in Canadian politics.

In the first place, the resolutions are—just resolutions. Many may never be adopted. Even if all of them were, they would not socialize "all Canadian business and industry."

What really signifies in the party program is a group of proposals formulated by the national executive for submission to the convention. Based on the Regina manifesto, they recommended that certain national services and industries essential to the national welfare should be brought under some form of public or cooperative ownership. These include banking and transportation, electricity, gas, coal, oil, farm implement, fertilizer, and the meat-packing industries. The proposals, of course, are subject to the rejection or revision of the convention.

Supposing that the convention adopts them? Supposing that some day the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation obtains power and becomes the government of Canada? And supposing, as the Labour party has done in Britain, it puts its whole socialization program into effect? Even then the whole of "Canadian business and industry" would not be nationalized. Only key industries and services would be.

There would still be 70 or 80 per cent. of Canada's economy remaining open for the full exercise of that initiative, enterprise, adventuriousness and willingness-to-take-risks, so often proclaimed as the beneficent characteristics of a "free economy."

Blame Cigarette Shortage On Britons' Panic Buying

By MICHAEL O'MARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Got a cigaret, Chum?

That is the question you will hear most often these days in Britain where the cigaret and pipe-tobacco shortage, worst since the war, is the chief topic of conversation.

The panic has been on the last few weeks, with most smokers attempting to do a little quiet hoarding on the side.

Authorities say the shortage is "largely artificial" and explain it this way:

The dollar shortage has meant a reduction in manufacturers' stocks and the consequent narrowing of retailers' "marginal" supplies. This, combined with the consumer's desire to keep at least one day's supply ahead, has brought about the shortage.

Sir Alexander Maxwell, tobacco adviser to the Board of Trade, told a recent press conference that if smokers would cut their consumption by one cigaret each day the shortage would practically disappear.

The shortage has meant, among other things, an increase in the reported cases at attempted tobacco smuggling. Supplies in the Channel Islands and Eire are better than in the United Kingdom and returning tourists are stuffing their suitcases with cigarets. Custom officials are clamping down, permitting only 100 to a traveller.

Start Fireworks

The London Evening Standard stuck its foot in a hornet's nest last week when it suggested editorially that, during the shortage, it would be a nice gesture if women cut down on smoking. Feminine letters to the editor curled that worthy's hair.

Less acrimonious members of the public meantime were figuring out ways and means to beat the shortage. Here were some of the methods reported:

1. Customers at a public house in Norwich, Norfolk, hung a rack of 16 cigarets on the bar. If one of the coterie was short, he borrowed one but he was honor bound to replace it when he had a new supply. The pub keeper said many returned two for the one borrowed.

2. London urchins are reported doing a fair business collecting butts from gutters and rolling the tobacco into new cigarets with little hand machines on sale at most tobacconists.

3. A prominent barrister solved his personal problem neatly. He attend a sale of lost property and managed to buy 3,600 cigarets which a forgetful traveller had left in a suitcase aboard a train.

Dr. Lanctot Archivist Retires At 65

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP).—A man of many talents and many wisdoms, Dr. Gustave Lanctot, Dominion archivist, retires tomorrow at the age of 65.

Rhodes scholar, lawyer, soldier, writer, historian and sportsman, Dr. Lanctot has served each field prominently.

But probably his greatest reputation stems from the job he leaves — Dominion archivist, keeper of Canadian memories.

Under his direction there have been placed in the archives some 35,000 maps and more than 40,000 paintings and photographs. A brief tour of its public rooms will convince visitors that Dr. Lanctot has done a good job in storing and preserving Canadian history.

There one may see such articles as the coat worn by General Brock at the Battle of Queenston Heights in 1812, and a black-and - white ensemble complete with plumed hat which belonged to Queen Victoria.

Dr. Lanctot has served as Dominion archivist with the rank of deputy minister for 11 years, but his association with the archives started two years before the First World War.

A native of the Quebec community of St. Constant, Dr. Lanctot was educated in law at the University of Montreal. In 1908 he studied at the London School of Economics and a year later entered Oxford as Rhodes scholar for Quebec.

Dr. Lanctot was appointed Dominion archivist in 1937, succeeding the late Sir Arthur Doughty. The appointment carried with it a salary of $10,000 a year.

400 Battle Fire

SCHOMBERG, Aug. 31—(CP).—Some 400 men Monday battled a fire near this community, 30 miles northwest of Toronto as flames destroyed one barn, leaped across a road to ignite another and menace a nearby farm house. The fire broke out during threshing at the farm of George Courtney. A spark from the threshing machine lit straw and burned down the Courtney barn.

Trapeze Artist Falls

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31 — (CP). — Six thousand horrified children Monday watched an aerial trapeze artist plunge 50 feet to a plank platform as he opened his act at the Pacific National Exhibition's Shrine Circus. Don Dorsey, billed as "the world's greatest," was rushed to hospital with what appeared to be serious back injuries, and possibly a broken pelvis.

Refugee Camp Riots

HOF, Germany, Aug. 31 — (AP). — Riots broke out Monday between Czechs and Germans living in the Moschendorf refugee camp near here. The riots started when the Czechs, who have fled their home country, and Sudetan Germans, who were expelled from Czechoslovakia, became involved in political arguments.

US Army Begins Draft Calls; Ask 10,000 Men

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP) —The United States Army started draft calls today right along with the beginning of registration, asking 10,000 men for November induction, all for the army. The navy and the air force said they are getting enough volunteers.

The draft hitch is 21 months, another 10,000 in December, with quotas rising gradually to a maximum of around 30,000 a month. The draft hitch is 21 monnths, plus five years in the inactive reserve or shorter periods in the armed forces or in active reserve units.

Notice of the first monthly call went from the munitions board to selective service headquarters while men aged 25 were filling out their first forms in draft board offices across the country. That is the oldest group subject to registration and draft, and it will be the first one sifted for eligibles. Younger groups, by age, will register later, starting tomorrow and Wednesday with those born in 1923. The last group, 18-year-olds, will visit draft boards Sept. 17-18.

After that youths reaching the age of 18 must register within five days of their birthdays. Nobody is to be inducted, however, until he is 19.

The start of registration brought scattered reports of anti-draft picketing, but for the most part there was little grumbling.

Three pickets were arrested in Boston after a fracas in front of selective headquarters in which they were pelted with tomatoes. Two of them were wearing "Wallace for President" buttons.

In New York City Col. Chandler Cobb, city selective service director, met a mixed group of white and Negro pickets at a midtown registration station. They carried anti-segregation placards protesting the army race policy. At another New York registration centre the pickets' cards protested the draft as "the Hitler and Stalin way."

New Insect Killer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP) —Development of a potent insect killer — described as effective against certain pests which even insecticides like DDT do not adequately control — was reported to the American Chemical Society Monday. Called "methoxychlor," and containing chlorine, is a cousin of DDT.

Search Boats Return After Fruitless Quest

NORTH BAY, Aug. 31 — (CP). — Search boats returned to Sturgeon Falls late Monday night fruitless in their quest for the bodies of Prima Brault, 21, school-teacher from Verner, and Roy Collins, 24, Sturgeon Falls, who were drowned Sunday night when an outboard motor boat capsized in the Sturgeon River.

Two others in the boat managed to cling to the overturned craft and after nine hours in the icy waters were blown to shore early Monday. They were Wilfred Lafleche, 24, Sturgeon Falls, and Therese Gaverts, 20, of Verner. The two were picked up by one of the search boats this afternoon, suffering from shock and exposure.

'Red' Hill Remanded

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 31 — (CP). — Red Hill, jr., a well-known riverman who planned to make his second trip through Niagara Falls in a barrel within a few days, will appear here Sept. 20 on a charge of stealing $3,753 by conversion. Police said Hill failed to remit proceeds from gun and fishing licences he sold for the Department of Game and Fisheries. Magistrate John B. Hopkins held a special court session here Sunday night at 11 o'clock and remanded Hill on $6,000 bail.

Suspend Picketing

SARNIA, Aug. 31 — (CP). — Robert Schumacher, Sarnia representative of the Canadian Seamen's Union, announced Monday he had ordered a temporary suspension of picketing at this port in view of the reported early reopening of arbitration in the dispute between the union and four lake shipping companies.

Manchuria Pillaged

TIENTSIN, China, Aug. 31 — (AP). — White Russian refugees from Harbin reported to-day that Chinese Communis Manchuria is dominated and is being pillaged by the Soviets. After a hazardous 700-mile trek from the North Manchurian city, the refugees told the Asociated Press here that Harbin is subjected to "rule by repression."

Bar Association Selects Banff For Convention

By DON HUNT

MONTREAL, Aug. 31.—(CP). —Delegates to the 30th annual convention of the Canadian Bar Association today prepared to tackle numerous resolutions as the meeting moved into full swing.

Following Monday's preliminary executive meeting, various committee reports were drafted for presentation at official opening ceremonies today.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec will officially welcome delegates to the province, while Mayor Camillien Houde will extend a welcome on behalf of Montreal.

Following a dinner, Chief Justice A. T. Vanderbilt of New Jersey will address the delegates. It is expected the chief justice will speak on the findings of a United States committee named to investigate the legal profession in the U.S.

Only decision made known Monday was selection of Banff, Alta., as site of next year's meeting.

President Hackett said at a press conference following Monday's executive meeting that "no special stand" had yet been taken on the position of the British Columbia bar which had ruled no lawyer could plead before the courts unless he was a member of the Canadian Bar Association.

Meanwhile W. P. J. O'Meara, under-secretary of state and a delegate to the convention, denied in an interview that he meant all Canadian laws in a recent statement advocating uniformity of laws.

Randolph Scott Will Continue To Do Westerns

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31 (AP). —Randolph Scott hasn't done anything but a Western in five years and he'll continue along the same line. "They're always popular," he observes, "because people cooped up in the city want to see the scenery." Now in "Canadian Pacific," he goes right into a saga of the Dolan Boys of early Kansas.

Robert Ryan may alter RKO's plans to resume production. He wants a rest.

The only picture thus far planned by the upheaved RKO is the fight film, "The Set-Up." It slated to start as soon as Ryan finishes his loan-out to Enterprise in "Caught," but the actor is seeking a postponement. He has done four strenuous pictures in a row and is underweight. Also, 10 of the 22 days of shooting will be prize fight scenes.

Un Co-operative

Hedy Lemarr is getting temperamental again. Although she will take 25% of the profits of "Let's Live A Little," she won't co-operate in the publicity campaign. She even wanted to be paid for ad testimonials, whereas all other stars do them free.

Script Trouble

Jack Carson and Dennis Morgan didn't like the script for "Two Guys And A Gal" and both turned it down. Then director David Butler had the boys in for a talk and they worked out a whole new story. Two new writers were assigned and the picture is now shooting. If Dennis and Jack don't like the finished product, they can only blame themselves.

James Mason will doubtless turn down the "Trilby" film because his part is too tiny . . .

Capsule Review

"Julia Misbehaves" (MGM) will allow Greer Garson fans to breathe more easily. It's an airy, laugh-filled bit of fluff that will delight pleasure-seeking audiences. Miss G. is subjected to all kinds of indignities with generally hilarious results. Assisting are Walter Pidgeon (naturally!), Cesar Romero, Peter Lawford and Elizabeth Taylor.

Name Fred Hodgson Publicity Director

Frederick Hodgson, recently with Paramount Pictures home office publicity, has been appointed director of public relations for New York Tuberculosis and Health Association, announced recently by Dr. Herbert R. Edwards, executive director. Mr. Hodgson is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hodgson of Peterborough. He attended St. Peter's School, St. Michael's College, University of Toronto and the University of Kentucky, and was employed on Toronto, Chicago and New York newspapers before entering publicity and public relations field.

Charged With Slaying

VICTORIA, Aug. 31 — (CP).—Gustav Wiegner, 24, of Kimball, Neb., has been charged with the Alaska Highway slaying of John McComas, his 52-year-old fellow-townsman, the Provincial Police Headquarters here announced on Monday. McComas' body, mangled by wolves, was found in Northern BC. Wiegner said he accidentally shot his companion during a squirrel hunt.

Wallace Pelted With Eggs, Continues Southern Tour

CHARLOTTE, NC, Aug. 31 — (AP). — Henry A. Wallace, his campaign trail through the Southern States splashed with raw eggs and ripe tomatoes, appeared headed to-day toward more segregation troubles.

"We shall go on," Wallace said through a staff member who reported the Progressive Party's Presidential nominee's determination to continue his tour of the South where he is protesting segregation of negroes.

Charlotte and Asheville were the major points on the schedule to-day, his third day in North Carolina, with stops at a number of smaller cities en route.

Although determined to continue, the former Democratic Secretary of Agriculture displayed anger and disappointment Monday as he was pelted with eggs and ripe tomatoes and presented by boos and catcalls from delivering his messages.

Stopped entirely from speaking and splashed with debris at Burlington, Wallace grasped a bystander by the arm as he turned to his car.

"Am I in America?" he asked.

"Get your hands off me," the unidentified man growled and gave the candidate a slight push.

Atacked Again

At High Point, eggs and tomatoes again were hurled.

And at Monday night's rally at Winston-Salem, Wallace was booed long and lustily as he stood in the rain and attacked the Marshall plan, declaring:

"Only with an understanding with Russia can we avoid another war. We (the Progressives) are fighting on the side of the Lord."

Governor Gregg Cherry deplored the violence to which Wallace has been exposed, beginning with his first public talk at Durham Sunday night, and castigated those responsible.

His six-State Southern tour began quietly enoukh in Virginia on Sunday, but unsolved difficulties face him in other States on the program.

Lindsay Girls Take Win Over Lock Co.

Lindsay lasses trounced Lock Co. 18-3 last night at the Bowl in the second game of the Girls' Softball League round-robin series. A fair-sized crowd saw a one-sided game, the Lock Co. crew not playing nearly as good ball as in their previous appearance. They hit fairly well, but had some-costly errors and Lindsay cashed in on walks, errors, and timely bingles to roll up the count in several innings. The visitors got 20 bingles off M. Stewart, M. Barry, and P. Williams, though the Lock Co. trio fanned eight. J. Bryans fanned six, but had good support.

D. Hunter, J. Bryans, D. Westlake, and B. McMahon went best in the field for both sides in a so-so struggle. H. Deyell had five hits for Lindsay, with P. Graham having four hits, including a homer, and D. Woods four safe blows, while M. Chase hit a homer and single. D. Westlake led the losers at the plate with three safeties in five tries.

Here And There In Sports . . .

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Calgary Stampeders vaulted into first place in the Western Football Conference Monday night by downing Winnipeg Blue Bombers 30-0 at Calgary. It was the second straight league triumph for the Stampeders as they racked up five touchdowns, four converts and a rouge.

The hosts capitalized on two telling Winnipeg fumbles and sheer power, and completely outshone the once-mighty Bombers who faded in the last half of the game, played before 5,000 fans.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago won the $12,500 Utah Open Golf Championship at Salt Lake City Monday by defeating George Fazio of Conshohoken, Pa., in an 18-hole playoff. Mangrum shot a 69 and Fazio 71. The win boosted Mangrum's 1948 winnings $2,150 to $28,854, well ahead of Ben Hogan with $26,847.

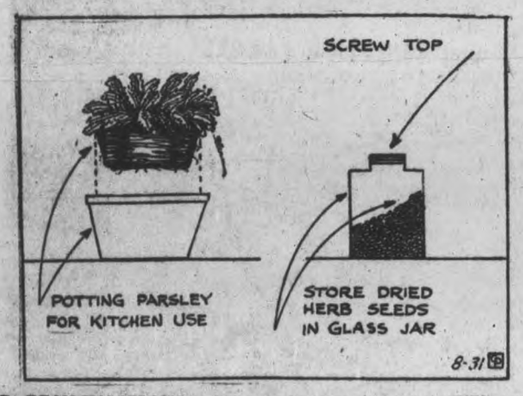
Polar Byrd, of Poplar Hill Farm, Lexington, Kt., continued to show his winning form by defeating Castleton Farm's Indian Land in the single-G stake pace on the Grand Circuit card at Du Quoin, Ill., Monday. Poplar Byrd was driven by Tom Berry to take the first heat in 2:02 and the second in 2:03 1 5.

St. Louis Cardinals' Stan Musial held on to his National League batting leadership last week with a .382 average official statistics released at New York showed today. Team-mate Tod (Country) Slaughter climbed into second slot by boosting his average from .316 to .335 during the week. Before he injured his hand, Richie Ashburn, Philadelphia rookie, climbed 11 points to .333, good enough for third place.

At Chicago the American League announced Monday that Cleveland's clouting manager, Lou Boudreau, shaved Boston Red Sox's Ted Williams' lead to eight points over the week; Williams .371, Boudreay .363. Down the line all by himself in third slot was Dale Mitchell, Cleveland, with .345.

YOUR GARDEN . . .

Three-Way Use Of Kitchen Herbs



By DEAN HALLIDAY

IN GREEN or dried form, herbs from your Freedom garden can be moved indoors for winter use. The dried seeds also can be stored for kitchen use.

If you wish to use herbs in dried form do as grandmother did and hang bunches of them in a dry attic or storage room. There should be enough heat in the attic or storage room slowly to dry out the herb plants.

If you wish to have the green leaves for winter use, transplant the herbs from the Freedom garden into flower pots, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Parsley, sweet basil, sweet marjoram and chives can be potted quite successfully and kept growing in the house all winter, providing the pots are placed where they will get some sun each day.

Upon digging up a clump of herbs, any long, straggling roots should be cut off, rather than to attempt to curl them under in the bottom of the flower pot.

Seeds of caraway, cumin, dill, fennel, corander, bene and anise are used more than are the stems and leaves. After harvesting the seeds of any herb be sure they are well cured before putting away in glass jars with screw tops, as illustrated.

If you plan to dry just the leaves of your favorite herbs, remember that the young ones at the tip of the stems have more flavor than the larger, older leaves. Cut stems 2 or 3 inches from the tip. As soon as the leaves are thoroughly dry, separate them from the stems and pack in tight containers.

Glass jars for storing dried herb leaves should be painted black, wrapped in dark paper or stored in a dark place to keep the color of the herbs from fading.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Local gridders are drilling away regularly now with hardly three weeks to go ere play starts. Looks like Cobourg intend to stay out of the ORFU grouping for this year, though they may have a change of heart. Meantime, Oshawa Red Raiders are hard at it, too, and they expect a big season. They have taken out a group insurance policy to give any injured player a weekly disability cheque of $20 plus all hospital expenses. Raising the dough on a draw and season's passes for only a buck. And the Raiders appear to have plenty of prospects with the likelihood that some will be cut off shortly. Orillia is an unknown quantity yet.

Comes an interesting booklet from Queen's, dealing with rugby past and present. It lists two local chaps as good prospects for this year. Morris Richardson, quarterback, is described as 155 pounds, 5 feet 11, 20 years old, and a player who "came to lead the ORFU Seconds at Queen's with his brilliant field generalship". And Orm Weir is described as a 165-pound outside, six feet one, 28 years old, having been in the RCAF quite a spell. It says: "He first turned out for football last year with the ORFU intermediates. In his three years at the University, he has been a mainstay on the senior basketball team."

Legion Puck Meeting

A meeting of the Legion Hockey Club this Thursday at 7.30 p.m. in the hall. It is open to last year's players and officials, and also to puckists prepared to play for Legion this winter. No election yet, nor is it open to the general public, as there are some important club decisions to be made at this time. Later, Legion and the Petes, too, will be holding their annual open sessions to get set for the season. The Civic Arena will be ready for use this winter and we trust the OHA clubs plan to play at home and give local fans a break. Provided the rink rental is at all reasonable. After all, our local fans certainly deserve a break after those rinkless years.

A couple of men's softball exhibitions lined up for Keene, B-A going there tonight and Legion on Thursday at 6.15 p.m. It is quite possible that Keene will seek entry next season into the City Softball League as they have a lot of talent there. Such players as Dalton, Hawkes, McCarthy, Mackness, Thomson, George and Bill Walton, Houle, Wright, Nelson and several more. With others of the nearby district available, too. Probably that's their idea of these two exhibitions, just to see how they shape up against two good Peterborough clubs.

St. Kitts Play Here

St. Catharines' colleens play Westelox here tomorrow e'en at 6.15 in the Bowl, Bill Bennett tells us, in the first of a two-in-three PWSU intermediate "A" semi-final series, return joust in St. Kitts on Saturday. This rates a real crowd. And the same night there at 8.15, Woollens and Ashby's tangle in a junior PWSU affair, second and third, if necessary, being at the Bowl on Friday. Last p.m., Lindsay romped to an 18-3 victory over Lock Co., the second game of the local intermediate round-robin series, while Ashby's trimmed Woollens 17-3 in an exhibition game. The girls' circuit is about over for the season, apart from PWSU playdowns.

The Petes will watch with interest that COBL semi-final in Belleville tonight as a Bata loss would eliminate the Shoemen. Our intermediates are in Napanee on the morrow and a win for 'em would wind up that series. Down in the Motor City last p.m., Oshawa Hunters rubbed out our junior Kiwanis in the deciding joust of their Lakeshore Loop finals, a 4-3 tilt. A toughie to lose, and it was a good series by both clubs. That puts both our juniors and our juveniles out of the OBA race, but our peewees, bantams and midgets are still very much in there and awaiting word on their next OBA opponents. The intermediates and seniors, of course, are still in the hunt, too.

Scarboro Had Trouble

No lacrosse match here last night. Quite a bunch of motorists and pedestrians wended their ways to Miller Bowl for Scarboro's "home" game but it was called off. On account of two cars of players were mixed up in an accident near Oshawa and word was sent that they couldn't make it. Doesn't affect the standing any as Scarboro has won but three in 21 starts for six points with three yet to play. The Petes have 19 wins and three to go, Oshawa 13 and seven with four left to play, Orillia nine and 11 with four yet, and Huntsville right on their heels with eight and 13, and three more. Oshawa are here Friday to wind up the schedule.

Machum Demands Olympic Association Chief Resign

MONTREAL, Aug. 31 (CP).—A. Sidney Dawes, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, denied early to-day he had tried to "undermine" the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

The charge of undermining was made by George C. Machum, president of the AAU of C, who said in a letter to Dawes that if he wished to go ahead with his plans to make the COA into a separate organization, he should resign.

"It is not my desire to undermine the AAU of C or any sports governing body in Canada," Dawes said in commenting on the charge. "I regret that Machum said these things, for I think it is a great mistake to start squabbling.

"My only point is that the COA is not organized as the international Olympic Committee intended. It is a committee of the AAU of C. This, in my opinion, is not a proper set-up."

"The COA should have its own charters, its own by-laws, and its own officers, elected by representatives on all sports-governing bodies in Canada," Dawes said.

Wants to Strengthen It

He said his object was to strengthen and not undermine sports-governing bodies. If these bodies had fulltime officers and sufficient finances, they would be able to push the development of sport in Canada.

"It is not my wish to belittle the AAU of C, far from it. But I don't know why Machum wants to control the COA."

Machum said he appointed the present Olympic Association in 1946 "to prepare for the 1948 Games." Their job was to raise the necessary funds, take the team to the Games and back, then report to the AAU of C.

At the same time as he told of his letter to Dawes, the AAU of C head told the Canadian Press of a plan to loosen the amateur code and develop amateur sport.

Since the recent Olympics, he said, it has become "obvious to all" that Canada "lacks something in the way of athletic development."

Under present regulations, restrictions on amateurs "serve no useful purpose and merely retard progress in athletic development," he said.

2 Peterboro Men Card 83 Scores At Golf Tourney

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 — (CP). — Two hard-driving golfers, A. B. McEwen of Montreal's Manawaki Club and G. F. Laing of the Windsor Essex Club, both in their first year of senior competition, paced a field of 193 Monday in opening day medal play competition of the 26th annual Canadian seniors' golf tournament.

The 55-year-old players — "youngsters" compared to many who are more than 75 years old—carded low grosses of 77 at the Royal Ottawa club.

Both McEwen and Laing shot two birdies each, and two of the birdies came together on the long, 467-yard 14th. Laing scored 39-38, and McEwen was forced to come back strongly after a 40 on the first nine to score 37 on the way in for his 77.

Laing and McEwen outdistanced the field. Their closest competition was a couple of 81 scores, by J. L. Williams of Ottawa and Dr. K. G. McKenzie of Toronto.

Four players carded 83 scores including R. Abbott 42-41; and Orlie De Graw, 43-40, both of Peterborough.

Among the six players with 84s were J. V. Stark of Kitchener, 43-41.

Lowest net score was shot by M. C. Loucks of Montreal Mariboro. It was 42-46—88, and a 24 handicap made it 64.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

It was back in 1936 that the late Mr. P. J. Giffen donated a cup to be known as the Giffen Trophy. It was given for novice competition and it has been played for every year since.

Tonight this year's crop of novices wsill toe the mark at 7.00 o'clock sharp, and the spectators may come prepared to see some fine bowling. These boys play hard and they take the game seriously. A. Black and B. Jeffries are the conveners of this competition.

Last night the club singles reached semi-finals, and it is expected that the finals will be played tonight in conjunction with the novice competition.

There were many good games played, but the one that caught our fancy was the T. Owens-W. Swiss affair. These boys certainly turned on the pressure and gave a fine exhibition.

How about your entry for the Selkirk tournament? It is set down for Tuesday, Sept. 8, Wednesday, Sept. 9, and Thursday, Sept. 10.

Evening games, of course.

The ladies are commencing their next games on Tuesday, Sept. 7. It will be individual scores that count. A total of five games will be played.

Lacrosse Playoffs

Cherney's Petes defeated Buffalos 12-4 yesterday to open their best-of-three peewee lacrosse finals. Good passing and checking featured the winners' play while Buffalos missed many fine chances. Lawrence Ball, Bud McDougall, Gary Kearns and Rich Anthony all went well for the victors, as B. Macklin stood out in goal for the losers. His support wasn't too good. The teams:

Petes—O'Connell, Pearl, Ball, Anthony, McDougall, Saunders and Kearns.

Buffalos — Martin, Blodgett, Clarke, Mills, Keeting, Lagana, Heard, Simmons, Haig and Macklin.

Royal Spitfires evened the tadpole finals by beating Rockets 4-2 to make it a win each in the best-of-five, next one being at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Pete Heffernan and Mickey O'Connell shone for Spitfires, but all the team went well. The Rockets worked hard, too, with Jerry Crough and Cam Rowatt the scorers. Passing proved the main difference as Spitfires combined better. The teams:

Spitfires — F. Heffernan, Hill, P. Heffernan, G. Heffernan, Mastrianni, Danahy, O'Connell, McInnis, Mahoney, O'Rourke, DeNoble, Pace and Hickson.

Rockets — Doris, Dugan, Hutchinson, C. Rowatt, R. Rowatt, Davis, Silvestri, Crough, Brisbois, Reid, Jay, Hawthorne and Parks.

Oshawa Ousts Kiwanis In Third Fray

Oshawa Hunters eliminated the local Kiwanis in the Motor City last night as they won 4-3 in the deciding game of their Lakeshore Junior Baseball League finals. Each club had won a close one previously, and now Oshawa goes in against Toronto Earlscourt in OBA junior "A" playdowns. Kiwanis, who had put out Kinsmen here to reach league finals, are through for the season, though Art Pagett, Wally Masters and their crew made a good showing.

Wade started for Kiwanis but gave way in the second to Pagett, who fanned 10 the rest of the route. Brown of Oshawa threw no-hit ball till the visitors got to him for three runs in the seventh, and Gavas relieved him on the mound. Brown had fanned six and walked as many, while Wade walked five. Stewart led the losers at bat with a triple and single.

Brooks Grab Doubleheader At Expense of Cardinals

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Bench strength" is one of the reasons Burt Shotton's Brooklyn Dodgers lead the National League.

Second stringers Monday enjoyed a field day at the expense of St. Louis Cardinals as the Dodgers took a doubleheader 6-5 and 6-1 to increase their lead to 1½ games over the runner-up Boston Braves.

Trailing 5-2 going into the ninth inning of the first game before 33,508 fans, the reserves swung into action and sparked a four-run rally that enabled the Brooks to win.

Gene Hermanski singled and Duke Snider doubled to start the Dodger ninth. Pete Reiser came off the bench to sock a two run double. Left-handed Arky Vaughan batted for Roy Campanella and promptly singled to right, sending pinch-runner Bobby Brown to third. Bruce Edwards batted for Ed Miksis and was intentionally passed to load the bases. Marv Rackley swung for winning pitcher Erv Palica and sent a long fly to Stan Musial, Brown scoring the tying run after the catch. George Shuba followed with a single to break up the game.

The Dodgers didn't have to call for help in the second game as lefty Joe Hatten held the Cards to five hits in racking up his 11th victory.

The setbacks dumped the Cards into fourth place, two percentage points behind Pittsburgh Pirates, who moved into third as a result of their 2-1 triumph over the Braves in a night game at Pittsburgh.

Beat Braves

Two former Dodgers, Dixie Walker and pitcher Fritz Ostermueller teamed up to beat the Braves, who now have lost six of their last seven starts. The Pirates are 3½ games off the pace, the same distance as the Cardinals.

Only 3½ games also separate the top four teams in the American League's pennant chase.

The runner-up New York Yankees moved to within a game of Boston's pace-setting Red Sox, who were idle Monday, by beating Detroit Tigers 3-0 in a night game at Yankee Stadium.

Frank Shea stopped the Tigers on one hit—pitcher Hal Newhouser's third inning single. The victory was Shea's seventh, against 10 defeats.

Cleveland's third-place Indians pulled to within 1½ games of the Red Sox as Satchel Paige pitched the Tribe to a 10-1, seven-hit victory over the Senators in a night game at Washington.

Paige, who now has won six games as against one loss, had the Nats blanked on two hits going into the eighth when Eddie Yost, Al Evans and Gill Coan singled to account for Washington's lone run.

At Philadelphia, the last-place Chicago White Sox scored five runs in the ninth inning with two out to upset the fourth-place Athletics 9-6.

Singles by Tony Lupien, Luke Appling, Taft Wright and doubles by pinch-hitter Ralph Weigel and Dave Philley featured Chicago's rally against losing pitcher Joe Coleman and Lou Brissie. The A's now trail the Red Sox by 3½ games.

Stranahan Eliminates Veteran Strafaci

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 31. — (AP).—Old man pressure and a wobbly course appeared today as major factors to the 128 players in the second round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Fewer than a dozen players involved in the 82 first-round matches could look back to subpar performances on the 6,617-yard par-70 Memphis Country Club course.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, who is seeking to add the American amateur crown to his British and Canadian prizes, had the easiest go of any of the hotshots and was paired today against Charles Dudley of Greenville, S.C.

Stranahan eliminated the veteran Frank Strafaci, five-time metropoiitan champion from Flushing, N.Y., 4 and 3. Dudley downed Hiram Chamberlain of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., 2 and 1.

The colorful defending champion, Robert (Skee) Riegel, who has Robert Clark of Edgewater, Colo., to deal with in the second round, eliminated Richard Ewert 1-up when the Santa Ana entry failed by a break of the ball to sink a short putt on the 18th green.

Webb Pitches Jersey City To 4-1 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Sam Webb, rookie right-hander of Jersey City Giants, has a good chance to lead pitchers in the International League in most games won. He has performed the feat twice in his previous two years in the game.

Webb turned in his 17th victory as agains 13 losses Monday night in pitching the up-and-coming Giants to a 4-1 six-hit triumph over Syracuse Chiefs in the first game of a twin bill. The Giants also won the nightcap, 15-11.

Only Jack Banta of the league-leading Montreal Royals has won more games than Webb. Banta has picked up 18 triumphs. The Royals were idle yesterday, as were Toronto Maple Leafs.

The twin triumphs enabled the Giants to tie the idle Buffalo Bisons for sixth place, two games behind the fifth-place Chiefs.

Newark's runner-up Bears divided a doubleheader with the last - place Baltimore Orioles, winning the nightcap 5-2 after the Orioles grabbed the opener 6-5 on Ed Levy's 19th homer of the year in the ninth inning.

Johnny Malrovan scattered nine hits in stopping Baltimore in the second game. One of the blows was Howie Moss's 32nd four-bagger of the year, tops for the circuit. Ted Stepkowski and Hank Workman clubbed round-trippers for the Bears to increase the club total to 150, one more than their previous high of 149 set last year.

Cobourg Pitcher Hurls Second No-Hit Game

WHITBY, Aug. 31 — Don Ball, youthful Cobourg pitcher, threw his second no-hit game of the OASA intermediate "B" playoffs last night in downing Whitby, 12-0. The Cobourg victory eliminated Whitby and qualified the winners for a third-round series against Trenton.

In claiming his no-hit no-run game, Ball fanned 12 batters and walked three. Only five men got on base for Whitby. Ball pitched a no-hitter 10 days ago against Port Hope.

Leading the Cobourg attack was third sacker Bob Cooper whose grand-slam home run salted the game away. Edgar Ewart, Cobourg catcher had a triple, double and single.

'Times' Willing To Give Britain NewsprintSupply

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., Aug. 31 — (CP). — Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times, Monday suggested newspapers should try harder to inform the public and leave entertainment to radio and television.

The first responsibility of a free press is to supply accurate information, Sulzberger said. A newspaper could not compete with radio and television as an entertainment medium.

Sulzberger spoke at a meeting of the New York State publishers association.

"Television and radio, as I see it, are primarily media of entertainment, and the newspaper, which gives information, is not threatened by them," he said.

"On the other hand, the newspaper which holds its readers through its entertainment features is, I believe, threatened because radio and television have greater entertainment scope . . ."

Sulzberger said he felt British newspapers are not able to supply all the information needed by the citizens of that country under their present strict newsprint ration. He said he feels that the Labor government there "is risking the fundamental democracy of its people by rationing their information."

"If the British government will allocate the dollars and the supply of newsprint remains short, we on the New York Times are prepared to give up a percentage of our raw materials for British use if other American publishers will do the same," he said.

Canada Imports Fiji Bananas

SUVA, Fiji, Aug. 31 (CP). — A shipment of bananas from Fiji will be carried by the liner Aorangi to Canada when she makes her first post-war voyage across the Pacific at the end of this month.

Fiji is extremely anxious to establish a regular market for bananas in Canada but suitable shipping links have not hitherto been available.

The Aorangi will take 1,000 bunches and 200 cases of bananas packed in hands, small compact bundles of about a dozen wrapped in woven covering. The two methods are being tried as an experiment to test which is most suitable for the Canadian trade.

Windsor Police Free Woman With Negro

WINDSOR, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Mary Ladd, identified as the white girl friend of a negro who fired five shots at three "curb-cruising" Americans last Friday, has been released by police although still refusing to name her companion.

The shooting occurred after three Detroiters had driven near the couple and shouted, "where you all going honey?"

Inspector of detectives James Campbell said today that a suspect was picked out of a police lineup by the driver of the automobile. The Detroiter, however, was unable to swear the suspect actually fired the shots.

GM At Oshawa To Take Vote

OSHAWA, Aug. 31 — (CP). — Employees of General Motors Corporation here, members of Local 222 of the United Automobile Workers (CCL) will ballot later this week on whether to handle parts being imported during the strike at the Mackinnon Industries, G.M. subsidiary at St. Catharines.

A meeting Monday night approved the ballot to be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. George Burt, Canadian director of the union, stressed that there was no question of a strike. The tie-up at Mackinnon has been in effect for some weeks with workers there seeking a rate equal to that of the General Motors plant at Oshawa and Windsor.

The Mackinnon tie-up is to be discussed further at a meeting today in Ontario Labor Minister Daley's office at Toronto.

MacNicol Denies Making Statement

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP). — John R. MacNicol, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Toronto Davenport, told the Canadian Press Monday night that he had been mixed up with somebody else in a Chicago dispatch Aug. 26 which quoted Mr. MacNicol as favoring diversion of Lake Michigan waters at Chicago.

Mr. MacNicol attended a meeting at Chicago at which engineers from several states discussed the question of lake diversion.

He said Monday night: "The gentleman to my left supported a recommendation for additional diversion at Chicago from Lake Michigan.

"I neither supported, nor did I oppose, the diversion.

"I felt it was unnecessary for me to take part in the phase of the discussion. Personally I have always opposed large diversions of water, as opposed to God's law."

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Aug. 31 —(CP). — The Security Council Monday slapped Russia's Jakob Malik by forcing adjournment of an emergency meeting he had called in his role as Council President. Contending there is no emergency, the delegates refused to accept the agenda Malik presented. The Council quit without taking any action on Palestine and Kashmir—the two questions he listed.

Government Suing

LONDON, Aug. 31—(CP). — The Federal Government is suing two district residents for between $6,000 and $7,000 damages in a suit arising from the death of Waclaw Dominiak, a Polish immigrant, in a traffic accident at nearby Ailsa Craig last May. Dominiak was considered a ward of the national employment service at the time of his death.

Old Swing Bridge Snarls Up Traffic

VANCOUVER, Aug. 30—(CP) —Life to Clifford Cross is one big merry-go-round.

For 17 years he has been going round in circles, disregarding fuming motorists who line up waiting for him to stop.

It's his job—as foreman of a four-man crew that tramps an eight-hour watch in the centre of the swing span of Fraser Avenue bridge connecting the avenue with Lulu Island.

The aging timber and steel structure is one of the few remaining hand-operated swing spans in British Columbia. Under a marine law section, the span must be opened immediately for any boat, large or small, regardless of time, tide or motor traffic.

Tedious Operation

First the operator blocks off traffic by lowering the safety gate. Then he walks 688 feet across the bridge to block traffic on the other side. In the centre of the bridge he opens a manhole cover, inserts a ten-foot pole, and commences the treadmill.

The process is repeated to close the bridge and allow traffic to move.

Public works officials say the procedure takes 12 minutes. The men who do the turning time it at 15 minutes on a windless day.

The end may soon be in sight, however, for an electric motor, which will open the bridge in a whizzing three minutes, is on the way.

Students At UN To Make Canadian Tour

The trip, which will include stops at Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto and Niagara Falls, was the idea of Suzanne Barriere of Montreal.

A student at Columbia University where she has been working for her master's degree in international law. Miss Barriere spent the summer working in the legal department of the United Nations.

The members of the group she will lead in Quebec worked in various departments of the world agency.

Mrs. Christine Waller of Galt, who was attached to the UN's department of information this summer, will take over leadership of the group during their trip through Ontario.

MONROE, Mich., Aug. 31 — (CP).—Ten angry nudists, plucked from their wooded retreat near here, are screaming for Sheriff Ray Gensler's hide. They were tossed into a stuffy jail all because they chose to gambol unclad in the dell. To get the naked truth, the sheriff had scouted the camp by airplane and binoculars before the raid.

Lord's Day Act To Be Expected

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP). — Officials of the Ontario attorney-general's department said Monday that municipalities refusing to enforce he Lord's Day Act and close amusement centres on Sundays, may find the provincial police doing it for them—at their expense.

Chief Constable Ken Brocklemeyer at Port Stanley, Lake Erie resort south of London, said Sunday he was employed by the village council, not the attorney-general's department, and that he would make no attempt to shut down Sunday amusements at that centre.

One department official here said that Chief Constable Brocklemeyer "should remember that he is under oath to enforce the law, regardless of who pays his salary."

Port Stanley was only one of several resorts where the question has become acute this summer. The whole situation is expected to be reviewed by Attorney-General Blackwell on his return from holidays.

Fraser River Rising For Third Time

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31 (CP)— For the third time since spring, residents of Hatzic Prairie are fighting the rising waters of the Fraser River. This time, the menace is from prolonged rainfall.

Already 100 cows have been evacuated, and several families in the path of the surging water are preparing for the trek to Mission and higher points.

Many of Hatzic's farmers are still scraping away the mud and slime of the June deluge, when the river, fed by melting snow, roared through the dike and turned the rich farmland into a muddy lake. Hatzic is on the south bank of the Fraser, about 35 miles east of here.

The river has climbed more than a foot in the last 24 hours, and five feet since last Monday. Water is beginning to show on the flats at Mission, eight miles further east. Fields at Matsqui, just across the river from Mission, are showing seepage.

Alan H. Munro Engineer Dies Aged 58

Alan Hugh Munro died Monday at his home, 352 Brock St., where he was born in 1890. He was a graduate of the School of Practical Science, University of Toronto, a member of the Engineer Institute of Canada and of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario.

Mr. Munro spent his life in surveying and construction work in many parts of Canada. He enlisted as a sapper in the Royal Canadian Engineers in the First World War, and was promoted to a commissioned officer in France. He came of a family of engineers. His grandfather, William Hamilton, and his father, George Munro, built sawmills in many lumbering centres from Vancouver Island to Newfoundland, and equipped them with machinery made in Peterborough.

His grandfather was for years head of the Wm. Hamilton Company, Reid St., one of Peterborough's leading industries of a past generation. Products of the company were also used by George and William Hamilton in gold-mining installations in British Columbia when that province was the gold-mining area of Canada. The old buildings of the Hamilton works are still seen and in use on Reid St., north of Murray St.

Mr. Munro was not married. He is survived by a sister, Miss Effie Munro of this city, and by an older brother, Mr. Hamilton Munro, managing director of the Ottawa Light, Heat & Power Co., Ottawa. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 352 Brock St., at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. A. McCallum Buried In Marmora

Requiem Mass for the late Mrs. Archibald McCallum, 81, of 564 Sherbrooke St., was said on Monday morning at the Sacred Heart Church in Marmora by the Rev. J. Pickett. Pall Bearers were H. E., J. A. and D. L. Shannon, Bert Crawford, Harry Dunlay and E. A. O'Connor and burial was at Sacred Heart Cemtery, Marmora.

Mrs. McCallum died at her residence on Saturday. She was the former Elizabeth, daughter of the late James McHenry and Margaret McDonald, and had lived in Peterborough for the past eight years and before that in Marmora for a number of years. Besides her husband, she leaves one sister, Miss Ellen McHenry, both of Peterborough.

While she lived in the city, she was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral and in Marmora an active member, for many years, in the Sacred Heart parish.

Peterboro' Growers Placed 2nd At CNE

Peterborough branch of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association won second prize in the group vegetable displays at the Canadian National Exhibition. London branch was awarded first prize. This was the highest place Peterborough growers ever attained at the CNE, and there was some opinion that they merited the honors alloted to London.

The display was arranged by Harold Johnston and Herb Doig, and the growers contributing vegetables from their gardens were Eric Johnston, Alf Johnston, Ray Johnston, Kitchener Johnston, John Kitney and H. F. Doig.

Gasoline Case Judgment On September 15

Arguments of counsel in the court case over the bylaw regulating closing hours of garages in the city will be reduced to writing. Final evidence for the prosecution and the defence in the important test case against service station operator John Russelle was heard in police court today by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., who said that he hoped to be able to deliver his judgment on September 15.

Defence counsel W. J. A. Fair agreed to submit his argument to Special Prosecutor Alex Elliott, K.C., by 10 a.m. Sept. 7 and that the two arguments would be handed to the magistrate by 4 p.m. the same day.

The two counsel again tangled on the matter of further adjournment of the case. Mr. Elliott said that his argument could be delivered in court in 15 minutes and that the prosecution was anxious to have the case disposed of speedily.

To Advantage of Accused

"Any further delay, of course, is to the advantage of the accused persons," said Mr. Elliott. "They are anxious to keep this continuing as long as possible, so that they can keep their stations open. The majority of operators in the city are conscientiously observing the bylaw and keeping closed—thereby losing considerable money in trade to the accused persons."

"Oh, no, your worship," replied Mr. Fair, "what my learned friend should say is that during that time the public is being served by the persons alleged to be breaking this alleged bylaw. No one is getting hurt."

Similar charges against three other city garage operators were also adjourned until the same date—Sept. 15. Both counsel agreed that the Russelle charge was a test case.

Police Chief Called

In the adjourned hearing which resumed today, Peterborough Police Chief John Thompson was first prosecution witness called. He testified that, under provision of the bylaw which permits 15 per cent of the stations to remain open certain hours after the others, he had drawn up a list with the city clerk. He said that on July 24 (the date on which the accused Russelle is charged with violating the bylaw), the accused did not have a permit allowing him to stay open. No station in the city has been issued a permit to remain open for 24 hours a day, he said, nor had there been any application for such permits.

In questioning by Mr. Elliott, the Chief explained that the list of stations to remain open later were determined by two factors: the location and the oil company, with an effort made to have each area of the city served and an even distribution to each company.

"What provisions are made for those stranded in the city without gas after closing hours?" asked Mr. Fair.

"There is none that I know of," was the answer.

Joseph Devlin, 21 Cricket Place, was the last witness for the prosecution. He gave evidence of purchasing gasoline at Russelle's gas station "some Saturday in July" between eight and 8.30 p.m.

City Alderman Pat Anglesey was first witness for the defence. He said that he had been present at the special meeting of the city council on July 12 when the bylaw had been passed. He said there had not been a full council at that meeting.

"There was some question at that time, if I remember, concerning whether a full count had been made of all the retail gas outlets in the city."

"Did you see this?" asked Mr. Fair, referring to an exhibit in the case of a list prepared by the police department for the city clerk.

"It was on the city clerk's desk at that meeting."

"Did you see it?"

"No, I didn't. It was not possed around."

"What representations were there at that meeting made by persons interested in the bylaw?"

Tourist Trade Ignored

"A man there who introduced himself, I think, as organizer for the Garage Association of Ontario, addressed the council. He told us that bylaws similar to this had been in operation in other cities of the province, mentioning Toronto. I asked him what provisions were made for tourist trade. He answered that there was nothing being done — that they were just sort-of being ignored. Nothing was done for them after seven o'clock."

He recalled a letter being read from the Garage Association to council at that meeting. It said that the council had no option but to pass the bylaw, as it had been approved by petition by the required percentage of operators."

Alderman Anglesey was closely questioned about the procedure at the earlier meeting of the council at which the bylaw had been considered. Stating first in his evidence that the bylaw had been defeated by the council on third reading, he was called back to the stand to correct himself. Speaking from memory, he said that he had been in error on the point. The bylaw had passed in council on first reading and had been voted down on second reading in committee-of-the-whole-council. No further action had been taken after that at that meeting, he said.

The alderman objected to a question of Mr. Elliott in which he was asked if it were not true that he "had been the champion of Russelle's case through the council."

"As chairman of the Industrial and Tourist Committee, I was concerned with the effects of the proposed bylaw on the tourist business of the city," he replied.

Advised By Solicitor

He said that it was correct that the council had been advised by its solicitor on the night of July 12 that they had no alternative but to pass the bylaw. Requirements passed by the provincial government left no other option.

"And yet you voted against it, irrespective of the advice of the city solicitor? After he had told you that it was all legal and correct?"

"I voted against it because I didn't feel we should be rubber stamps to statutory requirements. I voted according to the dictates of my own conscience," answered the alderman.

Chief Thompson, recalled to the stand by the defence, acknowledged that he was the informant in the charges laid under the bylaw.

"Who is Mr. Elliott acting for?" asked Mr. Fair.

"For the prosecution."

"But, you're not retaining him, are you?"

"No."

The suggestion that written argument be submitted was made by Mr. Fair. Magistrate Philp agreed that it would be a wise course.

"This is an important case and such a procedure would be much more satisfactory," said the magistrate.

Income Tax Collections Eight Times Those of 1938

In the 10-year period 1938-48 the gross annual collection of income tax in the Peterborough-Hastings-Prince Edward-Northumberland area has increased from less than half a million dollars to more than $10,000,000. These figures were disclosed on Monday by Kenneth L. Reid, director of income tax and succession duties, Belleville, at the weekly dinner-meeting of the Rotary Club.

Mr. Reid outlined the workings of the income tax branch of the Department of Finance and told of the difficulty encountered in getting farmers to file returns.

"Until the last two or three years," he said, "farmers didn't know what income tax was all about." He held that it was the belief of the government that the primary producers should pay tax.

"We don't want to use a club, but it should be recognized that we must have returns from people in a position to pay taxes." And he added, "the only person who will be troubled will be the person who, knowing that he owes us, still doesn't pay."

He deprecated what he felt was the attitude of the general public in looking on the income tax branch as "fair game." People not otherwise dishonest will falsify their returns, he said, and other people who know of this will not inform on the offender.

"I think they are mistaken in this attitude. "We are interested in people's tax problems. We are not there as policemen; we are only too eager to show how we can help," he said.

Praise For Employers

High praise was extended to employers who deduct the income tax of their employees at source. He paid particular tribute to the employers in this district for their "splendid co-operation." By deducting the tax at source, he pointed out, the employer has now become in effect part of the Department.

"Income tax should be regarded by the employer as part of the cost of operating," he said. And he issued the warning that "many employers have not allowed for this when planning on expansion. In some cases they have had to sell some of their assets. It comes every year and each employer should provide for income tax as it comes along."

In Difficult Position

Farmers, he stated, were in a particularly difficult position if they had hired farm labor. As employers they were required to file a return for their help, but often this help, which he described as a "floating group," would not work on such terms.

He conceded that income tax was a "necessary evil" but added that it was one of the most prolific sources of government revenue.

"I don't think the tax will come down in the near future," he said.

Mr. Reid quoted figures to show how the war had multiplied the number of those paying income tax. In 1938 of those filing returns in this district ony 1,699 were assessed and 2,064 were not assessed. This he compared with 1948 when 36,701 were assessed with 15,555 not assessed.

To handle this increase he said the staff at Belleville had been increased from eight in 1939 to 142 in 1948.

Mr. Reid was introduced by Peter Labranche and thanked by John McColl. President William Hamilton was in the chair.

Guests were Leslie Schilling, Farmersville, Ohio; T. Herbert Martin, Peoria, Illinois; Clint Beck, Peterborough; Cliff Beck, Woodstock, NB; Howard Moore, Kenmore, NY; Jasper Humphrey, Montreal; John H. Fisher, Rittman, Ohio; Robert Carley, Peterborough; Victor Nolan, Belleville; Fred Holmes, Peterborough, and Arthur H. Lewis, Peterborough.

Two Barns Are Lost In Electrical Storm

Violent electrical storms in Manvers township on Friday night fired the barn of Bud Walker which was located on the outskirts of the village of Janetville, and for a while presented a menace to the settlement. Freshly-threshed grain, two pigs and two calves, a large number of geese and hens and 2,000 feet of stored lumber were destroyed before volunteer help could render assistance. One horse was led to safety.

In the Sunderland district the same storm destroyed the barn of Herbert Baker in which grain, hay and numerous pieces of farm machinery were lost. A straw stack at Howard Tamblyn's farm in the Glenarm area was also destroyed. Accompanying high winds caused additional damage throughout the storm area but no persons were reported injured.

Sunday School Class Acts Flower Bearers

The beauty of a Christian funeral was a phrase in the remarks of Rev. H. G. Douglas at the service in Knox United Church Monday afternoon in memory of John Kidd, 23, who was killed in a motor accident north of Fowler's Corners, Saturday morning.

This young man who had served in the RCAF, had been a professing and acting Christian from the time he was sixteen, and was teacher of a Sunday school class at Knox. Boys of his class were the flower-bearers of the funeral, and the magnificent flowers at the bier were evidence of the warm regard in which John Kidd was held by many people.

The dominant note of the funeral, with the church nearly fully occupied by friends, was not a spirit of defeat and despair in the sudden ending of a bright young life, Rev. Mr. Douglas said. It was rather the emphasizing of Christian faith and hope which John Kidd has manifested in his youth. "We cannot understand accidents and why they occur, but we have faith in God, and it is by that faith we are sustained through such trials."

The pall-bearers were: Donald Dillon, William Piersey, Edward Potter, David Potter, Claire Dayman and Roy Genge.

And the flower-bearers were: Robert Ross, Ronald Dunn, Edwin Dunn, Wayne Johnston, Robert Deck, Robert Poge, John Blair, Frank Lundy, Dick Herbison.

Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery where the service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Douglas.

Wilfred Allen Rae Buried In Toronto

Funeral service for the late Wilfred Allen Rae of 104 Whitehall Rd., Toronto, was held today from a Toronto funeral home and burial was at Park Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. Rae died suddenly at Victoria Point, Orillia, on Saturday. He was born in Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rae.

Since the first of this year he was Toronto branch manager of A. Schrader's Son Division, Scovil Manufacturing Company. He joined the organization 13 years ago and previous to that time was associated with the sales division of the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goods Company in various capacities. He was a member of the Canadian section, Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE), Automotive Supplies Manufacturers' Association, Automotive Parts Section, Canadian Manufacturers' Association and honorary member of the Commercial Travellers' Association of Canada.

He leaves his wife, the former Shirley Smith, a daughter Joyce and a son Robret. One sister, Miss Ethel Rae, lives in Peterborough.

Wolf Is Sighted By Berry Pickers

It took more than the sight of a wolf in the vicinity and evidence that a bear had also been prowling around to discourage Miss Mary Keenan and Mrs. Chris Grazos of Lindsay on their berry-picking expedition at Haliburton last week.

Staying with Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McCullough, the Lindsayites were out picking thimbleberries when they saw the wolf and were made aware of the presence of a bear in the region. They kept at their "picking" and came home with several well-filled containers.

Remand Man Held In Oshawa Robbery

OSHAWA, Aug. 31—(CP). — Jack Sirkoski of Hamilton was remanded today until Sept. 3 on a charge of robbing a brewer's warehouse messenger last Aug. 16 of $5,000 in cash and a number of cheques. Bail was refused.

Two men escaped with the loot in an automobile after grabbing a satchel containing the day's receipts from the messenger. Frank Wasni of Toronto was shot to death in Hamilton by a police officer when he attempted to escape from custody while being taken to a police station for questioning in regard to the holdup. A coroner's jury exonerated the officer of blame in Wasni's death.

City Population of 75,000 In Next Thirty Years

By the end of the town planning period, thirty years, Peterborough's population will be 75,000 rather than the 50,000 envisioned in earlier estimates of the growth of Peterborough, James Dutton, chairman of the town planning committee, told the Board of Works Monday night.

Mr. Dutton said that Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, had recently gone into the figures of natural increase in the number of persons in the city, with others moving here to live, and if that present ratio of growth is maintained Peterborough's population will have mounted to the larger total of 75,000.

The Kelly calculation is a deduction from the present trends. The period for which the town planning program has been drafted is 30 years.

Street Widening

Widening of Charlotte and George Streets are contemplated in a by-law which the board has recommended for preparation by City Silicitor Huycke. It is proposed that Charlotte St., from Water to Park Sts., be widened 10 feet, by a five-foot setback on each side; and on George St. a three-foot set back on each side.

Both the Cherney and Haywood-Reilly stores, in course of construction, complied with the three-foot set-back rule south of King St., although there is no compulsion of by-law requiring it. That widening is in the proposed zoning by-law which has not yet been passed, "and goodness knows when it will be," City Solicitor Huycke remarked.

"Those are evidences of the co-operation we have received from the public generally," Mr. Dutton told the members of the council.

People had been co-operating with the planning board and its ideas for the future, and in nearly every case had complied with requests and desires of planning although the necessary by-law is not yet ready for adoption.

In the preparations of a zoning by-law, the members of the planning committee had in many instances visited neighborhood localities to see for themselves the conditions attaching to questions of zoning and its immediate effects.

"I should like to say that in the main our zoning proposals have been very well received," Mr. Dutton said. "It has been very gratifying to find so much goodwill and interest and a readiness to co-operate for the future of Peterborough even when personal property advantages were concerned."

Scope Of Zoning By-Law

Mr. Dutton told the board that the next step is to acquaint the public of the scone of the zoning by-law as preliminary to their voting on its adoption. "The Minister, Hon. Dana Porter, told us when he was here that when 9,000 people took the trouble to visit our exhibits at the Public Library and to investigate what was proposed and did not register any objection, it could be assumed with confidence that the public generally was in favor of our planning project."

The new planning laws require that a copy of the by-law be sent to every voter.

That providing of information obviously involved quite an expense, Mr. Dutton said. "We are planning neighborhood meetings this fall, dividing the city into seven areas, and holding at least one meeting in each section. Their purpose is to explain the zoning by-law, and any local objections can be registered at that time."

The planning committee was suggesting to the council a main traffic bypass from the vicinity of Sherbrooke St. West, around the city to the north, one of the planning recommendations and the setbacks mentioned above.

"I never saw such a traffic tangle down town as one at Water and Charlotte Sts. Saturday morning," Mr. Dutton said. The main avenue of relief for the future was to provide a bypass road for through traffic to direct it around the city.

$2,000 Bail Set In Theft Case

William Buckley, 22, of Toronto, was bailed for trial by a higher court on a charge of breaking and entering the York Traders Warehouse on Aug. 7 when he appeared for preliminary hearing in police court today. The youth was placed on $2,000 bail.

Only witness before the order for trial was made was Constable Douglas Farthing of the city police department. He said that he had arrested the accused at gunpoint near midnight Aug. 7 as Buckley was leaving the warehouse by a loading door. When Buckley threw his hands in the air, said the officer, a flashlight and a jimmying-bar had fallen from them. These, and a pair of gloves which the officer said the accused was wearing, were introduced as exhibits.

A window to a washroom on the east side of the building had been entered, said the witness. It had been jimmied open by a tool "like this one"—pointing to the exhibit.

The accused did not make any statement following the hearing.

Old Home Week Cost Lindsay $21,000

Staging of old home weeks is a costly business, and in Lindsay's case of their recent affair, town books were in the red for $21,000. Town pessimists predicted it was going to cost too much, but until the final tally was made, no one realized that it would be quite so high. Now the problem is how to pay for their fun, and they apparently have their choice of one of three possible ways: raise the town tax rate four mills for the next year, take money out of the town's reserve fund that is reputed to be about $80,000, or sell debentures if permission from the Municipal Board is forthcoming.

Townspeople expect an official statement of the course of action within the very near future.

Irma May Lorenz Weds John Thomas

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding Monday when Irma May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lorenz, Dublin St., became the bride of John Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy O'Shea of Wolfe Island.

Rev. P. P. Butler officiated at the nuptial mass in a church decorated with gladioli and fern. Music was played by Mrs. R. Aman, and during the signing of the register Mrs. E. Collis sang Ave Maria.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of blush satin falling in a slight train, with long, fitted sleeves coming to points over the hands. Her long veil was of silk embroidered net caught with a tiara of tiny pearls, and she wore a pearl necklace and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Wedding attendants were Evelyn Lorenz and Ella Foley, with Laurie O'Shea as flower girl. Bridesmaids were similarly gowned in dresses of white and pale green nylon marquisette embosses in floral patterns, and wore sprays of cresent shaped flowers. The flower girl was frocked in baby pink taffeta, and all carried nosegays to match their gowns.

Best man was Glen O'Shea, the groom's brother, and ushers were Terrance O'Shea and John Perry.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for fifty guests at the Empress Hotel, where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of delphinium crepe with white accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother also received, wearing a gown of dove grey crepe with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Later the bride and groom left on a trip to Ottawa, for which the bride wore a peplum suit of navy gabardine with navy and pink accessories, and a corsage of pink roses. On their return they will live in Kingston.

Two to Four Ripples Found In New Flared Back Coats

By MARGARET LANCASTER

Who do you think was in town. —Musky the Muskrat, just in for the day from Rice Lake. Yes it was pretty hot for a fellow in a fur coat but he didn't seem to care. His mind was on what is to keep Peterborough's fashionable women warm when the streets are deep in snow. "Just want to see if these furriers are keeping up our tradition" he growled.

Seemed like a good idea to inspect the fur styles of 1948-49, so we eavesdropped.

Musky found that coats of Rice Lake Muskrat skins are indeed popular in a city where fashion-wise buyers are partial to muskrat coats. It's the sleeves and collars that will tell you which of your friends are sporting new models this fall. Last year's styles are strictly passe and out in the cold, and what is more, the customers are quite aware of it.

"The girls study the styles before they enter the store and know pretty well what they want" a salesman was telling Musky, and he added "if you attempt to show them something left over in the stock, they will smartly tell you they don't want anything like that."

Cleverly drawing the conversation back to Rice Lake skins, Musky said coyly "Do you sometimes fool your customers and sell them, say a northern muskrat coat and call it a "Rice Lake?" Well, the salesman was indignant at that, so he opened the vault to show him just how difficult it would be to "pull the wool over a smart customer's eyes" in that manner. The difference in quality and appearance was unbelievable in comparison, and yet the coats stell for the same price in most in most cases.

Muskrat coats on the rack were in the most-favored forest mink, and a new shading called royal pastel ranch mink, with a few in silver blue. All had flare back with a choice of two, three or four ripples. The shoulders appeared to be smoother and more rounded, but the slope shoulder fad is "out" in this city. Collar interest has been high with stand-up in large and small size shown and some shawl collars, with cape collars getting considerable attention but the 'notch' is the popular choice. You can choose your style, but you must have a collar. Sleeves on every model were tapered into a small cuff

As for length, well Peterborough girls are right up-to-date and they want their fur coats 12 to 13 inches from the floor too. A lot, too, are choosing the 36" reefer coat with four-flare back in muskrat and Persian Lamb.

Leaving Musky to his contemplations we noted the high sheen black, black loveliness of Hudson seal coats, combining style and durability, and favored by the older women, as well as business girls. Beside them was the dark splendor of Persian Lamb with the enduring brilliance and glossiness of the coal black fur. In another vault we found the greys that are so smart and beguilingly beautiful.

Dramatic seems the word to describe a brown and grey striped beaver that had just been sold. Done in a two-shearing process to eliminate curling when wet, it featured the West Point cape sleeve with the inner sleeve having a narrow cuff and a sailor shawl collar.

Mink, well we can admire it anyway, was madeup with sculptured mastery in a four ripple back with over-shoulder cape collar and triple bellow sleeves.

A most important point to remember when buying furs came to our attention during this survey. Unless your salesman shows that he "knows" furs, do not deal with him. Peterborough stores are proud of their trained staff men who know all about the furs they sell, and what is just as important, how they must be made up and the highest skilled knowledge of proper "cutting" of skins to prevent stretching and otherwise falling short of the expected lifetime.

Jealous Mothers Create Discord In Daughters Homes

Practically all mothers want their daughters to marry and they do their utmost to help them corral husbands, but it is the rarest thing for a mother to make any effort to teach her daughters how to handle the men that they have married. They seem to think that that invaluable knowledge comes along with the wedding presents and white satin and champagne.

Dorothy Dix

Every mother knows from her ownexperience that pulling off a successful mariage isn't a matter of luck or inspiration. It takes about 20 years of time and barrels of tears for a bride to acquire the self-control, patience, tact and knowhow that enables her to keep her husband eating out of her hand, and liking it.

So it would seem that mothers would spend as much time briefing their daughters about how to get along with Friend Husband as they did in luring him into the matrimonial fold, but such is not the case. After the wedding Mother turns into a critic on the hearth instead of a promoter of connubial bliss.

Probably few women are cruel enough to want to alienate their daughters from the husbands they love and break up their homes, yet thousands of them do it through a jealousy of which they are unconscious. They wanted their daughters to marry, but they cannot bear the thought that Susie and Mamie love their husbands better than they do them. They are upset because they no longer are the oracles to them that they were when their daughters were little girls with pigtails.

Begins Alientation

When Mother descends upon the newlyweds before they even have had time to unpack their wedding gifts—because she can't endure being parted from her darling daughter—she has taken the first step in the instigation of an alienation suit may follow, sooner or later.

For Mother will always be underfoot. The young husband and wife will have no privacy. They can never have a spat, kiss and make up because Mother will always be refreshing it, and urging Susie to stand firm and not give in to her husband.

Worse still, Mother, without realizing it, begins a smear campaign on Susie's husband that takes all of the glory out of her romance and makes her think that she has thrown herself away on a poor dub who wasn't worth picking up. When Mother suggests to Susie 'hat it is just too bad that Bob is such a poor business man, or that his table manners need correcting, or that his taste in neckties is awful, or that he doesn't take her stepping often enough, the fat is in the fire. Another marriage has gone blooey.

And, of course, Mother doesn't mean any harm. Why, she wouldn't be wicked enough to break up Susie's marriage for anything. But she turns the trick by pitying Susie not having any pretty clothes, and Susie not being able to do this or do that, until Susie takes her troubles and her children and goes back to Mother, who gives her a frosty welcome for she didn't expect her jealousy to take her that far.

All of which boils down to the fact that Mother jealousy breaks up more homes than sirens do. Many and many a divorce would be saved if all mothers acted upon the advice that one old woman I knew gave her daughters when they married. She said: "Stick to your job. I didn't rear you to be quitters."

staff of four, headed by 24-year-old Cathis Munro of Stratford, said they sewed so many pearls on the flowing ivory duchess satin gown that they found themselves doing it in their sleep.

For weeks the problem of obtaining sufficient pearls also haunted them, but friends donated thousands of broken strings.

In the middle of the job Mr. Keay collapsed and was taken to hospital for a physical checkup.

"In my 25 years in this business, I've never been commissioned to produce anything nearly as intricate as the copy of Princess Elizabeth's wedding gown," said Mr. Keay.

Clothes of the principals were cut and designed only from a picture, but life-size models of the Princess, the Duke of Edinburgh. Princess Margaret Rose and the two page boys were built up from dress forms. Miss Munro used modelling wax to complete details of the figures.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, September 1

The sidereal influences accent the importance of tact, finesse and personal charm or inner forces and power rather than realistic and sordid objectives or routines. The creative powers are under excellent stimuli for unusual or unique performance, although ideals and aspirations give dynamic force to all such efforts or objectives. Intuition, imagination, impressions, could be used to advantage. Thoroughly practical and commonplace affairs gain by good taste.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy surprising adventures or unique experiences, born of inner drives, imagination, strange feelings or some sort of curious or mysterious leads or insight. Intuition, "hunches" or other inexplicable and unaccountable drives could find practical development, since the creative urge, although on irregular lines, is accented. Personality, charm, may be legitimately employed to attain desired ends or advanced goals.

A child born on this day is well fortified with unique talents, exceptional creative skills, while inner forces drive them into usual expression. Personal magnetism and charm are accented and effective.

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP).—A total of 10,000 seed pearls, 1,000 hours of tedious hand work and a physical collapse went into the making of a duplicate of Princess Elizabeth's wedding gown, now on display at the Canadian National Exhibition.

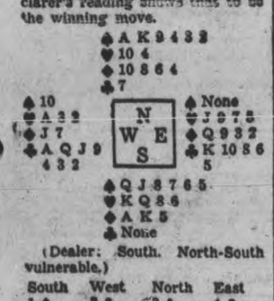
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

SQUEEZE FROM DUMMY

MOST squeeze plays are made by the lead of a card in declarer's hand which gives one defender or the other an impossible discarding problem. That is because the average player has learned such plays from the standpoint of having his own holding as the key to the play. But identically the same mechanical principles may be applied by a lead from dummy, if the declarer's reading shows that to be the winning move.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	3 ♣	3 ♠	4 ♣
4 NT	5 ♣	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♠

That optimistic bidding by South was because it was the last rubber and a slam for the young journalistic student, Elliott Sperber, and his uncle, Abe E. Sperber, of New York, would even up the score for them. He put the weight on his card-playing ability, but managed to carry it successfully.

The club A lead was ruffed by the spade 5, and the job was to limit himself to one loser in hearts with none in diamonds. He scored the spade Q, J and A, then led the heart 10, which the J, K and A covered. West returned the diamond J to the K. The spade 7 was then led to the K so that the heart 4 could be led, the 5 playing and the 8 being finessed.

That followed a reading based on East discarding four clubs, including the K, on trumps to mark West with seven clubs, one spade, at least three hearts to the A-3-2 and probably a low diamond. Thus East could hold the heart 9, against which the finesse was taken; if he did not have that card, the contract was doomed anyway.

After the low heart finesse won, so did the Q and the spade 8 was overtaken by the 9. Now the spade 4 was led from dummy and East was squeezed. The dummy also held the diamond 10-8 and South the heart 6 and diamond A-5. East, with the heart 9 and diamond Q-9, could not throw off the heart without making the marked 6 good. So he discarded the diamond 9, which, however, was just as bad since the diamond A now dropped his Q and made the 10 good for the final trick.

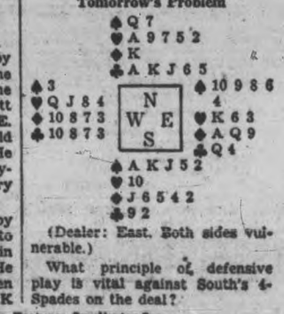
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

What principle of defensive play is vital against South's 4-Spades on the deal?

HALIFAX, Aug. 31 —(CP)— Some 300 delegates from all parts of Canada were here today for the opening of the 74th annual meeting of the Loyal True Blue Association. James A. Stewart of Toronto, supreme grand master of the organization, Monday night registered representatives of 129 lodges to the four-day conference.

Cooler Weather Invades U.S.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31 — (AP). — Temperatures headed for near-normal levels over parts of the continent's heat belt today but readings in the 90s again were in prospect for many areas of the United States.

The intense heat of more than a week was broken over most of the Great Lakes region, the New England states and sections of the eastern seaboard. But hot and humid conditions continued in the central plains, west gulf states and the southeastern states.

The mercury dropped into the 40s and 50s in parts of the cooler belt during the early-morning hours. Cadillac, Mich., reported a reading of 45, as the cool air from Canada spread out over the Great Lakes district. In New England and the eastern states, the mercury was in the 50s.

Blistering heat extended over the western Dakotas and eastern Montana Monday. A high of 105 was reported at Miles City, Mont.; 104 at Philips, S.D., and Chadron, N.D., and 97 at Bismarck, N.D.

Deaths attributed to the blistering heat which extended from the Rockies to the eastern seaboard all last week totalled 194 in the United States.

Officials Comb Debris Try To Solve Crash

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 31 (AP) —Investigators sought today to determine whether lightning caused the fatal crash Sunday of a Northwest Airlines passenger plane during a severe electrical storm.

Thirty-seven persons, including two Canadians, died as the Minneapolis-to-Chicago plane crashed up in a wooded ravine on a Mississippi river bluff at nearby Fountain City, Wis., last of the bodies were removed Monday.

Howard Rackow, a farmer, told Coroner Henry F. Stohr at Fountain City that he saw lightning strike the plane "and the ship started down." A neighbor, Mrs. Charles Guenther, reported she saw pieces of the liner falling before it plummeted into into the ravine.

As N.W.A. officials and investigators of the civil aeronautics board combed the twisted debris for clues, the airline ordered a rigid inspection of its remaining 24 Martin 2-0-2s before further take-offs.

3 Firemen Hurt At Auditorium

BUFFALO, Aug. 31—(AP).—Three firemen were injured, one severely, and damage estimated at $50,000, was caused Monday night by fire which ruined part of the former Broadway auditorium.

Fireman George Schuller fell about 15 feet in an elevator pit. He suffered back and jaw injuries and was described as in "fair" condition in hospital. Two other firemen suffered minor injuries.

The rear portion of the building, which was being remodelled for a depot of the public works department, was destroyed. Police said Herman Walz, 64, a watchman, told them the fire started when a lighted flare overturned and ignited a kerosene-soaked floor.

The blaze drew thousands of spectators as a huge pall of smoke hovered over the area. Flames more than 100 feet high after the roof collapsed could be seen easily from the city's business centre six blocks westward.

Peters Won't Talk Threaten Contempt

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 —(AP)— Threat of congressional contempt action hung today over the mysterious "J. Peters" for his refusal to answer questions of a House of Representatives sub-committee Monday.

The sub-committee of the Un-American Activities Committee recommended contempt charges against Peters after he refused on constitutional grounds to answer questions. Earlier ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers had identified Peters as the No. 1 man in the Communist underground in the United States.

Peters is the first to be threatened with contempt for refusing to answer questions in the House committee's spy hearings. A dozen or more witnesses, refusing to say whether or not they were Communists, have cited that section of the United States constitution which says a man cannot be forced to testify against himself.

Burmese Parliament Holds Sixth Session

RANGOON, Aug. 31 — (Reuters).—The sixth session of the Burma Parliament opened today inside the barbed-wire-barricaded building of the government secretariat, scene of last year's assassination of Prime Minister U Aung San and his cabinet.

Little more than half of the 225 members attended the session, which was boycotted by the Communists and a section of the People's Volunteer Organization, a party which has advocated negotiations with Communist insurgents.

The present session is regarded as the most important since Burma regained her independence, because the question must be dealt with of a new government to take over from Premier Thakin Nu's caretaker administration, which has been carrying on since its formal resignation on July 16.

Delay School Opening

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 31 — (ENS). — The School Board on Monday night decided that as the contractors still have much work to do in order to have the Public school prepared for occupancy, that the opening date will be postponed until Monday, September 13.

This date will only apply to the Public school. High school pupils will commence school on Tuesday, September 7.

Teach Shopwork To Grade XI Boys

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 1 — (ENS). — A change in the high school curricular schedule was recommended by Principal H. R. Hendershott at Monday's meeting of the Campbellford School Board so that in Grade XI shopwork will be taught the boys and art the girls. The Board concurred in this.

He also recommended that children bringing lunches to school and eating them there, be kept on the school grounds during the lunch period, as he felt a large number of them were spending too much of the lunch hour downtown. The board agreed.

His final recommendation provoked much discussion. It was suggested that the present nine lesson periods be increased to ten daily, in order that the last half-hour period could be utilized for organized sport and recreational training.

The matter was left to Mr. Hendershott to discuss with the pupils, the board agreeing that if the pupils wanted the extra period, a grant of $150 for sports equipment would be forthcoming.

Principal Hendershott was also authorized to investigate what arrangements could be made and what the cost would be of an annual medical examination for each pupil in the high school.

The board also agreed to grant the sum of $150 as the initial amount toward the purchase of equipment for a six-man rugby team.

Atomic Fuel Not Expected Commercially For 20 Years

By FRANK CAREY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP) If you have any idea that atomic energy already has aided industry widely — in the production sense—pull up a chair.

It just hasn't.

The General Advisory Committee to the United States Atomic Energy Commission says that even with the best technical breaks it does not see how it would be possible for "any considerable portion" of the world's present power supply to be replaced by atomic fuel in less than 20 years.

Industry's other great age in the atomic field—the "isotopes"—are being extensively used in industrial laboratories.

But, despite their possibilities for the future, the peacetime by-products of atomic-bomb development have so far found only a few uses on production lines. They are being used almost entirely on investigative work — covering projects to which the manufacturers of steel, machinery, rubber, gasoline, oil, plastics, rayon, chemicals, drugs and other things are looking to get beter and more economical production.

A wealth of fundamental knowledge is being gained, but you can count on your fingers the number of applications to everyday work in industry to date.

Isitopes are distinctive forms of many common elements. Some isotopes are "radioactive" — they emit "rays." When a radioactive form of sulphur is mixed with ordinary sulphur instruments can "trace" what happens to all the sulphur in some industrial processes.

A second kind of isotope is called a "stable" isotope. It is not radioactive, but it can also be used in "tracer" research because it has a different weight from the ordinary element.

Why are there so few applications when isotopes—at least radioactive ones—have been available in ever-increasing quantities for some time?

The rays from radioactive isotopes are dangerous to humans, for one thing, and may prove to be damaging to some valuable industrial materials and machines. Special shielding against the rays must be planned, special instruments designed to handle them, detection apparatus installed to avoid "contaminating" other areas.

Too, there is a severe shortage of scientists who know how to work with these materials. Training programs are under way but will take time.

Right now about 30 of the nation's industrial organizations are using radioactive isotopes in research. But reports to the Atomic Energy Commission show only a few actually-demonstrated practical uses—and even some of these might still be classified as investigative.

In scores of laboratories—Commission and university labs as well as industrial ones—intensive research is looking toward many other industrial uses.

"The entire field of metallurgy," says the Commission, "is certain to be influenced by tracer investigations already under way on the structure, manufacture, alloying, durability, corrosion, and friction of metals.

Pealing Bells Familiar To Montrealer

By JOHN D. HAMILTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, Aug. 31 — (CP) —John Donne, St. Paul's famous dean, would be at home in modern Montreal. The 17th century London poet loved church bells —and there are more here per capita than in any other city in the world.

Donne wrote ". . . therefore, send not out to know for whom the bell tolls; it tolls for thee," for the installation of a new bell in an English church. It reminds us of the place bells have taken in Christian life for nearly 1,600 years.

Religion has always been an important part of Montreal life and the bells have been rung here almost since Ville Marie was founded by Maisonneuve in 1642. Today, there are 132 Roman Catholic and 127 Protestant churches and many have bells rich in history.

Walking through Place d'Armes on a Sunday morning you can hear Canada's largest bell, the huge "Grand Bourdon" (great bell) of Notre Dame Church. The bell, weighing 24,780 pounds, is the 16th largest in the world, bigger than the bell of St. Peter's at Rome. "Grand Bourdon," which is rung about 40 times a year, was installed 100 years ago.

At the 281-year-old mission of St. Francois Xavier du Sault St. Louis in Caughnawaga Indian reserve near here is a bell far older than the little mission church which was built in 1845. Legend tells us the bell was given the mission by the French court before 1700. On its way over, English buccaneers seized it and took it to Boston. There it was bought at auction by a Protestant clergyman from Deerfield, Mass.

In 1704, Caughnawaga Iroquois raided Deerfield and "captured" the 800-pound bell. They carried it triumphantly back to New France.

Montreal's greatest bell-ringing season as in every other Christian city iss before Christmas. A beautiful experience for a tourist is to walk along St. Catharines Street in early December and listen to the bells playing carols.

Despite the tremendous number of bells here, Montreal imports all of them—half from London's Whitechapel bell foundry established in 1570. The Canadian company which brings in Whitechapel bells was founded in 1826.

Montreal has the only bell-ringer in Canada with a diploma in change ringing. He is A. H. Burgess, campanologist for St. George's Anglican Church and his father was captain of the Bath and Wells company of ringers in England. Longest peal ever rung in Canada was at St. George's to celebrate armistice day, 1918. Burgess' "victory peal" consisted of 5,040 changes rung on eight bells.

Thus Montreal maintains one of the most sacred and pleasant traditions of Christianity — the ringing of church bells which, symbolically, call men to worship.

Charge 84 Hungarians Conspire Against Rule

BUDAPEST, Aug. 31 (Reuters) —Eighty-four Hungarians today were charged with conspiracy to overthrow the present regime in Hungary.

One of the accused, a journalist named Elemer Kiss, is charged with having been in contact with Janos Lederer, said to have been a contributor to the London Observer and at one time an employee of Lorth Rothmere, proprietor of the London Daily Mail.

The men, mostly former state officials, were arrested several weeks ago.

Report Fierce Battle Raging In Burma

RANGOON, Burma, Aug. 31—(CP)—A fierce battle between insurgents and government forces was reported today at Pyu. Pyu is 140 miles from here on the rail line to Mandalay.

A military camp there apparently was the objective of the Communist-led rebels, who were beaten off.

A communique said the insurgents cut off Pyu from Toungoo, 40 miles above, before the attack by destroying telephone and telegraph lines and tearing up rails to prevent the arrival of reinforcements. Pro-government sources said crack Kachin troops from the hill tribes of northwest Burma will be used to try to smash an administration Communists are said to have set up at Prome, key railroad centre. Kachin troops were specially flown to Rangoon earlier this month.

6 Firemen Overcome

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Six firemen were overcome Saturday fighting an estimated $10,000 fire in east-central Toronto as the thermometer reached 100 degrees. Nearby, thieves snatched a total of $260 from two stores as clerks watched the blaze.

Sets Boat Record

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP) — A world's record for model speed boats was set at suburban Islington Sunday. Ed Kalfus of New York City raced his boat at 73.5 miles an hour at the first international model speed boat races. About 30 boats competed in events held both Saturday and Sunday. Charles Baxmann of Detroit was first in the 10-CC class while Roger Matthew of Chicago won the 15-CC class.

Say Music Applause Rude And Ill-Timed

LONDON, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Nice people don't applaud at the end of a well - executed symphonic movement, says some London music lovers. They do so, retort others.

The discussion was created by an increasing tendency of concert-goers to clap when the musicians pause at the end of a difficult and well-played movement, instead of saving applause for the end of the symphony.

Letters to newspapers criticized the growing custom as rude and ill-timed. Just as many letters poured in saying that applause when earned was welcomed at any time. Famous musicians were quoted as saying they appreciated applause "on account."

One music critic said it was "priggish" not to applaud a well-played movement. He suggested that western people might be freer with their applause if there were a less ugly means of expressing it than clapping.

As a sidelight on the discussion, some letter-writers urged that the audience at broadcast concerts withhold their applause until the last note had sounded. Too often, they said, exquisite closing bars were drowned out by impetuous handclapping.

Communists Shout Insults At Pilgrims

ROME, Aug. 31—(AP)—Communists shouted insults and tramped cigarets tossed to Italians by American Roman Catholic Pilgrims at Genoa, members of the party said today.

"Go back to Americ where you came from," one pilgrim said he was told.

The 535 Catholics, mostly from New England and including many high churchmen, arrived Saturday from France. The incidents occurred in the Genoa railroad station last Friday.

The Pilgrims will be received by the Pope at his summer residenc at Castel Gandolfo Wednesday.

Appeal To Government To Respect Church

PRAGUE, Aug. 31 — (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church has appealed to the Czechoslovakian government to respect promises that freedom of religious activity will not be interfered with.

The appeal was reported made in an episcopal letter issued by Most Rev. Josef Beran, Archbishop of Prague. It was sent to the government and read from pulpits in Prague Diocese Sunday. Responsible church officials refused to release copies to the foreign press, however.

Persons who attended church services said the letter was an appeal to the Communist Czech government to respect its promises to the church. The letter said the church is willing to abide by the laws of the state, but asked that the state in return respect the laws of the church.

Friction between the Catholic church and the state—along the familiar lines of such friction in Communist countries—has been developing since the Reds took over the government last February.

21 Refugees Seeking Home In Argentina

PLYMOUTH, England, Aug. 31 — (AP). — Twenty-one Estonian refugees sailed into this harbor today on their way to Argentina in hopes of freedom.

They expect to set out for Buenos Aires in their sturdy 36-foot sailing boat, the "Ilmarine," which brought them from Sweden, after buying supplies.

One of the refugees, who requested anonymity for fear of reprisals on his family in Estonia, said: "We left our country because the Russians allowed us no freedom. One night, 14,000 men, women and children were rounded up by the Russians and sent to Siberia."

N.Z. Checks Loyalty Of Civil Servants

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Aug. 31—(CP).—New Zealand's attitude to persons whose loyalty is open to question in making public service appointments has been set out by the Public Service Commission in a report which says that it "attaches to integrity still greater importance than to efficiency."

"The Public Service Commission agrees that positions involving secrecy and national security should not be held by persons who admit membership of, or are reasonably believed to be in active association with, organizations, the objects and methods of which conflict with the national interest," the report says.

"This consideration is taken into account when appointments are made and it applies also to the present holders of such positions."

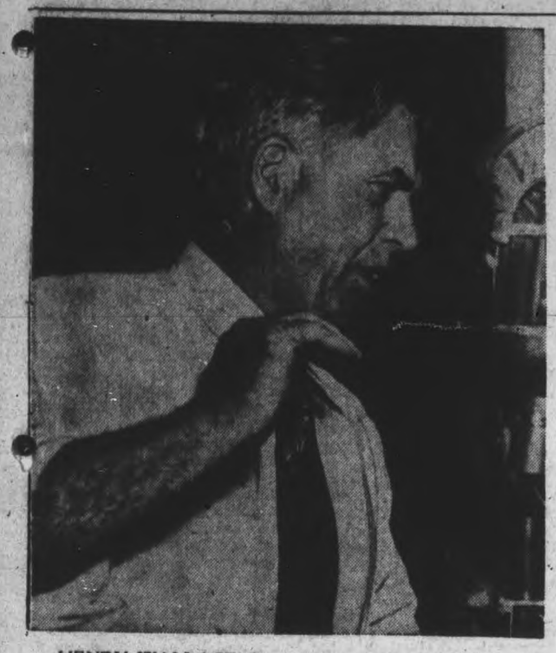
SEAMEN'S UNION OUSTS PAT SULLIVAN



HENRY WALLACE, Progressive party presidential candidate, spoke to a large mixed crowd recently in Greensboro, N.C., before the local courthouse. Demonstrators pelted him with a variety of objects including eggs. A portion of an eggshell is shown sticking in his hair (back of ear).

Czechs Mount Death Watch Over Beloved Eduard Benes

PRAGUE, Sept. 1—(AP).—Czechoslovakia sadly mounted a death watch today for one of her heroes, former President Eduard Benes. The 65-year-old co-founder of the Czechoslovak republic lapsed into unconsciousness early Tuesday and his doctors said they do not expect him to come out of it.

Rumors that the former President had died during the night spread through Prague today and a public address system in a large Prague factory told employees Benes was dead.

None of the rumors could be confirmed. The Czechoslovak press bureau said shortly before noon that it could obtain no confirmation.

The three doctors attending Benes said in a noon bulletin: "The patient spent a quiet night considering his condition and there has been no change."

An official bulletin Tuesday night said the former president's condition was "extremely serious."

In Poor Health

Benes, who resigned the presidency in June, has been in poor health since he suffered a stroke a year ago. The political turmoil last winter, which threw Czechoslovakia into the Communist camp, weakened him further.

The former president, who bitterly fought the Munich pact and led his country's struggle for liberation from his exile's corner in London, has been living cut off from his people since last February. His country home is 60 miles south of Prague.

On only two occasions has he returned to Prague since last February—to attend the funeral of Jan Masaryk last March, and to present a charter to Charles University in April.

Union Calls Off Its Picket Line

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 1—(CP).—With pickets withdrawn for the first time since July 14, office and supervisory employees of McKinnon Industries were ready to return to work at 1 p.m. today after a 16-day "holiday."

The new arrangements which brought hope the lengthy strike might soon be settled were said by company and union to have been concluded at a meeting with Labor Minister Daley in Toronto Tuesday night. The company said it wished to proceed with the annual inventory in order to speed resumption of production should be strike be settled. The union agreed to withdraw pickets. Picket lines dissolved about 10 p.m. Tuesday night.

The union, Local 199 UAW-CIO, has called a mass membership meeting tonight.

In Toronto it was reported that negotiations aimed at settlement of the strike would begin this afternoon. George Burt, regional director of the UAW, was to join the union in its talks with the company.

Just last week the company obtained leave from the Ontario Labor Relations Board to prosecute the union local on the grounds that it called an illegal strike.

Name Burchell Commissioner

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—(CP). — Charles J. Burchell, KC, of Halifax, has been appointed Canadian high commissioner to Newfoundland, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today.

The appointment will continue until the island becomes a part of Canada, the announcement said.

The Halifax lawyer is well-known in Newfoundland, where he served for three years as Canada's first high commissioner. The post was last held by J. S. Macdonald, now Canadian ambassador to Brazil.

Mr. Burchell has also represented Canada in the same capacity in other Commonwealth countries. In November, 1939, he went to Australia as the first high commissioner for Canada and served there two years before going to Newfoundland. On leaving St. John's in 1944, he spent more than a year as high commissioner in South Africa. He resumed his private practice in Halifax in November, 1945.

4 CNR Trains Pile Up; Six Injured

See Standing Trains Loom Out Of Gloom; 33 Cars Derailed

GEORGETOWN, Sept. 1—(CP)—Three train crew members were injured today when two Canadian National Railways trains collided here, 28 miles west of Toronto.

CNR officials said an east bound Palmerston - to - Toronto train collided with the rear of an extra Stratford to-Toronto freight within the railways yards here. They said the Palmerston train was travelling at 29 miles an hour. About 20 cars were derailed and 300 feet of track torn up.

Injured were Engineer H. Hendricks, broken leg; brakeman J. Metrapolis, minor cuts, and fireman L. Fairy, minor injuries. All three are from Toronto. A number of cattle were injured and had to be destroyed.

Hendricks, engineer of the Palmerston train, said he applied the brakes when he saw the standing train loom out of the semi-darkness. He jumped from the left door of the cab. Fireman Fairey and brakeman Metrapolis followed but Metrapolis, last to reach the door, was hurled to the tracks by the impact.

Fire broke out in the caboose of the Stratford train and was brought under control by volunteer firemen who fought the blaze for several hours.

Plows Into Train

BOISDALE, N.S., Sept. 1 (CP)—Three persons were injured when a Canadian National Railways passenger express travelling nearly 40 miles an hour played into a stalled freight train near the C.N.R. station here today.

Injured slightly were Mrs. Don MacKenzie, Sydney, John Hilchie, Louisburg, N.S., and Dan MacInnis of River Denys, N.S.

Engineer Leslie Langley of the No. 7 Halifax-Sydney Express spotted the freight from about 300 yards but was unable to stop in time. The locomotive broke into flames which were quickly subdued.

Fireman Alvin MacDonald leaped from the express cab and rolled without injury down an embankment. The cab was split by an iron bar where he had been sitting.

Langley said, "I could see nothing but box car doors passing over my head when she hit."

There were about 50 passengers aboard the nine-car express. The express threw 13 freight cars off the rails while all but two of its own remained on the track.

13 Missing On Plane

BRUSSELS, Sept. 1—(Reuters)—A Dakota Douglas DC-3 aircraft with 10 passengers and a crew of three aboard is missing on a flight between Costermanville and Leopoldville in the Belgian Congo, officials here reported tonight.

Film Hero Robert Mitchum Held In Narcotics Raid

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1.—(AP).—Movie hero Robert Mitchum was arrested with three other persons in a narcotics raid on a Hollywood home early today.

Mitchum; a real estate agent, Robin Ford; actress Lila Leeds, 20; and dancer Vickie Evans, 25, 35, all were booked on suspicion of violating state and federal narcotics laws.

The screen leading man and Ford, also 31, were cast in the unglamorous roles of marijuana-smokers by arresting officers.

The Los Angeles narcotics detail said both men were smoking "reefers" (marijuana-containing cigarets) when the officers broke into the home.

Mitchum surrendered a package containing 13 more of the cigarets, officers said, and Miss Leeds, a blonde film hopeful, gave up several.

The home was rented by the young women, the officers said. At another apartment which Miss Leeds maintains, the detail said they found another reefer.

Six-Months Inquiry

The raid culminated an investigation of more than six months. It was conducted with the aid of a federal narcotics inspector, William Craig.

Miss Leeds was in the Hollywood limelight briefly last March 7 when she was treated for what physicians said was an overdose of sleeping pills.

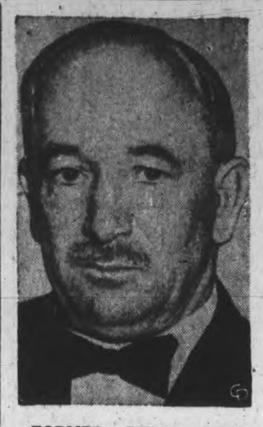
Officers said all face prosecution on felony charges, although the charge against Miss Evans may be the technical one of being in a place where narcotics were used.

The four suspects were jailed and bail was set at $1,000 for each. It was not expected to be long forthcoming. Officers explained there was no need for setting high bail "because we're not worried about these people skipping town."



FORMER CZECH PRESIDENT, Eduard Benes, has lapsed into unconsciousness and is not expected to live. He is a co-founder of the Czechoslovak Republic.

Currency Main Hurdle In Berlin Talks

BERLIN, Sept. 1—(CP)—The four military governors of Germany met at 5 p.m. again tonight to work out practical steps to end the currency split.

Three groups of experts met earlier to work out technical problems of the Berlin crisis, and indications were that the lifting of the 70-day Soviet land blockade of the city is under discussion.

The groups—four-power experts on transport, finance and economics—were to report their findings to the four military governors of Germany. Control of Berlin's currency appeared to be the biggest hurdle in the attempts to solve the crisis, and it appeared slated for prime attention at the meeting.

Work On Directives

The experts were believed to have been assigned specific tasks by the four commanders after the military governors held their first meeting here Tuesday since the Russians walked out of the Allied Control Council March 20. The governors themselves are working on directives flown from the Moscow sessions of western representatives with Soviet leaders.

An informed source said the problem centred on how the three western powers could supervise a single Soviet-backed currency for all Berlin, while permitting the Russians to issue it.

The problem goes down to the roots of the 70-day-old Berlin crisis. For months the four powers have wrangled over Soviet insistence on a separate Russian printing press in the proposed currency reform for all Germany.

Acting on instructions from the Big-Four conferees in Moscow, the military governors got together for the first time in five months Tuesday in the huge grey Allied Control Building.

There has been no official indication here whether a limit has been set on the number of Berlin meetings. One western source said five or six conferences were expected.

Reports from Mosow said the Big Four there would also con-

Plan To Crack Down On Detroit Ball Deals

DETROIT, Sept. 1—(AP).—The Detroit News said today Baseball Commissioner Albert B. Chandler will crack down within a month or so on a series of minor-league baseball deals involving Detroit Tigers of the American League.

The newspaper said it had learned Chandler is completing an investigation of deals between the Detroit major-league team and the Dallas team of the Texas League.

The transactions involve at least nine players signed by the Tigers and "covered up" in the minor leagues, the News said.

A Detroit Baseball Club spokesman said the only comment on the reports would have to come from Billy Evans, Tiger general manager. Evans was not available for comment.

The News said Chandler was aiming his blast principally at violations of the rule against so-called "gentlemen's agreements and evasions of the bonus rule."

Zhdanov Said Close Associate Of Stalin; Cominform Founder

LONDON, Sept. 1 — (AP). — There is speculation here today as to what effect the death of Andrei Zhdanov may have on Communist eastern Europe's future relations with Yugoslavia.

Zhdanov, one of Russia's top policy makers, generally was credited with the get-tough policy which led to the recent cominform denunciation of Premier Marshal Tito and his Lieutenants.

For what it is worth, intimates of Ana Pauker, Romania's foreign minister and high in the ranks of the Communist party, quoted her as saying during the recent Danube conference in Belgrade that Zhdanov had incurred Prime Minister Stalin's displeasure as a result of the Yugoslav developments.

In summing up the situation, one high-ranking Yugoslav official said recently that the breach between Russia and Yugoslavia be closed only by a change in policy makers in one country or the other.

Unnatural Death?

Just possibly, in the case of Russia, the death of Zhdanov might help ease eastern Europe's internal friction by removing a leader of one contending side.

Some of the British press speculated on the possibility Zhdanov's death might ease the tension—and some even asked whether his death was in fact from natural causes.

Heart Attack

MOSCOW, Sept. 1 — (AP). — Moscow hung out mourning flags today for Andrei A. Zhdanov, member of the powerful Politburo and a founder of Cominform who died Tuesday at the age of 52. Moscow radio said he died of heart disease.

Red flags edged in black fluttered above the streets for the first time on such an occasion since former President Michael I. Kalinin died in June, 1946.

Khdanov was often referred to on occasions of ceremony as "the closest associate of the great Stalin." There is no doubt that, with Prime Minister Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov, he was one of the Soviet Union's "Big Three."

2 Bandits Rob Man At Door Of Hotel Room

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP)—Two bandits held up a Chicago visitor as he was about to enter his suite on the 18th floor of a downtown hotel today and escaped with $250 and two bottles of liquor.

Police said it was the first hold-up of its type on record here.

Fred J. McElwain, 45, representative of a firm exhibiting at the Canadian National Exhibition, told police he was walking into his suite when a gun was placed against the back of his neck. He said he was forced into the room, told to lie on the bed and then a pillow was tied round his mouth to gag him.

About five minutes after the bandits left, a Toronto friend found Mr. McElwain lying tied-up between twin beds in the room.

UAW Signs Contract For 12-Cent Raise

OSHAWA, Sept. 1.—(CP). — Local 222, United Automobile Workers (CIO), have signed an agreement with Ontario Steel Products Ltd., providing for a 12-cent across-the-board wage increase and two additional paid holidays, it was announced today.

The agreement which will be effective for one year is retroactive to Aug. 1. Average hourly wage at the plant is increased by the new agreement to $1.18 and the number of annual paid holidays to six. The plant employs about 80 men in production work.

PAT SULLIVAN, former president of the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, "has been retired from the scene," and the union has merged with the Seafarers' International Union of North America (AFL).

U.S. Railroads Ready To Order Freight Embargo

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP).—The railroads of the United States today prepared to clamp an embargo on virtually all freight destined for shipment from west coast American ports if a maritime work stoppage develops there tomorrow as threatened.

Plans for the embargo were announced by Arthur H. Gass, chairman of the car service division of the Association of Railroads.

Gass said the embargo is a protective measure to prevent freight cars being tied up at western ports in case of a maritime work stoppage.

Called together today were negotiators for the Waterfront Employers Association and the Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (CIO), which has been in the forefront of the dispute.

The Marine Cooks and Stewards, Independent Marine Firemen, and Marine Engineers (CIO) scheduled a meeting with the Pacific American Shipowners Association.

A new strike threat was issued by the Marine Radio Officers Union (AFL) which is in a jurisdictional struggle with the American Radio Association (CIO). The CIO union has joined the "all-or-none" pledge with other waterfront unions. The AFL radio men contend they represent the Pacific coast operators and threaten to strike if the CIO union receives a contract. Shipowner spokesmen said neither could be recognized pending a national labor relations board election.

Waterfront employers Tuesday approved the two key concessions to the ILWU demands, including a one-year conract and provision for wage reviews in December. The contract would be retroactive to June 15.

CLSU Has Joined New Group Seafarers' International; Believed Answer To Strife

Letters Being Sent 20 Steamship Firms Advising Of Amalgamation; Ex-President Has 'Retired From Scene'

MONTREAL, Sept. 1—(CP).—Pat Sullivan, former president of the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, "has been retired from the scene" and the union has merged with the Seafarers' International Union of North America (AFL), it was announced today. The announcement was contained in a statement issued from the office of Frank Hall, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, who brought the parties together.

Mr. Hall said agreement was reached Tuesday between the two unions "whereby the CLSU becomes a part of the Canadian district of the Seafarers' International Union embracing deep sea as well as Great Lakes operations."

The agreement was signed by representatives of both organizations. D. Joyce, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian district, signed for the SIU. Jack Chapman of Montreal, new president of the CLSU, signed for his organization.

Hall said the CSLU does not retain its identity and now comes simply into the SIU's Canadian district.

He said that with the elimination of Sullivan, Chapman signed as president of the CSLU to give full effect to the merger.

Has Retired

The announcement said:

"Pat Sullivan, erstwhile president of the CLSU, has been retired from the scene. The seafarers' approach to the discussions which led up to the agreement was conditional upon the elimination of Sullivan, and this was achieved by the CLSU before entering into the negotiations."

Sullivan was instrumental in forming the CLSU more than a year ago after he had broken away from the Canadian Seamen's Union because, he charged, it was Communist-led.

The CLSU signed agreements with Canadian Lake shipping companies and the union's manning of the Lake ships led to the strife on the Lakes during the current season between the CLSU and the CSU. The latter union has claimed that it, rather than the CLSU, is the rightful bargaining agent for Lake seamen. The Lake shipping companies, in the main, refused to treat with the CSU.

Merger Answer

To-day's announcement from Mr. Hall said, "the contracting parties view the merger as a complete answer to the difficulties of the strike situation on the Lakes. The seamen working on the ships of the big companies which refuse to do business with the Canadian Seamen's Union because of its alleged Communist tie-up and

Charles Beard U.S. Historian Dies In Hospital

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 1—(AP).—Charles A. Beard, 73, the noted historian, died today.

The historian, author of some 30 books on American history, had been a hospital patient since Aug. 2. Physicians said his death was caused by aplastic anaemia.

Beard's most recent book, published only last April, stirred up considerable controversy.

Entitled "President Roosevelt and the Coming of the War, 1941: A Study of Appearances and Realities," it accused the late President of secretly and deliberately instigating war between the United States and Japan and Germany, and questioned whether the results of the war justified the means Beard said were employed.

The book outraged followers of President Roosevelt, but the month after it was published Board was awarded the gold medal of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

While Beard in his books employed his powers of analysis to interpret hindsight, he and his wife, Mary, who collaborated on five of his works, exhibited foresight when they published "The Rise of American Civilization" in 1927. This book, written six years before the phrase "New Deal" became a by-word, predicted the United States was due to see a sociological movement much like the one which was carried out under the Roosevelt administrations.

Only Russ Planes To Fly In China

NANKING, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Chinese Government has forbidden all foreign aircraft—except Russian—from operating in its Far-West provinces, it was learned today.

The government's secret order was interpreted in some quarters as appeasement to Moscow.

First victim of the unpublicized order was the United States minister, Lewis Clark, whose embassy plane was grounded by defence ministry officials at Lanchow while en route to inspect the American consulate at Tihwa, in Sikiang province.

Soviet planes fly freely over Sinkiang province under a 10-year airline agreement with China. One Nanking official said, however, the Chinese Government already has given Moscow final notification of its intention to terminate the "monopoly" pact when its original term ends Sept. 9, 1949.

Doucett Will Spend Nine Million On Roads

TORONTO, Sept. 1.—(CP). — Highways Minister Doucett of Ontario said today his department will spend $9,000,000 this year in paving, resurfacing and maintaining roads in the eastern section of the province.

The work will largely concern Highways No. 17 from Hawkesbury on the Ottawa River northeast to Mattawa and No. 15 southeast from Ottawa to Kingston. The minister's $9,000,000 estimate includes work in the area bound on the east by Mattawa and Belleville, and on the west by Ottawa and the St. Lawrence River.

Labor Code Falls Short Conroy Says

Feels Dominion Lacks Authority To Deal With National Rows

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP)—The Federal Labor Code ran into new union criticism as it became law by proclamation today.

Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, declared the measure "falls far short of what Canada issued as workers in a large group of key industries came under new collective bargaining and industrial disputes legislation adopted in the code at the last session of parliament.

The measure, which supplants Wartime Labor Regulations, covers industries under federal jurisdiction such as railways, shipping, communications, aviation and radio and interprovincial enterprises generally."

One of its chief features is a "cooling off" procedure preceding strikes or lockouts. The cooling off period may run up to 80 days from the outbreak of a dispute.

Narrow Coverage

Mr. Conroy was critical of the code on several grounds, but his main barrage was launched at what he termed its "narrow coverage." He said it was "unnecessarily restricted."

Under the code as adopted, he declared, the Dominion lacks authority to deal with disputes "which become of national concern."

(The Congress had asked that the scope of the code include such "national" industries as coal, steel and meat-packing.)

Other aspects of the code criticized by Mr. Conroy:

1. Failure to include "union security" and the union dues check-off in the legislation.

2. The fact that the legislation is enforceable in the courts, rather than by the new Canada Labor Relations Board. The method adopted would be "complicated, slow, doubtful and likely to be generally ineffective."

Penalties Inadequate

3. Penalties provided for refusal to bargain collectively are "totally indequate."

4. The section making collective agreements binding in law "present the possibility of lengthy and costly legal actions."

5. Power of the board to revoke the certification of a union where it has lost a majority of employees in a bargaining unit is "dangerous" to new unions. An employer could delay negotiations until the strength of a union was weakened and then launch proceedings to have its certification revoked.

6. The government had "failed effectively to outlaw company unions."

Schuman Begins Formation Of New Cabinet

PARIS, Sept. 1 — (AP). — Premier Robert Schuman today began forming a new French cabinet. He got the green light Tuesday night from the National Assembly, but by a margin of only 11 votes.

His coalition government is expected to include many of the ministers who made up the cabinet he headed for eight months until he was forced out last July 19.

The assembly confirmed Schuman by a vote of 322 to 185, the weakest support yet accorded a French premier on his initial appearance before the parliament. He needed 311 votes for confirmation, which he demanded on virtually the same issues which caused the cabinet of Premier Andre Marie to fall last Saturday.

One hundred and one deputies either abstained from voting or walked out of the chamber rather than go on record. The bulk of the opposition vote came from the Communists, who hate Schuman. He broke up the wave of Communist-inspired strikes that almost wrecked France last year.

He boldly informed the deputies before they voted that if he became premier he would oppose wage increases and favor increases in the prices of bread and milk and tax boosts sufficient to raise $26,000,000 to meet a budget deficit. He advocated lower prices for meat and wine and certain tax adjustments.

Industrials Chalk Up Best Exchange Gain

TORONTO, Sept. 1 — (CP). — All groups climbed steadily in brisk trading here on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials chalked up the best gain on strong fractional advances and golds and base metals continued strong for the third successive day.

Refining oils were a bright spot in industrials as Imperial Oil traded more than 11,000 shares at 16⅝, B.A. Oil, McColl and International Petroleum advanced. All papers trading showed gains and foods and steels were also strong.

Senior golds were active and firm, although Lake Shore and La Luz did weaken, and gains almost tripled losses in the junior issues. Hollinger, Lamaque, Dome and Kerr Addison were ahead and Campbell, Cochenour, Giant Yellowknife, Madsen, Pickle Crow and Negus climbed from 1 to 25 cents.

Base Metals Corporation highlighted the base metals list with an advance of 4 points. Smelters, Noranda were ahead fractionally and Falconbridge, Labrador, Sherritt and Quebec Labrador strengthened from 3 to 40 cents.

Truckers Tie Up New York City

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—Start of a city-wide stoppage because of a contract dispute in New York city's huge trucking industry was reported at 7:45 a.m. EDT today by the police department.

The tie-up had appeared imminent after members of the city's largest Teamsters' union (AFL) local rejected a tentative agreement with employers.

The stoppage would affect 85 per cent of the city's trucking business, a union official said.

About 12,000 truck drivers and helpers are involved. Their contract expired last midnight.

tinue meeting, presumably to backstop the Berlin sessions.

In Washington, the State department said the military governors also planned to take up measures for lifting the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor, said Tuesday he could not answer questions on that point.

While the military governors concentrated on the Berlin crisis, another phase of Germany's future was being decided at Bonn.

Delegates Attend

There delegates from all western Germany convened to form a west-sponsored German regime. It has been bitterly opposed by the Soviet Union.

The drafters of the constitution plan to leave the door open for the Russian zone to participate, hoping thereby to counter Communist charges that they are splitting Germany.

The 65 delegates from the 11 states of the three western zones, represent all major parties of western Germany. Two Communists from the Ruhr are included.

Meantime in Frankfurt, British and French authorities eased their programs of dismantling German factories labelled as war industries.

The action followed recent German protests. The cabinets of the French zone states of South Baden and South Wuerttemburg resigned over the French dismantling plan.

The resumption of four-power talks here did not ease Russian pressure against the non-Communist city government.

ONLY ONE BARE?

Last week's heat-wave, which is now giving the province a respite, did not apparently effect the dignity and decorum of residents. Although police were on the alert for anyone who felt so keenly about the heat they might strip to a point offensive to others, only one solitary case of that type was reported. A gentleman, evidently overcome by the atmosphere, decided that clothes were a bit of a bother, so he threw them all off for a swim at the first bridge at Wallace's Point and wallowed about happily for a while. Provincial police gently changed his mind and made him put 'em back on. They didn't have the heart to lay a charge.

German Court Frees Nazi Financial Wizard

STUTTGART, Sept. 1—(AP)—A German appeal court today acquitted Hjalmar Schacht, former German financial wizard, of charges that he was a major Nazi offender. He was ordered freed.

He had been serving an eight-year term after conviction on the charge by a Stuttgart denazification court last year.

Schacht also went free from the courtroom at Nuernberg two years ago, when Hermann Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop and other close associates of Adolf Hitler were condemned to die for war crimes.

The court held that Schacht's participation in the Nazi opposition movement from 1936 onward more than outweighed his earlier support of Hitler.

"Home of the civilians who participated in the resistance movement did more than Schacht," the appeals court ruled.

Schacht will be released immediately from the interment camp here. German spectators in the courtroom cheered the verdict. Some handed flowers to the aged former president of the Reichsbank.

American officials were stunned when told of the verdict.

Charles M. Friedmann, denazification officer for the United States military government in Wuerttemberg-Baden, called it "incomprehensible."

Charles M. Lafollette, military governor of the state, declared: "It's a German problem, but my comments would be unprintable."

leadership now are represented by a strong international American Federation of Labor organization."

Mr. Hall said there now was an opportunity for the companies to demonstrate their sincerity.

"While the Seafarers' (Union) is an immeasurably stronger organization than the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union it is reliable and responsible, strongly anti-Communist," he said.

"As an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, it is entitled to the support of all Canadian labor."

Letters now are being sent to steamship companies advising them of the amalgamation of the two unions.

Discussed In October

Asked what effect this merger development would have on the dispute between the Trades and Labor Union," he said, "and thus a certain unions as to congress support of the Canadian Seamen's Union, Mr. Hall said no doubt this would be dealt with at the October convention of the Congress.

"As an American Federation of Labor Union," h esaid, "and thus a sister organization of the great number of AFL union affiliated with the Congress, the Seafares' (Union) is entitled to equal status with these unions. The Canadian Seamen's Union becomes a dual organization with no right of recognition from any bona fide labor group."

Recently at Ottawa Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, called a meeting of leading Canadian labor unions to discuss the dispute of the Great Lakes and to ask the federal government to intervene. Mr. Hall boycotted the sessions, charging that the CSU was largely Communist-dominated.

Hall later said he meant by "dual organization" an "opposition organization to a bona fide union which has the recognition of the labor movement."

In this case, he said, the merged unions are a legitimate organization and an AFL union; "the other has no standing."

CAR OVERTURNS

Damage estimated at $200 was caused to an automobile driven by Mrs. John Cameron, Benson Ave. today on the Peterborough-Victoria boundary road two miles north of Fowler's Corners. Mrs. Cameron was travelling south accompanied by her son. At a sharp turn in the vicinity of the Lancaster bridge, the car went off the road and over an embankment, hit a rock and straddled a wire fence according to the report of provincial police. Neither occupant of the car was injured.

2 Men Lost On Pigeon Lake Find Haven At Bobcaygeon

Two members of a hydro crew on Pigeon Lake spent part of Monday night lost on the lake, finally wound up at Bobcaygeon hotel, where they spent the remainder of the night. In the meanwhile, members of the crew searched throughout the night and were joined in the morning by American tourists and provincial police called in to assist in what had developed—in the minds of the anxious searchers—into a possible double fatality.

The pair were Gerald Deyell, 18, of Millbrook and W. C. Black, 60, of R. R. 2, Kirkfield. They had left the hydro group at Elim Lodge shortly after supper Monday evening and taken a boat out on Pigeon Lake "just for a ride around the lake."

The ride developed into quite a voyage. Circling Long Island in the lake, their sense of directions became confused. For more than six hours—until after midnight—they made their way around the darkened lake, using the motor on the boat less than the oars.

They finally came ashore near Bobcaygeon and booked rooms for the night at a resort lodge. They did not send word to police or fellow workmen that they were safe. Apparently, it just didn't occur to them that their absence would cause worry.

A number of crewmen spent the night in search of the two. Provincial police were contacted Tuesday morning and arrived at the scene to prepare a full-scale lake search, with dragging operations if necessary. A number of U. S. vacationers, who had assisted in the preliminary hunt, stood by with boats to assist the police if asked.

Deyell and Black arrived back at camp shortly after the police arrived, about 10.30 a. m.

They were "fine" thanks.

Provincial constable George Stevens was in charge of the short-lived search.

Hint Soviet

(Abroad, Zhdanov often was regarded as a leading candidate for Stalin's job, when the time came. Others believed in the running were Molotov and L. P. Beria, secret police boss. Stalin now is 68).

Deeply Shocked

The Russian public was deeply shocked at the sudden news of Zhdanov's death, broadcast in a brief bulletin just half an hour before midnight. There had been no previous hint that he was ill.

In addition to being one of the 14 members of the vital policy-making Politburo, he was a driving force behind the activities of the Communist International Information Bureau. He was present when that nine-country organization was founded in Poland last year and participated in a Cominform meeting only two months ago at which Premier Tito of Yugoslavia was denounced.

Beside his duties with the Politburo and the Cominform, Zhdanov was secretary of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, a deputy of the Supreme Soviet and a former chairman of one house of this parliament—the council of the Union. He was a colonel-general in the army.

During the war he led the defence of Leningrad in person, living inside the walls of that beseiged city for two years, through the worst periods of famine and shelling. In that northern city, he was a hero second only to Stalin. He was a Communist party leader there before the war.

Japan Places Huge Order For Ore In B.C.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1 (CP). — The industrial future was brighter today for Japan and a tiny British Columbia island, 50 miles northwest of Vancouver.

The Japanese board of trade has placed an order for 250,000 tons of iron ore from Texada island, a 31-by-six mile strip between Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland.

Japan, cut off from its manchurian supply, needs iron ore for its steel mills. The contract will mean the beginning of a new era on Texada Island.

A geological report issued by the provincial government in 1919 estimated ore reserves on the island at 4,372,000 tons. However, no shipments have been made since 1893. Prior to this 16,000 tons of ore were mined.

Need New Wharf

Besides reopening the vast ore deposits, the huge transaction will necessitate the construction of a deep-sea wharf, installation of new mining equipment and chartering of at least 25 ships.

The original contract called for shipments to commence this month but it is not believed facilities can be arranged in time. The ore is to be shipped at the rate of 50,000 tons a month which would require at least five deep-sea vessels a month to be loaded.

The Texada deposits are relatively easy to work as there are big surface exposures which permit direct quarrying.

The contract was placed by the Japanese board of trade with China Mutual Trading Co. of Seattle. W. L. Leo, company president, said he expected the ore would be shipped to Japan in Canadian vessels.

Bulgaria Draws Yugoslav Fire

LONDON, Sept. 1 — (AP). — Bulgaria has become the fourth cominform country to draw critical fire from Yugoslavia.

Tanjug, official Yugoslav News Agency, Tuesday night accused Bulgaria of having territorial designs on the southern Yugoslav province of Macedonia. It accused the Bulgarian press department of giving free rein to "aspirations of the present leaders of Bulgaria toward Macedonia."

Earlier Tuesday, the Belgrade Communist newspaper, Borba, charged Albanians were carrying on an unruly campaign against Yugoslavia. Late Wednesday, Yugoslavia formally accused high Romanian officials of trying to provoke a revolution against Premier Tito. Similar charges were made Friday against Hungary.

All four countries — Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania —sided with the Communist Information Bureau in its denunciation of Tito and other Yugoslav leaders two months ago.

Tito himself displayed no signs of knuckling under. Instead, he took a firmer grip on the Yugoslav government Tuesday by shaking up his cabinet in the face of the cominform challenge to his leadership.

Only one non-Communist now remains in the government. He is Franc Frol, Justice Minister. The justice portfolio is not considered one of the key jobs in the government.

Farmers Of Victoria To Aid West Harvest

LINDSAY, Sept. 1.—Employment Officer H. Brown reported Tuesday that the local office of National Employment has received instructions to transfer a number of farmers from Victoria County to the West.

He said that a number of Western farmers who came here to help with the harvest are now returning, and have been issued with travelling warrants.

Transportation costs have increased to $15 to go and $10 to return, whereas last year it was $10 each way and during the war no charge was made at all.

The farmers will be distributed to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, from Winnipeg, by the National Employment Officer there.

Mr. Brown said that last year 5 farmers went from this district and in 1942 a record of 102 were sent. He claimed that the exchange of farmers for harvesting is a remarkable success.

Hastings Couple 50 Years Wed

HASTINGS, Sept. 1.—(ENS).—The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Fairman was the scene of a very happy gathering on Sunday when their five sons with their families all gathered to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairman were married in Percy Township on August 31, 1898, by the late Rev. Francis Johnson, where they spent their early married life and where all five sons were born. In 1918 they moved to a farm in Seymour Township, where their eldest son, Ernest, now resides. In 1927 they took up residence in the village of Hastings.

Mr. Fairman is in his 86th year and is in the best of health. His wife has been in ill health for the past few years.

Attractively decorated tables were set on the spacious lawn with a three-tiered wedding cake adorning the middle table.

The happy couple received many gifts and tokens of long congratulations from relatives and friends. Miss Kate German presented them with a beautiful basket of flowers on behalf of their neighbors. The family gift was presented by their youngest son, Gordon, with the eldest, Ernest, reading the address.

Those present, including 13 grandchildren, were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Fairman and family of Seymour Township, Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Fairman and family of Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Fairman and family of Bowmanville, Mr. and Mrs. Everette S. Fairman and family of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon T. Fairman of Whitby.

Three Cars Of Cattle Returned To Lindsay

LINDSAY, Sept. 1.—At least three car loads of beef cattle have been shipped back into Lindsay from the Toronto Livestock Market in recent days. This was estimated by shipping agents at Lindsay Tuesday.

The reason given for shipping the cattle back to Lindsay is that the market has been glutted for several days past with medium grade beef cattle, U.S. buyers who invaded the stockyards after the lifting of the embargo were reluctant to buy other than top quality beef.

Thousands of head of cattle were penned up at the yards at the close of trading last week and so far this week trading has been exceptionally light with receipts correspondingly low.

POTTERY: "I would like to make pottery in my own home as a hobby. Could I get instruction in London or Toronto? Is there a text book available? Is it an expensive hobby?"

Technical schools in Toronto and London all have pottery classes. In Toronto you could get personal instruction at Lyceum Women's Art, Prince Arthur Street. There is an excellent book available at Ryerson Press, Toronto, called "Pottery Made Easy." It's $3.50. Pottery fans say it's not an expensive hobby and one of the most enjoyable.

USED RUGS: "I have a used rug 9½' x 10', also some used woollens. Can you tell me where I can have them made into scatter rugs? What price?"

The Dominion Rug Weaving Company, 2477 Dundas Street West, Toronto, make rugs from any woollen material they tell me. The price depends on the work; moreover, officials there say "write us a letter with details and we will advise you."

RUSTY BATH TUBS: "What will take the rust off an enamel bath tub? Have I got you beat this time?"

Standard Sanitary Company of Toronto make thousands of enamel tubs yearly so we took your problem to that company. Here's the answer: If the rust is on the surface any good cleanser will lift it. If it has penetrated below the surface of the enamel there is nothing that will remove it.

NEW YORK; HERE WE COME: "My mother and sister are planning a trip to New York. As a little surprise I'd like to present them with radio broadcast tickets to one or two of the shows there. Where shall I write?"

Write to National Broadcasting Corporation, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, for a list of broadcasts available and the cost, if any. With that information you can make reservations. And if you want your mother and sister to see the famous Rockettes write to Radio City Music Hall, 1260—6th Avenue, for reservation.

Increased Population

All nations do not achieve greatness, national health and prosperity by the mere immensity of their population. India and China are thickly populated, but Canada with fewer than four people to a square mile is better off than they. Nevertheless there is ample evidence that this country can afford to support a bigger population; more than that, it cannot afford not to have it. Only pessimists and stand-patters refuse to admit this and at the thought of a large increase in our numbers run to the village pump there to pay homage and lave their fevered brows.

* * *

This country has vast natural resources to discover and exploit. It has thousands of deserted farms. It has millions of acres of arable land inadequately cultivated or not cultivated at all. It has other millions of acres which could become arable through irrigation or fertilization. It has a huge industrial potential, through its water-ways and mines and forests. Already it has a huge industrial development, the product of two wars. When the slack in domestic production created between 1939 and 1945 is taken up, it will have more machines than it will know what to do with, unless both domestic and foreign markets are expanded. It has a huge territory to police and defend. It has, like other developing countries, a continuing need of technicians, trained thinkers and skilled workers. All these conditions can be met most effectively not by retrenchment but by a great expansion in our population. Time is too precious and events too tempestuous to await that increase through natural reproduction of the species Canadian. We must have immigrants, hundreds of thousands, millions of immigrants who can be transformed to our everlasting enrichment into the species Canadian.

* * *

Fortunately our need becomes most patent at a time when we can secure immigrants and as good immigrants as ever left homeland for foreign soils. We are securing them. A total of 90,000 persons came to Canada to live in the 12-month period ending June 1st. Through natural increase the population has been boosted by 211,000. The total increase in this one year has been 301,000. Canada's population by the end of the year is expected to be more than thirteen millions. In 1941 it was 11½ millions.

* * *

In a paragraph above we said that we cannot afford to wait on natural increase alone—the best kind to have but not the cheapest. It seems to be the quickest, for by waiting on natural increase we have done very nicely since two-thirds of last year's (June to June) increase was due to births. That condition is unusual. In births, as in other domestic production, there was a war-time slack which is now being taken up. We must not expect the birth rate to remain always so high. Further, the high number of births was high only in relation to the low immigration figure. Too few immigrants were allowed or could find means to come to Canada. The Immigration branch has been dealing with the matter cautiously and well, except that it has not been getting the results in numbers. The flow of immigrants has not been swelling as rapidly as our need requires. Ninety thousand between June '47 and June '48 is not a great increase in comparison with the 75,000 who came in the calendar year 1947, nor with the 71,719 who came in 1946. It is not great in comparison with the 400,870 immigrants who came to Canada in 1913. If the Government has given the Immigration Branch any sights, they are set too low or the firing is too slow.

The Century Of The Common Man

The phrase that this is the century of the common man has been given currency by Mr. Henry Wallace, candidate for the American Presidency. If the statement is true our age is destined to mediocrity and chaos. What makes an age and nation great is the number of uncommon men in it who can give inspiration and leadership to the common men, who can mine the latent resources and canalize the energy of the people. The best thing the common men can do for their salvation is to raise from their loins uncommon progeny and to group themselves together under the superior men whom they can find.

The statement is, of course, not true. In the first place, the concept of "common man" is a statistical fiction. The man who grows a bigger dahlia, the woman who bakes a better apple pie, the mother who has triplets, the man who does not drive a car, the office worker who can add three columns of figures simultaneously, the other who cannot multiply, the maid of fifty who dyes her hair—these all have distinctions which raise them from the commonalty.

Secondly, in the 48 years of this century we have had rather a profuse array of uncommon men—people great in goodness, great in talent, great in wickedness, great in notoriety: Madame Curie, Lenin, Einstein, Hitler, James Joyce, Benedetto Croce, Ghandi, Sibelius, Jacob Wasserman, Shaw, Churchill, Stalin. The list could be extended for a column. Even Henry Wallace might be included, for we think that a man as universally condemned by the public press of his own land must have high qualities—even virtues—on the theory that a prophet is not without honour except in his own country.

If average people cannot find greatness around them or in their own country, they and their common press can be depended on to raise some of their number to eminence for some knack or other: Mary Pickford, Dillinger, Babe Ruth, Harry Lauder, Tommy Manville; even the new star in the firmament who goes by the name The Common Man.

We have had, and have in our time, true greatness dwelling amongst us. Surely three at least have achieved immortality in the history of man: the late President Roosevelt, the late William Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury, and the late Mahatma Ghandi. "The Century of the Common Man"? Nonsense!

Pulp For Freedom

The freedom of the press depends, among other things, on having the newsprint to put into newspapers. It is not of course axiomatic that the more newsprint a nation and a paper have the freer is its press. On the other hand, severe shortages of newsprint cannot help but restrict freedom of the press because so much news has to be left out, and so many accounts curtailed. This makes for distortion of the news and views because what is left out can be the side of the news which publishers or governments may not like. Where newsprint is scarce papers cannot print "all the news that's fit to print".

That is the slogan of the New York Times whose publisher said on Monday that, "In my opinion the freedom of the British people is threatened because they are inadequately informed". British newspapers are still as small and thin as they were in war years, because they have not enough paper allotted them to print larger editions. Mr. Sulzberger offered to give up a percentage of the New York Times' raw material for British use if other American publishers would do the same, and if the British Government would allocate the dollars.

That is the rub. The American papers have greater quantities of newsprint at their disposal than the British Government has of dollars. Nevertheless, in the interest of preserving British freedom of information the British Government might be well advised to consider this offer and to allocate more dollars for the buying of Canadian newsprint from American sources. If the offer were fully made and accepted there would be two beneficial results: the British papers could double their size from four or eight pages, and the American papers could decrease in size from 90 or 50 pages to 60 or 30. The New York Times' offer is particularly generous because it has its own forest preserves in Canada which it tends carefully and because it is one of the few American papers whose large size seems justified by the quality of its comment and news coverage.

Canadians should be interested in the situation since it is their pulpwood that is being consumed. We could even hope that out of any new arrangements somehow the annual drain on the forest reserves would be lessened.

The Cominform And Yugoslavia

By WICKHAM STEED

THERE are, I fancy, more things than meet the eye in the dispute between the "Cominform" and Yugoslavia. Unless I am wrong—as I may be, though I have watched the Yugoslavs for some 50 years and have had a good deal to do with them — this dispute is the latest phase of determined efforts made by the Yugoslav peoples to attain unity "in freedom and independence".

In modern times, those efforts began with the revolt of the Serbian leader, Karageorge, against Turkish oppression in 1804. They culminated more than a century later in the establishment of the Yugoslav Kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes at the end of the First World War in 1918. During the Second World War, under the leadership of Marshal Tito, the Yugoslavs fought valiantly against German oppression and reaffirmed their unity in a federal form. As a Communist trained in Moscow, Tito, and the Yugoslav Communists who had been the spearhead of the rational resistance, made common cause with the Soviet Union after the war, albeit without regarding themselves as its "satellites". Moscow, on the other hand, looked upon and treated Yugoslavia as no less a satellite than Communist-controlled Poland or Hungary. This, I think, was a psychological error. My own opinion of Yugoslavs is that they can easily, perhaps too easily, be led but that all attempts to drive or dominate them are apt to be defeated by their stubborn spirit of independence.

HOWEVER convinced a Communist Marshal Tito may be, and no matter how thoroughly he may be versed in the Marxist-Leninist ideology, he is bound to reckon with this spirit among his fellow countrymen — of whom the great majority are not Communists—and probably also among the Yugoslav Communists themselves. There may, of course, be an element of personal pride, if not of actual rivalry, in his relations with Stalin, since Tito is a national leader in his own right, not a puppet set up by Moscow and tied hand and foot to the Communist manipulators there. Yet I am inclined to attribute more importance to the Yugoslav spirit of independence than to any personal factor in Tito's stand against the dictates of the "Cominform".

For 20 years Tito was a trusted and trustworthy agent of the "Comintern", the predecessor of the "Cominform", in several European countries. He knew what had happened to Stalin's rival, Trotsky, who was driven into exile and finally slain by a Communist emissary in Mexico City. He knew, too, how Stalin had liquidated the Bolshevik "Old Guard" in Russia. He himself was an ardent anti-Trotskyite. In fact, he went back to Yugoslavia in 1937 on behalf of the "Comintern" to cleanse the Yugoslav Communist party of Trotskyites. So he can hardly be unaware of the risks run by opponents of Stalin. Why has he chosen to face those risks?

THE answer may lie in Tito's experience in the struggle against the German invaders of Yugoslavia. He became the leader of his people's resistance to a foreign conqueror and a symbol of their hatred of traitors and of compromisers with the enemies of their freedom. He showed courage and military ability. His personal magnetism led thousands of non-Communists to follow him. He became a national hero, almost a national idol; he may not have forgotten that in his struggle he owed far more to help from Britain than to any aid Russia was able to lend him.

When the struggle was over, Tito felt he had outgrown his earlier functions as agent of the "Comintern" and was entitled to stand on his own feet as an acknowledged national leader. If his devotion to the Soviet Union was unabated, his very leadership demanded that he take account of Yugoslav interests in the first place.

ACCORDING to my information, he gradually realized that it might be difficult to harmonize these two motives in practice and that the presence in Yugoslavia of several thousand highly paid Russian officers and other "experts" was not only burdensome financially but a source of irritation to Yugoslav non-Communists and Communists alike.

A supreme effort was needed to restore Yugoslav agriculture and industry after the devastation of the war years. Russia could help little in this work. The West, especially the United States and Great Britain, might be willing and able to help. Therefore, when the Marsnall Plan in aid of European recovery was announced, Tito wished Yugoslavia to share in its benefits. He wrote Stalin in this sense—and was curtly bidden to "toe the line" with Soviet Russia and her other satellites in rejecting and opposing it. Against his better judgment Tito obeyed; but his discontent grew in proportion as the Marshall Plan appeared likely to succeed.

THEN came differences with Russia and her agents in Yugoslavia about the help to be given to Albania and the Greek rebels. Tito set his own very efficient political police to keep an eye upon and to isolate Russian officers and agents—a game in which Tito, thanks to his Moscow training, is a past master. Acrimonious correspondence with the Cominform ensued. It cuiminated in the excommunciation of the Yugoslav Communist party, which replied by giving Tito and his comrades an enthusiastic vote of complete confidence at the recent party congress.

The acrimonious correspondence has now been published. It is edifying as an exhibition of brotherly love for it teems with abusive epithets. One of the Yugoslav letters contains, however, a passage which strikes me as particularly significant. "Let anyone", it says, "love the Soviet Union but no one must love his own country less." This is the real point. If the Soviet Union ignores it, the dispute between Stalin and Tito may evoke the Yugoslav stubborness against which Turkey, Austria, Hungary and Hitler strove in vain.

Letter To The Editor

THE PRICE OF FARM PRODUCE

Sir: I believe the farmer's high prices will boomerang. Food prices have been spearheading the cost of living, and are they not largely responsible for the third round of wage increases? Organized labour's wage boosts will undoubtedly hold after prices of farm produce recede to world levels, then the shoe will be on the other foot and the farmer will be hard put to pay the prices on fuel and manufactured goods.

Apparently some economists and officials are now of the opinion that some inflation is desirable. It raises the national income thus making it easier for us to carry the tax load. But aren't we merely shifting part of our war debt from profits and incomes onto the middle class people who bought government bonds, and whose savings were insufficient for speculative investment. Their dollars are shrinking under inflation.

Last year the U.S. price of wheat was over $3.00 when the parity price guaranteed to the farmer was $1.84. This year their parity is $2.00, which I presume is to give the farmer the same spending power as industrial workers. Meat went up the same extent and stayed up. Now, our farmers are to receive U.S. prices or, shall we say, U.S. wages.

Something might be said for the farmer getting prices above parity since the lumber industry and others also do, but in the latter case our government receives a nice share of the profit in corporation taxes. And the price of lumber is a small factor in the cost of living while the cost of foods is a big item affecting everybody.

Would it not be wise to subsidize some everyday necessities that are priced above parity, as is now done with flour, in order to keep our price structure healthy for future exports?

JOHN W. GILBERT.

Hanover, Ont.

Getting At The Causes

The drop in the cost of living following the total or partial abolition of the excise tax will be amply made up for the majority of consumers by the increase in the price of fats, notably of soap which is a more pressing necessity than radio equipment and of mutton and lamb, more nourishing for big families than badminton racquets. As regards the increase in the price of eggs, it is true that the "experts" are beginning to put the blame on the hens, laggard in their laying, partisans of the strike and no doubt desirous, before acquitting themselves fully of their duty as enlightened citizens, of more social security measures a la Mr. King.—Montreal Matin.

Learning To Do Without

During the month of May sales of fluid milk and cream fell by 7.5 per cent. in comparison with May, 1947. The population of Canada has certainly not grown smaller. On the contrary it may be said to have slightly increased. That is to say, Canadians have deprived themselves of a necessary, even indispensable, food. How are we to explain this decrease? Because the price of milk has in a year gone up two cents a pint? The cause must be attributed before all else to the persistent increase of the prices of all the elements in the cost of living. A year ago the official index marked about 136 points. Today it is very nearly reaching 155, or a jump of about 20 points. The cost of living appears to have reached a point at which the consumer is beginning to offer buying resistance. He is going without, a little. If the upward race does not stop, there will come a time when he will take it into his own hands to block it.—L'Action Catholique, Quebec.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high. (Isa. 52: 13.)

* * *

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not....But he was wounded for our transgressions, he bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth. (Isa. 53: 3, 5, 7.)

And Jesus going up to Jerusalem took the twelve disciples apart in the way, and said unto them, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem: and the Son of man shall be betrayed unto the chief priests and unto the scribes, and they shall condemn him to death, and shall deliver him to the Gentiles to mock, and to scourge, and to crucify him: and the third day he shall rise again. (Matt. 20: 17-19.)

Diplomatic Rift During 1944 On Russ Policy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP). —Congressional spy investigators Tuesday disclosed testimony that groups of State Department officials clashed over policy toward Russia in 1944, with a prominent loser ending up in a South American diplomatic post.

Representative John McDowell of Pennsylvania said the behind-the-scenes row was described by A. A. Berle, former Assistant Secretary of State, in secret testimony before a House Un-American Activities Sub-Committee in New York on Monday.

Berle said "Mr. Acheson's group" (Dean Acheson, former Under-Secretary of State) came out on top in the collision of views.

On the losing side, Berle went to Brazil as United States Ambassador.

A transcript of Berle's testimony, released here, quoted him as saying there was a "serious rift" at that time between two groups in the Department—those who advocated a stronger policy toward Russia and those who wanted to soft-pedal friction between Washington and Moscow.

Pro-Russian

Berle said that Acheson's assistant, Alger Hiss, a key figure in the current spy probe, took a pro-Russian viewpoint. Berle said he was "worried" about Hiss.

Hiss now is head of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He has been described as a former leader of a pre-war Red underground in Washington by Whittaker Chambers, self-styled former Communist, now a Time Magazine senior editor. Hiss has denied Chambers' accusations.

Berle said his anxiety over Hiss stemmed back in 1939 when Chambers came to him with the story of the secret Red network in Washington, and he looked into the record of both Alger Hiss and his brother Donald.

Berle said Acheson vouched for the brothers. Nevertheless, Berle said, he conferred with Federal Bureau of Investigation and one result was the creation of a security setup.

Berle testified he was worried because "there were pretty consistent leaks whenever anything went through the office" in which Hiss worked during the war. He said the leaks would show up in a Washington column.

Food Products In Spotlight At Exhibition

TORONTO, Sept. 1 — (CP).—Food products and the merchant selling them shared the spotlight at the Canadian National Exhibition to-day with the world's professional swimming championships for women.

A total of $3,850 in cash prizes is offered to the nine women who take to the water at the CNE waterfront this afternoon, with $1,500 going to the winner. Miss Bernice Looney, 21, of Warren, Ohio, last year's victor, was favored again to take the event.

Food and the problems concerning its handling, distribution and sale were on the agenda as the big fair started "Food Products and Merchants' Day."

Tuesday, results in the judging of some primary food products—the field crops—was announced, but judging of cattle, sheep and swine doesn't get under way until the end of the week. Displays of dairy products and eggs are scheduled for to-day, emphasizing the agricultural aspect of the fair.

Meanwhile the inernational cat show continues, along with the yachting, archery, fashion shows, and other features. The CNE international sailing championship race for Star class yachts is just one of the waterfront spectacles scheduled for to-day.

Attendance at the fair continued to mount. Tuesday again was a big day with 154,000 attending, as compared with 125,000 for the same day last year. This brought total attendance to date to 729,500, against 667,500 for the corresponding four days last year.

At the same time, Mr. Claxton announced the 14 winners of $500 open scholarships at the two colleges — four from Ontario, four from Quebec, two from the Maritimes, and one each from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British columbia.

The course at Royal Roads will last two years and that at RMC four years. The naval course runs two years, and those for the other services four years each.

Strickland, who was followed by Stew Fife.

Simmons, Rowe and Parnell all looked good in the field for the losers, as Conroy, Godfrey and Byers shone for Grafton's. The losers were short a couple of regular players and may yet be tough to beat out. Darkness halted the game at the end of the sixth.

Abbott Tied For 3rd Place

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—(CP).—A. B. McEwen, 56, of Montreal's Kanawaki Club, Tuesday won the 36-hole medal play match in his first year of competition in the ranks of Canada's "old men of the fairways"—the Seniors' Golf Association. With his win went the association's Shaughnessy Cup.

The Montrealer shot 77-82 — 160 over the Royal Ottawa and Rivermead courses to lead a field of 193 whose ages start at 55 and go up to 82.

G. F. Laing, from the Windsor Essex Club, who tied McEwen's 77 in Monday's medal play round, dropped to 86 Tuesday to win the Nesbitt Cup with a second-place score of 163. Laing also is playing for the first time as a senior.

A cold northwest wind whipping across the fairways made hard going for the oldsters, but nearly all kept happily at it, trudging over the hills at a clip that would shame many of their juniors.

Their three-day 26th annual tournament will end today with two-ball foursome competition.

Two golfers in the 60-65 age group shot net scores of 141 in the medal play to tie for the Bogert Cup. C. F. Richards of the London Hunt Club, with a 44 handicap, carded 185 and Dr. R. E. Weston of Tillsonburg shot a 181 score with a 40 handicap.

In the medal play match, R. Abbott of Peterborough with 83-82—165 and R. M. Gray of Toronto Rosedale, 84-81—165, were tied for third.

Among the other high-scoring seniors were: Orlie De Graw, Peterborough, 83-85—168; J. V. Stark, Kitchener, 84-85—169.

M. W. Hotchkin of Kirkland Lake shot 85-86—171.

Takes Yacht Honors

TORONTO, Sept. 1.—(CP). — Theodore (Ted) S. His win Tuesday and his second Monday put him in leading position in the three-race series, although a poor showing today would give the J. A. Scythes Trophy to any one of several other craft.

Kingston Gets The Series From Batawa

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 1.—(CP).—Batawa shoemen were eliminated from the Central Ontario Baseball League race here Tuesday night when Kingston Locos scored a 5-2 victory for their third straight win in the best-of-five series.

The Kingston club now will meet Peterborough Marines for the league title, the first game to be played Thursday night. This series will be a best-of-seven affair.

Kingston won Tuesday night's game in the first frame when it scored five runs. Four of the runs were tallied after two were out on three hits, two walks and two errors.

After that Batawa hurler Jim Bowman limited the Locos to two hits. He struck out seven and walked but two, while Stone, pitching for the winners, whiffed eight and walked four. Batawa were only able to garner five hits off Stone, who was aided in the clutches by smart fielding.

Here And There In Sports . . .

President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said Tuesday at Montreal that the league will consider adding 10 games to its 60-game schedule at its semi-annual meeting in Montreal Thursday.

Mr. Campbell confirmed an earlier report made by Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs that Chicago, Detroit and New York were seeking the added schedule.

"It will be considered," he said. "But I don't know how some of the big rinks can shuffle their heavy bookings to allow for the extra games if the proposal is accepted by the league."

St. Catharines' colleens play Westclox at 6.15 tonight in the Bowl, weather being right, first of their best-of-three PWSU intermediate "A" semi-finals. Return game or games being in St. Kitts on Saturday, and there'll be room on the bus for some fans. Contact loop officials. Also tonight at 8.15, Ashby's and Woollens tangle in the first of their three-game PWSU junior playdowns. Return game or games there Friday evening. And there you are, fans. Two big nights of important girls' softball playdowns. Both should draw extra large crowds as the lasses' season is nearly over.

Baseball playdowns loom, also, for a number of local teams. The Petes, of course, will be stepping into COBL finals right shortly. And the local intermediates trek to Napanee tonight. Our juniors and juves are out, but Peterborough still has OBA entries in midget, bantam and peewee, each of these clubs having survived the first round of provincial playdowns. It speaks well for the class of minor baseball played here, and it guarantees Peterborough fans many future senior stars coming up from the good City League. We may learn later today what opposition these clubs take on next, and when.

Other Side Of It

Dick Ouimet, who has recently been named to the ORFU intermediate executive, clears up some points concerning Cobourg's grid withdrawal. Says there'll be a group meeting Thursday at eight in the Legion here, with Prexy Bill Fry coming, and Cobourg is invited. And he tells us that the Ghosts wanted seven medical students as imports this semester. Quite okay with the group officials, Dick states, but Cobourg was advised they'd have to be there by Sept. 1 to abide by the residence rule. But evidently the Ghosts wanted to bring 'em in later. Well, rules are rules, after all.

* * * * * *

So, we're informed, Cobourg then asked the ORFU — not the group executive—for a bye into group playoffs, meantime staging exhibition games. The Ontario body refused this, as there's a group up this way. As Dick points out, Cobourg has a big territory to draw from, including places like Belleville and Trenton. They shouldn't need imports, but if they want any they can have as many as they like—provided they take up residence in Cobourg by Sept. 1. Which strikes us as fair enough. "They talk about spending $5,000 for equipment," remarks Dick, "but we spent $5,800 last year and went well in the hole. We're not kicking — we'll be back in there this year." So now you have both sides of the story. But we still hope the Ghosts return to the grouping.

Speeding Rugby Up

Recent word out of Toronto is to the effect that the CRU wants football games speeded up more. Sort of streamlined. Officials propose allowing unlimited substitutions to keep the pace moving rapidly, and they want injured players taken immediately to the side-lines and not treated on the field thereby holding up play. It is the trend of the times and follows the pattern of the helter-skelter hockey now being served up to ever-growing crowds. We don't know if these rules will be passed down to the minor series this autumn but rather imagine so.

Locos Reach Finals

Kingston Locos up and did it in three straight! Beat Batawa 5-2 in Belleville last night to sweep the COBL semi-finals handily. They may open the four-in-seven finals against the Petes here tomorrow eve at 8.30, but that's not for sure at this writing. Ed Murphy was busy on the phone all morning trying to get something definite, but Locos were inclined to stall. So it'll be here either Thursday or Saturday. Last p.m., they had an edge in fielding and cashed in on a few breaks to gain the verdict. They're hot now and may give the Petes plenty of trouble in finals.

Oshawa Advances In OASA Playoffs

OSHAWA, Sept. 1 — Oshawa advanced to the Eastern Ontario zone finals against Peterborough in the OASA Intermediate "A" playoffs here Tuesday night, when they defeated Point Anne 10-2, to eliminate the Quinte Club in two straight.

Jack McConkey went to the mound for Oshawa and gave up only two hits and no runs, until the eighth inning. Bennett's single and one by Mallory were the only Point Anne safeties until the eighth, when Greene singled with one out and then with two down, Wardaugh tripled and Mallory singled to give Point Anne their two tallies.

Weatherup, with three hits and Yourkevitch with two were the big hitters of the night. Mallory was the only one of the losers to have more than one safe blow.

IT WAS BETTER THAN 98 DEGREES in the shade and it was hotter than the hinges of you-know-where in the sun, but these bleacherites in the open bleachers at the Yankee Stadium in New York proved their undying devotion to baseball by sitting through a twin bill between the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians while their hides sizzled and their brains simmered. Some took their shirts off and, no doubt, regretted it the next morning. They saw the Yanks and Indians split the honors.

Royals 3 Games From Pennant

By The Associated Press

Montreal Royals are only three victories away from clinching the International league pennant for the third time in the last four seasons.

Manager Clay Hopper's crew leads the runner-up Newark Bears by 14 games. Both teams have 16 games left to play. Any combination of two Montreal victories and two Newark defeats will give the Royals the flag.

Tuesday night, rookie right-hander Clarence Podbielan pitched the Royals to a 3-1, five-hit victory over Rochester Red Wings while the Bears divided a double-header with the last place Baltimore Orioles.

Podbielan fanned three and walked four in posting his 12th victory of the season. Outfielder Dick Whitman drove in all of Montreal's runs with a double and triple. Bill Reeder, gunning for his 18th victory, was the loser.

After young Wally Hood blanked the Orioles 3-0 on three hits for his fifth victory in the opener for Newark, Baltimore came from behind to win the nightcap 6-4.

Syracuse Chiefs edged Jersey City Giants, to pull to within a game of fourth-place Rochester. Kermit Wahl broke up the game when he singled with two on in the ninth.

Buffalo Bisons and Toronto Maple Leafs were not scheduled.

Durocher Deprives Giants Of Freedom

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1.—(AP).—When Leo Durocher succeeded Mel Ott as manager of New York Giants last July 16 he abolished the old club custom of checking players in their rooms at midnight.

Members of the club were put on their honor to retire at a suitable hour.

But after losing Tuesday night's game to Pittsburgh Pirates for the Giants' seventh straight defeat, Durocher instructed trainer Willie Schaefer to resume the midnight check-up system.

The move was regarded more as a form of punishment than anything else, inasmuch as none of the players was known to have abused the new and short-lived freedom.

Pirates Nose Out Giants Dodgers Clipped For Two

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy Meyer, Pittsburgh's freshman manager, is the talk of the baseball world today as his "pick-up" Pirates defy the critics and challenge the leaders from a third-place position only two games off the pace.

Manned largely by castoffs, and generally picked to wind up in a nice soft second division berth, Meyer's brash, bold bucanneers have proved a bigger surprise than even Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics.

This is practically the same team that finished in a tie for last place in 1947.

The Pirates picked up 1½ games on the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday, nosing out the New York Giants 5-4, while the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs upset the Brooks in both ends of their doubleheader 3-0 and 7-2.

Two Games Behind

Pittsburgh remained two games behind the runner-up Boston Braves who climbed to within two percentage points of Brooklyn by defeating the Reds in Cincinnati 3-1. The fourth-place St. Louis Cardinals also moved to within two games of the top, whipping the Philadelphia Phils in St. Louis, 5-0.

The fourth-place Athletics lost ground in the tight American league pennant race, losing 6-1 to the third-place Cleveland Indians, while the first place Boston Red Sox whipped Detroit 8-4, and the runner-up New York Yankees edged out St. Louis Browns 10-9. At the end of the day's activities, the Red Sox still possessed a one-game advantage over the Yankees. The Indians were 1½ games behind and the A's 4½ off the pace.

Senators Triumph

In the remaining American league game, the Senators downed the Chicago White Sox 7-1 in Washington.

A Pittsburgh night crowd of 30,386 which set a home attendance record of 1,291,558, saw the Pirates score three unearned runs in the seventh to come from behind and nip the Giants. It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight triumph and the seventh successive loss by the Giants.

Manager Lou Boudreau led his Indians to an easy triumph over the A's. He banged a single, double and triple in three official times at bat, and drove in two runs. Gene Bearden was the winner and Dick Fowler, formerly of Toronto, the loser. Fowler was relieved in the sixth by his fellow Canadian, Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene.

Exporting Dogs

LONDON, Sept. 1 — (AP). — Britain is exporting even dogs to earn needed foreign monies. In the six weeks ended Aug. 13 exported pedigree dogs earned £22,600 ($90,600). Full value of exported dogs for 1948 is expected to top £200,000. The United States is Britain's best customer. American purchases included miniature poodles, Yorkshire terriers, Welsh terriers, Pekingese, wire-haired terriers, west highland terriers and English setters.

Riders Wallop Montreal 36-18 In Opening Tilt

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 (CP). — Off to a slow start, Ottawa Rough Riders Tuesday night unleashed a powerful offensive machine that tore into Montreal Alouettes and left them languishing on the end of a 36-18 score in their Big Four football opener.

Alouettes looked good at first as they ran up a 12-0 lead into the second quarter. Then big Tony Golab ran 10 yards for a touchdown, and from there on it was mostly Riders' game.

Golab rounded the ends and smashed through the line with equal ease, while his mate Bob Paffrath, a Minnesota import, fired completed passes all over the place. Steve Karrys intercepted three Alouette aerial efforts and knocked down several others.

The Montrealers started without imports Norman Cox and Joey Pal, and their backfield fell apart in the second half when passer Steve Nemeth, another American, was hurt and had to be taken out.

Alouettes opened the scoring with a rouge, then picked up five points when Bronco Reese fell on Golab's fumble behind the Ottawa line.

Nemeth then tossed a nice one to Glen Douglas for a second touchdown, which Ches McCance converted.

Start To Roll

Then Ottawa started to roll. Golab scored, and Doug Smylie went over again with a pass from Paffrath.

Golab picked up another in the third quarter, and almost repeated when Alouettes fumbled deep in their own territory. Paffrath took it over from the one foot line.

Clyde Lynch was end man in a Rider sleeper play, and snared a long pass from Paffrath up to the one yard mark, with Nels Greene taking it over on the next play.

In the fourth quarter, Alouettes moved down the field on passes and stalwart Virgil Wagner smashed through for a converted touch.

Final Ottawa major came on another Paffrath pass over the goal line to Wilf Tremblay.

HOW TO AVOID A MEDIOCRE MARRIAGE

Greatest cause of divorce is boredom—the soul-destroying sameness of living together day after day, says Dr. David Mace. In September Reader's Digest, he explains why—though you may detect deadly symptoms of disintegration and decay in your marriage—there is no need to despair. 10,000 People From 30 Lands Attend Festival

By J. C. McKENZIE

EDINBURGH, Sept. 1—(CP).—More than 10,000 persons from 30 countries have been attracted to Edinburgh for the second international music and drama festival. Daily sale of seats for the various performances is estimated at 218,000.

Along Princess Street, the thousands of visitors mix with local crowds sauntering in the spasmodic sunshine or scatter to escape the sudden, chilly showers.

The ancient thoroughfare is adorned with banks of flowers, baskets of geraniums and brilliant floral window displays put out in observance of the festival.

Many of the overseas visitors, it is understood, have come under the auspices of societies founded in the Dominions and elsewhere to aid those interested in music and drama to attend the festival.

All over the city masts bear the flags of many countries. By night the floodlit castle, white against the sky, draws the eye, and the music of the pipes sounds on the esplanade. Stalwart, kilted figures dance like thistledown in the intricacies of the Sword Dance.

Visitors apparently are undaunted by the uncertain weather. A Chinese authority on dramatic art said the climate is like that of his native Peiping. West Indians and Africans do not seem bothered by it, while those from the Antipodes say they have found a second home.

Turned To Good Account

Good Old Strand Days Gone Champagne Parties Costly

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP). — The neat old gentleman with the chamois gloves and walking-stick looked across the roaring traffic of The Strand and shook his head mournfully. His gesture seemed to say: "Soon the living, let alone the ghosts, won't be able to find their way around London."

The object of his melancholy contemplation was Romano's restaurant — or what is left of it. Once it was the centre of gay Bohemian restaurant life in London. Today, shrunken by a wartime bomb-hit, it is a bar. Tomorrow it will disappear into mundane business premises.

Romano's was opened in the 1870's. When its founder died 20 years later it had established itself as the natural home of the champagne Charlies, the music-hall beauties, the business men and peers and artists who had a taste for night life.

Promised Better Things

Through the years Romano's maintained its reputation, one of many gay restaurants in and around The Strand. The bomb hit that reduced it to a bar came in 1940. But it's wrought-iron portico, sprightly with dancing cupids, promises better things would return.

Romano's wine-cellar survived the war damage. It was sold off in 1944 for £16,000 ($64,000)—more than five times what it cost —to meet the claims of creditors.

Gatti's, the Gaiety Restaurant, and Gow's are some of Romano's contemporaries which have closed their doors and "moved West" toward Piccadilly and Soho. Simpson's of The Strand, once famed for its roast beef, carries on with a more austere menu and the Savoy Hotel has its glittering after-theatre diners.

Old Days Gone

But the old days of champagne parties and damn the expense have gone. Men of discrimination are likely to brag about the little place of their acquaintance in Soho which does wonderful things with fragments of meat and doesn't charge more than £1 for a bottle of wine. .... a bottle for wine.

Spend Too Much On Pictures De Mille Warns

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1 (AP). "Hollywood had its jag, now it will have to suffer the hangover."

These words come from Cecil Blount DeMille, whose career in the past 35 years traces the history of the film business. He is Hollywood's best-known director, and also is the biggest money-maker.

His pictures make amazing profits, but he has never won an Academy award. The critics usually lambast his productions.

Corn or no corn, DeMille has the master touch for making money from pictures.

"Holly has had its Belshazzar's feast; it should have seen the handwriting on the wall," he said.

"The motion picture industry is the only one I know of that has almost priced itself out of dollars on a picture that should cost one million and expect to stay in business; because that picture will bring back only a million and a half."

"You can't spend two million existence.

The producer-director said Hollywood's only hope is a return to creativeness. But he doesn't see much movement in that direction:

"I go to a lot of industry meetings and hear a lot of talk about everything except how to make better pictures."

Capsule Review

"Good Sam" (RKO) is Leo McCarey's picture, starring Gary Cooper and Ann Sheridan as a couple plagued by Cooper's own generosity. The film has several good laughs, and no doubt some people will find it amusing and even philosophical. Others will find it episodic, confused and even embarrassing.

Lindsay Officials Deny Knowledge of Federal Act

Lindsay authorities were not aware of the Dominion Fisheries Act and its prohibition of the pollution of navigable waters in their negotiations with Visking Corporation of Chicago for the erection of a factory whose effluent will empty into the Scugog River.

This information was received today from Mr. Gilbert Watson of Gil-Mar Lodge, president of the resort section of the Ontario Hotel Association, who relayed the substance of a conversation with Dan McQuarrie, Lindsay's industrial commissioner.

"Mr. McQuarrie said they were making further enquiries in regard to the Dominion Act," Mr. Watson informed the Examiner. "Lindsay officials said they did not intend to contravene any existing laws, and were looking into the question of procedure under the Federal ordinance. They are also discussing this problem of disposal of discharge from the plant, which is to make sausage casing, for the purpose of complying with the requirements of avoiding pollution of the Scugog River which empties into Sturgeon Lake."

From another source it was reported that the solution may have to be the construction of a receiving tank for the neutralizing of the sulphuric acid content in the effluent.

Plan To Shoot Color Film Trent Waterway

Hundreds of potential boat-travellers in the Florida luxury flotillas will be shown a color film of the Trent Waterway System this winter. The 2,000-foot film, complete with sound effects, will include scenes from the stretches of the waterway running through Peterborough and the Kawartha district. Shooting of this area will be done within the next few weeks.

Taking the film is Herbert Phillips, Toronto businessman who has set out on a one-man effort to attract Americans to Canada as a vacation paradise. Last winter, he toured a number of the States with films and booklets and enthusiastic vocal build-up of Ontario.

The film will follow the whole route from Trenton to Georgian Bay.

Lure of the Trent

Aimed primarily as it is, at wealthy Americans with watercraft capable of making such trips, the film will emphasize the lure of the Trent System for cruisers.

"The chief objective, besides showing the lovely scenery available to these travellers, who are always looking for new thrills," explains Mr. Phillip, "is to inspire them with confidence of the ease with which this trip can be made. I intend to show in the film such advantages as the chartered waters; frequent refuelling stations; cities, towns and villages along the water where they can stock up on whatever supplies are required; where entertainment is available; the many fine wateredge resorts for their overnight and longer stopovers."

The film will run about three-quarters of an hour when completed. Mr. Phillips plans to leave for Florida shortly before Christmas and will confine this year's efforts in that state. He figures on a route of major points of congregation for his potential "customers" for Ontario, which will take about four months.

Also featured in the film will be the historical connection of it with the 1615 expedition along this route of Samuel de Champlain. Like the other points of the project, Mr. Phillips was guided in the selection of this, by the hundreds of interested questions he was asked in his trek last winter.

Frederick Hunt Dies Suddenly Motoring In BC

Frederick Ethelbert Hunt, 74, of 214 Westcott St., died of a heart attack while driving in company with his wife on Monday on the Big Bend Highway, 80 miles south of Golden, B.C. Mrs. Hunt received no injuries but was treated in hospital for shock.

Mr. Hunt, a resident of Peterborough for the past 46 years, was employed by the Canada Packers for 34 years as stationary engineer. He was born in Toronto, son of the late Frederick Hunt and Elizabeth Sheppard and lived in Uxbridge before coming to Peterborough.

Besides his wife, the former Clara Ethel Witham, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. C. H. Chapman (Mary Elizabeth) of Peterborough and one son, George Frederick of Toronto and seven grandchildren. He was a member of Murray St. Baptist Church.

Funeral arrangements are to be announced later upon arrival of the body from the West.

Cavan Farmer's Wife Discovers Fox Stealing Chicken, Kills It With Knife

The old nursery rhyme "Three Blind Mice" was given a new twist on Sunday in Cavan township; there were no mice, however, in this episode for the villian of the piece was a red fox. The farmer's wife, Mrs. James Nelson on the Seventh Line, heard a commotion in the chicken yard and looked out the kitchen window to see a fox lashing out left and right at the young cockerels. She grabbed a butcher knife and ran ot the yard as the fox ran toward her with a fat fowl in his jaws and one of its limp wings over its eyes. She stabbed at the beast in his blind flight and killed it on the spot but not before he had done considerable damage.

Carelessness In Trent Area Caused More Than Half Fires

"More than half of the fires in the Trent district this year have been caused by carelessness of persons using the forests, lakes and streams for recreational purposes." This condemnation of unsportsmanlike, unwise and illegal camping and fishing habits was made by A. B. Wheatley, district forester of Lindsay. It is contained in a report which gives a breakdown of the causes of fires in this area to the end of August. It blames 58 per cent. of them on people using natural resources for enjoyment.

The greatest offenders, says the report, are careless smokers, who caused nine fires—28 per cent. of the total of 34 wood blazes. Careless campers who failed to extinguish their camp fires set six fires.

Thoughlessness while cleaning up around cottages, burning grass or picking berries caused four fires.

"None of these fires need have occurred had those persons given a little more thought to their responsibilities while travelling through or while in the forests," the report points out.

It adds: "Forest rangers of the Department of Lands and Forests were fortunately able to get these fires under control quiekly —thereby minimizing damage to forest land. Those who must fight thes: fires ask for the co-operation of everyone. Prevention is always better."

Caused by Construction

"The balance, or 14 of the fires reported, were caused by construction, highway, Hydro, railways and miscellaneous causes. No excuse can be given for anyone starting fires, but the hazard of fires starting is always greater when a large number of men is working in the woods."

"The present dry weather means that more care is required to see that the cigarette stub or match is completely out before it is discarded, that the camp fire is lit in a safe place and that it is thoroughly doused before it is left."

Board Of Works Short Of Cement

"We are now 396 bags of cement behind our requirements," City Engineer Chalmers told the board of works Monday.

Members of the council were concerned about getting some work done on an extensive program of sidewalk repair.

"We have our new sidewalk program somewhat completed," Mr. Chalmers said. "The patching arrangement appears to be the best we can do for the present."

Black patches in sidewalks are not the type of repairing the board wished to have done, but with the cement shortage they have no choice. Ald. H. Dodds, chairman, remarked that the department would have to continue patching, "and next year we can try to get some new work done."

Members agreed the black spots were better than holes and breaks in sidewalks which might cause accidents.

Finds River Water Cleaner And Cooler

Andrew Jack, 274 Maitland St., who should be an authority, claims that the water of the Otonabee River north of the city is cleaner and cooler this summer than it has been for many years. The elderly CGE-pensioner has been swimming from June to September for many years at a spot seven miles from Peterborough on the river, just below Lakefield.

With this apparent cleanliness, Mr. Jack says he finds it hard to reconcile recent press reports that the river water near the village is polluted.

Advisory Board On Town Planning

James Dutton is being asked by the counucil to nominate some citizens who might be interested in appointment to an advisory board for planning and zoning. It was his suggestion to the Board of Works Monday night, and it was followed by the proposal that he be asked to submit names of men who "might like this type of work."

Acceptance of the planning project would depend largely upon the extent of information diffused throughout the city, Mr. Dutton said. Neighborhood interest could also be extended through a representative advisory board.

Light Wagon Wheel Passes Over Boy

Slight injuries only were received by one-year-old Norman Walker, Warsaw Rd., when he was knocked down by a horse-and-wagon Monday morning. wheel of a bread delivery rig of Trent Valley Bakery, passed over the child's body but caused little harm.

The wagon was driven by Hubert O'Neill of Downeyville. The accident happened in the driveway of H. Johnston on Park Hill Rd., East, near the home of the boy. He was taken home and treated there by Dr. J. A. McNeill.

50 Men Leave For Prairies

Peterborough district farm help have filed more than 100 applications with the National Employment Service office for permission to work in the Western harvest this year. Ottawa headquarters have been keeping a watchful eye on the situation, first, to see that the 850 Western farmers who came East in June to assist in the eastern harvest had started back home by Aug. 25 and, second, to decide that the eastern harvest was completed to the stage of allowing Easterners to go West.

The ban was lifted by the Federal authorities last week and Employment Officer W. Mellis reports that he immediately started sending men and to date already 50 have gone to the Winnipeg manning pool for distribution to the Prairie provinces. Due to the late western harvest, he says he may be able to send another 100; thre are 2,000 men required from Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec.

Wages this year range from 35 a day for stookers to $6 for threshermen and $7 for experienced combine operators. Armed with Government travel warrants, they will pay $15 single fare as far as Winnipeg and $10 plus tax from Winnipeg back home in the late Fall. The heaviest movement of men the employment office has handled was in 1946 when 200 district men went West. Officials do not feel that the number this year will attain this figure.

Federal authorities say they are very pleased with the arrangement of transferring help from West to East and vice vice versa and their survey showed that Eastern farmers were especially pleased with the movement which enabled them to complete their heavy harvest in record time.

Buy Rare Book

LONDON, Ont. — (CP). — "In the Days of the Canada Company," story of the settlement of the Huron Tract, has been bought from the late Viscount Bennett's library by the University of Western Ontario. The book, published by a Toronto firm in 1896, has been out of print for years.

Buy New Pump At $12,000 For Waterworks

Purchase at $12,000 of an electrically-driven pump to replace the steam-driven set that was installed at the waterworks in 1915 was authorized by the Utilities Commission Monday. The new unit comprises a pump with a 400 h.p. synchronous motor and control equipment.

Delivery of the pump can be made in 8 months, and the motor and control in 10 to 12 months. "We have to do our thinking about a year ahead all the time," the chairman, G. S. Matthews, commented.

The Commission expects to sell the steam-driven set probably to one of the local manufacturers.

"It is in perfect condition," R. L. Dobbin, manager, said. "It has been used only at times of fragile ice trouble. When we anticipate that, steam is raised in the boilers and kept at 40 lbs. per sq. in. until the danger has passed. The set has done very little actual pumping, perhaps on the average no more than four or five hours a year, but it has been ready to run in some winters from Dec. 1 to March. 15.

When the set was installed, electric power supply was subject to ice troubles, and interruptions from this cause were frequent in winter. But, for the last 20 years, as the result of interconnection of systems and better design, there have been no interruptions caused by ice troubles.

75 Tons of Coal a Year

To keep the steam set ready to run, we have used an average of 75 tons of coal a year, and in addition we have to employ certificated stationary engineers in the pumping station. Because we run the set such a little time each year, it is difficult to give our staff the necessary experience in operating it. We suggest that this set should be raplaced by an electric motor driven set."

New equipment would include a disconnecting coupling so that the motor could be used to correct the power factor on the electrical system.

"At the time of frazile ice, the pump would perform stand-by service, and it could be run at the time of our pumping peak. It would be run each day at the time of our electrical peak for correction purposes."

"The saving in coal and other supplies would pay for the carrying charges on the debentures, if issued."

Vegetable Crops In Need Of Rain

Peterborough district farmers need rain for the fall plowing and tillage.

Harold Johnston reported that Niagara vegetable growers told him at the CNE Monday they hadn't a good rain for two months. Some of the vegetable men said that even carrots were cooking in the ground last week.

The blazing sun and high temperature had one effect that was not unwelcome to growers. It tended to put some strength into prices of most vegetables. The heavy yield throughout the province was playing into the hands of the wholesale trade, and growers were getting slim returns.

Tomatoes, lettuce, celery, carrots and so on were in such heavy production that a wastage from lack of commensurate demand was expected. Less than a week's extreme heat corrected that outlook for the growers.

New Subdivision Sewers Will Cost $38,814

Sewers for the latest and probably the last housing subdivision in the Monaghan section, south of Lansdowne St., will cost the city $8,793.82 as estimated by City Engineer Chalmers in a report to the board of works.

Cost of the sewers to be laid on Rose Ave., O'Connell Road and St. Catharine streets is estimated at $17,724 plus $9,840 for a sewer on Monaghan Road, the total being $27,564. Add to that amount the cost of 150 connections at $75 each for $11,250 and the amount reaches $38,814.

Issue of Debentures

Assuming that the required money will be borrowed by an issue of debentures of 15 years term, the annual payment to be borne by the corporation is $750.01 for that time. On top of that will be the cost of the money that is borrowed.

The sewer work in the new housing area is set out as follows: 21-in. sewer on Monaghan Road from McKellar St. northerly to Rose Ave.; 12-in. sewer on O'Connell Road from Park St. westerly to a point 130 ft. east of Monaghan Road; a 12-in. sewer on Rose Ave. from Park St. westerly 1740 ft., and a 9-in. sewer from that point to Monaghan Rd.

Because the Monaghan Road sewer serves the westerly side of the street between McKellar St. and a point opposite the northerly limit of lot 1, it would be inequitable to charge the whole of the owner's part of the cost of the Monaghan Rd. sewer on the land abutting directly on the work, as this sewer is designed with a larger capacity than is required for the purpose of the abutting land. (It is a 21-in. sewer.)

It is recommended that the city assume 58 per cent of the cost of the sewer on Monaghan Rd., the balance to be assessed against that part of the land abutting directly on the work which is served by this sewer."

The estimated cost of these sewers per foot frontage is $2.22 which when spread over 15 years' payments with interest at 3¼% is equal to an annual rate of 18 95-100 cents per foot frontage.

Estimated cost of each private connection is $75 which when payable in 15 annual instalments with interest at 3¼% is equal to an annual charge of $6.40.

The bulk of the cost is chargeable to Central Mortgage and Housing Corportion who have let the contract for the houses.

The city's part of the cost is made up as follows: 58% of the cost of Monaghan Rd. sewer $5,707.20 plus flankage and street intersections, 1,390.37 ft. at $2.22 a foot amounting to $3,086.62; total $8,793.82.

26 Pay Fines On Minor Counts

It was one of the largest days for many weeks in court Tuesday as 26 offenders paid out fines and costs totalling $200 on minor liquor and traffic charges.

Oliver Hie, no given address, and Philip Nichols, Apsley, were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs for being drunk in public.

Memorial To 9 Canadians Unveiled At Crowborough

An account of the unveiling of a memorial stone to nine Canadian soldiers killed by a flying bomb in 1944 while camped in East Sussex is given in a July copy of the Kent-Sussex Courier.

Sir James Grigg, former secretary of state for war, unveiled the rough-hewn Cornish granite memorial on the Crowborough golf course while a large crowd, including four ex-members of the Lincoln and Welland Regiment, looked on.

Originally it was intended to include the names of the dead Canadians on a stone together with those of the local men and women who were also killed, but the committee chairman responsible for erection of the memorial said he thought this was "not enough".

"We wished to pay some special tribute to those who came thousands of miles across the ocean to help us in our hour of trouble. The idea was not only to honor their memory but to express our thanks...that generations of Crowbridge men and women could understand and appreciate."

Messages were received from Winston Churchill and Field-Marshal Lord Montgomery.

Tribute To Canadians

Mr. Churchill wrote: "It is right that we should remember for all time what Canadians did for the cause of freedom and for us in the days of our great trial."

Field Marshal Montgomery's message paid tribute to the accomplishments of the Canadian Army and speaking of the men killed in camp while training, he said: "It would have been their dearest wish to have been spared to fight in the battles of Normandy and North-West Europe. This was denied to them. Nevertheless, they played their part and made the supreme sacrifice in the cause of the Allies."

Sir James also spoke of the two gifts totalling a billion dollars made by Canada to the Mother Country and of the post-war loans.

Major Peckham of the Lincoln and Welland Regiment represented the honorary Colonel, Major-General C. R. Simpson who sent a message of thanks to the Crowborough inhabitants for their thoughtfulness.

Of the four Canadians present at the ceremony three had returned after the war to settle, one of them H. Beer, married a Crowborough girl. The fourth, G. Pelley, of Montreal, was on a visit.

Crowbrough is the former home of Mrs. Emily Emery, 43 Lansdowne St.

Count Snapped Fenceposts, Not Sheep As Nap At Wheel Sends Car Off Highway

LINDSAY, Sept. 1—(ENS)—Many people count sheep jumping fences in trying to get to sleep but John Mitchell, 48, of RR 1, Fenelon Falls, woke up counting fence posts, when he dozed off behind the wheel of his car, early Tuesday afternoon.

Mitchell was driving east about one mile from Oakwood on Highway 7 when he claims he dozed off. His car cut to the right and uprooted and broke off 10 posts for a distance of 100 feet before hurtling across the embankment where it came to rest right side up 25 feet from the highway.

The drive was not hurt but his car was extensively damaged. The right front fender was smashed as was the grill, one headlight and the bumper. Provincial Constable B. Welds investigated.

CIO Will Parade WithNon-UnionBands

TORONTO, Sept. 1. (CP) — CIO and CCL union members will March in the Toronto Labor Council's "biggest and best" Labor Day parade to the music of no less than 14 non-union bands.

But an aloof 10 minutes behind, AFL marchers will swing along with 13 union bands flying the colors of James Caesar Petrillo.

All the union bands were quickly snapped up by the AFL-sponsored Toronto District Labor Council when it was learned the AFL and CIO affiliates weren't to march together. But the CIO Toronto Labor Council was undismayed and engaged non-union musicians, headed by the RCAF band.

Wallace Given Icy Reception

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 1—(AP).—Henry A. Wallace brought his Progressive party's campaign into the deep south today in the face of an icy reception by municipal officials.

The third-party presidential candidate, target of eggs, tomatoes and boos in North Carolina, was bluntly informed by one Alabama Mayor that "your presence is not desired here."

Other city officials warned him they would strictly enforce segregation laws. Mississippi and Arkansas refused to permit the former Vice-President to speak from the steps of their state capitols.

Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansa all promised state highway patrol escorts, although Governor James E. Folsom of Alabama said he didn't "believe anyone in Alabama will physically harm Mr. Wallace."

Wallace's running mate, Senator Glen Taylor (Dem.—Idaho) was jailed in Birmingham May 1 on charges of disorderly conduct when he sought to use a door reserved for Negroes to enter a meeting of the Southern Negro Youth Congress.

Say Hong Kong Corps Put On Active Basis

HONG KONG, Sept. 1 (Reuters). — The Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps will soon be put on an active basis for the first time since the war, a high army source revealed to-day.

This source said the action was being taken because of pressure of world events. "We propose to be prepared instead of being caught with our pants down," he added. However, there was no fear of internal trouble in Hong Kong. Necessary ordinances have been prepared but details are still being discussed with the British Government, it was understood.

The source said the Corps would be on a larger scale than before the war, with an air section is well as Army and Navy detachments. Modern arms and equipment were available. Although Hong Kong is peaceful at present, 'anything could happen in this community in 24 hours."

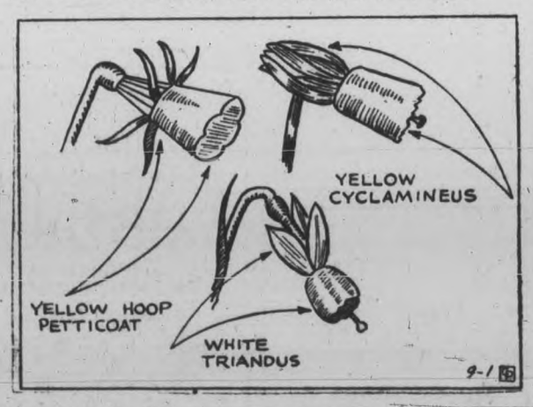
Little Daffodils For Rock Garden



By DEAN HALLIDAY

ROCK GARDEN enthusiasts should make the acquaintance of members of the family of little daffodils. These miniature narcissi present a pleasing contrast to the other spreading and trailing rock garden plants.

Three of the tiny "daffs" are shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. They are especially recommended for rock garden use. One is the yellow hoop petticoat, Narcissu bulbocodium, which grows only from 6 to 8 inches high. Two other unusual midgets are yellow Cyclamineus and the white Triandrus.

Triandrus albus is also called Angel's Tears. It produces a cluster of creamy white flowers. It prefers to be planted in partial shade and a light gritty soil that is well drained.

Cyclamineus, as illustrated, is a cyclamen-flowered tiny daffodil Although tiny in size, its yellow trumpet flowers are spectacular when planted for mass effect.

Another miniature daffodil appropriate for rock gardens is Jonquillo simplex. It is a single golden ttytpe which is fragrant. It is perfectly hardy and has grass-like foliage.

Still another, Capax plenus, belongs to the double-flowering forms. It is often called the Queen Anne's double lemon daffodil. It blooms early, grows only 7 inches high, and is at home in sandy soil.

Juncifolius is a real baby daffodil. It stands only 3 to 4 inches high. Its tiny buttercup-like flowers measure only three-fourths of an inch from tip to tip to the spreading pettals. The flowers are a rich yellow color and are delicately perfumed.

Lawyers To Get Degrees In Montreal

By DON HUNT

MONTREAL, Sept. 1.—(CP).—University of Montreal late today will confer honorary degrees on lawyers from three countries attending the 30th annual convention of the Canadian Bar Association.

The special convocation, feature of the third day of the five-day meeting, will see degrees awarded to John A. Costello, prime minister of Eire; Maurice Ribet, batonnier of the bar in Paris; Chief Justice Tyndale, Quebec, and John T. Hackett, Montreal, president of the Canadian Bar Association.

Tuesday, Premier Duplessis of Quebec, in a welcoming address, defended Quebec's provincial rights and the padlock law.

He said the padlock law, under which places suspected of Communist activities may be closed by police, was necessary for "Communism is a disease that has to be treated like all diseases."

"This law might not suit other provinces, but it suits Quebec."

Tuesday night Mr. Ribet, speaking throughout in French, said he was opposed to devices such as the lie detector because "they are against individual liberty. If a man pleads guilty he will do so without any such devices."

Special Training

The legal professions should make training and organization in public affairs a part of its work, Chief Justice A. T. Vanderbilt of New Jersey, said at a noon session.

"Instead of turning our interests inward to problems of bench and bar, we must turn outwards to better conditions of state," he said.

The chief justice outlined a United States survey of the legal profession which showed the profession was not over-manned.

The CBA is contemplating a similar survey in Canada.

The convention unanimously passed two resolutions. One, moved by Stanley McCuaig of Edmonton, Dominion vice-president, expressed "profound regret" at the death of Charles Evans Hughes, former chief justice of the United States and an honorary member of the CBA. The other, moved by E. C. Leslie of Regina, proposed that Mr. Ribet be made a life member of the association.

Committee Learns 'High Style' Gives Boost To Shoe Costs

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 — (CP). — For all you know, sir, your 19-year-old son may make you buy him a pair of skibos this fall and, though they are cut-down ski boots, he can do everything but ski in them.

They'll cost $14.

They are part of "high style" in shoes — new, in public demand, and by no means cheap.

The prices commission, probing the cost of shoes, has come across traces of "high style" before, but Tuesday the three commissioners and their counsel, H. A. Dyde, really got their teeth into it.

Mr. Dyde spotted skibos in an advertisement the T. Eaton Co. ran in a Montreal newspaper and questioned four company witnesses about their advent. He first questioned another witness, Havey Pollock, owner of 20 Toronto shoe stores, about other aspects of high style.

Mr. Pollock assured the commission that it affects men, women and children. Mr. Pollock's testimony was that, as a class, only the very, very young show no interest in it.

Mr. Dyde was already armed with the information he had obtained from Mr. Pollock when he tackled Eaton's official about "high style." He started with the skibo.

Freak Shoe

"It's certainly not a conservative model," he began. "Is there a demand for freak shoes? Looking at this advertisement it looks like a freak shoe. It's a low shoe, made like a ski boot."

"That's exactly what it is — a ski boot with the top cut off," W. W. Bowles, Eaton's Montreal shoe supervisor, said.

"And you couldn't use it for skiing?" Mr. Dyde continued.

"No," Mr. Bowles agreed.

"Where the best value?" Mr. Dyde asked in the course of his probe into "high style."

"There," Mr. Bowles said. He pointed to a conservative, attractive-looking ladies' shoe.

Mr. Dyde asked how style-consciousness starts.

"We all try to make everybody style conscious," Mr. Bowles replied.

"What do you estimate to be the gain or the advantage?" Prof. C. A. Curtis, chairman, asked.

"We sell more shoes," Mr. Bowles explained.

Manslaughter Charge

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 — (CP). — Alexandre Ayotte, 55, was arraigned Tuesday on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the "William Tell" shooting Saturday of his 14-year-old son, Guy. The father is alleged to have tried to shoot a hat off his son's head with a .22 calibre rifle and instead put a fatal bullet through his forehead. Preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 7.

Take All Recruits

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 — (CP). — Defence headquarters Tuesday said that the three services in their current drive for recruits "will not turn back candidates because of lack of space in the forces." The spokesman said the army, navy and air force, now total about 36,000. "Even if we get another 15,000, we'll make room for them in the service they want to be in."

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*
a drain on energy—a damper on charm!

HOW do you appear to others? Are you tired-looking and listless? Is your face pale? Have you lost charm along with the vitality you once had?

Such effects often come from a blood condition. You may have a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron. Your red blood cells may be too faded and weak to transmit full energy to your body. Many women, men and children drag their weary way through life with this Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets build up your blood and vigor

When your color is fading—and your energy is too low—due to this common blood condition, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size—to help restore your usual vigor.

Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may be due to other conditions—so consult your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood. Take them to start your energy shifting back into "high", to help restore your natural color. Take them so you can enjoy life again!

RIPENING FRUIT

Engraved on ancient memorials, expressed the hope that, from the ashes of the deceased, would arise a new life, in the same way that fruit ripens among withering leaves on vines and trees that have already begun their winter sleep. Urns are common among peoples that practised cremation. Today, urns and their sculptured representations are used as headstones, as flower-holders, and in mausoleums.

DOROTHY DIX

Mothers Often Less Strict With Younger Daughters

DEAR MISS DIX: Why do so many mothers rear their older daughters so much more strictly than they do their younger ones? In nearly every family Mother rules the oldest daughter with a rod of iron. she never has any liberty. But when little sister grows up she is permitted to do as she pleases.

Dorothy Dix

I know an ideal girl, an older daughter who is now in college. She has never had a boy friend because no one ever met with her mother's approval. She has never been allowed to have dates, or to go anywhere unless she was chaperoned up to her eyes. She hasn't been permitted even to go to the movies unless some of the family went along with her. She was never allowed to pick out her clothes or select her friends. Mother was right on the spot, deciding everything for her.

But now that the youngest daughter has reached the boy and gadding stage, Mother thinks it is just cute for her to do all the things that she never permitted the oldest daughter to do. Why?

PUZZLED FRIEND

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Perhaps one reason why mothers are so much stricter with their older than their younger daughters is because by the time the little bobby soxer has come along Mother is so worn out with rearing a family she hasn't the courage and the energy to continue the fight with youngsters who are determined to do as they please.

More Patience

And, perhaps, another reason is that age and experience have taught Mother wisdom. She can see how unimportant were so many of the restrictions she put upon her older children. It wasn't worth while to reduce Mamie to tears by refusing to let her use lipstick, or to make her feel like a martyr because she was not permitted to have a date when all the other girls were having them.

And, anyway, mothers just naturally thrust the role of family goat on their oldest daughters. They have to nurse Mama's babies, and get a job as soon as they get through high school to send brother to college. They never can think about marrying because they are needed at home.

It is a great mistake to be the oldest daughter. A smart girl should wait to be born until after Mother has worn out all of her theories about child-rearing and wants a little peace and rest herself.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a widow of 46, considered quite attractive, and have always been very popular with the opposite sex. For four months I have been keeping company with a widower, of my age and he wants to marry me. He has had three wives already, the first 10 years older than he, the second 10 years younger, the third was 15 to his 45.

This man tells me he loves me very much but his mania seems to be for very young girls. When there is a bobby-soxer near he completely ignores me. He is well-off and could give me a good home, but when I see him gazing enraptured at a mere child and ignoring me, I don't know what to do—whether to marry him or not.

ANXIOUS

ANSWER: Not, would be my advice. Any man who has had three wives of assorted ages and has not been able to keep any one of them is definitely not of matrimonial timber. You would no more be able to live happily with him than have any of your predecessors.

Another thing that also puts him out of the matrimonial contest is the mania he seems to have for very young girls. Any old man who falls for school girls gives unmistakable evidence of senility, for as long as his mind is working he is bound to know that he and a kid girl would have nothing in common, and that not one of them would bother with Grandpa unless Grandpa had a lot of money.

"His record speaks for Gro-Pup"

"Hyde Park Duke, above, won a field trial at 11 months, and is the only 15-inch Beagle in Canada to win a Derby and All-Age class in two days", writes J. E. Reader, Hyde Park Beagles Reg'd., R.R. #2, London, Ont. "Dogs must be in top shape to win. Duke was raised on Gro-Pup, and his record speaks volumes for it."

WHY BREEDERS FEED GRO-PUP. Breeders know it is not safe to try to raise dogs on "table scraps." Dogs need a properly balanced diet that gives them everything they must have for strong bones, sound teeth, and a beautiful coat. That's why breeders feed Gro-Pup.

GRO-PUP IS A PROPERLY BALANCED DIET to keep dogs of all ages, sizes and breeds at their natural best. Not only do dogs like it but it contains every vitamin and mineral they are known to need.

GRO-PUP SAVES YOU MONEY. It costs only 5¢ a day to feed a good-sized dog. It is all dry solid food. That is why Gro-Pup is so economical. A 2-lb. package actually contains as much solid food (dry weight) as your dog could get in five 1-lb. cans of ordinary dog food.

FearGovernment Torpedoes OwnWagePolicy

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, Sept. 1 — (CP). — Political observers to-day wondered whether the Labor Government has torpedoed its own stabilization policy.

The Government has agreed to raise substantially wages of nearly 70,000 engineers in its employ. The award has been offered and accepted by unions while the country awaits the decision of the Labor Ministry Court of Inquiry into the application of 2,750,000 engineers in private industry for similar increases. These increases have been refused by employers who said they would cost £90,000,000 annually.

The stabilization policy announced in February was designed to halt further general increases in personal incomes as part of the economic recovery drive.

The policy did result in checking wage increases. The index of weekly wage rates at the end of June stood at 105 compared with 105 at the end of May, 104 in February, and 100 in June, 1947.

Criticize Government

The government was criticized by unions and others who said it had failed to impose a similar check on the cost of living. The index of retail prices in June stood at 110, two points above May, and 10 points above the base figure for June, 1947.

When the policy was announced, the government left the loophole that wage increases could be granted in specific cases where good reasons were set forth. But the Times of London said that in the past the government tended to follow the lead of private industry on wage increases.

"For them (the government) to take the initiative in granting increases is a novelty for which no doubt special circumstances are responsible," the Times added.

The government decision about its own engineers will give heart to spokesmen for millions of the other workers who protest their wages have not kept pace with living costs.

The whole question of wage adjustment and national interest will be debated at the Trades Union Congress Assembly at Margate next week.

Vatican Buys Flour

WINNIPEG, Sept. 1 — (CP). — Vatican City has purchased 12,925,000 bushels of wheat in flour form from Canadian mills for delivery in Italy at specified intervals during the 1948-49 crop year, reliable grain sources here said Tuesday. The sum of $33,000,000 is reported involved in the purchase.

New 60-Mile Long Lake Formed By Building Des Joachims' Dam

By GEORGE RONALD

DES JOACHIMS, Que., Sept. 1 — (CP). — Astride Des Joachims' swirling rapids, near the crumbled ruins of a 17th-century trading post, 2,500 men are building Ontario Hydro's biggest post-war plant. It is the huge Des Joachims development of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. Scheduled for completion in 1951 at a cost of $57,000,000, it will harness the broad, dark Ottawa River and produce 480,000 horsepower.

In Ontario, it will be second only to the 530,000 horsepower Queenston plant on the Niagara River.

The dam, backing up the swift-moving Ottawa, will form a 'lake' a mile wide and 60 miles long, stretching upstream to Mattawa, and Hydro's smaller La Cave development.

Des Joachims, 40 miles northwest of Pembroke, was a quiet, remote village until Hydro took over. Cutting into virtual wilderness, the project has created Rolphton, Ont., across the river from Des Joachims.

Although only one of the three main camps is on the Quebec side, the entire development is called Des Joachims.

Headquarters

In Rolphton are the headquarters of the gigantic undertaking. There are block on block of workmen's dormitories, a colony of houses for Hydro engineers and executives, dining halls, a post office and a hospital. Under construction is a school for Rolphton's children.

Incidental to construction of the power plant itself is the building of 11 miles of Canadian Pacific Railway track—part of the Ottawa-to-North Bay main line—and 10 miles of Ontario's No. 17 Highway. They replace track and pavement which will be flooded when the "lake" is formed.

A vital offshoot of the main development is the McConnell Lake dam, now under construction, five miles from the Rolphton headquarters.

The McConnell dam, handling the flow beyond Des Joachims' capacity, will recreate a river which geologists say exisited millions of years ago. This overflow will feed into now-shallow McConnell Lake, through a drainage channel to deep water below the Des Joachims power house.

Price In Lives

As in many a vast project where workmen toil high above the ground, Des Joachims has claimed a price in human lives. Four men were killed last November when a catwalk collapsed; six died last July when a section of Bailey bridging toppled as they rigged a span for a concrete-conveyor.

Among Hydro people, Des Joachims is pronounced "Duh-swish-uh." There's a local legend which says it's a mixture of French and Indian. There were two brothers of that name, the story goes, and they used it to christen the rapids they "found" at this bend in the Ottawa.

U.S. Film Heads Introduce British Quota

LONDON, Sept. 1 — (AP). — United States motion picture producers will counter Britain's new film import quota law with an all-American "unit program" rule effective October 1.

The rule, announced Tuesday by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, will require that British exhibitors who desire to use an American picture as the top feature on a twin bill must use an American-made film for the second feature.

It will prevent exhibitors from using American films to "carry" British pictures at the box office, thereby observing the new quota law with minimum difficulty.

The new quota law, also effective October 1, will require British exhibitors to devote 45 per cent of their first feature time and 25 per cent of their second feature time to British-made films.

Johnston, who saw Foreign Secretary Bevin earlier Tuesday and confered with the Pesident of the Board of Trade, Harold Wilson, at Oxford Sunday, indicated that he had advised them as well as British film leaders of the American decision.

43 Baby Sitters

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (CP). — Four-year-old Etienne Bkorkval-Garde will be well equipped with baby-sitters on the last lap of his flight from Norway to his mother, Mrs. Gosta Edberg, in San Francisco. He'll have 43 of the brawniest sitters on record. Mrs. Edberg asked Trans-World Airlines to find a sitter for Etienne for the trip across the United States, and TWA came through in great style.

They're putting Etienne on a chartered plane with the Brooklyn Dodgers football team who leave today for a game in San Francisco.

Uncover Clues To Two U.S. Espionage Rings

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—(AP). —Congressional spy investigators today ran down a new lead they said may knit together claims the Communists operated pre-war underground and wartime espionage rings in Washington.

Representative Richard Nixon (Rep.—Calif.) said the lead was uncovered in efforts to verify the statement of Whittaker Chambers that he got a government "boondoggling" job in 1937 while a Communist party agent.

"A preliminary investigation," Nixon told reporters, "has established that a man with exactly the same name as one of the superiors of Mr. Chambers has, in fact, a long record of Communist activity and worked in the government under Nathan Gregory Silvermaster.

"If the inquiry does know that a Chambers superior and the individual whose record we have is one and the same, then an additional important link will have been established between the Chambers underground and the Bentley spy rings."

Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley, who says she too is a reformed Communist, has testified that during the war she was a courier for two spy rings that extracted secrets from government officials and piped them to Moscow. She testified that Silvermaster was head of one of the rings, Victor Perlo head of the other.

WINDSOR, Ont. — (CP). — One young Windsor woman has discovered that the new look is not the best apparel for windy days. Sitting on the bank of the Detroit River, she was about to get up when the wind caught her billowy skirt causing her to lose her balance and plunge into the river.

Believe Test Pilot Died Saving Houses

GWINEAR, Cornwall, England, Sept. 1. (CP)—Evidence suggesting that a Canadian test pilot, Lieut. William James McQuade, of the Royal Navy, lost his life last week in steering his diving aircraft clear of some houses was given Tuesday in coroner's court.

A naval officer said the former Toronto pilot had reported by radio that he was in trouble and was going to bail out.

The plane managed to get over the tops of some houses but then crashed. The pilot's body was found about 30 yards from the wreckage with his parachute open, entangled around a propeller. McQuade was 34 and married.

Beanery Gang Trio Freed On $1,500 Bail

TORONTO, Sept. 1 — Three members of the "executive" of Toronto's Beanery Gang — William Porter, Ronald Russell and Kenneth Ivey—are free on bail of $1,500 each and will appear in Etobicoke police court at Islington next Tuesday on charges of auto theft and receiving.

Yesterday, 18-year-old William Porter, the blond, self-appointed leader of the youth gang, and aides Russell and Ivey, were remanded for hearing until Sept. 7 by York County Magistrate O. M. Martin.

Two other youths, said by police to be members of the gang, will appear before City Magistrate F. C. Gullen on Tuesday to be sentenced on charges of auto joy-riding.

Ronald Wainman, 18, it is charged, was the driver of an auto which raced a police car at 80 miles per hour along Bloor and Jane Sts. Robert Hartley, 17, was arrested following a chase in the High Park district. Wainman was found guilty on a second charge of dangerous driving.

Little more than 48 hours after he told newspaper reporters that his Beanery Gang was being accorded unfair treatment by both press and police, gang leader William Porter and aides Ronald Russell and Kenneth Ivey were captured by constables Saturday after a wild chase in the University Ave., Adelaide St. area.

Police had come upon three youths attempting to start a new automobile, they reported. Just as the officers were about to question the trio, the youths fled. One was captured as he lay beneath an auto owned by Deputy Fire Crief Percy Taylor. The auto was parked at the rear of the Adelaide St. fire hall.

Expresses Concern At Allied Wrangling

CANBERRA, Sept. 1. (AP) — Governor-General William J. Mackell, opening the eighteenth Australian parliament, today expressed concern over differences among wartime allies in Europe.

Mackell said Australia will continue to assist in establishing a lasting peace. At the same time, a war production staff will be set up as part of Australia's defence plans.

Mackell said Australia intended to give Britain all possible help in her recovery efforts. Australia had taken drastic measures to curtail dollar spending and was doing everything possible to increase her dollar earnings.

The government was broadening its plan to bring in more immigrants.

Gives Himself Up

TORONTO, Sept. 1 — (CP). — Raymond Smith, 20, who escaped five weeks ago from the Ontario Reformatory at Brampton, gave himself up to police Tuesday on the advice of his wife. He visited his wife here and she convinced him he ought to finish the remaining seven months of a one-year term for shop-breaking.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TRUMP LEAD NIPS RUFFS

WHEN the dummy has only two or three trumps and they get used up on leads of the suit, they naturally can not take additional tricks by ruffing. That is the obvious principle underlying the purpose of trump leads by the defense. Of course, if the dummy has so many trumps that taking out one or two still leaves plenty there, you have no motive for the play. Also, if there is an established suit in the dummy which can be used for discarding of all ruffable losers, again it avails you nothing. Judgment is needed to decide whether the play should be tried.

You never saw a deal on which the influence of trump leads was more clearcut than on this one, dealt in a national championship pair event. At one table, West led the heart Q to the A and the diamond K was given up to the A to prepare for a ruffing process. East in that case saw the advisability of a trump lead, but decided first to cash his heart K. That of course was trumped by South, who then went back and forth between his own hand and dummy with a cross ruff. He therefore picked up two tricks by trumping diamonds in dummy, plus two ruffs of hearts in his own hand, three high trumps, the heart A and two club tops to make ten all told.

At one table East set the contract one by returning a trump on the third trick when in with the diamond A. That left the dummy just one trump for ruffing a diamond. At still another table a trump was led originally, then a second trump after the diamond A won. That took out both of the dummy's trumps, so that no diamonds were ruffed and the declarer was therefore beaten two tricks. So one trump lead destroyed one ruff and two trump leads destroyed two ruffs—just as simply as that.

88 Pairs Enter Tournament For Black Cup

In perfect weather the second annual mixed doubles tournament started off at 10 a.m. today with 88 entries in quest of the Philip Black Memorial Trophy at the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

The tournament has entries from many centres in southern Ontario, including Perth, Ottawa, Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa and Toronto.

It is believed to be the second largest mixed doubles tournament in Ontario; and it is the second largest annual lawn bowling event in Peterborough, next only to the Liftlock Doubles(for men) held in July.

Visiting players were welcomed on behalf of the club by W. W. Jeffries, president.

Play is expected to continue until 10.30 p.m. when the winner will be awarded the trophy.

In the first round there were several close games. Stan Lowe of Peterborough and his partner edged out last year's cup winner, L. Reburn of Kirkfield in an extra end after being tied 13-13.

Highest score of that draw was 33 made by Rufus Payne of Peterborough as he defeated W. Wiggins, Campbellford, 33-8.

Another Peterborough Lawn Lawn Bowling Club member, K. Shadgett, pulled an upset when he decisively defeated G. L. whalen, Kingston 22-9.

Scores for the first draw (22 entries) were:

Sid Elsden, Lindsay; George Spence 10-17.

Bradley, Oshawa; F. Dearborn 13-10.

Suggest Removing Every Second Tree

Removal of every other tree in the row of elms along the Morrow Park boulevard, Lansdowne St., between Park and Lock Streets, was recommended by the parks committee Monday night.

Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, was authorized to proceed with the work during the fall. His plan is to have maples planted inside the Exhibition Park, leaving every other elm outside the fence as a screen until the maples have attained sufficient growth.

Planting of shrubs, including spirea, as at King Edward School grounds, is part of Mr. Butcher's plans. Flower beds in the boulevard is an eventual elaboration of the proposed program for that long block.

Asks Tomato Ban Be Investigated

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Sept. 1 (CP).—H. St. George Butterfield, chairman of Bermuda's Agriculture Board, has suggested the appointment of a committee to investigate the ban imposed by the Canadian Government on the import of tomatoes grown in Bermuda and the Bahamas.

For many years, Mr. Butterfield said, Bermuda had exported tomatoes to Canada and had earned a considerable income by doing so. In 1935, about 1,375,000 pounds of tomatoes, worth about $68,000, were exported to the Dominion.

Although he realized Canada might have reasons for imposing the ban, he said Bermuda was a good customer for Canadian goods and produce "to the extent of thousands and thousands of dllars.

"The matter affects the economy of Bermuda," he added. The colonly this year has a large surplus of the fruit.

Nova Scotia Dockers Earn More, Get Less

HALIFAX, Sept. 1—(CP)—Although their basic wage was up 10 per cent, Halifax longshoremen earned less in the first seven months of 1948 than during the same period of 1947, the Commercial News, official publication of the Halifax Board of Trade, said in a review of port activity.

Total earnings for the period were 16 per cent lower than those of the same period of the previous year — a drop of $298,967.

Cargo tonnage passing through the port dropped from 834,013 tons for the first five months of last year to 639,001 tons for the same period this year.

Quick Recovery

MONTREAL — (CP). — Vowing he would never return to Montreal after $250 worth of goods had been stolen from his automobile, Charles Carey of Buffalo, N.Y., had started for home when border customs men informed him that Montreal police had recovered the articles 35 minutes after the theft was reported.

Two Co-Workers Meet In N.S.

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 1 (CP)—Two men who worked together in the Chinese co-operative movement and recently met again on the campus of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., were among the delegates attending the 14th annual convention of the Nova Scotia Credit Union here.

They were Chang Fu-Liang, general secretary of the Chinese Industrial Co-operatives, and Andrew Braid, 32-year-old native of Clydebank, Scotland. Mr. Chang, graduate of Yale in 1913, received his master's degree in agriculture from the University of Georgia in 1927.

Braid went to China in 1941 as one of a group of the Society of Friends (Quakers) to do ambulance work. He became treasurer of the International Committee of the Chinese Industrial Co-operatives and remained there until last year.

John Costello Irish Premier Leads 'Government Of All Talents'

By HUGH DE BLACAM,
Prominent Irish Journalist.

As guest of the Canadian Bar, one of the most remarkable Irishmen of our time crossed the Atlantic, to bring to the New World some account of Old Ireland.

John Costello, Senior Counsel is the new Taoiseach Eireann (Leader of Ireland)—to use the Gaelic title borne by the Premier. He is remarkable in his sudden rise to leadership, and in the achievements of his six months in office.

Six months ago he was little known to the public. He had been Attorney-General under Mr. Cosgrove 16 years ago, but was not very active in politics. In recent years he built up one of the finest practices at the Bar, and he had a reputation as an excellent advocate.

Golfers knew him as the very popular captain of one of Dublin's clubs—a delightful host, and (as a few were aware) a quiet, hard-worker in charity. No one guessed that he was marked for the leadership of the Government.

Critical Election

Then came the most critical general election of many years. The electoral system of proportional representation brought about seeming deadlock; for no party was strong enough to form an over-all majority. De Valera had been defeated, and his party was unwilling to combine with any other. The others comprised:

Fine Gael (formerly Cosgrave's men);

The Republican "Clann," led by Sean MacBride;

Two Labor parties;

Farmers, and—

Independents, among whom was the dynamic James Dillon.

Here was the full range of Irish opinion, from the Republican wing to the Conservative, and no group strong enough to take office, unless . . . they all combined.

This idea seemed fantastic, to minds long accustomed to think in terms of rival parties holding office alternately. Yet it was the logic of "PR." If you elect a House which is an exact reflection, in miniature, of the country, why should you not apply the "PR" rule to the Government itself, making that in turn a reflection of the House? So reasoned Professor Alfred O'Rahilly, Ireland's philosopher-statesman president of University College, Cork. Let Ireland do as Switzerland does—let it give a share in the Government to every party, and let these carry out the highest common factor of agreed legislation.

O'Rahilly's doctrine was adopted. The great experiment in proportional democracy was undertaken. One things was necessary—to find a leader acceptable to all. Consider the differences that had to be bridged. Twenty-six years ago, General Mulcahy (now leader of Fine Gael) was the Free State Minister of Defence while Sean MacBride (now leader of the Clann) was in the Four Courts, not as a lawyer, but with rifle in his hands, defending the bombarded fortress. In a word, the Civil War once divided the men who now were to be brought together. Labor and the Farmers had their diverse policies, too, which some would think to be opposed.

Costello the Man

With unerring instinct, the different leaders selected John Costello. He was not a picturesque figure like the debonair MacBride, who moves through Four Courts in his gown like some French maitre; not an intellect already famous in politics like MacGilligan, the architect of the Statute of Westminster; not a legendary hero like General MacEoin, "the blacksmith of Ballinalee," whose deeds are sung in ballads. No, but a perfect "mixer"; a man resourceful and quick in debate, yet never bitter; a born chairman, who can draw out the best talents of others. Costello was the man.

His name looks Italian. It is not. It is derived from the Gaelic MacOisdealbh, and this is the oldest name in our anals borne by an Anglo-Irish clan. For one Norman De Angulos, soon after the invasion, already Hibernis ipsis Hibernior, took the name of Mac Oisdealbh, which later was simplified to Costello.

As soon as he assumed office, as leader of that mixed team, and had assigned Ministries to MacBride (External Affairs); Mulcahy (Education), and so on through the whole range, Costello addressed the nation, promising that the best would be done for the country, on an agreed program, and asking for the spirit of co-operation to be carried into all phases of the national life. Many critics thought that the combination could not hold together; but it soon became evident that the proud patriotism, the old-fashioned love of Ireland, that range in Costello's homely voice across the radio, had inspired the whole administration.

They quickly showed themselves (to borrow a phrase that sprang to many lips) a Government of all the talents. For each had a job after his own heart—Blowick, the farmers' leader, was in charge of lands; Norton, the labor leader (selected by Costello as Tantaisi, or vice-premier) was given the Ministry of Social Services, and at once set to work to improve the lot of the poor; Dr. Noel Browne, a follower of MacBride, was given the Ministry of Health, and undertook a campaign against tuberculosis with a sort of professional passion for achievement. MacGilligan, the thrifty Ulsterman, was put in charge of Finance.

Government of Talents

It is certain that no government drawn from a single party could call on such a variety of gifts. For if only de Valera had accepted the invitation of share in this Inter-Party arrangement (the term was coined to distinguish it from Coalition: the parties retain their identity)—then the whole of national Ireland de Valera is being urged by his would have co-operated. Today, best friends to abandon non-cooperation, seeing that Costello's plan has proved its workability.

The team has achieved much, in half a year; and, when the recess closed the first stage of the experiment, papers as detached as The Economist in London, and The Irish Times in Dublin, declared that the new order had come to stay. No one would wish to go back to the old friction, and no one would wish to undo, for example, the Trade Agreement with Britain, which is the Inter-Party Government's first big victory. The team went to London, negotiated an agreement by which England will take at a just price all the produce that a modernized agriculture under James Dillon can win from the Irish land: our decaying countryside has been given fresh life. No wonder, therefore, that Costello speaks with pride of the "new departure in Democracy" that Irish political genius has devised.

Costello is proud of the Irish race in lands outside of Ireland. He has said that he goes to the New World as messenger of the old land, to carry Ireland's greetings to her children in these great countries that they helped to build. He believes that isolation is a thing of the past, and he rejoices in what MacBride has done in Washington and in Paris to bring Ireland into the full tide of international progress. He wants the Irish overseas to cooperate with the race at home as a spiritual force, working for Christian ideals and freedom.

Would End Partition

There is one aspect of the Inter-Party plan which has aroused special interest among those patriots who set the unification of Ireland itself in the first place in their hopes. It is this. If the people of the separated Six Counties will consent to the ending of partition, their representatives will be entitled to places in the Government, just like the present component parties. This obliterates the fear that the Ulster Protestants (for that is the simples classification) will be a minority party, always out of power. Let the Ulster Protestants come in, and they will possess and exercise to the full, their proportionate share of power, in the co-operative development of the whole country.

"You are Irishmen, too. We want your help," said Costello in his broadcast on St. Patrick's day, just after taking up office. For this remarkable man had decided to appeal direct to the dissidents. Then, when he nominated the 11 Senators who are appointed by the Taoiseach of the day, he went outside the Twenty-six Counties for one, and appointed Denis Ireland of Belfast, the Presbyterian patriot; so already Belfast has a Senator in the Irish Parliament.

The credit for this new departure in Irish affairs must be shared with leaders of other parties who came in, under Costello; but none can grudge this genial, eloquent, yet unassuming man, the place in history that he has won at a stride. He had to be pressed to take the job; he sacrificed his big law business; he had no ambition for the task thrust upon him. An Archbishop who had known him many years said: "God put him there." This was repeated to Costello — rather an embarrassing compliment. With the quick humor that sparkles in his talk, Costello turned the compliment aside. "I think He must have done. Nobody else could."

Warn Russ Countries Try To Get Information About Canada Through Mail

Vienna Man Requests Postcards Of Harbor At Several Arctic Outposts; Other Queries Received For Phone Books

OTTAWA, Sept. 2—(CP).—The External Affairs Department today warned Canadians against attempts being made by persons in Soviet-dominated regions of Europe to obtain strategic information about Canada by mail. A spokesman disclosed that "a gentleman in Vienna" already had written to Canadian outposts in the Arctic seeking postcards showing "harbor views" in exchange for scenes of Vienna and that other requests for road maps and tourist information had been received.

Prefacing his statement with a warning to Canadians to beware of "pen pals," he said there was "nothing startlingly serious" about the requests but added that there obviously was "something pretty sinister" when someone asked for harbor views.

Want Phone Books

A telephone company had received several requests from persons in the Russian-occupied sector of Germany for copies of Canadian telephone books.

The Canadian warning followed a similar caution issued last week in Washington by the United States Army, which disclosed that Chambers of Commerce and other public bodies were getting letters asking for road maps and other information. The requests all came from the Soviet-occupied zones.

In fact, the spokesman said, it was the American warning which touched off an inquiry here. The government investigated and found that similar requests had been made to Canadians, although on a smaller scale.

"There is nothing startlingly serious about the matter," he said, "but it shows how careful you have to be.

"Still, it might be a good thing to give this a little publicity. There obviously is something pretty sinister when someone starts asking for harbor views of Arctic posts."

Canadian Jobs Set Record During August

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 — (CP). — The August manpower picture showed employment higher than the record level established last summer and no great labor shortages, the Labor Department reported to-day in its monthly survey.

Unplaced job seekers registered at National Employment Offices throughout Canada fell to 91,000 at August 19 from 110,000 in mid-July and 95,000 a year ago. Last year the survey for August showed a "severe" labor shortage.

In the present period of high seasonal activity, both agriculture and construction continued to make the largest demands for workers. However, except for spot shortages, the farm labor force is "far more adequate than last year" because of immigration.

The survey reported a definite shortage of skilled construction tradesmen and said mines have less labor turnover than is usual for this time of year.

Unplaced applicants and unfilled vacancies (in brackets) in National Employment Service Offices throughout the Dominion at August 19 include: Guelph 217 (243), Hamilton 2,028 (1,936), London, Ont. 769 (1,382), Oshawa 1,293 (246), Ottawa 1,840 (811), St. Catharines 971 (212), Toronto 6,703 (9,707), Windsor 2,625 (457).

Russia Seized 10 U.S. Bombers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP).—At least 10 United States bombers were seized by the Russians during the war with Japan, including one B-29 shot down by Soviet fighter planes.

Five of the planes were B-21s, which the Russians later used as patterns for their own bombers now appearing in numbers over eastern Europe. The others included smaller air force bombers and two navy patrol planes.

All, except the superfortress shot down on a mission to drop food to American prisoners-of-war in Korea, were taken over when fuel shortage or damage forced them to land in Russian-controlled territory.

The planes and crews—again except for the shot-down B-29—were seized and interned while Russia was a neutral in the Pacific war.

However, the attacked B-29 was downed by Red fighters 20 days afer Moscow had declaretd war agains Tokyo.

Britain Sends Envoy For Military Pledge

LONDON, Sept. 2 — (AP). — Diplomatic sources said today Britain has sent a special envoy to Washington, by way of Ottawa, to speed negotiations for an American pledge of military help for western Europe's five power alliance in case of war.

The evnyo is Gladwin Jebb, one of Foreign Secretary Bevin's top assistants. He reached Washington Wednesday to join the security talks which have been going on for several weeks among the United States, Canada, Britain, Belgium, France, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The informants said Jebb stopped off at Ottawa to discuss the need for specific military pledges with Canadian leaders.

Chinese Communists Set Up New Government In North

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2 — (AP). — The Chinese Communists Wednesday proclaimed a "North China People's Government" as a rival to President Chiang Kai-Shek's regime. A broadcast from the Communist radio in North China —heard here by The Associated Press — said the aim of the "government" is "the striking down of American imperialistic and Kuomintang (government party) rule in China.

The radio announced the "People's Government" was formed Aug. 19 at the end of a 13-day session of "The North China Provisional People's Representative Congress." It didn't say where the Congress met.

The broadcast claimed that 528 delegates to the assembly included representatives of nationalist areas and members of the Democratic League, a leftist liberal group which was outlawed by the Nanking Government last October, as well as Communist Party members.

The assembly met from Aug. 7 to Aug. 19 and elected 39 North China Government commissioners by a secret ballot on Aug. 17, reserving 12 seats for representatives from areas "which will be liberated in the future."

The Communists took a vital step in establishing a North China regime in June when they merged two large administrative regions into one military and political unit. At the time of the merger they announced they would call a "people's representative assembly" to enact laws to complete the formation of a government.

The merger places 44,000,000 people under the jurisdiction of the newly formed government, according to Communist claims—a larger population than that in any other Communist administrative unit in China. They live in an area stretching over parts of five provinces from Shantung through Honan, Hopeh, Shansi, and Chahar. The area is to have its own army and its own branch of the Communist Party, in which it claims one million registered party members.

Vatican Has Denied Buying Canadian Flour

ROME, Sept. 2 — (AP). — The Vatican's purchasing office today denied reports the Vatican had bought some 3,000,000 barrels of Canadian wheat flour.

The secretary of the buying committee of the pontifical commission of assistance, asked to comment on the reports, said "we have made no such purchase. The amount involved, anyway, is far too large for our purposes."

The commission handles the Vatican's purchases.

The Canadian embassy's commercial attache, however, today confirmed a Down Jones and Company business news service report from New York that the wheat, about three per cent of Canada's 1948 output had been sold to a private buyer "on behalf of the Vatican."

Forms Cabinet Minus Socialists

PARIS, Sept. 2.—(AP).—Premier Robert Schuman announced today he intends to form a new French cabinet without the Socialists, if necessary.

The Socialists earlier voted against accepting posts in a new coalition government under Schuman, and many thought Schuman might refuse to go on.

Schuman is a member of the Centrist party, Mouvement Republicain Populaire.

Socialist deputies emerging from a party caucus shortly before noon said a large majority had voted against entering the Schuman cabinet. They said the majority favored giving Schuman support, but opposed taking any direct responsibility for Schuman's program.

When he went before the Assembly Tuesday night, Schuman said he would oppose wage increases and favor increases in the prices of bread and milk. The Socialists want higher wages, plus a controlled economy.

The Socialists voted in a caucus 95 to 5 against participation in the cabinet, but their leaders scheduled another conference with Schuman, confident the MRP would ask them to reconsider their refusal.

The Socialists have participated in every cabinet since the liberation. They brought about the current situation by refusing to back up former Premier Andre Marie, a Radical Socialist, in his economic policies. Marie resigned last Saturday and the Assembly confirmed Schuman as his successor Tuesday night. The Socialists voted for him.

Union Heads Meet To Clear Communists Out of TLC

OTTAWA, Sept. 2—(CP)—High officers of several unions in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada met here today with the reported aim of forming a bloc to clear Communists out of the Congress.

The gathering was spearheaded by a group of the Congress International Railway Brotherhoods and was under the direction of Frank Hall, vice-president of the powerful Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

It was Hall who engineered Wednesday's merger of the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union with the Seafarer's International Union (A.F.L.)—a move aimed at the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.), alleged to be dominated by Communists.

While the meeting here was made up largely of railway unions, one of those attending it said some other organizations also were represented.

However, there was some secrecy about the gathering, and this officer declined to identify any of the non-rail groups attending.

It was reported that not all of the 18 rail unions generally associated with Hall's leadership had delegates present. The 18 were those who banded together this year to obtain a 17-cents-an-hour increase from the railways, with Hall acting as chairman of their negotiating committee.

All are described as strongly anti-Communist. Last month, their delegates followed Hall in pulling out of a meeting called here by the Trades and Labor Congress in an attempt to gain a settlement of the lake shipping dispute revolving around the C.S.U. Hall said at the time that the meeting was packed with Reds.

To Leave By-Election Till After Convention

TORONTO, Sept. 2. (CP)—It became apparent today Premier Drew will not contest a provincial by-election in Ontario before the Federal Convention of the Progressive Conservative party in Ottawa Sept. 29. The Premier is considered a contender for the national party leadership to succeed John Bracken. He was defeated in Toronto High Park riding by William Temple, CCF candidate, in the June 7 Ontario election.

Maj. Alex Lewis, clerk of the Ontario Legislature, said today is the last day the government can issue a writ for a by-election in time to have it held before a new leader for the Progressive Conservative party can be named Oct. 2.

A by-election writ must be issued 25 days before namination day, and nomination day must be seven days before election day, said Mr. Lewis. No writ has been issued.

Berlin Asks For Voice In Discussion

Clay Looks Grim After Meeting Has 'Nothing To Say'

BERLIN, Sept. 2 —(CP)— The four Allied military governors of Germany conferred today for 90 minutes in their third session in as many days aimed at breaking the four-power split over Germany.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor, looked grimmer than after the previous meetings as he left the conference.

Asked whether he had any statement to make, he said "no".

An American official said the governors would meet again tomorrow. This session probably will be to hear further reports from the three working committees on finance, trade and transport.

Unofficial reports from American sources said they were to discuss draft proposals for introducing a unified currency in Berlin and ending the 10-week blockade of the city.

Demand A Voice

Before the military governors met, the city's anti-Communist city government demanded a voice in the four-power deliberations. The appeal faced a virtually-certain Russian veto.

The city government's appeal is understood to have been for an end to the East-West strife in Berlin; restoration of a unified city administration under the elected government; guarantees of protection for the city assembly and guarantees of restored freedom of travel between Berlin and all four occupation zones.

Taegliche Rundschau, official organ of the Soviet military administration, predicted confidently that the Soviet-sponsored east mark will be adopted as the single currency for Berlin "very soon."

Four-Power Control

The financial experts are believed to be trying to work out a single currency system for Berlin, where Soviet and Western marks are in competition. If the Russian-sponsored mark is made the sole medium of exchange for the city, the Western powers want it under four-power control, informants said.

The three working committees are believed to have instructions from the military governors. In turn the governors are working under directives flown to Berlin from the four-power Moscow negotiations.

The transport committee is studying the technicalities accompanying the Soviet blockade of Berlin that necessitated the Allied air lift.

Wednesday's meeting of the military governors lasted 3 hours: Gen. Sir Brian Robertson of Britain, the French governor, Lt.-Gen. Pierre Koenig, Gen. Lucius Clay of the United States, and Soviet Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky met in the Allied control council's conference room.

Clay told reporters after the session it was "too early to tell" what progress is being made in the parleys.

Foil $100,000 Bank Robbery

CREEMORE, Sept. 2. (CP)—An attempt to rob the safety vault of the local bank branch was apparently foiled today. Creemore is about 75 miles northwest of Toronto.

Police said test holes for blasting the built-in vault were discovered after it was noticed entry was gained by forcing the back door of the bank. If the robbery had been successful it was indicated securities, bonds and cash would amount to about $100,000. In a similar case last year at Ottawa, bandits were successful in obtaining more than that amount in negotiable securities.

Although no one reported hearing men in the bank, police said the thickness of the wall would be extremely difficult to overcome.

BULLETIN

RIDGEWAY — (CP) — The Imperial Bank branch of this Niagara Peninsula town was robbed this afternoon by three bandits, two of whom were masked and armed. The bandits forced five or six clerks in the bank during the noon-hour lull into the vault. Provincial police said "a considerable amount of money was stolen." Escape was made in a Dodge automobile bearing United States licence plates and the car was headed west along a road leading to Port Colborne, six miles east of here.

Worst Twister In Memory Hits Nova Scotia

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 2 (CP) A danger - packed hurricane whistled across Newfoundland today after leaving a trail of wreckage in northern Cape Breton during a savage attack Wednesday.

Dominion public weather office in Halifax said the storm would pass over Newfoundland to the northeast today and weather in the area would clear.

Striking Sydney and nearby communities at noon Wednesday, the Atlantic-brewed twister from the south swept and swirled over the industrial area of Cape Breton until late evening when it headed to sea.

Winds reached 60-65 miles and rain slashed down in a steady, driving torrent.

Damage was still being counted today and the exact amount probably will not be known for days.

Power linemen worked throughout the night to restore snarled wires which left Sydney, Glace Bay and neighboring towns in darkness throughout the evening.

Along the harbor front, white-painted pleasure craft were tossed ashore from their moorings. In Glace Bay, the usually calm harbor was so rough sailors left their craft and went ashore after battening down for the blow. One schooner crew had 40 lines out.

All but one coal mine in the area—employing some 5,000 men —were idle Wednesday night and today because of the power shortage.

Worst In Memory

One 62-year-old life-long resident of this city said it was the worst storm in his memory. Others agreed.

Although ships east of Sable Island—some 100 miles due east of Halifax—and off Newfoundland were still warned to take precautions against the winds it was believed most craft had taken shelter. No loss was reported at sea.

Trans-Atlantic planes sought shelter at Moncton, NB. Five landed there Wednesday night.

The big blow apparently struck only the district surrounding Sydney and Glace Bay, 12 miles away. Points in central Cape Breton reported winds of less than 20 miles an hour.

The Nova Scotia mainland escaped except for slight winds and rain.

INVESTIGATE BEATING

WINDSOR, Sept. 2. (CP)—An investigation into the alleged police beating with a blackjack of 31-year-old Perry Jeffrey today was promised by Deputy Chief William H. Neal. Jeffrey, pleading innocent to an intoxication charge, said an officer beat him with a blackjack while he lay on the ground "practically unconscious."

Bloodthirsty Vet On Loose Kills Two, Wounds Four

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Sept. 2—(CP)—A bloodthirsty former soldier was being sought in an island-wide manhunt today for the fatal shooting of a policeman and a woman at separate places Wednesday.

Ivan Martin, an ex-soldier who escaped from jail April 28 while serving a five-year term for burglary, was cornered in a small hotel and engaged police in a revolver duel.

After the fusillade Martin "played possum." Then, as police closed in, he shot three of them. Captain Lewis died shortly afterward and Sgt. Callimore and Detective Earle are in hospital in serious condition.

When darkness fell Martin slipped from the hotel through a police cordon and turned up two hours later at the residence of three women, searching for a "friend" named Goldson. He said he intended to kill the friend "For telling the police about me."

When the women denied knowledge of Goldson, Martin said "Then I'll kill you."

He shot Lucille Young to death and then shot Estelle Brown, who was hiding beneath a bedsheet. Then he blasted Irish Bailey, who had died beneath the bed.

Although police fired repeatedly at Martin during the gun-duel, it was not believed he was wounded. Nevertheless the police warned doctors and druggists to report anyone seeking that kind of medical aid.

Production Costs Boosted So Milk Producers Favor Another Increase

Present Contracts Now Fixing Prices Will Expire October 31; Higher Costs To Be General Through Province

TORONTO, Sept. 2—(CP).—Milk prices may be boosted two cents a quart in November, Secretary Roy Lick of the Ontario Milk Producers' Association, said today. In Toronto the retail price now is 18 cents a quart. He said increased taxes, repairs, cost of new equipment and replacement of dairy herds were boosting production costs.

"Americans are buying all the dairy cattle they can get their hands on—at big prices," Mr. Lick said. "This tempts farmers into selling choice cattle and thus they produce less milk."

Contracts Expire

Present contracts between producers and distributors — fixing wholesale prices — expire October 31.

"There are no other agreements which producers have with any one else in the milk industry which will affect prices one way or another," he said.

Mr. Lick said there was ascarcity of labor for dairy farms in the province. Labor costs had also jumped considerably.

His prediction of an increased price in November came after a meeting of the producers here to-day. He said there was no decision on prices at the meeting.

Affects Peterborough

Mayor Ovens confirmed the assumption that any change in the price of milk would be of general application throughout the province.

"The milk producers have been meeting in Toronto since Tuesday," he said. "I don't know anything about their sessions except a few short notes in the news. Present agreements expire at the end of October, and it may be that the producers are going to make new price recommendations."

Shortage Of Motors Makes 1,800 Jobless

WINDSOR, Sept. 2 (CP)—Approximately 1,800 Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, employees in the main production plant are idle due to a shortage of motors, a company statement announced today. There will be no work for "a few days," the statement adds.

The motor plant, closed recently because of a strike in a supplier plant, is gradually re-opening.

Decide To Keep NHL Schedule At 60 Games

MONTREAL, Sept. 2 —(CP)— The governors of the National Hockey League today decided against a proposal of general manager Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs that the season be extended from 60 to 70 games.

The meeting was still in progress when this action was learned and it was understood that this applied to the 1948-49 season. There was no immediate indication whether an extended schedule was considered for future seasons.

Cabinet Unable To Set Up Rail Commission

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 — CP) — The government has the freight rates issue back on its doorstep, where it has been, off and on, for months.

The justice department has advised that the cabinet has not the power to set up a royal commission to investigate the rates. But its ruling, it was understood, does not preclude parliament from establishing the type of commission requested by the seven provinces except Ontario and Quebec.

The cabinet is still trying to decide what to do next.

The departmental advice was given in answer to a request from the cabinet for an opinion on the legality of a royal commission to investigate the whole Canadian transportation problem.

That is what the provinces have repeatedly asked. They have refused to co-operate in the government-ordered general inquiry into the basic freight rate structure by the Board of Transport commissioners.

The department's opinion was believed based on the belief that the cabinet alone can't appoint a royal commission on freight rates because power over them has been given the board by parliament. However, it could name one to deal with other aspects of rail transportation. Parliament, the department is understood to believe, could appoint an all-embracing commission by revising the statutes that now are a barrier.

Will Discuss Dry Ice Plan

TORONTO, Sept. 2 — (CP). — Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said Wednesday he was consulting meteorological officials in Ottawa on the advisability of using dry ice to produce rain over sun-scorched fruit growing areas of Ontario.

Grimsby township council asked the minister to consider the possibility of dry ice experiments to save remaining fruit crops which have been damaged during the recent neat wave.

Mr. Kennedy said he understood experiments conducted last May and June in forest fire areas of northern Ontario were not uniformly successful.

"Sometimes it produces rain and sometimes it doesn't, and sometimes it produces hail," he said. "If we produced hail in Ontario fruit-growing areas, there would be the devil to pay."

To Deport Stachel

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP). —The United States Department of Justice announced today it would initiate deportation proceedings soon against Jack Stachel, former national secretary of the Communist party, and 24 other party leaders. The announcement was made as the government concluded its deportation hearing for "J. Peters," alleged chief of a Communist underground operation in this country. Presiding Inspector Ralph Farb reserves decision in the Peters' case.

Zhdanov Death Unlikely To Change Policy

MOSCOW, Sept. 2 — (AP). — Foreigners here are convinced there will be no change in Soviet policy, internal or foreign, because of the death of Andrei A. Zhdanov.

Experts at the United States Embassy said it was their opinion that Soviet policies would continue unabated and unchanged along the lines already laid down by Prime Minister Stalin, Foreign Minister Molotov and Zhdanov.

Zhdanov, member of the Politburo and generally regarded as one of Russia's three or four top leaders, died Tuesday. His body will be interred in the Kremlin wall this afternoon after funeral services in Red Square.

The American experts said they believe that in considerable measure Zhdanov's influence in Russia will live on long after his death.

Peaceful Settlement

(There was speculation in some capitals Wednesday that Zhdanov's death might have cleared the way for a peaceful settlement of the row between Yugoslavia and the Communist Information Bureau, which Zhdanov helped to found. Zhdanov was generally credited with promoting the denunciation of Premier Tito and his lieutenants.

(The central committee of the Yugoslav Communist party, which has backed Tito to the hilt against the Cominform, sent a message of condolence to Russia yesterday on Zhdanov's death. The message said Yugoslav Communists "deeply regret the heavy loss.")

Zhdanov's body lay in state in Moscow's Hall of Columns Wednesday night and today and Russians by the hundreds of thousands trudged past the bier to pay their final respects. The lines of mourners stood in a cold September rain, awaiting turns.

Golds Drop For First, Industrials Firming

TORONTO, Sept. 2 — (CP). — Golds dipped for the first time in four days as volume lagged on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials showed a firm tone on some fractional advances and western oils were steady. A few base metals also weakened.

Losses ranging from 1 to 10 cents were scattered throughout junior golds as a small amount of profit-taking cut into gains and made in the last three days. Seniors were quiet and steady. Bralorne eased 15 cents at $7.25, and Central Patricia, Cochenour, Discovery, Giant Yellowknnife, Kirkland Lake, Macassa, Madsen, Negus and Pickle Crow weakened.

Papers continued strong in industrial groupings on some good fractional gains. A few utilities and steels were also better. Brown Pfd. gained ½ and CPR, Great Lakes Paper, Powell River, Canadian Breweries and Abitibi Common were ahead ¼.

Base Metals Corporation edged ahead 2 points in the base metals list on active trading. Callinan Flin Flon eased 1½, International Nickel ⅛ and Noranda ¾.

Anglo-Canadian, Calgary and Edmonton, Home Oil, Pacific Petroleum and Okalta gained from 3 to 25 cents in the stronger western oils.

Alleged Slayer Brought Back

VICTORIA, Sept. 2 (CP)—The erstwhile companion of 52-year-old John McComas, Dayton, O.—Gustave A. Weigner, also of Dayton—is to be taken to Fort St. John, B.C., to face a charge of murdering his fellow countryman.

Weigner and McComas made a trip over the Alaska highway. Last week, McComb's body was found 106 miles north of Dawson Creek, a bullet wound behind the ear. Police issued a warrant charging the 24-year-old Wiegner with McComas' murder, and an escort is en route from Fort St. John district to take Wiegner back for preliminary hearing.

Wiegner, who fled Canada with 13-year-old Louis McComas "because we were scared," reached here Wednesday by plane from Seattle in custody of Sub-Inspector Ledoux of the B.C. police.

GAMBLING AIDED SCHOOLS

Lotteries were a common practice by which college financed themselves during the 18th and 19th centuries.

Attlee Facing Wage Troubles

LONDON, Sept. 2 (CP)—The Labor administration today faced troubles over variation in wage increases granted by the government to its own employees and those given to private industry by a Labor ministry court of inquiry.

Industrial and political observers predict the main question is how the government can reconcile a five-shillings-a-week ($1) increase recommended by the court with the government raise of 11 shillings weekly. Some 70,000 government engineers benefit, while there are 2,000,000 engineers in private industry.

The whole question will undoubtedly be dumped in the lap of the Trades Union Congress convention opening at Margate next week, and a major row is predicted. The Labor court's five-shilling award to private industry will strengthen the argument of a growing number of unions that the government's wage stabilization is no longer supportable in the face of rising living costs.

Argentina Rejects Antarctic Plan

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. —(AP) —A foreign ministry source said last night Argentina has decided to turn down a United States proposal for internationalization of the Antarctic. In Santiago, a Chilean foreign office official said Chile plans a similar rejection.

Washington recently proposed the United States and seven powers with conflicting claims in the Antarctic should agree to put the area under international trusteeship. The proposal was sent to Britain, Argentina, Chile, France, Norway, Australia and New Zealand.

Last week Britain was reported prepared to accept the United States proposal in principle. An informed Whitehall source said Britain would retain her sovereign rights over the Falkland Islands off the Argentine coast, but would probably be ready to renounce claims to the Falkland Island dependencies in the Antarctic region.

Acceptance of international regime in the region would be a basic change of policy for Britain. Formerly she had maintained she would not yield rights based on discovery, occupation and in some cases administration.

Battle Of Erosion

GAISTER-ON-SEA, Norfolk, England— (CP) —Villagers here no longer need to worry about sea erosion. Work has started on a newly approved £178,000 ($712,000) sea-wall defence scheme, it was announced.

Freight Embargo In Effect As Longshoremen Strike

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 — (CP) — Freight embargoes were to go into effect today on the west coast of the United States and New York's sprawling metropolitan area in the face of strikes called in the last 24 hours

The embargoes were the first imposed in the United States since the American railroads called one just before the deadline set for a strike of Canadian railway workers earlier this summer. The Canadian strike was averted, however, and the ban of shipments to the Dominion from the United States was promptly lifted.

The Association of American railroads said the embargo would be a protective measure to prevent freight cars being tied up in western ports. The embargo on freight to New York was ordered to prevent piling up of merchandise in rail yards.

C.I.O. longshoremen on the west coast walked off their jobs at midnight, PST, in a contract dispute with waterfront employers, which negotiators had sought since last spring to avert.

Harry Bridges, chief of the longshoremen's union, said negotiations had failed and pickets would appear on the waterfront this morning. The strike would begin officially at 10.30 a.m. PST after dissolution of a Federal court order restraining the longshoremen and allied sea-going unions from striking.

In New York, a trucking tie-up choked many lifelines to the metropolis, although most of the area's millions have not yet felt the pinch. The truck stoppage started Wednesday when about 10,000 A.F.L. workers failed to report to their jobs because of a wage dispute.

Mayor William O'Dwyer held out little hope for a quick solution.

He said much depends on the outcome of a meeting today of Local 807 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL), most of whose members quit work after voting to reject a proposed wage agreement.

Solve Murder Of U.S. Writer

ATHENS, Sept. 2 — (AP). — The Conservative Athens newspaper Embros said to-day the murder of American correspondent George Polk has been solved. It said he had been killed by the Communists.

A special correspondent for Embros cabled from Salonika that "those who organized and engineered the Polk murder are Communists.... It is impossible to cable more details or names because there are still some details to be completed by police and investigators."

Polk, correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System, disappeared from his Salonika hotel May 9. A week later his body was found in Salonika Bay. His hands and feet were bound and he had been shot in the back of the head.

Rail Police Arrest Reformatory Man

SUDBURY, Sept. 2 — (CP). — Kenneth McCarey, 19, of Simcoe, who escaped last July 26 from the Ontario Reformatory at Brampton, was arrested here today by Canadian Pacific Railway and Sudbury police.

Police learned McCarey was employed here by the CPR and furnished railway police with his photograph. He quit his job on Saturday and was arrested this morning when he called at the station for his pay cheque. McCarey was sentenced at Simcoe last February to 18 months definite and 12 months indefinite on a charge of breaking and entering and theft.

Expect Cripps To Discuss Loan Balance

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 — (CP). — One of the last fractions of Canada's enormous European credits program—probably the only one that will survive 1948—will come up for discussion when Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, reaches Ottawa in mid-September, it was indicated to-day.

A high official said the visit is being made entirely on British initiative and Ottawa has not been informed of "what is on the mind" of Sir Stafford.

But he agreed with London reports the talks will probably cover the balance of the $1,250,000,000 loan Canada extended Britain in 1946 as the greatest segment in an aid program that went beyond $2,000,000,000 and, in ratio, exceeded even the United States' ERP.

Frozen For Months

It runs to about $240,000,000, and it has been frozen for months because of Canada's shortage of US dollars.

The official predicted the end of the year would see exhaustion of the relatively small amounts still remaining in the credits extended such nations as France, Belgium and Holland. That would leave only the balance of the British loan outstanding.

Two factors are among the that bulk large in consideration of its release. One is the dollar situation which, the official said, has improved markedly since the November restrictions went into effect. The other is the size of the 1948 wheat crop.

The first official prediction set it at 72,000,000 bushels, larger than last year, but smaller than 1946. A second report is due from the Bureau of Statistics on September 14, about the time of Sir Stafford's visit.

A City Of 75,000

The Chairman of the Town Planning Committee, Mr. James Dutton, has estimated that Peterborough's population will grow in the next thirty years to 75,000. That is twice the present estimated population and 25,000 more than the estimates on which Peterborough's city plan is projected. Many citizens will disbelieve that we shall be a metropolis of 75,000 in the next thirty years. Many others may be alarmed by the possibility. Others will shrug their shoulders and say, well, if it comes, we'll take it in our stride. Let us briefly examine these three points of view.

* * *

The estimate of 75,000 is based on calculations made by the M.O.H., Dr. Kelly. The basis of the calculations is that the present rate of growth, through births and ingress of people, will remain constant. The present rate is abnormal, compared with the years 1920-40. It may decline. On the other hand, it may increase. It depends largely on the general prosperity and condition of the Province and the Dominion, and on the immigration rate. Nevertheless, if 75,000 is too high a figure, the lowest we should count on is 50,000.

* * *

Should we be frightened by the probability of growing so fast and so big? It is an old saying that things do not stand still; they either progress or move back. (Peterborough between 1920 and '40 seems to have been the exception that proves the rule, though in various parts we progressed and in other retrogressed during those two decades.) Since we cannot stand still, is it not better that we should go ahead, carefully, sanely, hopefully, particularly when we seem destined to grow bigger whether we like it or not? A larger population can depend on the industrial capacity of the city and be fed by the large market-gardening environs. A population of 75,000 is not too large to be contained within expanded city limits comfortably and gracefully.

* * *

The third of the opinions we have been discussing is — we'll take it in our stride. That is all very well if our stride is big enough and we are headed in the best direction. It is to ensure this that we have a City Plan and a Town Planning Committee. It is not good enough to be like Topsy who 'just growed'. Topsy has to grow up to be a pretty girl, a decent creature, well-fed, well-housed, well-schooled, with freedom to move about readily and enough to keep her mind and body active and her spirit bright. To accomplish all this will take careful planning, good civic direction and the co-operation of all.

* * *

We shall discuss some of these matters in later editorials. Let us say now that we approve the proposal outlined by Mr. Dutton of holding neighbourhood meetings this fall to acquaint the public with the planning project. For an enlarged and decent Peterborough the implementing of the Town Plan is of prime importance.

Federal Code For Labour

Yesterday the new Federal Labour Code, which was hammered out in the House of Commons and in Committee last session, became operative. Canada has had labour codes before, but none so extensive. Labour is now fully recognized as one branch of state, an important one. With this position come responsibilities, for with the written code go unwritten ones.

Companies have responsibilities to their employees but they also have them to the public. Unions have not only to concern themselves with their membership but also with the welfare of the whole community — district, town, nation. We think that when unions branch out from their concentration on wage-rates and jurisdiction and give more consideration to the way their members live and play, to their social and cultural welfare and the unity of labour with the whole people, the ordinary members of the unions will take more part in union affairs. There would then be no difficulty in getting good attendance at union meetings. There would then be no difficulty in arousing sufficient interest among the workers when unionization of a shop is under way, and of one side or the other securing 51 per cent. support from among all the employees.

That is one of the clauses which the C.C.L. now condemns—the clause requiring not a majority of the votes cast but a majority of the possible votes. Another C.C.L. criticism of the new Code is that it gives "narrow coverage". The Code provides for nation-wide bargaining in matters affecting railways, shipbuilding and interprovincial enterprises generally, but its scope does not extend to industries like coal, meat-packing and steel. This is a weakness in the Code, for it is apparent from the Dominion-wide extent of the companies controlling these industries that they are "national" and of national concern. The strike in the meat-packing industry last year showed that settlement of disputes in these industries is hamstrung by the Federal authorities not having power to cope with them. If the new Code is to be really effective on a national basis, the Provinces will have to step out of the field.

Quietus To The C.S.L.U.

The Canadian Lake Seamen's Union is no more. Thus passes out of the labour picture in Canada a distressing element, and with it Mr. Pat Sullivan, the head of the C.S.L.U., who organized it after breaking away from the Canadian Seamen's Union. Sullivan and the C.S.L.U. have been at war with the C.S.U. for a year, and have fomented war between the C.S.U. and the shipping companies. We trust that the wars are ended, now that the central party to the disputes has floated away. The C.S.L.U. has been submerged in the American Seafarers' International Union (S.I.U.), an affiliate of the American Federation of Labour, which has therefore now a Canadian seamen's wing.

This settlement—for so we hope it is—points to long and careful negotiations by seamen, companies, union officials and officials of the Department of Labour. It seems an excellent way out of the impasse which the unions, companies and Government had reached, and a compromise end to a disgraceful labour dispute in which both the companies and the unions were at fault. We do not expect that we have seen the last of Mr. Pat Sullivan. He will probably turn up one of these days as an official of either the C.S.U., the S.I.U., or—since wonders never cease—a tycoon of the shipping industry.

Our Own Questionnaire

It is in the fashion to test one's psyche, intelligence, good citizenship, qualities for matrimony and the condition of one's dentures by answering sets of questions. Here are a few we have teased out of our head. If you answer "Yes" to all of them you are rated an excellent troglodyte; if you answer "No", you are obviously a pachyderm.

1. When will people stop talking about the vagaries of the weather (a) when the thermometer registers 90, (b) when it is minus 20, (c) when they are comfortable six feet below ground?

2. When will Russia be our gallant ally (a) when there is another war, (b) when there is another peace, (c) when there is another world?

3. Who will be the next Prime Minister of Canada, (a) Mr. St. Laurent, (b) Mr. Drew, (c) Mr. Tim Buck, (d) Mr. Mackenzie King?

4. When will the Berlin crisis end, (a) when the President of the U.S., the Premier of the U.K. and Monsieur Stalin play vodka rummy and all win, (b) when the Russian and American sentries come together over a game of darts, (c) when all the foreign correspondents are withdrawn from the city?

5. What does a dollar bill buy, (a) a dozen eggs, (b) a pound of butter, (c) a pound of margarine?

6. What is "The Cost of Living": (a) 100, (b) 156.9, (c) ridiculous.

Other questions come to mind, but we fear to harass our readers' brains further. Dare we ask when all the questionnaire-makers will be consigned to h——— or to h——?

The Stage In Britain

By J. C. TREWIN
(Dramatic Critic of the London "Observer")

IN Britain this is a year of Hamlets. Naturally the film version has had most attention, with Sir Laurence Olivier repeating after eleven years—and in very different circumstances—the Hamlet he once played at the Old Vic and at Elsinore itself. But there have been also two distinguished performances at Stratford-upon-Avon, as well as Robert Eddison's at Bristol. Here let us concentrate on the Stratford Hamlets. When a Festival company possesses two players skilled in one of the most exacting parts in our drama we can say that it is a company indeed: certainly the best-equipped that has appeared at Stratford for many years. The credit here goes to Sir Barry Jackson, Director of the Memorial Theatre. He has recreated the Shakespeare Festival. The cast includes both Robert Helpmann, the Ballet-dancer who has become a Shakespearean of quality, and Paul Scofield—Sir Barry Jackson's young discovery—who is the most promising classic actor found in Britain for many years.

THESE two players alternate in a production of Hamlet dressed and staged in the fashions of 1848. That is to say, the setting is Victorian-Gothic—a good set and one that makes full use of the vast Stratford stage—and the costumes are in keeping. The officers and soldiers on the battlements of Elsinore wear military scarlet. The King is disclosed in council as a bluff, sensual, six-bottle type of man who reads his tribute to "our late dear brother" from a prepared manuscript. Hamlet is in a black frock-coat, Laertes in plum-colour; Polonius looks like an eminent backbencher modelled on the school of Disraeli; the Queen and Ophelia are superbly crinolined. Later in the tragedy we find a group of Victorian strolling players. The King and Laertes put on top-hats as they leave Ophelia's funeral. Osric and the Danish courtiers are in Victorian court dress. And so on. There is, too, a strange performance of the Ghost, though this has nothing to do with the period dressing. Usually the "majesty of buried Denmark" is played on one monotonous note, a muted murmur. Now the always original Esmond Knight goes to the other extreme and plays him—also with monotony, some feel—on a sustained high pitch, as of a spirit come from hell in torment. It is at least an uncommon reading, and it is one that has caused much dissension in Stratford and at all places where Shakespeareans argue.

There has been, of course, a great deal of argument about the costumes. Twenty-three years ago in London, we were debating "'Hamlet' in modern dress". Now the catchphrase is "'Hamlet' in a frock-coat". Michael Benthall, the producer, explains his decision by stating that Hamlet is Everyman. "His problems are every man's, no matter the age in which he lives. In Elizabethan costume much of the play's essential modern realism can be lost. So at Stratford I aim to retain both its romance and its present-day truth by presenting it in a mid-nineteenth century setting, one which I hope will retain the magic of the theatre without destroying the play's vital contemporary relevance." This seems to me an ingenious plea for leave to test an agreeable experiment. Actually, we find in performance, the crinolines, the frock-coats, and the Victorian arcades matter little. After a quarter-of-an-hour the great tragedy asserts its hold. We forget the romanticized Victorian-Gothic decor and the elaborate costumes and think of them only when—as in the Play scene or on the entrance of Fortinbras—they force themselves on our attention. The play's the thing, as it should be. Hamlet is far more important than his costume.

HERE opinion about the merits of the two Hamlets is divided almost equally. Paul Scofield's supporters are probably the more numerous—and, I think, with reason. Scofield can appeal to both heart and mind, whereas Helpmann is almost entirely an intellectual Hamlet—often exciting, always beautifully-spoken, but a little cold and aloof. We realize that the part has been studied expertly and that the actor will miss not a flake of significance. But he lacks Scofield's natural pathos, the quality that makes us feel when Hamlet lies in the arms of Horatio that here rests indeed a sweet prince, a noble heart. Michael Benthall has made much use of naked candle-light—the effect is richly pictorial in the great cavern of the Stratford stage—and this leads to a natural comparison: Helpmann is like an electric candle, clear, steady, formal; Scofield like a fiery torch that casts its quivering light into every corner of Elsinore. But both are fine performances, and they will have a high place in Stratford record. London knows Helpmann's Hamlet already from his Old Vic appearance in 1944; now all are hoping that Scofield will have a similar chance. He would be a great acquisition to the Old Vic.

THERE is some other strong work at Stratford. Thus Anthony Quayle's King is excellently consistent in its burly bluffness. Diana Wynyard, not yet a seasoned Shakespearean, develops with each new part: her Gertrude is fully intelligent though it could do with a little more edge. Among others the Ophelia of the seventeen-year-old actress Claire Bloom is notable. Most players are content to present Ophelia as a "rose of May" and to "prettify" the mad scene. Claire Bloom makes no such concession as this. She goes thoroughly, wholeheartedly mad. It is an exciting and a disturbing performance that will be more effective when the actress is more technically controlled.

Above all else, however, one remembers Paul Scofield's tenderness in the homage to Horatio. It is strange that we should have seen within a few weeks two Hamlets making their principal success in the same short scene. In the film version Laurence Olivier also takes our hearts with this passage, though he has transferred it to nearly the end of the play, in the interval between the Osric scene and the duel.

LONDON has had one or two disappointments. Sir Ralph Richardson chose to return in "Royal Circle", a Ruritanian comedy by Romilly Cavan that proved to be a slight affair and roused the wrath of the first-night gallery. But the play did not deserve its angry reception. It is merely an unaffected, sometimes witty little piece, of no special substance. The gallery was plainly disappointed because it had expected more of a company led by Sir Ralph and Dame Lilian Braithwaite. Both give their most supple performances, though Dame Lilian's part is very small. Sir Ralph, with his sense of humour and his exact timing, manages often to illuminate and raise the play, and he has two charming actresses with him: his wife (Meriel Forbes) and the grave, direct Jessica Spencer, whose reputation grows with each new part she attempts.

Ice And Statues

By W. J. NEALY In The Winnipeg Free Press

ON an exceedingly hot day in July, 1920, the four massive statues of La Vereendrye, Selkirk, Wolfe and Dufferin, the first two on the east side of the Legislative Building in Winnipeg, the other two on the west, were set in place by a remarkably ingenious operation. Not a reporter was present among the few persons who witnessed it, who, as it happened, included Sir James Aikins, then the Lieutenant Governor, Frank Simon, the architect of the building and the present writer. Sir James had the day before taken care to learn when it would be done, so as not to miss seeing it. He was extraordinarily interested in it, and when it was all over said to Antony Piccirelli, who had come from New York to superintend the job, that he admired beyond words the ingenuity of the idea of it.

The best and briefest way of describing what was done is, I think, to begin by asking you to imagine a statuette of a cat, or a dog, seated on its haunches, one that would weigh, say ten or fifteen pounds. You could take it up easily with your hands and set it down exactly where you wanted it to be. But a crane, however powerful, has no hands to do that with such a seated figure as each of those four statues is, with no projections for a cable to be put around. They were sculptured in New York by Piccirelli Brothers, who, as Antony Piccirelli told me, sculptured the marble lions in front of the New York Public Library on Fifth Avenue. Each, with its pedestal, was one mass of stone weighing tons, and could not be lifted and set down by a crane as you could handle the statuette we have imagined.

During the sculpturing of each of those ponderous masses of stone, statue and pedestal all one piece, it rested on two beams of timber projecting a foot or two on each side of it, one near the front, the other near the other end of the finished pedestal. Chains were looped around those projecting ends, by means of which a crane lifted each on to a flat car, on which it was brought to Winnipeg and from which it was lifted by a crane on to a low, strong truck, and on that taken to where it was lifted by a crane to the place where you see it today—but under each still were the two beams around whose projecting ends the chains had been looped. The chains were removed. How were those beams to be got from under each pedestal and statue? That was the problem which has to be solved, in order to set each of the four in its final place, for the completion of the contract of Piccirelli Brothers with Simon, the architect. The beams could not be jerked from under those masses of stone—if that could be done, the statues would not be left exactly in their appointed places, and moreover, the jolt would in all probability crack them.

THE thing was done with slabs of ice from the Artesian Ice company—(not long before that time the delivery wagons of five different ice companies could be seen daily on the streets of Winnipeg). Each statue was lifted not more than an inch by the crane, and then jacks were placed under the pedestal and screwed up to hold it perfectly level in that position. The beams were then slid out and slabs of ice (carefully shaped to be exactly the right size) were slipped in and the jacks were with equal carefullness screwed down until the pedestal and statue rested on the ice, instead of on the beams. The ice melted rapidly on that hot day, and each pedestal and statue sank into exactly the place marked for it, to the fraction of an inch, by Simon, the architect. In less than an hour there was no trace of the water left from the melted ice. And La Verendrye, Selkirk, Wolfe and Dufferin were left sitting immovable, as they will sit for nobody knows how many generations to come.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now there is at Jerusalem by the sheep market a pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Bethesda, having five porches.... And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight years....

Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and on the same day was the sabbath....

And therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the sabbath day. But Jesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work. Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, because he not only had broken the sabbath, but said also that God was his Father, making himself equal with God.

Then answered Jesus and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise....

I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgement is just; because I seek not mine own will but the will of the Father which hath sent me. (John 5: 2, 5, 8, 9, 16-19, 30.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And, behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life? And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments. (Matt. 19: 16, 17.)

Press Liberty Is Dead

The liberty of the press as we knew it is dead, thrice dead. It is useless to seek to revive it. However 55 nations, hypocritically seated around a table (at Geneva) manoeuvre to obtain "liberty to gather and to transmit news freely and to collect all the information necessary to the modern world." It is a pity that the people who always have the words liberty and democracy in their mouths did not, a long time ago, begin by suppressing internal restrictions before demanding external liberty. It is also too bad that governments, with the means at their disposal, have not forbidden apologies for aggression, for war and for the dissemination of false news. It will be only after similar preliminary measures that we can try to return to liberty of information.—Le Clairon, St. Hyacinthe.

Regulated Deflation

Federal statistics leave no doubt on one point: inflation continued last month. The index of the cost of living reveals only partially this aspect of the problem, since there are a number of factors of which it does not take account. How can deflation be brought about a deflation that shall be neither brusque nor violent, but orderly and extended over a number of years?

That would be largely the work of private enterprise, the resumption of production, or rather of its intensification, so that supply meets demand. But the support of our governments, federal, provincial and even municipal must be added. In one respect economists are agreed; they recommend the adoption and application of a rigorous policy of economy.—Le Nouvelliste, Three Rivers.

Tea Was Offered At 19 Cents In Good Old Days

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 2 — (ENS).—Tea at 19 cents a pound. Of course, the proper price was higher, 25 cents a pound, and the 19-cent price was only for one week, according to the advertisement of Robert J. Garrett (successor to McIntosh Bros.) in the Campbellford Despatch for Thursday, June 14, 1906.

A badly battered copy of the paper came to light last week behind a cabinet when a local store was being redecorated. The editor and proprietor was H. B. R. Bryden.

The weekly papers of those days contained more world news than is usual with the present-day weeklies, and a leading article in the issue gives an expose of a scandal in the American meat packing trade, in which it is alleged that diseased hogs were being made into canned meat, and that some of this had been supplied to the French army. This brought a denial from the French Commissary-General, according to the report, but the paper goes on to say that one of the largest Paris importers stated that his customers were refusing to buy American canned goods.

Lively In Halifax

There must have been lively days then, for a report from Halifax notes that Councillors Fuller and Perrin of the Yarmouth (NS) town council got into a fist-fight at a council meeting and finished up kicking each other.

One of the councillors was described as "a leading church member of the town" and both were doctors.

From Fort William comes the description of a knife brawl between four drunks, following a fracas at a dance. Four Finlanders were "fearfully" wounded, and two were said by attending doctors to be unlikely to survive their wounds.

Bellostok, Russia, reports that the chief of police, Derkatchoff, was shot and killed by a number of assassins, and in Seymour township, a reward was offered for the "apprehension and conviction of the party or parties who waylaid, beat and maltreated Dewitt Stotts, at or near Meyersburg, on the night of the 6th of April, 1906." The reward was offered over the names of Fred Peake, Reeve, and J. B. Ferris, Clerk.

Three milliners, the Misses O'Donohue, Rooney and Oulton, all were attempting to attract the feminine portion of the citizenry to attend their sales of headgear. "Trimmed hats and sailors are what are selling," says Miss O'Donohue's advertisement.

Days Of 14th Battery

In the local news column it was announced that Lieut. W. J. Doxsee would take No. 3 Company out for drill on Friday night at the athletic grounds, and in the same connection, that Mr. E. C. Rutherford was in town for the purpose of taking charge of Mr. J. A. Louck's drug store while he was in camp with the 14th Field Battery at Cobourg.

The Bank of British North America was advertising for customers at Campbellford (H. F. Skey, manager), and the paper features a full-page devoted to descriptions of some of the outstanding local business establishments.

Prominent among these were the Pitman Business College (J. Pascoe Beel, principal), Eley and Irwin's furniture factory, C. H. Coveney, liveryman; Wm. J. Shapter, the Town Dairy Wagon.

Couched in the flowery language of the times, separate paragraphs were devoted to describing most of the establishments as "undoubtedly the best of its kind on the continent." These include the Campbellford Roller Mills, Weston Shoe Co., J. M. Payton (pumps), James H. Smith, buggies and wagons, The Queen's Hotel (J. A. McNichol), Charles Davidson, baker, The Gibson House, Carnham and Company, general merchants.

Mr. T. S. Tait, hardware merchant, was said to be "highly esteemed for his social qualities," while G. W. Hammond, grocer, also had something that can't be secured here now, fresh oysters in season.

Another baker was J. Sellick, and James Benor's Campbellford Planing Mills was 20 years old in 1906; Henry Redden operated the Campbellford Box Factory and Woodyard.

Some other names were: James H. Diamond, Morton and Owen, H. M. Fowlds and Son, whose telephone number, then as now, was 28. Campbellford Foundry and Machine Shop, the Standard Bank of Canada, W. J. Doxsee, and Thomas Bros. Campbellford Steam Laundry. P. J. Sarginson, C. S. Gillespie, the Brunswick Cigar Store, and "noted for its fine liquors and cigars" was the St. Lawrence House, then recently purchased by P. J. Anderson, of whom the payer says "no man in this section is more widely known."

Today, the St. Lawrence Hotel is the last remaining hostelry in Campbellford, the others having been turned into stores and apartments.

GEN. A. A. ZHDANOV, regarded as Stalin's successor in the U.S.S.R., whose death was announced recently in Moscow.

RAN IN OLYMPICS — The Rev. Wm. E. Kibblewhite, BA, L.Th., rector of All Saints' Anglican Church here, once competed in the Olympic Games. He represented Canada in the 5,000-metre race in Amsterdam back in 1928. However, Paavo Nurmi of Finland broke a world's record in taking this race. Mr. Kibblewhite, on his return, continued his track work as well as playing hockey, soccer and basketball. He is keenly interested today in athletics.

Sale Of Store Is Reported

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 2 — (ENS). — Sale of the Ayrhart hardware store here is repored this week to a Hamilton buyer. Official information from the Ayrhart office is that a deal is presently under way for the purchase of the store, and that this is to be completed in the next two weeks. The name of the prospective purchaser is not yet available.

In addition, the Ayrhart concrete block factory, just outside the town limits, is up for sale, according to advertisements appearing in several district newspapers on Tuesday. The asking price is $35,000.

The hardware store was originally owned by J. A. C. Allen, and at that time was the largest hardware store in Campbellford. It was purchased by Mr. Ayrhart shortly after his return to town in 1945, in a three-hour transaction in which a reputed $50,000 changed hands.

Clarence Johnson, an employee of Mr. Allen at Havelock and Campbellford, was retained by Mr. Ayrhart as manager, remaining with him until last Saturday, when Mr. Johnson left for the West Coast.

The concrete block factory was a distinctly Ayrhart creation, and was built after the old paper mill in which the original concrete block machinery was housed, was sold to other interests. The factory is a few hundred yards out of town on the old Slush property, is built of concrete blocks, and contains three steam drying kilns, as well as much modern machinery. The reason given for the sale is the ill-health of the owner.

Asks Contributions For Pension Scheme

TORONTO, Sept. 2 — (CP). — Ontario Welfare Minister Goodfellow Wednesday urged the establishment of a Canada-wide contributory system to raise revenue for old age pensions.

The number of old age pensioners in Ontario has jumped from 55,000 to 77,000 in the last 2½ years, he told closing sessions of the 67th annual convention of the Division Court Clerks' Association of Ontario. Allowances paid out now total $30,000,000 a year.

Mr. Goodfellow said rising living costs prevent most people from saving for their old age.

Association officers elected included: President, F. R. Palmer, St. Thomas; Vice-Presidents—E. M. McMurray, Niagara Falls, and Mrs. A. Wilkinson, Belle River; Secretary-Treasurer, A. E. Smith, Orillia; executive members — Stewart, Guelph; T. O'Neil, Ottawa; L. Rod Vanier, Sturgeon Falls; H. H. Webb, Brockville.

Mine Workers Approve Wage Demand

By DAVE McINTOSH

TRURO, N.S., Sept. 2 —(CP)— The annual convention of United Mine Workers, District 26 (CCL) today adopted its policy committee's report seeking a daily wage increase of $2.56 for 13,000 Maritime miners.

The convention's mandate enables the union to seek the increase when the present contract expires Jan. 31, 1949. Current basic rate is $7.46 a day.

The convention also asked for a 50 per cent increase for long-wall operators — men who load cars manually — and a 33⅓ per cent increase for all other contract workers.

Other demands endorsed by the convention:

1. Time-and-a-half for any hours worked over eight.
2. Double time for Sunday work and on statutory holidays.
3. Straight time for statutory holidays when not worked.
4. Starting hour of 8 a.m. instead of the present 7 a.m.

Following the last annual district convention two years ago the miners won a $1 a day increase after a prolonged strike in 1947. Later they got a 40 cent a day bonus for increased production and last March their new contract contained another 40-cent boost.

Today's redrafted policy statement said coal mining is an essential industry to the Canadian economy and recognized as one of the most hazardous jobs. It reiterated the past policy that the coal industry should be operated and if necessary subsidized by the federal government.

Britain Will Import Additional Newsprint

LONDON, Sept. 2.—(CP). — Britain is expected to import more newsprint next year, but the increase will not necessarily mean bigger British newspapers.

An increase in imports "does not automatically mean four-page British newspapers can be increased in size because stocks on hand are depleted and there will probably be a desire to build them up before enlarging papers," a reliable source said.

Canada and Newfoundland are the chief suppliers of newsprint for Britain whose dollar shortage hass been the main factor in keeping British newspapers down to four pages.

Can Prevent Polio In Mice Experiments

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 —(CP)— Prevention and cure of poliomyelitis in mice is possible now, Columbia University announced Wednesday night.

Successful experiments involving a new sulfa-type drug, darvisul, have been performed on mice, the announcement said.

The experiment raises hope that such methods can be applied to humans but the report emphasizes there is no sound basis to conclude the results are applicable to man.

The next step is to apply the experiments to monkeys, a step closer to man.

How clearly the Columbia mouse infantile paralysis is like the human kind is a subject of medical debate. Originally the virus that causes this mouse paralysis came from human beings. Whether it has changed greatly in mice is the debated question.

Cherney's Petes Gain Peewee Lacrosse Title

Cherney's Petes won the peewee lacrosse championship last night when they beat Buffalos 19-3 for their second straight playoff win. Led by Bud McDougall, Larry Ball, Gary Kearns and Rich Anthony, they left little doubt as to superiority. Though short all season on subs, the Petes have been strong from the goal out and they played smart lacrosse. Buffalos, a surprise team in playoffs, tried hard but lacked scoring punch. Bill Macklin in goal was good, and Lagana, Loucks and Grant Simmons all toiled throughout. The teams:

Petes: F. O'Connell, Pearl, Ball, Anthony, Saunders, Kearns and McDougall.

Buffalos: B. Macklin, Keating, Blodgett, Loucks, Lagana, Haig, Martin, Simmons and Clarke.

Napanee Gets Equalizer From Petes

NAPANEE, Sept. 2. (Staff) — Napanee Athletics put themselves back in the running in the first round OBA Intermediate "A" playoff series by defeating Peterborough Marines 5-1 Wednesday night. Peterborough won the first of the best-of-three series Saturday. The final game will be played in Napanee Saturday afternoon.

Napanee had the edge all the way in the game. Stan McTaggart, winning pitcher, went the full nine, pitching steady ball. Plunkett, on the mound for the losers, also threw the full game. Gerow, lanky Napanee shortstop, was heavy hitter with three for four. For Peterborough, Dugan, Sullivan and Conway again were strong in keeping down the runs with their infield play.

Oshawa winds up the OLA senior "B" schedule at nine in Miller Bowl tomorrow night against the Petes. It may prove to be preview of the group finals and should attract the biggest crowd of the season. The strong Motor Citizens beat the Petes in their last two clashes, once here, and think they have the locals' number now for sure. Anyway, a swell scrap on tap between classy clubs. Coaches Kelly DeGray of Oshawa and Red Creighton of the Petes have been a-feudin' all season and nearly came to blows in the arena corridor down there one game. Don't forget, fans, to get your tickets punched at this tilt for playoff priority. And remember there's a fine watch offered the most valuable local chap in playoffs.

Little talk of curling here yet, but we noted this item a few days ago in the Timmins sheet: "A sharp contrast to yesterday's blistering heat was the cool air of the McIntyre Curling Club where the annual summer bonspiel was in progress. Deep in the game, four dozen broom-boys were going through their paces out on the ice surface with never a thought about the scorching 108-degree temperature outside. In the back room some of the stanemen looked as though they hadn't been outside the rink since the wave started. Most of the curlers have been warned to use caution when leaving the arena after a game." Isn't that something?

The Rev. Used To Run

With the Olympic Games out of the way again, it is interesting to know that we have a prominent resident here who competed in track at the Olympics in Amsterdam back in 1928. He is the Rev. Wm. E. Kibblewhite, B.A., L.Th., rector of All Saints' Anglican Church. He came from the Winnipeg High School to the Canadian tests in Hamilton and he won the 5,000 metre event. Also ran the half and the mile. However, he and the others weren't in the hunt at Amsterdam as Paavo Nurmi, the Phantom Finn, broke the world's record. Percy Williams starred at those Games in the sprints. Young Kibblewhite kept up his track work later at Toronto University, and he also played hockey, soccer and basketball. He is still keenly interested in athletics.

Kingston Locos refused to come here today in COBL finals, so the four-in-seven serial commences at three here Saturday. Petes go to Kingston next Monday, they play back here on Wednesday and again go to the Limestone next Thursday. That's the setup now but they'll have to hurry along as the OBA wants a winner ready by Sept. 11, which is a week from this Saturday. Locos flatly refused to open today, saying they'd quit first. Guess they want to rest up their pitchers for the big playoff series.

So, The Series Is Tied

Intermediate Petes didn't get the breaks in Napanee last eve and absorbed a 5-1 defeat. Which evens up their OBA intermediate "A" playdown series. Deciding joust will be in Napanee on Saturday, and the Turner team hopes to click better and yank it out. Plunkett had an edge pitching on McTaggart but for seven walks to one. The Petes had a bit of a margin both in hitting and fielding but couldn't fashion runs with ducks on the pond. Gerow led the winners at bat while Conway topped the Petes with three. Dugan, Sullivan and Conway all went good on the infield. No word yet from the OBA on other games concerning local minor squads.

Over at the spot East Citizens call "our Bowl' 'last e'en, St. Kitts' colleens did a 9-4 job on Westclox. To open their two-in-three PWSU intermediate "A" semi-final series. Clockers have to wind up and get going Saturday in the return fray, or frays, down in the peninsula or they've had it. Too many miscues last p.m., as Norma Kennedy threw good enough, ball. Nona Whetung was their big hitter. In a junior PWSU joust, Ashby's won 15-10 from Woollens but were extended all the way. One big frame fixed it for them as Doris McFadden had a flock of strikeouts. Same squads meet in one or two tomorrow at the Bowl to settle it. Both good games last night.

Injuries Beset Gridders

Rough luck rode the Panthers in a tackling practice at the Ex. last night under the arcs. Bill Thompson suffered a broken ankle, Don Board a broken finger, Don McGillis received torn ligaments and bruised ribs, while Freddy Garvey got a two-stitch cut on the eye lid. Unfortunate injuries for sure. The boys wore heavy pads but aren't right in the pink of condition yet. Drills continue nightly at the Ex. for a time, and games this fall will be played in the Oval. About 35 working out and some real promising talent. Couple of speedy English rugger players, a husky Huntsville lacrosser named Middleton, Bill Trimm from out west—our own Spike Matthews—who quartered OAC last autumn—and others. A group meeting at eight tonight in Legion Hall.

U.S. Army Horse Team Has Been Disbanded

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP).—The United States Army horse-show team, long a feature attraction of the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden, has been disbanded and will not compete in the 1948 National Show Sept. 2-9.

Due to the mechanization of the army, the team was disbanded after the recent Dublin show.

Teams representing Canada, Mexico and France are expected to compete in the military events.

Prize list for the eight-day show totals more than $32,500.

Won't Be Candidate

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—(CP).—Howard Green, veteran Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Vancouver South, will not be a candidate for the leadership of his party. Mr. Green, a contestant at the 1942 Winnipeg convention which chose John Bracken, has been mentioned as one of those who might seek the leadership.

Mimico Trounces Fergus Thistles 21-11

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—(CP). — Mimico Mounties defeated Fergus Thistles 21-11 in an Ontario senior lacrosse game at suburban Mimico Wednesday night.

With five minutes of the last period to go, Ken Harris of Fergus refused to accept a penalty from referee Joe Murphy. After jostling Murphy, he was given a match penalty. When he refused to leave the players' bench, Murphy and referee Ed Walsh awarded Mimico the game.

Jack Mason, also of Fergus, was given a match penalty, but he didn't offer any argument.

St. Catharines Gain First Over Westclox

St. Catharines defeated Westclox 9-4 at the Bowl last night in the first of their best-of-three PWSU intermediate "A" semi-final series. The return game, or games, will be in St. Kitts on Saturday. The visitors played heads-up ball, appearing well-coached and they cashed in on a bad game Westclox got out of their systems. The losers booted seven and gave Norma Kennedy poor support. She pitched well enough to win, though slowing up a bit near the end, but those miscues hurt. D. Lawson left early and was replaced on the mound by V. McGrath, who went well. N. Kennedy had 10 strikeouts to her four.

E. Norris, M. Crane and R. Cosgrove each had two hits to lead St. Kitts at bat, while Nona Whetung topped the locals at the plate with three for five, and M. Hawthorne belted out a homer. A. Anderson and N. Kennedy went good defensively for the homesters, and R. Cosgrove and H. Jenkinson stood out in the field for the St. Catharines' crew in a good game.

The teams:

St. Catharines: R. Cosgrove, 3b; M. Crane, rf; M. O'Flaherty, ss; S. Cook, ss; H. Jenkinson, 1b; E. Norris, lf; T. Riches, cf; H. Cosgrove, 2b; L. Thrasher, c; D. Lawson, p; V. McGrath, p.

Cobourg Girls Defeat Midland

COBOURG, Sept. 2 —(ENS)— Cobourg "Pavilion" girls softball team took the first game last night of the semi-finals of the PWSA playoffs by defeating Midland intermediates by the score of 15-3 in a game as one sided as the score. They will play in Midland on Saturday the second game and if a third is necessary will play it the same day.

Standout performer on the Cobourg team was Eleanor Brown who allowed only three hits. Beatrice Jamieson got four hits for the locals in five trips to the plate. Robbie Hay secured two triples and one single on behalf of the Cobourg team. Helen Cann turned in a fine fielding performance. Midland was weak at bat and also in the field, having nine errors.

Spitfires Victors

Spitfires beat Rockets 6-3 last night to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five tadpole lacrosse finals. Pete Heffernan and Mickey O'Connell each scored two and G. McInnis and Len Hickson one for them. Grant Heffernan was steady in goal. Dugan, Crough, Davis, Jay and C. Rowatt each tallied for Rockets. The teams:

Feller Back In Old Form Downs Philadelphia 8-1

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Bob Feller serving warning that he may be once again the master moundsman of old, Cleveland Indians loomed today as the team to beat for the American League pennant.

True, the tribe is in third place, a game and a half behind the leading Boston Red Sox and half a game back of the runner-up New York Yankees. However, with Feller apparently returned to form and Bob Lemon to back him on the firing line, the outlook for the Indians appears bright.

Feller turned in his second straight sterling preformance Wednesday night, permitting Philadelphia Athletics only six hits and striking out his season high of nine as the Indians won 8-1.

Feller and Lemon should be available for about eight more starts apiece. Two of Lemon's last three efforts resulted in shutouts, his eighth and ninth of the campaign. Feller has allowed only one run in each of his last two starts — against the contending Yankees and Athletics.

Wednesday night's victory was Feller's 14th against as many defeats.

It marked the first time since July 7 that he has been able to climb to .500 in the won-and-lost column. His nine strikeouts gave him 120 for the season, second only to Philadelphia Lou Brissie's 124.

Rout Tigers

The Red Sox maintained their hold on first place by routing Detroit Tigers 10-1 in their final game against the Bengals at Fenway Park. Boston won nine of 11 against Detroit.

Jack Kramer notched his 15th victory against four defeats, doling out eight hits. The Red Sox collected 10 against four Bengal hurlers. Virgil Trucks was the loser.

Yogi Berra's 13th home run, coming with two out in the last of the 12th, gave the Yankees an uphill 5-4 victory over St. Louis Browns. Bob Porterfield, third Yankee hurler, pitched scoreless ball for 2 2-3 innings to receive credit for his fourth victory against one defeat.

Washington Senators staved off a ninth-inning rally to nip Chicago White Sox 5-4 and move past the Browns into sixth place.

Blank Cubs

Brooklyn Dodgers opened up a half-game lead over Boston Braves in the torrid National-league race when they turned the tables on Johnny Schmitz and defeated the Cubs 6-0 in Chicago. At the same time, the Braves, who started the day two percentage points behind Brooklyn, were held to a split in their doubleheader with the Reds in Cincinnati. After Johnny Vander Meer bested Warren Spahn, 3-1 in a hurling duel, the Braves bounced back to slaughter the Reds 11-1.

The Brooks' victory over the Cubs was especially gratifying. Not only did it atone somewhat for the double licking the Cubs gave them the day before, but they finally managed to whip Schmitz. The ace Cub southpaw had defeated the Dodgers five times without a setback this season. Preacher Roe pitched the shutout, his second straight.

St. Louis Cardinals swept past Pittsburgh Pirates into third place, defeating Philadelphia Phils 4-2 in a night game in St. Louis.

Southpaw Monte Kennedy dumped the Pirates into fourth place by pitching New York Giants to a 3-1 triumph in Pittsburgh.

GAMES IN AUCKLAND, N.Z.

The New Zealand Olympic and Empires Games Association has decided the 1950 British Empire Games will be held at Auckland. New Zealand was awarded the games at a meeting of Empire countries held during the Olympich. The first Empire games were held at Hamilton, in 1930.

Newark Sweeps Two Games From Orioles

By The Associated Press

Newark Bears still have a mathematical chance to wrest the International-league flag from Montreal, but their chances are as bright as a 10-watt bulb.

The Royals need only two more victories in their remaining 14 games to clinch the flag. Two Newark defeats or any combination thereof would do the trick, too.

The Bears kept their faint hopes alive Wednesday night by sweeping a pair of games from Baltimore, 3-2 and 8-5, while Toronto Maple Leafs were turning back the Royals, 4-3. Although they picked up a game and a half, the Bears still trail Montreal by 12½ games.

Toronto overcame a 3-0 Montreal lead to nose out the Royals. Stan Lopata drove in the winning run for the Leafs in the eighth. Veteran Oscar Judd of Ingersoll was credited with the victory. Don Newcombe was the loser. He had won his last seven starts.

Rochester and Buffalo divided a doubleheader, the Wings coming back to win the second game 4-2 in 10 innings after Buffalo had copped the opener, 2-1.

Ed Errautt earned his 13th victory and his fourth in as many starts against Jersey City as Syracuse Chiefs defeated the Little Giants, 5-2. Clyde Volmer's 30th homer with one aboard in the first inning highlighted a three-run uprising by the Chiefs.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Byron Nelson won the Professional Golfers' Association tournament at Hershey, Pa., eight years ago today. Starting three up on Sam Snead, he fell one behind at the 32nd hole, but recovered his lead on the 34th when Snead's 20-foot putt bounced out of the cup. He clinched the title by placing his final tee shot just six feet from the pin.

Legion Drops 5-0 Tilt To O'Hallorans

Canadian Legion dropped two league points on Wednesday evening to O'Halloran in King Edward Park before a meagre attendance, by a 5-0 count. Best for the losers were B. Woodcock, B. Grant, and T. Foster, Jr. The winners clicked in every department, thereby making 10 points in the last six games.

Smart combination was evident on both sides in the early stages, with the custodians being spectacular in clearing. Legion eventually altered their style of play to baffle the O'Halloran aggregation with an aggressive attack. A breakaway by Duffus terminated in Curtis, Legion goalie, diverting the ball over the bar for an unsuccessful flag kick. Thereafter Legion carried on a steady attack on O'Hallorans' goal to find Chamberlain unbeatable.

On resuming, clearances by the O'Halloran full backs brought the Legion drives to naught. At this point, O'Hallorans introduced a close-passing style along with accurate combination toswamp the Legion with a series of goals, all within 20 minutes. Featherstone evaded two men cleverly to deliver a rocket drive past the goalie for the first. Then Duffus performed the hat trick with three smart goals through the efforts of the Seabrook and Featherstone left wing combination. To climax the evening's performance Featherstone made the count read 5-0 in favor of O'Hallorans.

Legion — W. Curtis, goal; T. Foster, Jr., and Al Downer, full backs; B. Woodcock, N. Downer, and C. Murduff, half-backs; H. Foster, G. Dunn, A. Ross, T. Foster, Sr., and G. Downer, forwards; sub, B. Grant.

O'Hallorans — J. Chamberlain, goal; A. Downer and W. Denisen, full backs; D. Gray, H. Pyle and T. Scott, half-backs; C. B. Smart, J. Seabrook, E. Duffus, A. Featherstone, and E. Boon, forwards; subs, W. Cribbis, P. Conners, A. O'Halloran.

Referee—Asa Downer. Linesmen—E. Downer and J. Buchan.

ANCIENT FIBRE

Pongee, a plain-weave fabric made entirely of wild silk, originated with the Chinese in ancient times.

PETE DORSET, star passing quarterback of Cornell University, is a man who can toss a pigskin in any medium and at any speed. Just by way of showing what can be done, he is riding a pair of water skis at Ithaca, N.Y., and holds on to the ball with one hand and the tow bar with the other . . . with his eyes closed and one ski out of the water. Dorset, who completed ten passes out of ten against Princeton, is only now entering his junior year at college. Only 23, he was in the army three years, two of them as a fighter pilot overseas.

Two Tillsonburg Golfers Triumph

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—(CP). — Two Tillsonburg golfers, W. G. Pow and Dr. R. E. Weston, teamed up Wednesday to win the two-ball foursome competition, closing match in the three-day Canadian Seniors' Tournament held on the Royal Ottawa and Rivermead courses.

Both in their sixties, they carded a low net of 67 to lead a field of close to 200 oldsters whose ages ranged from 55 to 82.

Their actual scores were 45-45—90, and a combined handicap of 23 gave them the winning net score. Because of age differences the match winners were chosen on the basis of handicap scores.

Even without handicaps the elderly contestants handed in some good scores. Two hard-driving duos tied with total scores of 78 in the two-ball match.

A. B. McEwen, who won the 36-hole medal play on Tuesday, and A. O. McMurtry, both of Montreal's Kanawaki Club, shot 40-38. J. Haddon of Toronto and J. A. Blondeau of Montreal Laval carded 39-39.

Berniece Looney Wins Swim For Second Time

By JACK GRAY

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—(CP).—An attractive blonde with a ready smile and plenty of fighting spirit, 21-year-old Berniece Looney of Warren, Ohio, is still the women's professional five-mile swim champion.

Fighting recurrent cramps during the last half mile of the Canadian National Exhibition's world-title classic Wednesday, Miss Looney added to the lead she held from the start to triumph handily over eight other starters and win a total of $2,000.

It was her second successive victory in the big race. She finished more than a half mile ahead of her aunt, May Looney, 38, also of Warren, in the time of 2:31:41, four minutes slower than her finishing time in 1947.

May Looney, who has been swimming for 19 years and finished in the money in the CNE swim eight times, won $750 for second place.

A 22-year-old Toronto mother, Mrs. Winnie Leuszler, who swam under her maiden name of Winnie Roach, also fought off last-mile cramps to finish third, 14 minutes after May Looney. She is the mother of a year-old baby and her father, Ed Roach, said she is expecting another baby in six months.

Mrs. Leuszler won $500. Other prize winners were: 4, Marion Townsend, 29, of Hamilton, $300; 5, Isobel O'Rourke, 35, Toronto, $200; 6, Edith Crawford, 28, of Gravenhurst. Three others failed to finish.

Besides her $1,500 winner's end, Berniece Looney won $50 for each of the 10 laps she led during the race.

Dahlbender Downs Champ Robert Riegel

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 2. — (AP). — Chubby Eugene Dahlbender of Atlanta, Ga., headed a four-man southern filibuster which threatened today to disrupt the usual order of business in the United States National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Dahlbender had capable mates in veteran Jimmy McGonagill of Shreveport, La., Ham Carothers of Greenwood, Miss., and William Barrett of Memphis.

The south block figured at the best, however, to provide only booby traps for ex-champions Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N.Y., and the British and Canadian title-holder, Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O.

Dahlbender advanced to the first of today's double round by eliminating defending champion Robert (Skee) Riegel of Monterey Park, Calif., 3 and 1, and the National Collegiate titlist, Robert Harris of Los Gatos, Calif., 3 and 2.

Lucky Star Winner

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—(CP). — Lucky Star won the final yacht race in Star class competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition Wednesday, but another boat, The Valiant, carried off the J. A. Scythes Trophy for the three-day meet. The trophy went to The Valiant's skipper, Theodore S. Clark, 50, of Long Island, N.Y., and his 20-year-old crew member, Dick Manuel.

THE FRENCH FOOTBALL SEASON opened recently at the Parc de Princes, Paris, with the Paris Club Stade playing Nice in the professional championship tournament. Here is a bit of lively action during the game, proving that a Frenchman plays football the way he makes love—dramatically and with gestures.

Oshawa Hands A Reverse To Kawarthas

Oshawa trimmed the Kawartha Sports 20-9 in the Motor City last night to open their best-of-three OASA juvenile "A" playdown series. Several big innings when they hammered the ball hard and caaned in on many Kawartha errors did the trick. The K's booted the ball for 11 miscues. Doris was shelled out in the fourth as Oshawa scored five runs, one a homer by Maeson, after two were out. Bigford took over and gave nine hits the rest of the way. Hoy Day and Maeson got three hits each for Oshawa, and Allen, Berwick and Grafstein two apiece for Kawarthas.

Bunny Maeson struck out 15 and walked six, as Doris fanned one and issued one walk. Bigford whiffed three but walked seven. Evans, Maeson, Scink and Coggins each hit homers—the latter's with the bases loaded — as the centre fielder played in too close.

The teams:

Kawarthas — Thompson, 3b; Floyd, cf; Allen, 2b; Berwick, rf; Griffin, c; Doris, p, lf; Grafstein, 1b; Grainger, lf; Evans, ss; Bigford, p.

Oshawa—Hoy, ss; Scink, 3b; Coggins, 3b; Peters, cf; McDermid, c; Day, rf; Maeson, p; Lawrence, lf; Gedge, 1b.

Black Memorial Trophy Won By a Kingston Pair

By HERB MARTIN

In presenting the Phillip Black Memorial Trophy to Mr. and Mrs. R. Edney of Kingston, A. Black, speaking on behalf of the Black family, said:

"On this, the second anniversary of the Black Memorial tournament, I can honestly say that my mother and the rest of my family are really happy to see the way that you bowlers have responded. This is the place where my father found his greatest happiness and pleasure, where he felt he was one of the boys, and this I can truthfully say holds true for my mother and family, and certainly for myself."

Playing under ideal bowling conditions, the Black Memorial Trophy tournament held all day Wednesday will go down in the club's records as one of the finest.

Many Entries

With entries from Kingston, Belleville, Toronto and all clubs in this district, the tournament got away to a good start around 10 o'clock after President W. Jeffries had made a brief opening address and welcomed all.

The games were interesting to watch, and while there was the odd upset, yet the bowling on the whole was good.

During the day chocolate milk was passed around to the players with the compliments of the Black family.

The committee of W. Jeffries, R. Gamble, J. Fitzpatrick, H. Freeman, R. Knox, H. Beatty and A. Black deserve great praise for the manner in which the tournament was conducted.

All the details, such as the draw, the prizes, decorations, etc., were well taken care of.

Give Prizes

The presentation of the many prizes was an interesting event. President W. Jeffries was master of ceremonies, and he did the job well. The visitors were loud with their praise. All said they had had a grand day and would be back again next season.

And this, one of the outstanding tournaments of Eastern Ontario, came to a successful conclusion around midnight.

CHARGING THE CLUB with "completely disabling him as a pitcher," Arthur J. Lopatka (above) has filed suit in federal district court, Chicago, Ill., seeking $250,000 damages from the Philadelphia Phillies baseball club. Lopatka went from St. Louis Cardinals to the Phillies in 1946. The index finger of his pitching hand was injured when struck by a pitched ball. He charges that he was forced to take his turn at hurling, although the club knew about the injured finger. When he was no longer of any use because of his injury, Lopatka charges, he was released unconditionally after the 1947 season.

Ashby's Take Opener Over Woollens

Dominion Woollens extended Ashby's plenty before bowing 15-10 at the Bowl last night in the first of their two-in-three PWSU junior playdown series. The same squads clash again there tomorrow night in one game or two, if necessary. Apart from one big inning, it was strictly a tossup, but that hefty drive put it pretty well on ice. The winners had a little edge on hitting but booted one more than the battling Woollens. While D. McFadden fanned no less than 17, walks, hits and errors kept Woollens within striking distance. S. Harris twirled steady ball for the losers.

M. Freeman and J. Reynolds looked good defensively for the victors, and C. Ferguson and E. Humpnries were best in the field for the losers. E. McFadden led Ashby's at bat with a homer and two singles in six tries. C. Ferguson of Woollens hit a homer and single. It was a good game most of the route.

The teams:

Woollens: C. Ferguson, lf; R. McIlroy, rf; B. Hall, 2b; E. Humphries, cf; J. McIlwain, ss; S Harris, p; B. Jaquith, c; M. Laing, 1b; H. Goodfellow, 3b.

Ashby's: E. McFadden, 2b; J. Reynolds, c; E. Simmonds, 3b; M Freeman, cf; D. Manley, ss; G. Dracup, lf; D. Callan, rf; J. Dunk 1b; D. McFadden, p.

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Gene Dahlbender, a chubby Georgian with a powerful tee wallop, eliminated defending champion Robert (Skee) Riegel of Monterey Park, Calif., Wednesday at Memphis, Tenn., and opened the door for a new titlist in the 48th United States amateur golf tournament.

That left Frank Stranahan, Canadian and British titleholder, and Marvin (Bud) Ward and Willie Turnesa, former U.S. champions, to hold the thinning line of links royalty as the event moved toward the stretch.

The management committee of the National Hockey League spent long hours behind closed doors Wednesday putting a fine toothcomb to the league's bylaws.

The result of their work was not announced when the committeemen finished Wednesday evening. Any suggested revision in phraseology and re-drafting will go before the governor's meeting Thursday, second day of the two-day semi-annual gathering.

The governors will also consider the proposal of general manager Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs that the league extend its schedule from 60 to 70 games. How this will fit in with pre-arranged dates for carnivals and other shows at ice arenas around the six-club circuit was problematical.

Last Saturday's Gold Cup race at Detroit demonstrated that engines have outstripped hulls in their ability to take punishment. This was the statement of Leonard A. Thomson, president of the American Powerboat Association commenting on the race which saw more than a dozen costly boats wrecked or otherwise damaged.

Gerard Cote of Ste. Rosalie, Que., a three-time former champion, has entered the United States AAU marathon to be run in New York Sept. 12, officials announced Wednesday. Cote won the championship in 1940, 1942 and 1946. He finished fourth in last year's marathon, won by Ted Vogel of Tufts College.

Peter Salmon of Victoria has been awarded the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy as Canada's outstanding swimmer, it was learned in Vancouver Wednesday night. R. Huntley Kirkpatrick, secretary of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Assoication, said he received word of the award from the CASA in Montreal.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler remained mum Wednesday on a published report that baseball in general, and particularly Detroit Tigers, are "heading toward another housecleaning." Reached at Versailles, Ky., Chandler said he had "no comment" on a Detroit News report that he was aiming a new blow at the Detroit baseball club's fram system. The News said Chandler will crack down this fall on violations of the rule against so-called gentlemen's agreements and evasions of the bonus rule.

Hayes Hanover, a four-year-old pacer, and Miss Tilly, two-years-old trotting filly, headlined the Grand Circuit racing card at the Duquoin, Ill., state fair Wednesday. Hayes Hanover won the big five stake for 14 class trotters and Miss Tilly took the Castleton Farms' two-year-old stake worth $25,446.10.

Signing of Wilf Field of Winnipeg as playing coach of the Houston (Texas) United States Hockey League team was announced Wednesday at Buffalo, N.Y., by the parent Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League. Field broke into pro hockey with Providence of the now-defunct Canadian-American league.

CHARLIE BOSWELL, former all-America halfback of Alabama, who lost his sight in the Battle of the Bulge, is shown (right) with his life-time friend, Grant Thomas measuring up a putt in the International tournament for the blind at Detroit, Mich. Leading the field is defending champion, Clinton Russell of Duluth, Minn., who had a first round of 98. On his heels came Boswell with 99. Russell turned in a remarkable performance for a blind man by using only 18 putts on the return nine.

Robt. Cummings Considers Film in Europe

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2 (AP).—Robert Cummings, who is probably Hollywood's busiest actor, is lining up a film in Europe for early next year.

Cummings, who has his own film company, a construction firm and a number of other enterprises is mulling a deal to do "Two Hearts in ¾ Time" in Sweden. Also on the fire are "Pass Word to Love," which could be shot in France, and one of those nebulous Italian film deals. There is a chance that his European film will be a co-starrer with Garbo.

Bob tells the inside of the recent Garbo signing, which proved a surprise to Hollywood. His film partner, Eugene Frenke, is a friend of the silent Swede and spoke to her about a picture deal at a dinner table.

"Is Walter Wanger in your company?" she asked. "I like him; he produced one of my favorite pictures." (It was "Queen Christina.")

Town Topics

Dennis Morgan and Jack Carson, the Carman, Man., comic, are seeking another title for their "Two Guys and a Gal." They want to be "from" somewhere, and suggested "Two Guys From Hollywood," but were told our town's name is not good in a film title.

Chico and Harpo Marx turned out for the local opening of Groucho's play, "April Fool," written with Norman Krasna. Groucho is entitled to another chance at playwriting.

Capsule Review.

"Sorry, Wrong Number" (Paramount) is a shocker that grips the emotions from the first foot of film. Expanded from the famous radio play that starred Agnes Moorehead, it tells the horror tale without a chill overlooked. Barbara Stanwyck is superb as the invalid who overhears the plotting of her own murder. Burt Lancaster has one of his best roles to date.

Rival Commanders Get Withdrawal Plans

HAIFA, Israel, Sept. 2 (AP). — The opposing commanders in Jerusalem now have received instructions for withdrawing from the disputed Red Cross zone of the Holy City, it was learned here Wednesday. A meeting has been fixed for to-day,, at which Arab and Jewish commanders, with United Nations representatives, will work out plans as to the time and method for withdrawal from the area, which now is to become a neutral territory.

Startling Hitch-Hiker

DARWIN, Australia—(CP)— A flight-lieutenant of the Royal Australian Air Force, driving a jeep a few miles from here, felt something tap him on the shoulder after hitting a bump. He stopped and looking around he found a large wallaby sitting on the back seat preening itself. It jumped out and made off for the bush.

Hearty Appetite

EXETER, England — (CP). — A convict here isn't satisfied with swallowing pins and needles. Taken to the Exeter Hospital for examination recently, X-rays revealed he had swallowed tin tacks, nuts and bolts.

Rescue Dog From Tunnel

LONDON — (CP). — A corgi — a small Welsh dog — jumped from a platform and disappeared into a tunnel here recently. Underground trains ran slowly while rescue crews attempted to locate the animal. It was rescued unhurt.

Association Says Canada Doesn't Need Bill of Rights

MONTREAL, Sept. 2—(CP)—Canada does not need a bill of rights.

This opinion was expressed in a report of the Civil Liberties section of the Canadian Bar Association's 30th annual convention. The section, headed by R. M. Wills Chitty of Toronto, proposed Wednesday instead a formal declaration of those freedoms and rights already inherent in the Canadian constitution.

At a luncheon meeting of the association, Premier John Costello of Eire pictured Canada and his country laying the foundations of a new citadel of freedom "in this troubled world."

The outstanding Irish lawyer was later honored at a special convocation at University of Montreal where he received an honorary doctor of law degree. John T. Hackett, president of the CBA; Maurice Ribert, batonnier of the bar in Paris and Chief Justice Tyndale of Quebec also received honorary doctorates.

At closed sectional morning meetings, a strong recommendation was made by Edsom L. Haines, K.C., of Toronto for rewriting of the Canadian Insurance Acts. He proposed that the bar association should follow the procedure carried out by the American Law Institute in drafting codes recently pertaining to certain practices of American law.

Late today, McGill University, at special convocation, will confer honorary doctorates on Chief Justice A. T. Vanderbilt of New Jersey and Mr. Hackett.

Combined Offensive Launched In Malaya

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, Sept. 2—(Reuters)—RAF planes and British ground forces launched a new combined offensive in the Kuala Lumpur area today, the date earlier announced by Malaya Communists as "zero day" for full mobilization of their forces.

Correspondents were not invited to accompany army forces on the sweep, despite official promises.

Beaufighters fired rocket salvos into a suspected insurgent camp near Kuala Lumpur, the federal capital, an RAF communique reported.

Tuesday police and troops fought their way safely out of an ambush when moving on a rebel camp iini tihe Baling district of Kedah, 180 miles north of Kuala Lumpur. Another force which surprised the camp from the opposite side caused several casualties and captured arms in a fight with about 70 guerrillas.

Family of 5 Spends $103 Year on Shoes

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 — (CP). — The average Canadian family with three children would spend $103 a year on shoes, a prices commission witness estimated Wednesday.

Under questioning by Mrs. T. W. Sutherland, one of the commissioners, O. C. Kealey, an Ottawa shoe retailer, said the father would buy one pair of shoes a year, probably paying $13.50. His wife likely would buy three pairs, averaging $10 each. School child would require four pairs at an average cost of $5 a pair. A pre-school-aged child's needs would run to three pairs at an average price of $3.50. A year-old baby, the fifth member of the family, would need three pairs and they would cost $3 a pair. In addition, the family would have to spend $20 on rubbers and overshoes. That brought the total to $103.

"It seems a little high to me," Mrs. Sutherland remarked.

Mr. Kealey said he still thought the price of shoes was fair in relation to the cost of other things.

Mrs. Sutherland asked if he thought the price reasonable in relation to the average family income.

Mr. Kealey said he did not claim that.

Arctic Flight Just 'Job' To Ten RCAF Airmen

OTTAWA, Sept. 2—(CP)—Scientists who came back from the Arctic Wednesday with a barrowful of work for the winter were elated about their achievements, but to the 10 airmen of the RCAF Canso which flew them about, it was just another job.

"Operation Polco, 1948" under 24-year-old Paul H. Serson of the Mines and Resources Department, confirmed last year's determination of the Pole location at 73 degrees north latitude, 100 west, and gathered material which will pin the Pole down to a still smaller area in office studies this winter.

There were 14, all told, on the party.

To the airmen, it was just a trip which produced a bit less "grief" than last year. With better weather, they had comparatively little trouble in the RCAF's second sustained flying operation in the Arctic.

The navigator, FO. J. E. Goldsmith of Halifax, was an Air Force Cross winner last year and made the trip again this year. His problem was a sea of uncharted water and land areas and a compass which twists crazily over the magnetic pole area.

Watch for 20 Years

The Dominion Observatory will have to keep watching the Pole's movements for years, charting the movements which have shifted it 200 miles north in the last century. Eventually, they hope to be able to predict its future movements.

The arrival of J. L. Janness of the Geographical Bureau staff meant a lot of work for various people. He brought back 24 different species of plants an animal skull, yet to be identified, various fossil rocks and data on landforms and ice. This will keep various scientists working for months.

To the fliers, it was just a question of getting back to civilization, where the sun goes down at night. The party worked in the Arctic Circle from mid-July, and never saw nightfall.

Britain Planning To Purchase More Tobacco

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 — (CP) — Things should be a little better—but not much—for the harassed smoker in Britain next year as far as Canadian tobacco is concerned.

The United Kingdom government has allocated $7,000,000 for purchase of Canadian tobacco this fall. In about six weeks, when the price is set, this is expected to buy between 13,500,000 and 14,000,000 pounds, if the price stays around last year's level of 52 cents a pound.

Last year the United Kingdom had hoped to buy about 30,000,000 pounds but her financial difficulties limited her purchase to $6,000,000 worth, or about 12,000,000 pounds. The Canadian supply accounts for only a small percentage of U.K. needs.

The 1947 purchase was a drastic cutf rom the 1946 purchase of 22,00,000 pounds, but did not result in any change in the British supply until recently, since a crop purchased in the fall is not shipped until the following year. Thus smokers last year were still using the 1946 crop, shipped in 1947.

Big Buyer

Dr. N. A. MacRae head of the tobacco division at the experimental farm here, recalled that when Britain could still make her purchases on a quantity, rather than a dollar allocation basis, she took about one pound in five of the tobacco Canada produced. He estimated the total U.K. world purchase then would run to about 340,000,000 pounds.

Britain takes almost all the Tobacco Canada exports. Last year, of about 14,500,000 pounds exported, some 2,500,000 went to the British West Indies and the remainder to Britain.

It is expected the U.K. this year as last will confine her purchases mainly to flue-cured tobacco and take little burley.

Church Council Blames Officialdom

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands Sept. 2. (AP)—The World Council of Churches approved Wednesday a section of a sub-committee report finding churches of the council are dominated by officialdom. These officials, the section said, fail to give due attention to the needs of their congregations.

Some sections of the report were returned to the sub-committee for further study.

Entitled "the universal Church in God's Design" the report was drawn up after discussion by leading theologians from different ecclesiastical traditions.

One section cited recent movements for unity among different churches in various parts of the world as one of the praiseworthy developments of modern times. Another good sign in modern church history was the renewal of life in many of the churches which endured persecution in the war.

The section approved said "within our divided churches it is to our shame that we have often lived in preoccupation with our internal affairs, looking inward upon our own concerns instead of forgetting ourselves in outgoing love and service.

"Our churches are too much dominated by ecclesiastic officialdom, clerical or lay, instead of giving vigorous expression to the full rights of living congregations and the sharing of clergy and people in common life in the body of Christ."

Induced Headaches Big Aid In Treating Natural Pain

By FRANK CAREY

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 2 — (AP).—Tailor-made headaches—induced in patients to stimulate natural attacks—are helping doctors make headway against one of medicine's commonest, but toughest, problems.

Doctors produce such "provocative" headaches by methods ranging from the use of certain chemicals to a generous swig of ice water. Sometimes a headache can be induced by having a patient lift a heavy suitcase.

The idea is this:

Patients often visit a doctor when they are free of the head pain that may have plagued them at regular intervals for years. Some can give a good enough history and analysis of the pain so the doctor can make a direct attack. Others can't.

To attempt treatment, the doctor has to know the location and character of the natural pain. So researchers at Mayo Clinic here and at other places produce headaches of one or more varieties until they match the discomfort the patient feels during a natural attack.

Then they try various drugs to combat this tailor-made attack, and sometimes succeed. The substance that cuts short the induced attack is recommended against the natural attack, and here again there have been successes.

Various Types

Among the various types of headaches are:

1. Histaminic cephalgia, one of the severest forms. It is caused by localized release in the body of histamine, a substance which causes certain blood vessels to expand abnormally.

One promising attack against this amounts, in effect, to fighting fire with fire. The treatment tries to "desensitize" the body to the effects of histamine by gradually building up resistance to it.

2. Certain headaches also are ascribed to allergies—such as sensitivity to certain kinds of food.

3. Migraine, the periodic "sick" headache associated with nausea, vomiting, spots before the eyes, and a family history of similar headaches.

4. "Tension headache," the headache of worry-warts, the people who never learned to relax. It's also the headache that sometimes affects people who aren't constitutionally fitted to cope with life's ordinary stresses, or that sometimes hits super-personalities who try to take on too big a job.

When they get tense, the blood vessels constrict. Later the blood vessels over-relax, and headache results. Sometimes a vacation will do as much good as any drug treatment.

5. Hypertension headache, the one due to high blood pressure.

6. Trifacial neuralgia, a lightning-like pain radiating from the facial regions. It can be caused in susceptible people by various stimuli.

"Effort Headache"

7. "Effort Headache," caused in some people by ordinary physical stresses such as lifting a heavy suitcase or even coughing and sneezing.

8. Arteriasclerotic headache, sometimes associated with hardening of certain arteries in the region of the brain. It's more like a pressure than a pain, although sometimes it may exist as a stabbing headache.

9. Postraumatic headache. One patient was an Army Air Corps captain who had been shot down over Berlin. He came down by parachute but a civilian struck him on the head with a shovel. He suffered headaches for a year and a half. Under histamine injections at St. Mary's Hospital, he was freed of pain.

Numerous odd-type headaches add to the complexity of diagnosis.

Various substances other than histamine have proved useful in giving more or less permanent relief in some cases of some forms of headache. Some forms are helped only by surgical treatment.

Since many headaches are ascribed to abnormal expansion of certain blood vessels, most of the drugs employed to combat the pain are those that cause constriction or narrowing of these vessels.

'Fortune, My Foe' Gets Premiere Before Enthusiastic Audience

By FORREST JOHNSTON

KINGSTON, Sept. 2.—The play "Fortune, My Foe" was given its premiere performance at the La Salle Hotel Tuesday night. It was a triumph for all concerned — author Robertson Davies of Peterborough, producer Arthur Sutherland, artist and scene-designer Grant Macdonald, and likewise for the members of Mr. Sutherland's International Players who, on the strength of nine weeks of consistently fine stage work here, have become something of an institution in Kingston's theatre history.

"Fortune, My Foe" is a Canadian play that needs no apologies for the land of its origin. It was brilliantly conceived, admirably written, elaborately staged and ingeniously performed. Spirited applause greeted the cast at the close of the premiere. The acclaim was even more fervent when the scene designer took his curtain call, and it burst into a thunderous ovation at the appearance of the author.

There seemed little doubt that with "Fortune, My Foe" as the bill, the final week's performances by Kingston's first professional stock company will be given before sold-out houses. Many were turned away last night, but it was announced from the stage that tickets are still available for the rest of the week.

It was much more than merely the enthusiastic reception of Mr. Davies' first three-act play. Mr. MacDonald's set alone would have justified much of the applause even had the play been nothing more than run-of-the-mill. There was a fascinating sort of beauty in the dark grey walls of the "clubhouse" where the action takes place, and a touch of grandeur was added by the great open door overlooking the domes and spires of the Limestone City.

A good deal of symbolism and impressionism went into the creation of such a frame for the author's picture of Chilly Jim, the proprietor of the questionable club. Chilly was almost ever present, wielding a pikepole from the door of his house, or wheeling a bicycle laden with supplies, both in a manner familiar to most present-day Kingstonians of 10 years citizenship. And in an equally characteristic fashion, he never tired of voicing, for all and sundry, his pungent gems of philosophy, garnered, as he said from "a misspent life."

Deeper In Meaning

The actual play was a good deal wider in its application than might be suggested by the abundance of purely local color. Likewise it was deeper in meaning than might be suspected of a story laid in a Kingston bootlegging establishment. "Fortune, My Foe" was no single-problem-with-obstacle sort of work, but rather a closely integrated concurrence of problems involving representatives of a cross-section of the Canadian population.

There was the old university professor, embittered by what the country had failed to do for him. There was the young university lecturer, back home after five years of fighting for his country, and now tempted to leave it for more remunerative work in the United States. And there was a displaced person from Europe who, having sought refuge in Canada, was determined to revive in the new country, his own ancient art of puppetry.

Crossing the path of these three, and carrying with them problems of their own, were an alcoholic, past regeneration and two modern educators and recreation specialists, determined to find ways and means of teaching children with a minimum of effort on the part of the learner; a wealthy would-be Communist, bent on furthering the cause; a haughty young lady seeking to satisfy her pride by continually testing the love of her suitor; and a newspaperman embarked on an act of humanitarianism.

"Fortune, My Foe" is essentially a play of character. As directed by the author, last night, it moved along with admirable speed despite much expounding of philosophies of one sort or another. Actually it presented an ever-changing succession of beautiful and significant stage pictures; bright and significant humor, biting and significant satire, thought-provoking and significant philosophy of an essentially Canadian character.

Even without any symbolism at all, it would still have been an engrossing play. The penetrating but always good-natured critical wit which abounds in the author's "Diary of Samuel Marchbanks" shone through "Fortune, My Foe" and kept it always sparkling even in its most dramatic moments.

Splendid Casting

Casting was well-nigh perfect and every actor seemed inspired.

William Needles of the radio show "John and Judy" was brilliant as Szabo, the displaced person. With a suggestive rather than a dogmatic characterizzation, Mr. Needles brought a remarkable amount of depth and sympathy to his portrayal of the old world artist undismayed by the materialistic new-world approach to his art.

Glenn Burns as the embittered old professor showed hitherto unsuspected emotional intensity and power. Drew Thompson's performance was rather more uneven than usual, but except for the occasion or two when he lapsed momentarily into a farce-comedy style, his work surpassed even his own high standards.

Only heavy female role was played by Marian Jones, who excelled by far her best previous performance here in a superbly thought-out portrayal of the aloof young lady.

All the others in smaller parts maintained the standard set for them by the four principals. Frank Wade's interpretation of the old alcoholic was enriched by skilful pantomime which kept his characterization on an even keel even in face of frequently unintelligible diction. Arthur Sutherland's clear enunciation throughout and his natural unaffected and entirely convincing excitement at the opening of the puppet show, showed him at his best for the first time this season. Jean Cruchet did her finest acting to date in a character part, and Josephine Barrington gave her usual thorough interpretation of the would-be Communist.

Donald Shepherd as a recreational expert and Laurence Thornton as Chilly Jim acquitted themselves with an equal amount of credit. Their innate ability so often demonstrated on Convocation Hall stage put them quite on a par with their more experienced colleagues. Both were completely convincing.

A puppet show, with marionettes, made and operated by Patricia Agnew, added a touch of novelty to the play and provided a clever display of puppetry.

Brenda Newbold (Mrs. Robertson Davies) as stage director, was responsible for the numerous minor details which gave the whole production a finish worthy of a much grander stage.

Costello Urges Eire, Canada Work For Peace

MONTREAL, Sept 2—(CP)—Canada and Eire might fruitfully share the task of laying the foundation of a new citadel of freedom which may yet shelter all free democracies in this threatened world, Premier John Costello of Eire told a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Bar Association today.

He surveyed the historical developments that have brought Eire to her present independent position in international affairs and said:

"To secure the peace that all desire it would be essential to bring about a greater degree of co-operation between all nations sharing the same pattern of life and cherishing the same ideals. Economic rivalries have been a constant source of friction and war between nations.

"Efforts should be made to avoid a return to the economic rivalries which have existed in the past and to build an economic structure where mutual assistance and co-operation can smooth difficulties and avoid conflict.

Each Have Role

"Canada and Ireland could each play a role of special importance to secure the acceptance and success of a broad concept of this nature. If a sure citadel for these ideals and freedoms is to be built in our time must not its fabric comprise not only the nations of the Commonwealth but the United States of America as well?

"Because of their geographical positions our two nations are in a position and in associations to act as a link between Europe and the western hemisphere. Canada, with its links with France and the British nations on the one hand and the United States on the other, is in a position to bridge many of the difficulties which may exist toward the achievement of closer economic integration.

Henry Wallace, the party's presidential nominee, has experienced similar incidents while making appearances in southern states. There were no incidents when he spoke in Alabama Wednesday, however.

NZ Government Changes Policy More Cautiously

By J. C. GRAHAM

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Sept. 2 —(CP).—A bill to transfer ownership of all coal deposits in New Zealand to the state, which has been introduced into Parliament, is likely to be the only major step toward Socialism by New Zealand's Labor Government in the present session.

Even this measure represents a much less drastic change than it would be in many countries. For years the Government has been gradually buying up privately-owned coal mines and now owns and operates a considerable proportion of them, especially in South Island. Also, the bill does not transfer the plant and assets of mining companies to the state, but merely the coal deposits.

Mining companies could still operate by paying royalties to the state on coal extracted, and it is expected that many of the smaller concerns will be allowed to continue under private ownership. However, most of the larger mines have already offered to accept ownership by the state, which has been seeking to come to terms satisfactory to shareholders for some time, and it is likely that the majority will soon be state-owned.

The basis of compensation for coal deposits as provided in the bill is generally considered to be fair and the measure has aroused little comment as it represents only the fulfilment of a long-standing undertaking by the Government to the Labor party.

The lack of measures toward Socialism is nevertheless causing growing comment. New Zealand's Labor Government has been in power continuously for nearly 13 years. It found the country much more nationalized than most when it achieved power. Railways and telegraph services, for instance, were already nationalized, and the state operated life, fire and accident insurance offices.

Thirteen Years' Record

At the end of nearly 13 years the New Zealand Labor Government has not gone so far in some directions as the British Labor Government in three. The gas industry is still privately-owned.

Some observers consider this lack of activity toward Socialism reflects a feeling that Socialism has lost much of its appeal among a considerable proportion of the electorate.

The leader of the opposition, Mr. S. G. Holland, has quoted a long list of enterprises which have lost money, at the expense of the taxpayer, under state control. Housewives complain that many commodities which have come under the control of the Internal Marketing Department have become scarcer and dearer. There are constant complaints of red tape in state-controlled undertakings.

With a majority in the House of Representatives reduced at successive elections to a precarious four, the Government cannot afford to take risks in alienating the electors.

There is to be a general election next year and it seems likely that until then the Government is likely to concentrate on rounding out its past achievements, such as its remarkable social security structure, and on safeguarding the Dominion's undoubted present prosperity, rather than to embark on new experiments in Socialism.

YOUR GARDEN . . .

Celtuce, A Two-in-One Vegetable

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Before Pearl Harbor, a missionary, deep in the interior of China, sent a noted American seedsman a few seeds of a new vegetable which he highly recommended, saying:

"The young leaves are eaten as lettuce and the stalks are peeled of their tough outer skin, and the heart eaten either raw or cooked, like celery."

Since then, this new vegetable, now called "Celtuce", has been gaining in popularity with home gardeners in this country. It's weel worth space in the Freedom garden.

When the plants are young, the leaves may be used as lettuce, or "greens," but its chief delicacy is its central stem or stalk.

When celtuce has matured, remove the lower leaves and the other fibrous coating of the central stem. Split the stem lengthwise, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Then chill it and serve raw with dressing or cook as celery or asparagus. Cooked celtuce stalks have a pleasing, mild flavor.

In addition to being a two-in-one vegetable, celtuce is important as a "health food" for the young leaves, illustrated, have four times the vitamin C content of head-lettuce leaves.

Another comparatively new vegetable is Red Tampala, for which there is an increasing vogue among home gardeners. It is a leafy vegetable grown and used as spinach or other greens.

In addition to being different and sweeter in taste than any of the other greens, it also is a health vegetable for it is much higher in vitamin than spinach.

Bus Out Of Control 3 People Injured

WINDSOR, Sept. 2 — (CP).—Three persons were injured and others required treatment for shock, cuts, and bruises suffered Tuesday when a bus went out of control on No. 98 Highway near Ruscom, 27 miles east of here.

Late Tuesday John S. Clemens of Toronto was taken to hospital with an injured shoulder. Mrs. Lucy Mulligan of London was admitted to hospital suffering from a broken leg and severe shock. Her condition is described as favorable.

Mrs. Fannie Slopen of Windsor was treated at Chatham hospital for a fractured shoulder, shock and broken ribs.

Failure of the steering mechism is believed to have resulted in the vehicle landing on its side in a ditch. Driver Clarence Bruner of Sandwich East said he applied the brakes when the steering apparatus failed to respond on a curve, but was unable to hold the small but on the road.

Peacemaker Punched

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Attempting to make peace in a restaurant disturbance, a local man landed in hospital where 10 stitches were required to close a cut over his eye. When a customer hit the proprietor who had complained of the disturbance, a man who had been quietly eating his meal stepped in and was rewarded with a blow that floored him.

Juliana To Live Out In Country

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 2—(AP) — Princess Juliana agrees with her mother, Queen Wilhelmina, that country life is the best.

The Princess, who will succeed Wilhelmina as Queen Saturday, has announced she intends to live in the village of Soestdijk, near Hilversum, because that seems the best place to rear her four daughters. The duties of state, of course, will bring her often to Amsterdam and The Hague.

Wilhelmina will abdicate Saturday because of ill health, and Juliana, 39, will become Queen immediately, although the formal investiture will not take place until Monday. Juliana will receive an annual salary of 1,200,000 guilders (about $460,000) and will take over the landed properties of the Crown.

The considerable fortune of the House of Orange remains in Wilhelmina's hands and she will receive a pension under a constitutional amendment already agreed upon by parliament. It is expected to be ratified shortly.

Opening Postponed

REGINA—(CP)—A shortage of skilled labor has set back opening date of the Regina general hospital's five-storey addition. Originally slated to open this fall, the wing now may not be occupied till after Christmas.

LEAPING FROM THE cab of their careening freight, Fireman Leonard Fairey, left, and Engineer Harold Hendricks escaped "lightly." Box cars were thrown 50 feet.

WITH A CRASH LIKE a giant thunderclap, two freight trains collided near Georgetown station Wednesday, telescoping crumpled box cars into a zig-zag mass of burning wreckage. A cattle car was in the wreck, and several injured animals crawled into side streets and driveways, where they were shot. Three crew members escaped with minor injuries.

Discuss Details Of Waterworks

NORWOOD, Sept. 2—(ENS).—Municipal council of the village of Norwood met Monday night with the Reeve, W. E. Pakenham, in the chair.

G. G. Reid, consulting engineer, addressed the council and a period of discussion of various problems in connection with the installation of the waterworks system was held.

Mr. Reid gave advice on the many angles of the project, including the issue of debentures, test drilling, the erection of a supply tank and the final distributing system of mains and hydrants. He was thanked by the Reeve and council for his co-operation and advice.

Rev. R. Dick was present, and in putting his case before council, caused amusement when he opened with: "Your problem seems to be getting the water in. My problem tonight is how to get it out." He explained that every spring, surface water seeps into the basement of the Baptist Church. Mr. Dick was assured by council that some action would be taken, and the matter was left with the committee on streets and sewers to investigate with power to act.

Walter Hagerman was also present with a problem: dogs had worried 12 geese and four ducks.

Near midnight the meeting was adjourned, after a lengthy discussion about the early commencement of test drilling.

The following accounts were ordered paid: R. A. Dean, salary, $78; W. B. Parcels, salary, $100; Wm. Forestall, team and mower, $8.75; Wm. Lewis, 35 hours on streets, 11½ hours on lawns, $27.90; J. R. Committed For Trial

CORNWALL, Sept. 2 (CP). — Milton Nuttal, 37-year-old Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) picket, was committed for trial today on a charge of unlawfully seizing, confining or imprisoning George Aird, a member of the rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, last June 12. The charge arises from the boarding of the Canada Steamship Lines freighter Acadian.

Believe CSU In Tough Corner Following Merger Of Lake Union

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA,, Sept. 2. (CP)—The manoeuvre that landed the year-old Canadian Lake Seamen's Union in the fold of a powerful AFL affiliate was seen by labor observers here today as having jockeyed the rival Canadian Seamen's Union into a tough corner.

Two results were predicted:

1. An almost certain showdown in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada on the question of Communist domination of the CSU.

2. A battle over "duel unionism" that could wind up with the CSU getting the boot from the Congress and thereby losing much of its power.

And as a by-product of the violent jurisdictional scrap for supremacy in Canada's ship labor, the merger of the CLSU with the Seafarers' International Union was seen as boosting the rising star of Frank Hall, tough rail union chief who has been climbing swiftly to the top of the heap in Canadian unionism.

Engineers Deal

It was the canny Hall, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, who stepped into the CSU-CLSU. impasse and engineered the deal that brought the young CLSU into the Seafarers' Union. The merger was announced Wednesday at Montreal.

In the battle for domination on the lakes, Pat Sullivan's CLSU has been been tainted with the label of "company union". Its absorption by the SIU, a strong AFL affiliate, is the first step toward removing that.

And the move immediately puts the CSU behind the eight-ball in the Trades and Labor Congress, for the TLC is allied with the AFL.

If the Congress continues to back the CSU as against what now is the Canadian branch of the Seafarers' Union, it gets itself into the position of rejecting an AFL affiliate.

Just what will be the upshot there is hard to tell at this stage.

Dual Union

Hall, in announcing the merger, said the CSU now is in the position of a "dual union"—that is, an opposition organization to a bona fide union.

However, at its last convention and at the urging of the CSU, the Congress took the position that the SIU was a dual union. That was because of its activities in organizing seamen on British Columbia coastal ships.

The question is certain to be opened again at the TLC October convention in Victoria.

A spur in the flanks of the Congress for a house-cleaning drive has been the strongly anti-Communist Hall.

Last month, Hall master-minded the rail union negotiations that brought a 17-cents-an-hour wage increase for 170,000 railway employees.

Shortly afterward, he walked the rail unions out of a TLC-CSU meeting here called to deal with the lake dispute. He claimed the meeting was packed with Communists.

The new move took the Congress completely by surprise, so far as could be learned here.

Percy Bengough, TLC president, said the Congress had not yet had a chance to consider the new problem.

Whether or not the Congress accepts the Seafarers' Union's new Canadian branch, he said, will be a matter for its membership.

Theatrical matinees were unheard of until 1880.

Sullivan Happy Retires On Farm

LAKE BASKATONG, Que., Sept. 2 — (CP). — J. A. (Pat) Sullivan said Wednesday he was happy over the merger of his Canadian Lake Seamen's Union with the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.).

Founder and first president of the C.L.S.U., the stormy Sullivan said he is retiring to his farm here, deep in the Gatineau Hills 70 miles north of Ottawa, after seeing his year-old organization strongly launched as a union.

Sullivan founded the C.L.S.U. last summer as a rival to the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.), which he also had created. He quit the presidency of the C.S.U. because he said its leadership had become riddled with Communists.

"I just went back to get the boys on the lakes organized (into the C.L.S.U.)," he said today. "Now that job has been done, so I've pulled out."

Sullivan said his retirement from the C.L.S.U was entirely volunetary on his part and was largely on the grounds of health.

Sullivan said he intended to remain on his farm here for perhaps two years. After that, he might get into some union activity, but he was not sure.

6,000 Children To Return To School In City Tuesday

Coming Tuesday some 6,000 boys and girls of Peterborough will return to school with roughly 3,750 in the public schools, 1,150 in the PCVS and remainder in the separate schools of the city. Of this number more than 575 will be starting school for the first time.

In the public schools of the city it is expected that the kindergarten classes will be the largest in the city's history. Last year 459 started and next Tuesday Superintendent of Schools K. S. Wightman expects 500 to register.

For the first time in several years the Board of Education will have sufficient space available to accommodate all the class. The new six-room addition to the Queen Mary School will be ready and this school, now 18 rooms, will have every room occupied at the beginning of the term. The addition of six rooms to Confederation School is also ready, making this a 12-room school and here 10 of the rooms will be occupied. This school for the first time since it came into the Peterborough system will be an eight-grade school looking after all the boys and girls of public school age in that vicinity. Previously it had only accommodated pupils to the sixth grade and the last two grades attended King Edward School on Aylmer St. Mr. John Nicholls will become the first principal of this larger school.

16 New Teachers

As has happened annually for the past few years there will be many changes in the public school teaching staffs. In June 10 teachers resigned or were superannuated and 16 new teachers have been appointed to the staff. Eight new rooms are being opened, bringing the total to 106. Ten years ago when Mr. Wightman was named inspector there were 74 classrooms occupied in the various schools. Also in that period four public schools, May's, Confederation and The Grove have been taken into Peterborough, and the two-room Park Hill School was built.

At the PCVS the attendance is expected to start out about the same as last year. The entrance class graduating from Grade VIII in the public schools was not as large, but every year there has been increasing numbers of pupils attending from the country. To aid in organizing the school on Tuesday morning, Principal C. S. Browne has announced that Grade IX pupils will assemble in the assembly hall at nine o'clock and the last four grades will not come until 10.30. This is done as the assembly hall is not large enough to hold the entire student body. The only change in staff will be the return of Miss Marie Hicks after one year's leave of absence.

Building Two New Schools

The city's six separate schools will be crowded and this will remain until the two new schools, one in the north end of the city, and the other in the south, now planned, are constructed. At St. Peter's High School an additional temporary room has been constructed similar to the two built two years ago at the PCVS.

With an ever increasing birth-rate during the past few years, Board of Education members feel that within three years all schools will be crowded again and hence plans have to be gotten under way for more new schools or additions. Last year 62 per cent. of the pupils were in the kindergarten and Grades 1-4 with 28.5 per cent. in the kindergarten and Grade 1. As these children move forward and beginners annually increase it will not take long to fill the present accommodation.

Official Openings

Plans are already under way for the official opening of the additions at Confederation and Queen Mary Schools with the former being held on September 15 and the latter on September 21. At these opening ceremonies the public will be given an opportunity to inspect two of the most modern school additions in the province.

A new boiler has been put in the King Edward School and one will be put in May's School early in September. Redecorating was done during the holidays at Queen Alexandra and the PCVS and this work will continue during the year by the board's maintenance staff.

Seek To Convert Into Dwelling Carriage House

The carriage house of the old J. J. Lundy estate in Ashburnham was mentioned this week at the board of works meeting the first time it attained that distinction in is long life.

It is one of the few residential vestiges of two and three generations ago when the gentry owned spanking teams, phaetons, cutters, and also the buildings to house all that swank equipment. Nowadays every man and his brother, or nearly so, clutter the highways with their motor cars and trucks.

The Lundy residence, once with few neighbors in that south end of Ashburnham, looked over a wide and smooth lawn that sloped slightly down to Maria St. and beyond the thoroughfare to Little lake. It must have been a pleasance of beauty with trees and shrubbery and flower beds, benches here and there, urns and one or two statues of nymphian figures. And after all that grace and care and charm, the property fell vacant, and during the depression it became an overnight resort for idle and vagrant men.

Since then the spacious house has been redeemed. With it went the stables or the carriage house of two storeys.

Seek To Lease Land

Board of works this week received a letter from Mrs. Gordon J. Bigelow asking for a lease of a part of the south side of James St. on which this outbuilding encroaches. It is 4½ feet over the street line for a length of 26 feet. Presumably the old brick coachman's house was to be converted into a dwelling. Some of the aldermen said it had stood there so long it should be torn down.

Assistant City Clerk Harry Hamly was directed to write Mrs. Bigelow that the council "cannot see its way clear" to grant the desired lease. Meanwhile the original trespass that probably took place 70 or 80 years ago, when engineering supervision was less strict than it is now, will continue.

UEW Sabotaged CCF Candidate

Charges that the UEW-CIO "sabotaged" efforts of the Political Action Committee of the Ontario Federation of Labor to elect CCF candidates in the recent Ontario election were made this week in a committee report. During the discussion which took place at the regular meeting of the Toronto Labor Council, Peterborough was referred to as a case in point.

According to the report when Jack Morton, an ex-president of Local 524, ran as CCF candidate "rather than support this candidate the UE took advantage of every opportunity to do what it could do to prevent him from being elected."

Ross Russell, organizing director of the UE denied this and counter-charged that the committee's finding was "a slanderous and defamatory attack by the Ontario Federation of Labor on an affiliated Union."

As the result of a vote the controversial section of the Political Action Committee report was referred back until the UE had an opportunity of studying the charges and replying to them.

John Wigdor, UE delegate, defended the record of the union and claimed that the co-operation of UE locals in the west end of Toronto "played a leading part in electing Lloyd Fell," the CCF candidate in Parkdale who defeated Premier George Drew.

Neither UE officials nor Mr. Morton would comment on the charges of the committee at this time.

Obituary

MICHAEL CAIN, SR.

Michael Cain, 97, of Kinmount, died today at his residence. Besides his widow, the former Elizabeth Harrington, he leaves one son Michael Jr. Requiem mass will be said on Saturday at 9.30 a.m. at St. Patrick's Church, Kinmount, and burial will be at St. Patrick's Cemetery.

Meet Mr. Fisher

It is safe to assume that very few Peterborough people have ever heard of a fur-bearing animal called the Fisher and fewer still have ever seen one. Harold Beebe, three miles east of Bailieboro, has four adults which he purchased from an Indian trapper at Blind River; they were taken as kits in the Mississauga Forest Reserve sixty miles north of the settlement a year ago.

They are rare even in their native northern forests and belong to the North American branch of the weasel family and are officially labelled Mustela Pennanti. Trappers often call them Pennant's marten or, simply, black cat. An adult animal attains a length of 42 inches, about half of this length a slender fur-covered tail. They weigh almost 30 pounds and the fur, in summer, shades from a dark rich brown base to a golden surface layer and in winter is totally dark brown.

Fisher farming is an unknown quantity at the present time as there are very few in captivity. Unlike other wild fur-bearers that are captivated and commercialized, such as fox, mink, muskrat, rabbits, fisher may or may not adapt themselves to this treatment. Governmental fur farms in Canada and the United States have done a great deal to improve fur ranching and have made exhaustive studies in feeds and feeding, mating with different strains, diseases and parasitic infestation to assist individual ranchers to produce superior pelts.

400 Farmers Attend Elmor Lillico Sale

Nearly 400 farmers attended the Elmor Lillico sale on the Smith side of the river, north of Nassau, Wednesday afternoon.

Howard Miles, auctioneer, said prices were firm and bidding was lively. The cattle, mostly Shorthorns, brought the following accepted bids as examples: Calves, $55 each; year-old, $107; 18-months, $143; 2½-year, $215; cows, $217.50; bull, $277.50.

Implements also attracted strong bidding. The Women's Association of Fairview Church on the Centre line of the township served lunch. Mr. and Mrs. Lillico said they were very grateful for the many kindnesses shown to them by their neighbors and other friends.

They have occupied the farm ten years, and are now retiring to Lakefield. They have sold the property to Harold Heard, but may remain on the premises until the end of this month.

Sewerage Survey Report Awaited

A comprehensive report on Peterborough's sewage disposal problem is expected within the next two weeks by Ald. H. Dodds, chairman of the board of works.

It is being prepared by Dr. Berry of the Ontario Department of Health and Messrs. Storrie and McLaren of Gore and Storrie, Toronto, who prepared the plans for the completion of the sewage disposal plant.

"I believe they have made a thorough survey of our sewage disposal plant and our sewerage system," Ald. Dodds said today. "Their report will include, I expect, a definite reference to the proposed sewer on Armour Road, south of Downer's Corners and southwest to the sewage disposal plant. Other details will deal with the Ashburnham disposal plant, our sewer capacity and there may be something about the location of the main sewage disposal plant.

The council is looking forward to this report and its recommendations."

Earlier in the year Gore and Storrie advised the council that construction costs suggested delay at least into the fall in the completion of the disposal plant on the Otonabee side of the river opposite the foot of Park St.

Erect Building On Brock St.

In the belief that the the Dominion government will eventually build a federal building on their present site, Beatty Tire Service, 207 Charlotte St. has purchased a lot at Bethune and Brock Sts.

A one-storey building, 100 ft. by 50 ft. is to be erected there.

Part of the new premises will be rented for storage, and by next summer it is expected that a second building will be completed on the 308 ft. by 210 ft. lot. This will be used solely for storage.

Work began several weeks ago on the new building. The foundations have been dug and workmen began to pour cement today. If present plans materialize it should be ready to occupy by the middle of November.

At the moment there is no definite information on Dominion government plans, but it is believed that a federal building will be erected eventually on Charlotte St.

Delivery of the machine is not expected for nearly a year.

RED LILLIES

PUT OUT GRASS FIRE

For the past two days firemen have had only one alarm and that was a minor one. At 4:20 p.m. on Wednesday a call came into the fire station reporting a grass fire on a vacant lot at the rear of 565 Chamberlain St. No damage resulted.

EASTER LILY BLOOMS

These are confusing times; even plant life seems a bit mixed up. Mrs. Charles Barringer, Bolivar St. phoned The Examiner today to report an Easter Lily blooming. She originaly bought the bulb for Easter but planted it about two months ago. It now has two full blooms and two buds ready to bloom.

Building Passes $1.6 Million Mark This Year

Apart from group housing activities on the north, east and southwest fringes of the city, 15 dwellings of private enterprise were begun last month as indicated by the August building permits issued from the office of City Engineer Chalmers.

The total of the month's building permits was $240,886 as compared with $123,562 in August last year. But, the total permits for the seven months since Jan. 1 is just about half the corresponding total of 1947.

To the end of August last year the total of building permits was $3,095,226, and this year for seven months $1,623,368.

The 111 permits last month were: 15 garages, $4,393; 14 dwellings, $84,700; 81 miscellaneous permits, $151,793; total, $240,886.

And in August last year: 9 garages, $1,805; 8 dwellings, $41,800; 74 miscellaneous, $79,957; total, 91 permits, $123,562.

Need Good Rain To Save Tomatoes

Delivery of tomatoes is not in the volume expected by Canada Packers.

"Rain in the next day or two could be a big help," Joseph McGuire of the canning department told the Examiner today. "What we are interested in now is the prospect of the development and ripening of the green fruit.

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, expressed the opinion early this week that the crop would be only 60%, but we are hoping for better than that, 70 or 75%, if we get the needed break in the weather."

Mr. McGuire said the department was not operating full time daily this week. That is a result of the scorching heat last week.

"We haven't seen anything of the tomato blight that is reported in the eastern and western sections of the province. Right now the ground is hard and it has no moisture to bring along the green tomatoes. That is today's condition, but a good rain should do a lot of improvement."

Ralph Banbury, agricultural representative in Northumberland, said from Brighton today that damage to the tomato crop from sun scalds last week did not appear to him to be as severe as earlier reports suggested. He was speaking of the crop in his county.

Careless Driving Charge Is Laid

LINDSAY, Sept. 2—(ENS)—Melvin G. Reesor, of Markham, will face a careless driving charge as result of an accident on Highway 7, west of here Wednesday afternoon. Reesor was the driver of car which was in collision with a vehicle driven by Wm. Makins, RR No. 1, Stratford, near Oakwood. According to Constable William Milton, the Makins car applied the brakes where workmen were repairing the guard-rails. The Reesor car following behind crashed into the right rear fender of the other car and careened into the south ditch.

$350 Damage Caused To Bus And Truck

A collision between a heavy bus and a truck caused an estimated $300 damage to the front of the bus and about $50 damage to the truck's side. The collision happened at Hunter and Water streets about 4:30 Wednesday afternoon. Driver of the bus, which was empty of passengers at the time, was Bernard Langen, 477 McKellar St. The truck was driven by Kenneth Payne, Warsaw.

Extensive damage to the bus was at the front, where the grill and radiator were badly smashed. The glass and panel of the front window were pushed and broken. Damage to the truck was to the right door and box side.

Constable William Scott investigated.

Controversy In Lakefield Rages Over Polio Survey

Lakefield's polio cases and the recent survey by medical experts in connection with it has produced a heated controversy in the village, with contradictory figures of diseases, possible causes and other factors.

Articles published in Toronto papers have headlined the fact that there have been 14 cases in the village's population of 1,400. They state that, besides the one death in the number, that "others are maimed." At another point it mentions that "two children are crippled."

Information here is that there have been only seven definite cases of poliomyeltis. Dr. Hugh Gastle, Lakefield medical officer of health, explained that these were the only ones which could be proved to be polio. There may have been others, but from medical examination, they had not been thus diagnozed. It is believed that the newspaper figure may have taken into account "suspect" cases which did not materialize and other minor contacts with the disease.

E. H. Northey termed the stories "ridiculous." He said: "I defy anyone to show me 14 cases here.... Strictly speaking, there has really only been one case right in the village." He said that he felt that most of the merchants of the village felt that way about the matter.

No Formal Appeal

Reeve William C. Grant corrected another point of the Toronto stories. He said that no formal appeal had been made to provincial or federal governments asking for financial aid in building a waterworks system, the lack of which is strongly suspected as the cause of the disease.

"Informal discussions have been held and we do plan on making the appeal formally in a short time, but so far no actual approach for aid has been made."

In 1946, a survey was made by an engineer to determine details and costs of a sewage system and waterworks plant. It was estimated to cost about $304,000. This would have nearly doubled the tax rate if the capital cost had been taken from the general rate. However, it was planned that the projected system would not be that great burden on the ratepayers, as part of the cost would have been borne by higher rates to water consumers for the initial period.

Called For Tenders

In 1947, the village ratepayers voted in favor of spending the $304,000 and tenders were called for the system. When the tenders were received by the council, however, the lowest one was $478,000. With additons made by the engineer, the total cost would have been about $520,000—felt to be too high for a village whose total assessment is only about three-quarters of a million dollars. The half-million-plus plan would have cost about $25,000-$30,000 a year on 20 year debentures. For this reason, the project was deferred at a special meeting of the ratepayers called by the council to considr the new costs.

Reeve Grant also denied a statement attributed to him in the Toronto paper: "The people here are afraid to drink the water now, even after they've boiled it." He said "I said no such thing."

Commenting on the reports of victims being maimed or crippled, the Lakefield MOH said that nobody was crippled or maimed.

"One girl has some paresis—a form of muscular weakness—but not paralysis," he said.

The situation in the village is now "under control," said the MOH. Danger from pollo is not completely clear until about December.

Some businessmen of the village have criticized the press for "all the unfavorable publicity" which they charge is driving business from the vacation area of Lakefield.

Frank Coyle, a garage operator, had this to say: "There are some who seem pretty down-in-the-mouth about it, and it's true that it may lose us a few dollars right now. But if it cleans up the situation and brings in waterworks, I think the whole community will benefit finally . . . we definitely need a water system here."

E. Craig, mine manager, an engineer who has lived in Lakefield for more than two years, was in agreement with findings. "Some kind of sewerage system is certainly needed. The rock-bed underneath is only a short way below the surface, which does not permit proper water filtration.

The recent survey, made by Dr. Patricia Armstrong of the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, was for the main purpose of gathering data on cases. Further research is being carried out in other points of the province, such as Orillia, where the proportion of cases is only slightly lower than in Lakefield.

It will be at least until spring, 1949, before definite reports of the findings can be obtained by the research workers. Samples taken are being kept and will be injected in monkeys as part of the lab search for the pollo germ.

Hot, Dry Period Affected Milk Supply

"We are getting by, and I wouldn't say there was a real scarcity," Mayor W. G. Ovens said today in reference to the milk supply in the Peterborough district.

For the first time this season pastures look parched after a comparatively dry August accentuated by last week's in the top 90's of the thermometer.

A sharp drop in the flow of milk is reported across Ontario coupled with the general observation that "rain is badly needed."

Some of the county reports to the Ontario Department of Agriculture at the beginning of this week indicate the broad extent of the effects of lack of moisture combined with severe heat.

Peterborough: "Pastures have dried up with recent hot weather and lack of rain. Dairies are having considerable filling quotas."

Milk production in the Sarnia area is down 5 per cent as a result of damage to pastures from the heat wave. Hastings county: "Milk production has dropped severely due to bunt-up pastures. Rain is needed for all crops."

South Simcoe: "Pastures have dried up considerably, and heavier grain feeding, especially of milking herds, has become a necessity."

Perth county: "Pastures and root crops are badly in need of rain." Middlesex: "There has been a drop in milk production due to last week's excessive heat. Pastures have been drying up quickly."

Too Much Theory Said Bogging Church Council

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 2—(CP)—The World Council of Churches was told by a member of its youth section today that it is getting too much bogged down in theory instead of practically promoting the Ecumenical (World-Wide) Christian Movement.

Kathryn Kline of Kutztown, Pa., one of the Youth leaders, aired her views at a press conference in her summary of what had been discussed in her group.

She said the council was 'bound down' by administrative and clerical attitudes and had developed a preponderance of organization rather than a realistic viewpoint.

The real job of the council's youth, Miss Kline said, "in the idea of what the Ecumenical movement is all about," should be education of young people.

Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, chairman of the council's publicity committee and Protestant lay leader, acknowledged that some of Miss Kline's criticism was justified.

Taft told the press conference that the council at its first assembly here had to bring in so much organizational energy and material that it had no time left to approach the realistic viewpoint mentioned by Miss Kline.

Sentence Pair For Breaking Into Co-Op Bank

TIMMINS, Sept. 2 (CP)—Penitentiary sentences of two and a half years and five years were meted out to Florent Major, 24, Osseo, Ont., and Girard Gareau, 28, Verner, Ont., alias Leo Boisvert, by Magistrate S. Atkinson in police court Tuesday.

Both Gareau and Major pleaded guilty to the three charges against them of unlawfully breaking and entering Caisse Populaire, a French co-operative bank, on the night of August 25, of unlawfully having burglary tools in their possession and of breaking and entering and committing a theft in the Brewer's Warehouse in Haileybury on August 22.

The charge against the pair of unlawfully and wilfully causing an explosion likely to cause property damage was withdrawn at the request of the Crown Attorney S. A. Caldbick on the contention that this charge was included in the first charge.

Before pronouncing sentence on Gareau, Magistrate Atkinson said: "You seem to have had an awful criminal record. But the sentences you have served so far don't seem to have done you any good. This is a serious offence and I feel I've got to deal with it substantially. I sentence you to five years in penitentiary on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently. That means five years and not fifteen."

"Five is long enough, Your Honor," replied Gareau.

During the trial police officers gave evidence they had a call at 12:25 a.m., Aug. 25, from Florent Belanger, manager of Caisse Populaire, and that upon answering the call they encountered the two men, Gareau and Florent, walking out of the alleyway alongside the bank. Gareau dropped a pair of gloves, some dynamite, fuses and caps.

Studios Hiring Lawyer For Mitchum

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2. (AP)—With a heavy stake in three unreleased pictures starring Robert Mitchum, two studios have rallied to the defence of the 31-year-old cinema hero, accused of violating narcotics laws.

R-K-O and Selznick studios announced Wednesday night Jerry Giesler, noted western criminal lawyer who has figured in several cases involving screen stars, would represent the handsome Mitchum.

The actor, and a real estate agent, Robin Ford, 31, were arrested with 20-year-old Actress Lila Leeds and Dancer Vickie Evans, 25, in what police said was a marijuana-smoking party in the girls' room.

The studios and Giesler asked that Mitchum be given the benefit of doubt until all evidence is in.

Mitchum, rising star whose salary has been $3,000 weekly, and the others accused were released on bail of $1,000 each. A hearing on writs of habeas corpus was set for Sept. 8.

"Only The Beginning"

Detective Sgt. Alva Barr, who headed the investigation, said the raid was "only the beginning of a Hollywood clean-up and we have many other important and prominent Hollywood screen people under surveillance, not only actors and actresses, but others high up in the industry.

R-K-O and Selznick have scheduled for release the Mitchum pictures, "Rachel and the Stranger" and "Blood on the Moon" while Republic has "The Red Pony" made on Mitchum's loan from Selznick studio.

Mitchum's loan price to other studios had been set by Selznick at $175,000 a picture.

Police quoted Mitchum as saying his arrest "ends hope of a reconciliation with my wife, Dorothy," who has been in the east for several weeks with their two young sons but was en route west by automobile.

"I'm afraid," Mitchum was quoted, "this ends the reconciliation, for my wife is a very resolute woman."

Postpone Vote On GM Imports

OSHAWA, Sept. 22 — (CP). — Officials of Local 222, United Auto Workers (C.I.O.), said Wednesday they have postponed balloting on whether or not employees of General Motors here will handle automobile parts, imported from the United States to replace parts normally produced at strike-bound McKinnon Industries at St. Catharines.

Union officials said the decision was made in order that strike settlement negotiations now underway in St. Catharines might not be hindered. They added if a satisfactory agreement is not soon reached the balloting will resume.

The G.M. management has informed union officials that a refusal to handle U.S parts would result in a stoppage of work here and that such a stoppage would be regarded as a strike in violation of the existing collective bargaining agreement.

Report Smiths Falls Now Back To Normal

SMITHS FALLS, Sept. 2 — Conditions were "back to normal" in Smiths Falls today with hydro service complete to all parts of the town and only a few individual homes on partial service until wires leading into houses are repaired.

Bell Telephone trucks hustled from street to street cleaning up individual lines and officials reported comparatively few homes still without telephone service. Meanwhile, all streets were cleared and a crew of tree experts from Ottawa had removed the scores of large trees which had been leaning on or propped against homes.

Workmen were busy placing a temporary roof on the CNR freight shed office, all that remained of the large shed, and repairs were being made to the many homes suffering slight damage from the storm.

He added: "You give me the opening to say that I think the shoe industry is doing extraordinarily well."

Hitch-Hike Romance May End In Canada

LONDON, Sept. 2 — (CP) — Canada may be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacEwen —if the course of true love runs smooth.

Wedding bells have yet to ring for MacEwen and his Swiss sweetheart, Katharina Schurmann, for whose sake he gave up his job and hitch-hiked across Europe. When they do "perhaps we shall go to Canada together."

MacEwen, 31, set out for Geneva with only £5 ($20) in his pocket when he heard that Katharina, 20, might have changed her mind about him and decided to marry a fellow-countryman. He and the Swiss girl had fallen in love when Katharine spent a year in London to learn English.

"I reached Geneva in two days, walking and hitch-hiking from Calais," he said. "Rina was delighted to see me. She was under the impression it was impossible to for her to leave the country.

"That was not so. But we decided not to get married until I get a really good job, as a sudden shock might harm her mother."

MacEwen, a radio engineer, said he hoped to become a technical adviser to an engineering firm in Canada.

Toronto Exhibition Turns Attention To Arts Today

TORONTO, Sept. 2—(CP)—Canadian National Exhibition audiences today turned their attention to the arts, music and women's doings on the day selected by officials to observe these activities.

But the agricultural aspect of the big fair accelerated, with the first judging of cattle, sheep and swine coming up. Other aspects of rural life receive a notice. Among other things, there was an old-time fiddlers' competition. Swimming enthusiasts looked forward to the 10-mile world championship for men on Friday, when $10,500 in prizes will be distributed. In the women's professional five-mile event Wednesday, Berniece Looney, 21, of Warren, Ohio, defeated eight other starters to win her second successive world championship and $2,000.

Thousands took advantage of the fine, clear weather to join other crowds in the buildings or watch the sailing and diving exhibitions along the water front.

Sir Ernest MacMillan, dean of music at the University of Toronto and conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, was scheduled to address the daily directors' luncheon.

The directors heard Wednesday of the problems of the retail food distributor from William Horsey of Toronto, president of a chain of food stores. He said that leadership, efficiency and the fostering of public goodwill were needed in business today.

He noted that emphasis in large businesses was shifting from increasing production to taking heed of public demand.

Attendance still climbed. Wednesday 196,500 persons attended, compared with 172,000 for the corresponding period last year. This brought total attendance to date to 925,500, against 839,500 for the comparable five days last year.

British Pensioners Will Receive Autos

LONDON, Sept. 2 — (CP) — Britain's seriously disabled war pensioners will in future be provided with automobiles instead of the motor-propelled tricycles at present available to them, it was announced in the Commons by Pensions Minister Marquand.

Small automobiles, not exceeding a total of 1,500, will be made available to them in free supply in the next two eyars.

The cars will remain Pensions Ministry property, but the pensioner will be responsible for driving licenses, garaging, maintenance and running costs. He will receive an annual grant towards the cost of these items. The ministry will be responsible for road tax payment and insurance.

Classes able to obtain cars will be double leg amputees, with at least on amputation above the knee, paraplegics and pensioners suffering from other disabilities resulting in the total, or almost total, loss of use of both legs.

When these needs have been met, the cars will be distributed to other seriously injured pensioners at present supplied with tricycles to allow them to obtain or retain employment, and to bind pensioners who need a car for the same purpose.

The cars will be of standard British make, but no contract for their manufacture has yet been given.

FAB WASHES CHEAPER . . . IN HARDEST WATER

Laboratory tests prove that cup for cup, in hard water, FAB washes up to twice as much family wash as soap. This economy is another *FAB*ulous miracle. Yes . . . Labor Government Criticized But Royalty In High Favor

Eleanora is back from England where she had a lovely time, but she tells me the Labor Government is terrible, everywhere restrictions, and the people idolize the Royal Family. She is not alone in her views—says a writer in the Christian Science Monitor.

There are restrictions in England; at first one feels that if one crosses the street one is liable to be imprisoned or at least severely cautioned. "Don't" follow one as they did in one's nursery days. But in the end one sees a little better the rhythm of it.

Cutting Corners

Great Britain is a country overpopulated and with resources badly depleted. We all know that. But we don't all realize what this means. That she has continually to cut corners, to save, literally, bacon rinds; and that she is doing it, and without too much protest, is a wonderful thing.

About the Labor Government one cannot say much. Many thoughtful persons seem agreed that there is too much extravagance, that "they are trying to bring about the millenium too quickly and with too narrow resources." But no one, however much they grumbled, accused the Government of graft or dishonesty. Ineptitude sometimes, yes, but not self-seeking. That is all. The shortages are not due to the Government; they are due to a war which has almost fulfilled its creator's boast—that if he fell he would bring down all Europe with him. He has just missed that, we think and hope; just as he missed, by a hair's breadth, world mastery.

And this brings us to the Royal Family. No one can really explain the Royal Family to outsiders. It started possibly with Queen Victoria, who at the age of 17 decided she was going to "be good."

Apparently, this was an unusual statement for a monarch. Previous kings and queens had certainly loved their country; Queen Elizabeth, for instance, but no one had ever heard her say that she wanted to be good. Even "good Queen Anne" left that epithet to be bestowed by historians. Yes, Queen Victoria started it. She was "good," but for many years she was not at all beloved. During her period of mourning—prolonged unduly, the people thought—she became most unpopular. She is accused of being narrow, prejudiced, and obstinate. She probably was; but she won through and established in the end her greatness, and in many ways her goodness.

Her son came to the throne as an elderly man. His peccadilloes were behind him, and when he went after a short reign, an era died, even more finally than when his mother passed.

George and Mary

There was left "the Marlborough House set." King George and Queen Mary were not at all popular when they began their rule in Buckingham Palace. They were not "in society." The gay set of Edward VII had despised them as a pair of fogies; they were called the "goodie-goodies." Nobody wanted them much; the smart set folded its wings and sulked a bit.

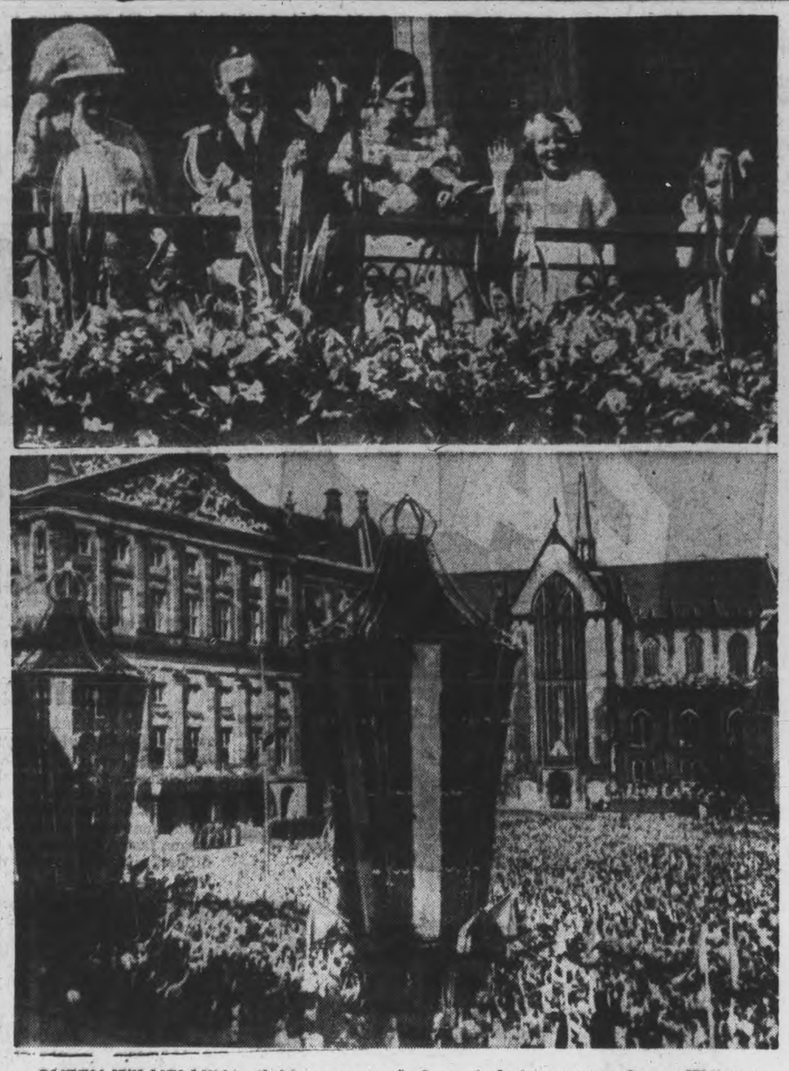
Then came the First World War. There were not many butterflies left. The unglamorous King and Queen began to be seen more and more. They did a lot of very tiresome things; they visited naval yards; they visited munition factories; they worked early and late. They were always on time; they were always ready to smile, even when they were tired of smiling, smiling; tired of saying just the right word; of being kind and sympathetic. They were kind, they were sympathetic, their two eldest boys were in the war. People began to like them. In the end, when a tired nation rested, victorious, they loved them better, perhaps, than any kings and queens of the past.

And this is possibly why, when the eldest son, spoiled perhaps by the flattery which is the lot of heirs-apparent, came with his ease and charm, but seemingly without those more solid qualities the people had become used to, he was rejected, and again a second son came to the throne, and George VI and Queen Elizabeth reigned as the people's choice.

Living Symbol

It is the genius of the British people that they must have a symbol, a living one, an example of what they may not themselves always be, but what they want to be. It is a very homely symbol nowadays. It is not a gay, debonair conqueror like Henry IV; it is merely the symbol of a happy, kind, and loving family.

And because, like Queen Victoria, they do want to "be good," the present Royal Family have disciplined themselves, even as King George V and Queen Mary disciplined themselves, to show to their people what the people want.



QUEEN WILHELMINA (left) waves in this photo as she appears on palace balcony in Amsterdam recently with members of the Royal Family to receive plaudits of a cheering crowd jammed into Dam Square for celebration of her 68th birthday and golden jubilee on the throne. She will abdicate on Sept. 4. World Church Council Condemns Both Communism, Capitalism

By RICHARD TOMPKINS

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 2—(AP)—An advisory section of the World Council of Churches today condemned both communism and capitalism. It said neither was an ideology capable of ensuring justice and freedom in the world.

The charges against both forms of society were made in a report drawn up by the section on "The Church and disorder of society."

The section is composed of 125 leading churchmen among the 450 delegates representing about 150 churches in more than 40 countries. The group was headed by Dr. Constantijn Leopogd Patijn of the Dutch Reformed Church.

The report castigated communism as "a force that engenders new forms of injustice and oppression." Capitalism had failed to meet human needs and had concentrated on materialism and produced "serious inequalities."

"The Christian church rejects the ideologies of both communism and capitalism and should seek to draw men away from the false assumption that these are the only alternatives," the report said. "Each has made promises which it could not redeem.

Economic Justice

"Communist ideology puts emphasis upon economic justice and promises freedom will come automatically after completion of the revolution. Capitalism puts emphasis upon freedom and promises justice will follow as a by-product of free enterprise. That, too, is an ideology which has been proved false.

The church itself must accept its "share of responsibility" for "contemporary disorder," the report said, conceding that Christians often had failed to understand the forces which shape society and as a result were unprepared to "deal creatively" with social problems.

The report said Christians should recognize that many churches are involved in forms of economic injustice and racial discrimination, creating the conditions which have encouraged the growth of communism.

"The church should make clear that there are conflicts between christianity and capitalism. Developments of capitalism vary from country to country and often the exploitation of workers that was a characteristic of early capitalism has been corrected in considerable measure by the influence of trade unions, social legislation and responsible management.

"But, (1) capitalism tends to subordinate what should be the primary task of any economy—the meeting of human needs—to the economic advantage to those who have most power over its institutions. (2) It tends to produce serious inequalities. (3) It has developed a practical form of materialism in western nations in spite of their christian background, for it has placed greatest emphasis upon success in making money. (4) It has also kept the people of capitalist countries subject to the kind of fate which has taken the form of such social catastrophes as mass unemployment."

Servings for Three Meals Out Four Pounds Hamburg

By MARY MOORE

It seems that with the price going higher every day that that son of mine wonders out loud, oftener and oftener, when we are going to have some steak. He makes me feel that steak and roast beef are suddenly the two most highly desirable meat dishes, and it bothers me.

His steak and roast beef are going to be hamburg, and he's going to like it. I'm glad the remainder of my family is easy-going.

Out of four pounds of hamburg I used two of them to make a meat loaf; one to make mock filets mignons, and the rest of it went into meat balls for a succulent dish of spaghetti. This provided for four meals for One Dollar and Sixty-four Cents, — making an average of Forty-one Cents for meat for three and four people per dinner.

Countless numbers of you are wangling as well or better, but the meat loaf sliced so nicely when cold that I would like to give you the method, along with the other things I've mentioned.

Emem's Meat Loaf
(good for slicing cold)

Two lbs. hamburg 4 tablespoon bacon drippings, 2 peeled onions and 1 green pepper put through mincer together, 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon horseradish, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ cup catsup, 1 teaspoon sugar. Beat eggs, and mix all ingredients very well, except ¼ cup of the catsup and the 1 teaspoon sugar. Mix these last two together, and after shaping the loaf into large oval like a small football, brush it all over with the catsup mixed with the sugar, and shake paprika over this. Sear in hot oven of 500 deg. Fahr. for 5 minutes, then reduce heat to 325 for about 1 hour. Serve with

Cucumber Sauce:

Pare 1 medium cucumber and chop very finely. Chill. then drain off excess juice. Beat ½ cup heavy cream until stiff and add ⅛ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, and carefully stir in 1½ to 2 tablespoons vinegar. This sauce is good with any hot beef. Another whipped cream sauce may be made as above, but substitute ¼ to 1-3 cup well-drained horseradish for the chopped cucumber.

The mock filets mignons are flat hamburg cakes bound with thin strips of side bacon and fastened with tooth-picks (cut each strip bacon in halves lengthwise to make 1 strip do 2 meat cakes). Broil on both sides until pink in centre, spread with butter and serve with broiled tomatoes.

Spaghetti With Meat Balls And Neapolitan Sauce

Neapolitan Sauce In frying pan heat ¼ cup salad oil; add 1 finely chopped onion and 2 finely chopped cloves garlic. Saute until light golden. Add 1 6-oz. tin Italian tomato paste, 3 cups fresh or canned tomatoes, 3 cups hot water, 3½ teaspoons salt, shake of pepper, ¼ teaspoon each sage and cloves, powdered. Simmer over very low heat 1½ hours, stirring frequently. Meanwhile boil nearly 1 lb. spaghetti in plenty of boiling salted water, until tender. Drain. Make 10 meat balls of 1 lb. hamburg, 1 egg, 1 cups soft crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup grated cheese. Saute these in a little fat until browned all over, then place on the simmering sauce ½ hour before serving time, to cook through.

Arrange a layer of the spaghetti on a hot platter; over this pour a generous portion of sauce, and sprinkle with grated cheese. Repeat these layers. Place meat balls on top. These amounts serve 10 people 1 meat ball each, and plenty of spaghetti and sauce.

Honor Bride-Elect

A very lovely evening was spent on Friday last when Miss Mary Towsend was hostess at her home in Norwood to the staff of the Silverwood's Dairy. The gathering was in honor of Miss Dorohty Harvie whose marriage takes place early in September.

Following a corn roast, the bride-elect was showered with many useful and beautiful gifts.

While refreshments were being served Mr. J. E. Weir, the manager, suitably expressed the staff's regret of the loss of Miss Harvie from their midst.

The happy evening ended when Miss Harvie cut and served a dainty wedding cake, prettily decorated and crowned with a miniature bride and groom.

DEBUTANTE LINE-UP—Pretty dancing frock for the deb line-up on view for the stag line, is this rustling rayon taffeta number to be had in scarlet, blue, green or black. Since it is size nine to fifteen in manufactured scale, that black model will be in great demand by the young, who early learn that black is the chic, grownup color. The gown has deep pockets under pannier drapes which she outlines with self ruching, and the strapless bodice gets the same trim treatment.

U.S. Styles Influencing Paris Shows

BY DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 — (CP).— The United States can take a bow for the change of silhouette at the current Paris fashion openings. So says fashions experts Adelaide Hawley, returning from a flying trip to Paris and London showings.

"The American influence is strongly evident in both London and Paris collections," Mrs. Hawley reports. "For the first time in fashion history, I believe New York this time has led the way in establishing the prevailing silhouette, with Paris designers following.

The Paris-born New look, which roused the ire of American women last year, has given way for the most part to slim lines and conservative cut, says Miss Hawley. She adds:

"The Empire silhouette is strong in most Paris collections—that is, the high-waisted line which has been seen in American collections for at least two season. Claire McCardell was among the first to do it here.

"The French achieve the effect sometimes by a deep back yoke with fullness below, springing from about the point at the natural waistline and continuing upward to the bust. Balmain uses the latter device in a number of dresses, also achieving the same effect by means of a wide belt mounting high in front, narrowed at the back."

The hobble skirt, which was an early sensation of the New York fall openings, also is seen repeatedly in the Paris collections, says Miss Hawley. She adds:

"Many skirts are tightly banded at the knee, with a flare below, or are banded at the bottom, so the models have to walk with small, mincing steps.

HOBBLE SKIRTS SHOWN

Jacques Fath shows a hobble skirt with a wide band at the bottom, and also employs the knee-band on some skirts.

"Balmain shows a skin-tight suit skirt with a loose back panel doubled under at the hemline, harem fashion. He also uses a high-waisted, back-buttoned bolero with a sash between the shoulders blades in back, to achieve the Empire silhouette. This is worn over a strapless dress.

"The fringe wool shawl worn instead of a suit jacket, which has been seen in many of the American collections, also appears in the new Paris styles for fall."

Big berets and small, close-fitting cloche hats, already popular in the United States, are among leading fall models shown in Paris millinery, says Miss Hawley. The American fad for higher shoes also is seen in Paris. Fath showed silver boots with hobble skirts.

The only Paris designer clinging to the "New look," she observes, is Christian Dior, its author, who continues to show wide-skirted, doll-waisted styles.

Miss Hawley says she was particularly impressed by the London showings, where slim-skirted suits of well-bred tweeds were shown for country wear, more formal dressmaker suits of smooth woollens for town. These are being designed principally for export, with the North-American market in mind.

SUITABLE EVERY DAY—This simple deep blue suit is the kind of woolen outfit which looks very well groomed and feminine, as is, and which serves beautifully beneath a heavy coat as a two-piece woolen dress when the weather turns really cold. The wool has a neon depth, making it one to stand out amongst even the brightest colors, and it lends itself to accessories of many contrasting hues. The coat closes high, in three-button groups, which are repeated down the front of the lap-over, slim skirt. Buttons are covered with self fabric.

WHITBY, Sept. 2—The Ontario Ladies College is the scene this week of the 15th annual session of the Bay of Quinte School for Leaders of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church. More than one hundred delegates are registered to date, and will attend groups during the week to study the latest text books of China, to hear the problems of China discussed, and to work out methods of presenting this information to auxiliaries of the Woman's Missionary Society in this area

Following dinner on Monday evening, Mrs. W. L. Smyth, Dean of the School, welcomed the delegates and introduced members of the staff who will give leadership in the various departments. Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Carscallen were present as honored guests and tribute was paid to their valuable assistance and co-operation in the past. Dr. Carscallen spoke briefly and introduced the recently appointed Principal of the College, Dr. Stanley L. Osborne, BD.

Introduce Study Book

At the evening session, Miss Helen Day was in charge and introduced the Auxiliary Study Book for 1948-49, "West of the Gorge," by Dr. Kenneth Beaton. Mrs. Hugh Taylor, who has recently visited the mission fields, stressed the fact that women of the United Church should study China and understand the place of the Christian church in the new era which is coming into being.

Mrs. Richard Proctor from Hamilton gave a sympathetic introduction to characters in "The Straight Furrow," a modern play dealing with the co-operative movement in China.

Miss Frances Bonwick introduced "Tales from China" by Alice Budson Lewis, twelve stories showing the opportunities presented by the crisis in China.

Miss Wilna Thomas told the story of "The Watch-Goat Boys," the Mission Bank book for primary children, and also introduced the exciting tale "Dike Against the Sea" for older children.

Miss Murray presented a demonstration of slides that will be available for use with these Study Books.

Mrs. H. T. Thompson spoke briefly on the need for recruits in our church work as a whole, both at home and abroad, and the evening closed with a worship service conducted by Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference branch.

126 Registered

Registration has risen to 126 at the School for Leaders being held this week att he Ontario Ladies' College. The morning session opened with worship conducted by the dean of the school, Mrs. W. L. Smyth.

DOROTHY DIX

Suggests Quiz Future Wife On Her Domestic Skills

Undoubtedly many unhappy marriages could be prevented if, during the engagement, the prospective bridegroom would stop asking Sweetums: "Do you love me—will you always love me—would you pine away and die of a broken heart if something untoward happened to me?" long enough to get her views on various practical matter that will affect his happiness and well-being just as much as the state of her affections.

Dorothy Dix

He might, for instance, open the questionnaire by saying: "Darling, I feel that I am the most blest of men in having won you for my bride, but before we go any further with this matter, tell me what is your domestic rating? Are you allergic to the kitchen, or is it your favorite haunt wher you perform culinary miracles?

"Do you thrill at the sight of pots and pans, or do they give you that tired feeling? Can you cook like my Mother, or will your coffee always furnish grounds for divorce? I love you, but I also have a passion for good food and, inasmuch as when I marry I will put my stomach as well as my heart in my wife's hands, I would like to know what risks I am taking.

Or he might say: "Angel of my soul, how do you stand on the financial proposition? Can you run a budget, or do you think money was made to throw at the birds? I am no tightwad, but the prospect of spending my life slaving for dressmakers and milliners does not allure me and so, unless you can get as much of a kick out of helping me make a fortune as you would out of running me in debt, you had better transfer your hearthrobs to some guy whose father guessed right about the stock markets."

Part-Time Wife

Or he might disguise his real intend for finding out whether, if he married her, he would have to do the marketing, get the children off to school, and darn his socks, because she would be off attending a convention, or delivering a lecture, or selling a bill of goods, by saying:

"Dream Girl, do you regard marriage as a career or a chore? Do you think that making a home, rearing a family and keeping a husband happy is a job that you can turn out with one hand while the other hand is doing SOMETHING WORTH WHILE? Will you moan about being tied down with babies, and would you always be throwing in my teeth about how great and wonderful you might have been if you hadn't SACRIFICED ALL by marrying me? If so, speak now, or forever hold your peace, for I do not crave a part-time wife.

And, going on from there, he might inquire further into how she would treat his Mother, and how many of her own family she planned to have camp in the guest room, and whether she expected a tired business man to take her stepping every night when his feet hurt and he only wanted to rest them? Also, whether she would buy his neckties, and make him eat the kind of food she liked, and make him attend her church and vote for her candidate, or else.

Oh, there are plenty of questions the prospective husband might ask the Girl Friend before marriage, but the trouble is he doesn't. He waits until after marriage, and then it is too late.

SMALL FRY FASHIONS — Very little sister belong to the skirt and blouse set too, and her togs, if mother makes a wise selection, are likely to be quite as smart as those of her elders. To show you how fetching and smart, yet eminently youthful, a skirt and blouse can be fore a very young lady, here is a pretty picture. The dressup white crepe blouse has fagotted yoke edged with double ruffles. A lace edged petticoat peeps out from the skirt hem.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, September 3

An exciting, dramatic and challenging day is read from predominant planetary configurations. Opportunity seems to knock at the door insistently and spectacularly; and yet the answer could be so peculiar, erratic or convulsive, as to make hazardous all moves, probably alienating most urgent support from interested sources. A brilliant idea might set off the fuse, yet quite as eccentric a drive or plan could prove devastating. The creative urges are under dynamic stimuli but should be directed constructively. Romance as well as adventure and renown are "in the air." Move sanely.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are on the eve of dramatic and probably breath-taking adventure, into realms of spectacular or revolutionary performance, challenging, romantic and thrilling. It might be due to an ignited creative drive, inspired ingenuity, or innovation, with quickened spur to dare the novel and sensational. But such urge might also be eccentric, foolish or "goofy" and so inciting opposition, ruin or loss of opportunity prestige and support. With logic as well as regulated emotional impulses at the helm, there could be dynamic crises. Work toward rational rather than inflammatory end's sidestepping extremes.

A child born on this day, while having great ingenuity, originality, and daring, with sensational culminations in sight, may defeat high adventure and romance by extremist or eccentric whims.

National Policy Toward Arts MacMillan Plea

TORONTO, Sept. 2 — (CP). — A national policy toward the fine arts is a "crying need" in Canada, Sir Ernest MacMillan, dean of music at the University of Toronto, said today.

What is needed is "a consistent fostering of the fine arts coupled with a wide dissemination of information regarding our activities, he said in a speech prepared for delivery to a Canadian National Exhibition luncheon.

"Such a policy is a crying need and to tell the truth we are still far behind most countries of the present day in adopting it. As conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra I receive an increasing number of scores year by year from Canadian composers and would welcome more opportunities of bringing many of them before the public."

He told of his "pleasure" last January in conducting a complete program of works by Canadian composers.

"It was well received by those who heard it — and its broadcast . . . roused much interest from coast to coast but it must be confessed that the concert-going public did not respond as we had hoped."

Part of Living

Earlier in his address Sir Ernest noted that serious music had become part and parcel of the lives of millions.

"The radio may inflict some unpleasant noises on us at times, but it has also revolutionized the attitude of countless people of serious music."

But music needed to be performed by people themselves for them to discover its greatest benefits.

He quoted a juvenile court judge who said a universal study of music would cut down the number of court cases 50 per cent.

New Artificial Hand

LONDON, England—(CP)— A new artificial hand, developed by a Londoner and a young Irish architect, is said to have almost the appearance and dexterity of its human counterpart. Small rubber pads are set in finger-tips and palm, and a shoulder-brace control enables the wearer to grasp an object with an almost inperceptible shrug.

Bottle Drifts 1,600 Miles

BREDASDORP, Cape Province, South Africa—(CP)—After travelling more than 1,600 miles by sea, a bottle was picked up on the shore near here recently. It contained a photograph and an address. A letter sent to the address brought a reply that the bottle had been thrown from a ship off the west coast of Africa.

Two Sneak Thieves Fail Near Havelock

HAVELOCK, Sept. 2 (Staff).—Two half-hearted sneak thieves made off with empty pockets and fear-filled hearts in the early hours of Wednesday morning. They managed to break in a small refreshment booth operated by Mr. and Mrs. George McGowan, on No. 7 Highway, about 2½ miles east of Havelock. Nothing was taken.

The pair were first detected about 1:30 in the morning when Mr. and Mrs. McGowan heard noises from the booth, which is only a few feet from their house. Coming outside to investigate, they saw two men near a parked car beside the highway. A transport truck was passing and they believe the breakin artists returned to their car while it passed, as the transport's lights would shine right on the booth.

When that danger had passed for them, the two started back to the booth, only to see Mr. and Mrs. McGowan standing between it and the house and coming towards them.

Ignoring shouts of "Stop," they hot-footed it back to the car, pursued by the McGowans. Literally leaping into the car, they speeded away in the direction of Havelock.

They were still racing like mad as their tail-light disappeared, said Mrs. McGowan.

Budenz Failed To Win Reuther

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 — (AP). — Ex-Communist Louis F. Budenz tried, but failed, to win over the C.I.O.'s Walter Reuther to the Reds.

Budenz testified Wednesday the party sent him to Detroit several years ago to try to get Reuther to "become a Communist or a Communist sympathizer."

"I did, but I failed," said Budenz, a former ranking Communist who renounced the party three years ago and returned to Roman Catholicism.

Reuther, President of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), confirmed the story in Detroit Wednesday night.

Budenz related the incident while testifying as a government witness at a deportation hearing for the mysterious "J. Peters," whom several other former Communists had identified as a plotter of revolution and leading Communist in the United States.

The government seeks to deport Peters on the grounds he entered the United States without a valid visa in 1932 and is a member of an organization advocating the violent overthrow of the government.

Spain Orders Civic Elections

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Sept. 2. (AP)—The Spanish government today ordered municipal elections for the first time in 12 years.

No date was specified in the order, which was issued by Generalissimo Franco's cabinet.

If the pre-Franco system of municipal elections is followed, the balloting will mark the Franco government's longest step toward liberalization, observers said.

It is assumed the elections will call for voting on councils in an estimated 9,260 municipalities. Before the Franco regime councils were chosen in general elections and they in turn named the mayors.

Balloting has been permitted once before under the Franco government—in July, 1947. At that time the people voted only in a referendum to confirm Franco as chief of state and establish procedure for selection of his successor.

Storm Blows Self Out Along Florida Coast

MIAMI, Sept. 2.—(AP). — A tropical storm which has been skittering about the Caribbean for the last few days, apparently has blown itself out, thus ending, for the time at least, three threats which have given Florida a week of hurricane jitters.

The United States Weather Bureau in San Juan, Puerto Rico, said the pocket - sized storm which Monday night crossed the lesser Antilles, had diminished into nothing more than an "easterly wave" with winds less than 35 miles an hour in the centre.

Until it begins to wind up again, there will be no more advisories issued on this storm, the bureau said.

Tunisians Will Take Dispute To UN Council

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Sept. 2. (CP)—A Tunisian spokesman announced Wednesday Tunisians will take their dispute with France to the United Nations Security Council.

El Abed Bouhafa, secretary of the committee for the freedom of North Africa, said Tunisians will show that after 65 years the French protectorate "has led to a regime of colonial domination and exploitation through which France systematically robbed Tunisia of its sovereign rights and her material resources."

The exiled Bey of Tunis, Sidi Mohamed Al-Moncef, died Wednesday. He was deposed and forced into exile in France by Gen. Henir Giraud May 12, 1943, on a charge of collaborating with the Axis.

Schacht Cleared But Still In Jail

STUTTGART, Sept. 2. (AP)—Hjalmar Schacht has won another victory in the courts but he's still in jail.

A German appeals court Wednesday absolved him of charges he was a major Nazi offender but United States military government officials kept him in his internment camp pending a decision on the validity of the verdict.

Dr. Wolfgang Schwamberger, Schacht's lawyer, said if his client is not turned loose by tomorrow he will file a writ of habeas corpus. If necessary, he would go all the way to the United States Supreme Court.

Schacht, once Germany's financial wizard, was serving an eight-year sentence imposed by a Stuttgart denazification court. Earlier, the International Military Tribunal acquitted him of war crimes charges.

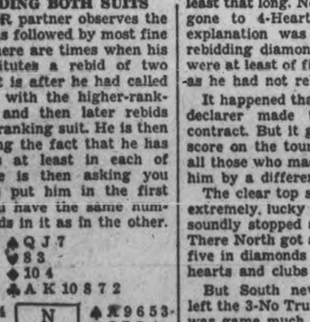
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

REBIDDING BOTH SUITS

IF YOUR partner observes the conventions followed by most fine players, there are times when his call constitutes a rebid of two suits. That is after he had called two suits, with the higher-ranking first, and then later rebids the lower-ranking suit. He is then emphasizing the fact that he has five cards at least in each of them. He is then asking you usually to put him in the first suit if you have the same number of cards in it as in the other.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	5 ♦

That last bid by North was terrible. When South bid first hearts and then diamonds, especially with his second call an almost completely forcing jump, North should have considered that the hearts were at least as long as the diamonds, possibly a card longer. When South then rebid his diamonds, he showed that this suit was of at least five cards and that the hearts were at least that long. North should have gone to 4-Hearts. His haywire explanation was that South, in rebidding diamonds, showed they were at least of five cards, whereas he had not rebid hearts.

It happened that this particular declarer made the 5-Diamonds contract. But it gave him bottom score on the tournament deal, as all those who made 4-Hearts beat him by a difference of 20 points.

The clear top score came to an extremely lucky pair, which unsoundly stopped at 3-No Trumps. There North got a trick in spades, five in diamonds and two each in hearts and clubs for ten tricks.

But South never should have left the 3-No Trumps in. Not only was game much more likely in a suit if he took out to 4-Diamonds, but there was even a slam chance if North had been a wee mite stronger.

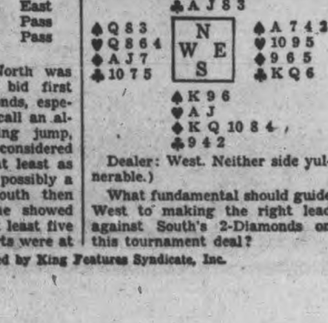
Tomorrow's Problem



Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

What fundamental should guide West to making the right lead against South's 2-Diamonds on this tournament deal?

Bevin Turns To Hansard Society For Aid In Re-educating Germans

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, Sept. 2 — (CP) — Foreign Secretary Bevin and Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British Military Governor of Germany, have turned to the non-party Hansard Society to help educate the Germans in democracy.

A struggling organization, with 2,000 members in the United Kingdom and working in association with similar organizations in Canada and Belgium, the Hansard Society in turn has appealed to the British public to assist.

The non-profit-making society was founded in 1944 to carry out "work of national importance in education for citizenship."

"The Hansard Society has the duty of spreading knowledge about the institution of Parliament and arousing interest in that subject," it says.

Gen. Robertson in a letter to the Society Council chairman, Cmdr. Stephen King-Hall, said the society had assisted in the past by entertaining German politicians and others sment to England to see democratic institutions at first hand.

Great Impression

These visits had made "a very great impression" and were as important as any other measure in promoting re-education of the Germans.

Only limited official funds could be granted and the society's members must provide most of the money needed. But Gen. Robertson added: "There is certainly no better cause nor one in which a comparatively modest sum can achieve great results."

Bevin wrote that he hoped the public-spirited firms and men would make it possible for the society to give German politicians and officials instruction and information about all aspects of British parliamentary life.

In an appeal to members, King-Hall said the society now must obtain suitable premises and adequate staff. A start could be made with £5,000 ($20,000), "although £10,000 would be preferable." Membership should be raised from 2,000 to 5,000 or 7,500 and a series of courses for German politicians and officials arranged.

Miners Find New Ideology

CAUX - SUR - MONTREUX, Switzerland, Sept. 2—Coal miners from South Wales and North Staffordshire are among those attending the Moral Re-Armament Assembly here. Speaking at one of the sessions they told of production going up in their pits and miners finding a democratic ideology for which "they had long been hungering."

Recently the Moral Re-Armament industrial drama, "The Forgotten Factor" was invited to the Rhondda Valley, hotbed of British Communism, and home territory of Arthur Horner, Communist secretary of the National Union of Mineworkers. "It was like a burning torch and crowds were unable to get into the theatre," Mr. Tyler, treasurer of the Bedwas Colliery told the Assembly. "One veteran Trades Union man stated," he continued, " 'If this spirit had been brought to South Wales thirty years ago a great debacle of strikes in the 1920's could have been avoided'."

Following performances of "The Forgotten Factor", officials of the Parc and Dare Colliery reported an output record unequalled in the last 70 years.

Other miners who spoke included David Tudor, Treasurer of the Merthyrtdfil Trades and Labor Council; D. Edwards, Ted Dutton and Albert Bentley, all branch officials of the National Union of Mineworkers.

Pope Asks Universal Prayers For UN Meet

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 2—(AP)—Pope Pius said today the world has reached a "critical crossroad of history." He called for universal prayers for the success of the United Nations Assembly which opens Sept. 21 in Paris.

Receiving more than 500 American Roman Catholic pilgrims at his summer residence here, the Pope expressed fervent hope that the UN might save the world from the "unimaginable catastrophe" of another war.

Millions still were "caught in a maelstrom" of violence, "living under unfortunate conditions." War still raged in many parts of the world and millions lived under "grinding tyranny."

Strikes Blow Against Rebels

By HELEN MAMAS.

KOZANE, Greece, Sept. 2 (AP) —The small but busy Greek Air Force has been an effective weapon in the army's summer drive against the Communist guerrilla forces.

Col. Emanuel Kelaidis, Chief of the Royal Greek Air Force, estimates 60 to 70 per cent of guerrilla losses in the Grammos Mountain campaign have been inflicted by his pilots, and adds:

"The Communist fear of air attacks is the major reason for the noticeable decline in rebel morale."

Kelaidis says the airmen have two jobs: To support the army and to strafe targets on the guerrilla front lines. Both Greek and American officers say the RGAF is successfully carrying out these two tasks.

The RGAF is composed of between 6,000 and 7,000 pilots, gunners, radio operators, observers, and ground men, grouped in three squadrons of 16 planes each.

Variety of Planes

The planes include Spitfires, Harvards, Ansons, Oxfords and Dakotas, which came from Great Britain and more recently from the United States under the American Aid Mission.

Kelaidis said the Spits and the Harvards average 60 to 70 sorties a day. "Missions over Grammos begin about 5 a.m. and continue all day. Last month, night sorties were attempted and proved to be successful."

From sunrise to midnight the planes can be heard over Kozane as they set off to bomb, rocket and machine-gun guerrillas' positions.

"Well-trained guerrillas man ack-ack guns. Knowing we are searching for their strong defence positions, they often place their machine-guns at a great distance from their main defence lines."

Retailers Get Blame For High Fruit Prices

TORONTO, Sept. 2 — (CP). — G. D. McPhedran, Prices Board official, said Wednesday at a special court that "exorbitant" citrus fruit prices here were caused by retailers' refusal to co-operate with the Board.

He said retailers were being forced to sell goods above ceiling by wholesalers because they were afraid that otherwise the wholesalers would cut off their supplies.

Fruit store operator Mike Nasello was fined $10 for selling fruits above ceiling. He said that to get citrus fruit from wholesalers he had to accept apples, potatoes, onions and other things he would have to sell at a loss.

Beanery Gang Head Remanded To Sept. 8

BARRIE, Sept. 2 — (CP). — Frank Strothers, 18, of Toronto, described by police as ousted leader of Toronto's youthful Beanery gang, was remanded Wednesday until Sept. 8 on a charge of fighting in a public place.

A second charge of assault was withdrawn at the request of the Crown who said Crown witnesses "either will not or cannot identify" their attacker.

The charges arose from a free-for-all gang battle at Wasaga Beach, a Georgian Bay summer resort, last Aug. 22.

Gas And Stomach Disorders Made Her Nervous, Rundown

Had Throbbing Headaches and Dizzy Spells—Always Tired. Couldn't Sleep. Got Prompt Relief By Taking Syntona.

MRS. VERA BROWN

"For several years I was troubled with nervous, upset stomach and I cannot tell you how grateful I am for the good results I got by taking a few bottles of Syntona," said Mrs. Vera Brown, 376 Ridout Street, London, Ontario, in a recent report.

"Even the lightest foods used to cause gas, sour acid risings and awful attacks of heartburn. I would feel bloated and short of breath. Often, I got dizzy spells and throbbing headaches and I just had no appetite for my meals. I felt extremely tired and so very nervous that I was irritable and many nights couldn't get to sleep for hours after going to bed. My complexion was sallow and my skin was rough and pimply.

"Having tried many things without benefit I was very discouraged. But when a friend told me about Syntona, I got some, and began to feel better even after taking it the first few days. This gave me new hope, so I continued taking Syntona and the results have been just marvellous.

"The stomach distress is relieved so I can eat all my meals now and have no trouble afterward. I am free of gas, headaches and dizziness and my nerves are calmed down so I have no trouble getting to sleep at night. My skin has cleared up and whereas I used to be so tired and irritable, I now feel fine and I cannot praise this medicine highly enough."

If you suffer as Mrs. Brown why not give this pure herbal compound a chance to help you, too? Syntona is pleasant to take, it contains no harmful drugs, and the results are quickly felt.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Russians Making Technical Arrangements To Lift 72-Day Berlin Blockade

Soviet Newspapers Gloat Over "Victory" As Allies Agree To Adopt Russ Money; German Leaders Fear Another Munich

BERLIN, Sept. 3—(AP).—German reports today said the Russians are making technical arrangements for lifting the 72-day-old blockade of Berlin. The British-licensed German press service said the director of German railways in the Soviet zone had been summoned by Russian transport authorities to be given instructions for these arrangements. This report could not be confirmed in any official quarter.

An American transport official said there has been no indication from the Russians as to when they intend to reopen the rail lifeline to Berlin from Helmstedt and the east-west canal system. The trains were stopped by the Russians June 24 because of "technical difficulties." Canal traffic was stopped a short time later.

The four military governors arranged another session at 11 a.m. EDT on this divided city's problems, as the Communist press of Berlin declared the negotiations, now in the fourth day here, were turning into a Soviet diplomatic triumph.

Exchange Rate Snag

Authoritative informants said the negotiators had hit one tough snag. That, they said, was a Russian demand for a favorable exchange rate for their Eastern German mark in trade between Eastern and Western Germany.

These informants said the Russians insist upon a straight one-for-one exchange of East and West marks, but German financial circles in the West zones contend one Western mark should be worth at least four East marks.

Soviet - licensed newspapers gloated over reports that the Western Allies had agreed to adopt the Russian-backed mark for all Berlin. At the same time, they violently attacked German anti-Communist political leaders who, like Socialist Franz Neumann, appealed to the West to stand fast on currency, or be accused of "another Munich."

Abandon B-29 6 In Crew Reported Safe

LONDON, Sept. 3—(AP).—The United States Air Force announced tonight an American B-29 Superfortress taking part in a mock air battle testing Britain's defences was abandoned by its crew after developing engine trouble over The Netherlands.

"Six members of the crew are known to have survived," the announcement said.

A B-29 ordinarily carries a crew of 11.

The British Air Ministry reported late today that the entire crew of a B-29 had bailed out and the plane had crashed between Rotterdam and Utrecht. Later the Air Ministry amended this, saying the plane actually was limping back toward Britain on one engine.

"We rather think that there were two aircraft involved," the Air Ministry said.

Ninety Superforts are taking part in the giant air defence test over Britain, which involves hundreds of RAF heavy and medium bombers and squadrons of jet fighters. Mock air battles were staged over the Thames estuary and other places in Britain as the bombers swung in from the sea in simulated raids. The bombers had been given permission to fly over the Lowlands to avoid the radar screen before turning in for the attack.

See No Sudden Price Drop Yet

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 (CP)—Top-ranking government authorities, including Trade Minister Howe, were cautious today in predicting the effect on prices as a result of the near-record United States crop.

"If I knew how prices would go, I could make a fortune," Mr. Howe commented. "I don't know."

"Food prices are above the general index and they'll probably be the first to move down but there is a prices support program in both countries (Canada and the N.S.) and I don't think there will be any sudden drop," he said.

Asked in an interview if he thought there would be any slow but general downward movement of prices, Mr. Howe replied:

"I wouldn't even predict that."

Man Badly Burned While Aiding Motorist

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 3 (CP).—Kenneth Sandercott, 30, of London is in hospital here with burns about the upper part of the body. He was burned near Seaforth Thursday when he stopped to aid a fellow motorist.

Sandercott said he was pouring gasoline into the carburetor of the other automobile when the driver stepped on the starter. A sheet of flame struck Sandercott. His condition today was reported as favorable.

$400,000 Damage

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 3—(CP)—The south coast of this island today counted its worst damage in history in the wake of a tropical hurricane that passed out to sea. First reports arriving here from the coastal villages estimated damage at more than $400,000. An Anglican church was demolished, two vessels were driven ashore and a store had its roof blown off.

Truman Refuses To Back Power Scheme Legal Experts Search Statutes For Answer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—(CP)—United States state department legal experts thumbed through statutes and the constitution today for light on the effect of President Truman's assertion that he would not approve the New York State-Ontario proposal to develop electric power in the St. Lawrence river.

There was no immediate official opinion available but spokesmen warily expressed the belief that nothing could be done by the state and province to develop boundary waters without the approval of the federal governments of both countries.

The Boundary Waters Treaty of 1911 which set up the International boundary waters are a federal charge and responsibility. The Ontario-New York project must go before the Joint Commission for study and approval or rejection and it can go before the commission only on a reference agreed upon by the two governments.

Thus it would seem possible that if Truman stands on Thursday's statement he will approve the whole navigation and power project or nothing, he could block it so long as he is president by refusing to approve a reference to the commission.

TLC Union Officials Rebel Demand Red Purge In Drive To Clean House

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Sept. 3—(CP).—Canadian labor's biggest internal revolt in years today spearheaded a finish fight over Communism in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. Rebelling at Congress' failure to rid itself of Reds, top officers of 23 of the TLC's most powerful unions were pledged to throw their weight into a drive to clean house of TLC Communists.

But Percy Bengough, Congress president, said he didn't take the move "very seriously." He said in an interview he thought its leaders were "mesmerizing" themselves into delusions about their importance.

As the officers organized themselves Thursday into a permanent anti-Communist block, these possibilities emerged:

1. Removal from the TLC of the turbulent Canadian Seamen's Union, alleged to be dominated by Reds.

2. The conceivable defeat of Mr. Bengough and those executive members who have been actively supporting his backing of the CSU in the lake shipping strike.

3. Replacement of the CSU by the Seafarers' International Union (AFL) as the congress marine affiliate. The SIU this week absorbed the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, arch enemy of the CSU on the Great Lakes.

These developments could come about at the October meeting of the Congress in Victoria if the high officers who banned themselves together Thursday received the backing of the general membership of their unions, which are for the most part actively anti-Communist.

Bengough Unworried

Mr. Bengough said, however, he felt there were "too many good trade unionists" in the TLC to allow it to desert an affiliate such as the CSU during a strike.

Buffalo Police Join Hunt For Holdup Man

RIDGEWAY, Ont., Sept. 3 — (CP)—Buffalo police today joined Ontario provincial forces in watching border-crossing points for three armed bandits who Thursday escaped with $5,000 from a bank in this Niagara peninsula town.

Police believe the men were Americans and all boats crossing from Canada are being closely checked by the United States coastguard on Lake Erie and the Niagara river. Detective Chief William T. Fitzgibbon is in charge of operations of the Buffalo police.

More than 30 provincial police cruisers blocked the area last night. The escape car abandoned in Crowland township carried two different New York state licence plates. The front licence 6B11-77 was reported by Richard A. Rew of Buffalo, to have been stolen at Crystal Beach, Ont. The rear plate was reported by James McCabe, Jr., of Buffalo to have been lost in an accident there two months ago.

Herd Employees

Bank manager C. J. Hamilton said two of the men, clad in new blue dungarees, one of them wearing a white mask, entered the bank at about 12:30 p.m. and herded eight employees and a customer at gunpoint into the vault and scooped the money from change tills. The vault could not be closed because of an electric light cord hung over the door.

"The thugs were apparently after our payroll which we had distributed just an hour or two before," Mr. Hamilton said.

Police said the pair escaped in a dark blue or black sedan, bearing New York state licence plates and driven by a third gang member.

Report Milk Being Dumped

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP)—Roy Lick, secretary of the Toronto Milk Producers Association, said today he had received unconfirmed reports that large quantities of milk had been dumped by distributors, or returned to farmers for feeding pigs.

"Right now I can't deny or confirm the reports, but my association intends to make an investigation," Mr. Lick said.

It is understood the association will ask pointed questions of certain dairies concerning the dumping of 94 large cans of milk.

No Canadian Offer To Help Fly Food

LONDON, Sept. 3—(CP).—An Air Ministry spokesman said today Britain has not asked Canada for aid in flying food to blockaded Berlin, and whether such aid would be offered would be up to the Canadian Government.

"It is well-known that we would like all the help we can get," the spokesman said. "South Africa and Australia offered help and these offers have been accepted.

"But we are not asking help from the Dominions and as far as is known Canada has not offered any. Only the Canadian Government can answer the question if such help is planned."

Former Czech President Benes Dead

Helped Thos. Masaryk Found Republic; To Have State Funeral

PRAGUE, Sept. 3—(Reuters).—Dr. Eduard Benes, co-founder of the Czechoslovak Republic and its President until last June, died at 6.15 p.m. local time today at his country home at Sezimovousti.

Last Monday it was revealed that Benes, suffering from arterio schlerosis (hardening of the arteries), had taken a sudden turn for the worse. Tuesday when he lost consciousness Benes was said to be "sinking fast." He never regained consciousness. He was 64.

As soon as the news of Benes' death reached President Klement Gottwald and the government a special meeting of the Cabinet was called.

The Prime Minister, Antonin Zapotocky, paid tribute to the ex-President's work, surveying the history of his service to Czechoslovakia from the time of the First World War.

State Funeral

The Cabinet decided that a State funeral should be held in Prague and President Gottwald and members of the Cabinet sent telegrams of sympathy to Mme. Benes and her family.

It is understood that whatever ceremonies take place in Prague the burial will be outside the capital. Dr. Benes some time ago expressed a personal wish to be buried in the village cemetery at Lany near his teacher and predecessor, the late Thomas Masaryk.

Benes was well known to Canadians. During his long wartime exile he visited Canada in June, 1943, and stayed at Government House as the guest of the then Governor-General, the Earl of Athlone.

He addressed both Houses of the Canadian Parliament, attended an official dinner given by the Canadian Government, received the diplomatic corps, talked to members of the Czech forces stationed in Ottawa and visited an RCAF flying school.

With the hero liberator Thomas Masaryk Benes presided at the founding of the Czechoslovak republic, born out of the chaos of the First World War. It was the culmination of a 20-year struggle against Hapsburg rule.

Ten years ago he fought bitterly against the pact of Munich, which gave his country over to the domination of Hitler. He lost. He resigned the presidency he had assumed in 1935, after the death of Masaryk, and went into exile to the United States, Britain and Russia rather than yield to the Germans.

He returned from his long exile in 1945, and managed to keep a wobbly coalition government working through almost three years of violent post-war readjustment.

Probe Alleged Police Brutality

WINDSOR, Sept. 3 — (CP). — A probe into alleged police brutality is underway today following Thursday's charges by Perry Jeffery that he was struck with a blackjack while handcuffed.

The investigation started when Jeffery made his statement in magistrate's court where he was appearing on a drunk charge. He said he was beaten by a blackjack while lying on the ground, "practically unconscious."

Constable Douglas M. Morris, against who the accusation was made, said he handcuffed the man after being kicked in the stomach by Jeffery. There was no mention of using blackjacks or nightsticks.

Jeffery was arrested Thursday as he lay sleeping behind the wheel of his automobile. Constable Morris said he thought the car was stolen because ignition wires were hanging down. He said Jeffery refused to answer questions and was kicked when he tried to drag him from the car. Morris said the man was handcuffed because of the resistance.

According to Jeffery, it was while he was handcuffed the beating took place. He appeared in court with a bandaged head. The drunk charge was dismissed.

Amusement Park Operators Defy Ban, Will Keep Open

TORONTO, Sept. 3—(CP).—Ontario amusement park operators indicated today the parks will be open to the public on Sunday, despite protests of the Lord's Day Alliance, whose members demand the parks be closed under provisions of the Lord's Day Act. Officials of Crystal Beach Amusement Company, operators of a park near Niagara Falls, Ont., said they expect a large Labor Day holiday crowd Sunday. Operators of parks at Wasaga Beach, on Georgian Bay and at Port Stanley, near London, made similar predictions.

"It is open defiance of the law," said Dr. George G. Webber, general secretary of the alliance. "I am not in a position to say what will be done. I'm not enforcing the Lord's Day Act. That's a police job."

But just who would enforce the Act was not clear.

Crown attorneys say intructions must come from the Attorney-General's Department. A spokesman for the Department said he thought it was a job for Provincial Police. He said the Constables Act provided Provincial Police might interfere in any situation where it was considered local police were not enforcing laws.

Dr. Webber would not say whether his organization will protest operation at the three amusement centres.

First Hearing For Sirkoski

OSHAWA, Sept. 3 — (CP) — Jack Sirkoski, charged with the $12,000 Oshawa robbery of a brewer's warehouse cashier appeared in court for preliminary hearing.

Cecil Bonetta, the lame cashier who was knocked to the ground by two men who seized the store's receipts which he had taken to a bank, identified Sirkoski as one of his assailants.

Frank Wasni, of Toronto, was shot and killed in Hamilton last Aug. 19 by a policeman who attempted to recapture him as he fled while being taken to a police station for questioning about the robbery.

Widow Kills Children Couldn't Support Them

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 3 (AP) Detectives said a 38-year-old widow Thursday admitted slaying her two children because she could not support them on her $75 monthly relief cheque.

The mother, Mrs. Frances Irene McCurdy, was arrested after she led police to her dead children 250 miles away.

The children were found stabbed to death in a cabin at Grant's Pass, 250 miles south of Portland.

Narrow Escape

OSHAWA, Sept. 3 (CP)—Alice Orton, target in a vaudeville knife-throwing act, narrowly escaped death Thursday night when her father missed his aim and nicked her neck. The fourth of eight 13-inch knives which are supposed to outline Miss Orton's shapely figure on a circular board, went a few inches wild and struck her neck, during a show here.

MRP Leader Can't Form New Cabinet

De Gaullists Appear Likely To Win; Blames Bickering

PARIS, Sept. 3 — (CP). — Premier-designate Robert Schuman quit trying to form a new French government today and followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle expressed hope the crisis will force new elections.

Schuman, leader of the moderate Mouvement Republican Populaire (MRP), abandoned his effort after four days of trying to persuade reluctant politicians to join a cabinet which appeared destined at best to a short, troubled life.

De Gaulle's extreme rightist followers hoped this meant the end of France's "fore troisieme," the third force middle-of-the-road governments.

De Gaullists appear certain if parliament is forced to call new elections because of the failure to achieve a new government, De Gaulle's rightist Rassemblement Du Peuple Francaise (RPF) would win a near majority. The RPF and the Communists have not taken part in the third force governments.

Socialist President Vincent Auriol called Edouard Herriot, the elder statesman who is president of the assembly and has been mentioned as a possible choice for the premiership, despite his age. He is 76. Herriott is a member of the conservative Radical-Socialist party.

Final blow to Schuman's efforts to build a cabinet came with what lobby circles termed an astute manoeuvre by supporters of De Gaulle.

No Support

Schuman announced his decision to President Vincent Auriol after futile negotiations with other party leaders on construction of a workable coalition.

Despite his endorsement by the National Assembly Tuesday—by the margin of 11 votes—Schuman was unable to draw enough parliamentary support to build a cabinet.

Thursday the Socialists, a strong factor in the previous moderate governments, refused to enter a Schuman cabinet because they disagreed with his economic policies, particularly with regard

Cripps Outlines Plan To Cabinet

LONDON, Sept. 3 (Reuters)—Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, is understood to have outlined at a cabinet meeting today the expected scope of his forthcoming talks at Ottawa with Canadian authorities on general economic matters.

The unfreezing of the £62,500,000 ($250,000,000) 1946 Canadian credit to Britain — blocked last April—is expected to be a focal point of the Ottawa talks.

The cabinet meeting was attended by the military chiefs of staff—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the imperial general staff, Lord Tedder, marshal of the Royal Air Force, and Admiral Lord Fraser, first sea lord and chief of the naval staff.

18 Canadian Veterans Will Fly To Bruges

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 — (CP). — Eighteen Canadian soldiers who helped free Belgium in 1944 are returning to Bruges for the fourth anniversary of that ancient Flemish city's liberation.

Flying in an RCAF North Star, they will leave Dorval airport, near Montreal, next Tuesday, for the anniversary festivities Sept. 12.

The army announced today that Maj.-Gen. H. W. Foster, general commanding eastern command, will head the party. He commanded the 4th Armored Division during the sweep through Belgium in 1944 and was made an honorary citizen of Bruges in a ceremony after the liberation.

Webbwood Man Killed On Way To Be Married

SUDBURY, Sept. 3—(CP). — Claude Caldwell of Webbwood, Ont., was killed today on his way to be married in Toronto.

A second man, S. W. Scott, also of Webbwood, was injured in the crash when a light truck plunged through the side of a bridge into a 20-foot water and mud hole. Webbwood is 30 miles west of here.

Exactly a month ago, a father and son drowned in the same pool. Three men were killed there a few years ago.

Scott was taken to hospital by truck driver Walter Kottick, who noticed a gap in the cement railing of the bridge and then the injured man crawling up the side of the hole. Kottick called the police.

Caldwell's body and the truck have not been recovered.

Don't Need Berlin Blockade Can Get Marks In New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP). — If the Russians or anyone else are after the new, jealously-guarded west German marks, they don't have to blockade Berlin. They can buy them from money exchange agents here.

The writer just did — at one-third the legal rate officially fixed Wednesday.

(In Berlin, United States military government finance officials said they were "surprised" to hear of the traffic in New York in these marks.)

It was learned anyone can take them out of the United States and anybody welcome in the Soviet zone could take them there, to buy Western goods. That is just where the Western allies are trying to stop the new marks from going.

Exchange agents estimated unknown parties were buying "thousands of dollars" worth of the new marks daily in New York at bargain rates. None would say where the marks came from.

Regulations provide that no person—allied or German—may bring into or take out of the three western zones of Germany more than 40 Deutsche marks. But they are arriving here, are resold and re-exported with no questions asked.

A visit to Yorkville, New York's German quarter, disclosed that marks could be purchased for 12½ cents and, in some cases, 9½ cents. An exchange agent pulled open a desk drawer full of crisp new Deutsche mark bills.

The rate was eight marks to the dollar for small transactions, but 6.60 marks for purchases of at least $100 worth at a time. This seemed to be a common practice.

New Pressure Is Exerted On Labor Gov't Wage Plan

By JAMES MCCOOK

LONDON, Sept. 3—(CP)—New pressure on the Labor government's vital wage stabilization program was revealed today with a claim of 460,000 railwaymen for an advance of 12 shillings and sixpence ($2.50) weekly in their basic wage.

In February the government announced the policy of general wage stabilization designed to check rises in personal incomes and to reduce the danger of runaway inflation.

But in recent days the government has allowed 70,000 engineers in its employment increases up to 11 shillings weekly and thus gave preferred treatment to them as compared with some 2,000,000 engineers in private industry for whom an increase of five shillings weekly was recommended by a labor-ministry court of inquiry.

Railwaymen now are employed by the railway executive which operates the railways for the government as a nationalized industry.

The rail unions are likely to argue that what was done by the government for the engineers can be done for them.

If the railwaymen's wage increase claim was granted it would add £20,000,000 ($80,000,000) to the wages bill and might increase railway charges to the public, already boosted by higher costs since the war ended.

These other labor developments are reported on the eve of the annual meeting next week when the whole wage stabilization program will be reviewed by union leaders:

About 100,000 clerks in engineering establishments claimed an increase of 19 shillings weekly with a claim that the present minimum of £4 10s 6d. For juniors is too low.

250 Million Spent By Tourists

Say Biggest Year In Canada's History; 25 Million Visitors

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 — (CP). — Despite Ontario forest fires, British Columbia floods and a threatened railway strike, Canada likely will achieve its biggest tourist year in history, D. Leo Dolan, director of the Government Tourist Bureau, said today.

Indications are that the number of tourists may exceed 25 million, and the amount of money spent in Canada about $250 million, an increase of about 10 per cent over 1947.

Since a large part of Canada's tourists are Americans, the unprecedented boom year will have a favorable effect on the government's dollar-saving program announced last November, Mr. Dolan said.

Latest figures compiled by the bureau of statistics showed the number of American tourists travelling to Canada in automobiles in July had increased 12.5 per cent over the same times a year ago.

All Time Record

The bureau said the July figure of 470,884 persons also was an all-time record for that month. The total for July, 1947, was 362,668 and in 1946, 363,000.

An increase of 10.8 per cent also was noted in the automobile border-crossing totals for the first seven months of the year. Some 911,844 persons crossed in 1948, compared with 823,306 in 1947.

While July figures reflect the trend, they do not indicate the peak, usually expected in August. These totals will not be available for some weeks.

Mr. Dolan said that of last year's 22 million tourists, about 3,500,000 were persons on extended holidays, while the remainder were casual or week-end visitors. A breakdown of this year's figures is not yet available.

SOME OF THE 22 ESTONIANS who are waiting at St. Paul l'Ermite, near Montreal, to be directed to jobs and new homes. Ahead is hope and behind is a hectic past of fear and constant danger. But is is this rugged 42-year-old sea captain who stands foremost in their minds. The group, along with the captain and six other Estonians, fled from Sweden a month ago in the tiny 30-ton vessel, Astrid. After two weeks of arduous battle with the stormy Atlantic, they arrived at Quebec City Aug. 14. Since then they have awaited decision from Canada's immigration department as to whether they might stay. Finally on Tuesday their answer came. Canada has not seen fit to deny refuge to this courageous body of refugees which had defied the ocean in so small a craft to escape the increasing threat of Communist persecution.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Seal Stops Air Escape 17 Years

"It's been working on the railroad for seventeen years," an engineer said today as he showed your J-M reporter a set of Johns-Manville Packing. It had been used on an air compressor at a railroad power plant.

Packing acts as a seal on an air compressor. It keeps air from escaping and has to stand constant rubbing by moving parts. Yet this Johns-Manville Packing did twenty-four hour duty almost daily for seventeen years.

You find long-wearing Johns-Manville packings in all kinds of machines — wherever a seal is needed to keep water, gas, oil and other liquids from leaking.

For over 75 years Johns-Manville has been making asbestos packings and gaskets to meet industries varied needs. If you have a packing problem, write, Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto.

Sex Education Planned In Public School Course

TORONTO, Sept. 3—(CP).—A committee of the Toronto Board of Education has come up with a program to meet the age-old problem of parents—how to teach children about sex.

The committee approved a program of sex education in the two top grades of public schools, Grades Seven and Eight, where pupils generally are from 10 to 14 years of age. But the details of how such classes should be organized, what should be taught and just how much scope should be allowed, remain to be fixed.

Committee members said they were convinced children are not getting proper sex education in the home.

"Interest begins at an early age," said Trustee Mrs. Edna Ryerson, "and the questions should be answered before the children get garbled information. Their parents aren't equipped to answer the questions."

Which raised the natural question, put by Trustee Albert Cane: "How far can you go in telling the children the facts of life? Will we leave no mystery, or will we give it to them in parable form."

Director of Education C. C. Goldring attempted to answer it. "The information should be given subtly," he said, "through the biology of plants and animals—not blatantly and obviously through a description of human reproduction."

Dr. Goldring said the subject could be taught in health classes, but should not be built up as something special in the curriculum. It should stress purity of life and decency of conduct.

Trustee Cane pointed to recent police court cases to argue that "decency of living" had vanished from the juveniles of today. Mrs. Ryerson countered: "The young people of today are no different, and lack decency no more than the the children of 2,000 years ago."

RCAF Reports Plane Missing

WINNIPEG, Sept. 3 — (CP) — A pontoon-equipped Norseman plane carrying "possibly four men," was reported to-day by the RCAF to be overdue on a routine flight from Churchill, Man., to Baker Lake, 400 miles to the north.

RCAF officials said it was possible the pilot had set down the plane on one of the thousands of small lakes to avoid a "bad weather front." The plane took off yesterday.

Officials said two bad fronts had been closing from the south and the pilot might have landed until both had passed.

to keeping wages down in a war on rising prices.

Schuman's action threatened the country with deeper political tumult. France has had no government since the Radical Socialist (conservative) premier, Andre Marie, resigned early last Saturday. Marie himself had succeeded Schuman, who had quit as premier when the Socialists refused to support him on a military budget item.

Serious doubts were expressed that anyone would be able to form a government at the present time. This preented France with the problem of how to proceed with its present legislature.

Schuman blamed "selfish political bickering" for his failure.

"I attempted to ignore the old political formulas, but I did not find the necessary co-operation," he said.

ing $20,000 in currency was overlooked by the bandits. It was lying on a window sill in the main banking room, and apparently the trio either did not see the bag or attached no importance to it.

Manager C. A. Hamilton was absent when the gunmen made their appearance. The employees were W. E. Nichol, accountant; B. A. Ribel, teller, and Rose Lampling, ledgerkeeper. One of the men aimed a gun in their general direction and crisply informed them "this is a holdup." The masked thug pointed his gun at Rubel who was behind his wicket, and told him: "One more step and I'll slug you."

Grabbing all the cash in sight, the trio ran from the bank and jumped into a car at the curb.

Across the street from the bank was pretty Anita Levy, 15, of Buffalo, who is spending the summer in the district. She told police a man wearing a mask came out of the bank, a gun in his hands, and "his pockets bulging with money." He walked around behind the car and she noticed he had a peculiar-looking nose. The car was light blue in color.

"I'd know it anywhere in a crowd," she said. "He dropped a two-dollar bill on the street as I stood there watching him. Then I saw two other men. One wore white dungarees and the other blue dungarees. The man with the odd nose would be about 40 years old. I picked up the money and returned it to the bank."

All Groups Firmer On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 3—(CP).—All groups were firmer in moderately acting trading here today. Industrials edged upwards on strong fractional gains and golds tightened after Thursday's easiness. Base metals and western oils firmed as selected issues advanced.

Steels and utilities led the upward trend in the industrial groupings as volume increased slowly throughout the day. Refining oils were also strong in active trading.

Golds firmed quietly as gains edged out losses. Hollinger rose ⅛ and Lamaque gained 5 cents in seniors.

Aunor, Bordulac, Central Patricia, Giant Yellowknife, Joliet, United Keno Hill and Sylvanite strengthened from 1 to 10 cents.

Base Metals Corporation climbed rapidly in the base metals list for a 4-point gain. Consolidated Smelters rose ¼. Gulf Lead, Golden Manitou and Silver Miller weakened.

Anglo-Canadian gained 11 cents in western oils and Calgary and Edmonton and Home Oil were up 30 cents. Calmont, Globe Oil, Okalta, British Dominion and Pacific Petroleum also firmed.

Nine Cities Report Butter Stocks Higher

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 — (CP). — Nine Canadian cities reported their total stocks of butter Wednesday were about 16 per cent higher than on Aug. 1. The Bureau of Statistics announced Thursday that total stocks amounted to 31,953,000 pounds, an increase of 4,380,000 pounds from the Aug. 1 figure of 27,573,000.

Butter holdings are still well below the amounts of Sept. 1, 1947, when stocks totalled 45,480,000 pounds.

Cheddar cheese stocks amounted to 35,296,000 pounds compared with 31,024,000 on Aug. 1 and 32,082,000 a year ago.

He still considered members of the CLSU company unionists even though they had been absorbed by the SIU.

Membership of the unions represented by the dissident executives was estimated by them as between 150,000 and 175,000, as against a total Congress roll of about 370,000.

The rebelling officers, too, had the apparent support of one member of the Congress executive. He was J. Arthur d'Aoust, the TLC's Quebec vice-president and international vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Papermakers.

A day before, there had been the merger of the CLSU and the SIU, designed to manoeuvre the CSU out of the Congress.

Hall Intervenes

That was brought about through the intervention of Frank Hall, red-hating vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks; who also brought his fellow officers together in Thursday's gathering.

After that meeting, Hall said it had:

1. Unanimously endorsed the union merger.

2. Pledged itself to do all possible to throw Communists out of the TLC and keep from Congress office all Communists, Communist sympathizers and those who "play ball" with Communists.

3. Formed a permanent organization to work for Congress "integrity," particularly as regards dealing with Reds.

Holds Up Wall

BICKERSHAW, Lancashire, England, Sept. 3—(CP).—Forty-year-old John Silcock was awarded the British Empire Medal for holding up a colliery wall with his back and shoulders while other miners worked to free a man trapped by a fall of stone at Maypole Colliery. Silcock held up the wall for more than an hour.

Roy Lick Denies Milk Increase To Be Two Cents

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP)—Roy Lick, Ontario Milk Producers League secretary, said Thursday milk prices may rise next November to meet increased production costs but added there was "no definite indication at present" of the amount of increase.

He denied reports that an increase of one to two cents could be expected, saying producers were not yet in a position to make "even a wild guess" as to the amount.

Mr. Lick said milk prices will have to find their own level after the current price agreement between producers and distributors ends Oct. 31. Increased labor, maintenance and equipment costs indicated a raise may be necessary. On the other hand, a survey before then may show that other factors have dropped enough to make an increase unnecessary.

P. Bruce Scott, general manager of the Ontario Milk Distributors Association, said costs in the dairy industry are reaching the breaking point. But he said he could not see that the price to the consumer will rise.

The producer-distributor agreement signed last December caused a two-cent increase in most sections of the province. The agreement gave producers 5 cents more per hundred weight.

Truckers' Dispute Cuts Off Supplies For New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP). — The Metropolitan truckers' wages walkout which threatens serious disruption of New York City's economic life, is spreading.

Prospects appeared dim to-day for an early settlement.

About 10,000 drivers and helpers—half the city's truckers — were idle, and other workers were reported joining in the stoppage, now in its third day.

Many reail outlets remained cut off from regular supply channels and food store representatives said soaring prices were likely to result.

A meeting was fixed Thursday for next Tuesday after a new set of demands was drawn up by the Teamsters Union (AFL) Local 807, which launched the shutdown.

The demands include a proposal for a 25-cent hourly wage increase and will be formally presented to employer groups about noon to-day. The teamsters originally asked a 50-cent increase.

The new wage proposal, higher than the 15-cent-an-hour increase rejected by Local 807 on the eve of the walkout, was accompanied by a demand for an employer-financed welfare plan, and other benefits.

Speakers sharply criticized the city's two other large teamsters' locals—282 and 816—for not joining in the walkout. Officials of the two locals earlier accepted the 15-cent wage offer.

However, some of the members of the two groups have left their jobs anyway.

There were reports that the two non-striking New York locals, as well as nine locals in New Jersey and Westchester County, NY, would join Local 807 in pressing for the new contract demands.

Tells History Of Memorial

ROSENEATH, Sept. 3. (ENS)—Thursday was the Historical Research Day in the WI. Miss Aureen Brown gave a talk on war memorials, dealing specifically with Alderville War Memorial.

The short historical sketch of Alderville's war memorial explained that the first sod was turned by the chief's wife with a silver trowel on August 21, 1927. The monument was erected by McKeels of Campbellford who gave freely of their time.

The tablet on the monument was unveiled in 1927. Addresses were delivered by the troop commander, Major J. M. Bygott, firing squad commander Major E. Johnston, Judge E. Huycke, and W. R. Coyle, the Indian agent at that time.

The dedicatory inscription inlaid in the cement, containing the 33 names form the central panel of the 40-foot monument. Around the cenotaph are eight small monuments in memory of the eight lives lost. These monuments are linked together by black chains, symbolizing the comradeship and the graves of the dead.

The meeting was held in the town hall with Mrs. C. Grigg presiding. Mrs. J. W. Pacey was hostess.

Mrs. B. Thackeray, secretary-treasurer, reported $61.87 in the treasury.

It was decided to give $5 prize money to the Agricultural Society to be awarded for children's slippers. All entries will be sent on to England. It was also decided to donate $5 to the Cobourg Hospital Auxiliary.

The district project, "Household Accounting," will be held at Roseneath about the third week in October with Fenella and Harwood branches present.

An invitation was received and accepted to visit Baltimore branch on September 30.

Mrs. C. Grigg spoke on the life of Alexander Muir, author of The Maple Leaf. Miss Joan Grigg played a piano solo.

Cobourg Rotarians Tour Plastics Plant

COBOURG, Sept. 3. (ENS)—Cobourg Rotarians, through arrangements made by Superintendent Harry Gadd of the local CGE plastics plant were taken on a tour of inspection of the new plant and saw some marvelous plastic processes which they had never witnessed before. The club members were divided into groups and the plant management supplied each group with a guide and every type of plastic manufacturing was demonstrated to them. One of the most interesting features was the transformation of a small block of plastic raw material into the plastic shell of a radio. The operator inserted the block of plastic into the press. The machine applied pressure between die and the moulding material and the result was a radio cabinet. Electric appliances,, knife handles, telephone equipment and many other items were shown in process of manufacture.

Auditors Find Shortages In Town Accounts

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 3 — (ENS). — A further discrepancy of $280.18 in the town accounts was revealed at the council meeting, following the presentation of the auditor's report.

After the report had been read to council by the clerk, the Mayor announced that A. E. Lynch, representing C. W. Cochrane and Company, the auditors, was available to explain any points on which the members might wish clarification.

Mr. Lynch explained that the apparent shortage was actually money which had been expended by the then treasurer, F. F. C Davey, who resigned in May, and for which there were no vouchers. He remarked that the matter might be one of carelessness or bad book-keeping, and in company with the former treasurer, the auditors had attempted to trace the items concerned, but without result.

In a number of cases cheques had been issued to cover authorized paylists, but the cheque had been for a greater amount than the amount of the paylist, and vouchers for the additional money had not so far been produced.

The matter of unemployment insurance stamps came into the picture, with some $29 unaccounted for, the auditors having found that the stamps had not been purchased.

Mr. Lynch stressed that there might be some explanation for these apparent shortages, but the auditors had so far been unable to find it.

Councillor Kingston suggested that a further claim be made on the bonding company which had furnished the fidelity bond, but some members felt that they might not entertain a claim at this late date and in view of the previous claim of nearly $1,700.

This claim had been made early this year following the disclosure by the auditors of the shortage in that amount for the period ending December 31, 1947.

After some discussion, members instructed the clerk to write the bonding company pressing the claim for this new amount, in view of the fact that it had occurred during the tenure of office of the individual on whom the company had issued the bond.

Council Declines To Pay More Costs In Liquor Case

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 3. — (ENS). — The Council meeting Thursday night, touched gingerly on the controversial matter of the liquor referendum inquiry on Thursday night.

The matter came up when Town Clerk J. F. McGregor read two letters which had been received by the town solicitor from Armstrong and Willmott, the first of which undertook to handle the case for the town, and the second reporting on the first day of the hearing.

In this letter the town was informed that the fee for the complete hearing would be $50, but it was felt that it would be necessary to have six additional witnesses at the next hearing, and suggesting that these be subpeonaed to give evidence on behalf of the returning officer.

The mayor explained he had telephoned as many members of Council as he could, requesting authority to retain counsel for Mr. McGregor, and asked for a motion ratifying his action.

Councillor Burgess pointed out that up to now the town is faced with a charge of $50 for the lawyer, and that the paylist showed a further amount of $11.50 for the town solicitor. In addition, they would have to foot the bill for additional witnesses.

Councillor Macmillan said that he had been in favor of a lawyer for Mr. McGregor at the outset, and had agreed to the request of the mayor. The ruling of the judge, however, that the returning officer is not the town clerk for the period that he is employed on the election has changed the picture.

Mr. Macmillan said that he would not go back on his word, but would object to the lawyer appearing on behalf of Mr. McGregor at the next hearing.

Members agreed to ratify the action of the mayor in retaining the counsel for the first hearing, and after some further discussion, decided to dispense with his services for the remainder of the hearing, on motion of Councillor Macmillan, who remarked that he did not wish to incur any further expense in connection with the case.

During discussion of the motion, the town clerk accused members of Council of wanting a "one-sided hearing," asking, "Is that British justice? Is that fair play?"

After the motion had been approved, the clerk said that if the results of the plebiscite had been different there would not have been any complaints regarding irregularities.

Charge Cabbie Under New Law

LINDSAY, Sept. 3 — (CP). — Believed to be the first case of its kind under a new Ontario act, the inspector of public vehicles is prosecuting a Toronto taxi firm here.

The highways department official charges that the taxi's drivers collected individual fares from passengers they drove between Toronto and Haliburton. The Act calls for a price to be paid for hiring the cab. Bus companies hold highway franchises which enable them to charge individual fares.

Dog Tax Collections Total $618 To Date

CAMPFELLFORD, Sept. 3. — (ENS)—A report submitted by R. H. Townsend informed Thursday's council meeting that to date dog-tax collections amounted to $618.

However, there still remains $84 uncollected, and Mr. Townsend asked what action should be taken next, as the delinquents had already been notified by mail.

Members agreed to leave the matter to Mr. Townsend for action through the police department.

Council also agreed to supply the assessor with an assistant for four or five days, while he is doing extra work on the assessment rolls.

Put Out Grass Fire

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 3. — (ENS). — The Campbellford fire brigade had a short run at noon Thursday to deal with a small grass fire on the hill at the top of Raglan St.

The fire, which is an annual event, was extinguished in a few minutes, members of the brigade beating it out with brush and branches.

Belleville Man Gets Two-Month Sentence

SIMCOE, Sept. 3. (CP)—Dick Rosatte of Belleville, was sentenced here Thursday to two months when he was convicted on a charge of resisting arrest. He also was fined $20 for assaulting Nick Burak of Delhi.

Burak said he was talking to a girl on the street when Rosatte attacked him without warning. County Constable Earl Dickson and Constable T. Quance broke up the fight but had a hard time getting Rosatte to the police station.

Female Help Shortage

COBOURG, Sept. 3. (ENS) — Shortage of female help in Cobourg has reached fairly serious proportion, Maurice Booth, manager of the Employment Office, said yesterday. Mr. Booth said that his files list jobs of all kinds for feminine applicants and he can place them in factories, offices, stores or in domestic service. Right now there are jobs open for forty women if the ladies are interested and most of them do not seem very interested.

On the masculine side of the situation, there are not as many jobs available as for the ladies, but there is a fair demand for unskilled labor. Mr. Booth points out that when the office was opened in 1942 there were about 800 employment books in Cobourg. Right now 2,000 people hold employment books.

Milder Air Over Moscow And Berlin

It was Winston Churchill who many months ago urged a return to the tested channels of dignified and high diplomacy, with its exchange of views behind closed doors and its negotiation aloof from the public glare. That has been the course followed in recent weeks in Moscow and to a lesser extent in Berlin. Foreign correspondents have not had as much to say about Moscow and Berlin as they would like, and the newspapers have been remarkably lacking in headlines; nevertheless, it is becoming evident that the discussions have been momentous and that they are achieving beneficial results. There is some hope that the Berlin two-way blockade will be lifted and that channels of communication and commerce will be freer between eastern Europe and the western world.

* * *

It is an interesting coincidence that Zhdanov, generally believed to have been one of the three Russians most likely to succeed Stalin, died in the week that Soviet foreign policy seemed to be turning away from the paths which he approved. He was only 52; as seen by foreign newspapermen a month ago he was in good health; his funeral has been carried out with unusual speed. He was generally credited with being the prime mover in the organization of the "Cominform" as a bulwark against western democratic states. He was largely responsible for the Cominform's action in ruling Tito and his Communists out of the organization—an action which has backfired, at least in Yugoslavia. He was at the centre of the Communist onslaught against near and far neighbours—for instance in the Berlin blockade episode. This policy has not resulted in capitalists countries capitulating. It has not paid off in Soviet terms. Perhaps it has not paid off for Zhdanov personally, who now is a not too hallowed corpse.

* * *

The supposed turn for the better in East-West relations and the concomitant death of Zhdanov should not be misconstrued by hopeful people of the West. As the Montreal Star has remarked: "It will take the deaths of many Zhdanovs—and much else besides—to persuade the western world that Russian Communism has set itself on a new and peaceful course".

Henri Bourassa Of Other Years

On Wednesday Henri Bourassa was eighty years old. He withdrew from public life many years ago, but older readers will remember sometimes with anger, sometimes with a smile, sometimes with approval, the tempestuous oratory and fiery political career of this French-Canadian nationalist. For the best part of a generation he was next to Sir Wilfrid Laurier the most outstanding figure in the political life of Quebec.

His nationalism was perhaps as much Canadian as Canadien. While it stemmed from pride in his own province and his own folk, and he was ever on guard against encroachments on French-Canadian ways by English-Canadian means, he had a zealot's passion for the whole of his native land. He was not the kind of man who could lead a party; he was too independent in thinking and utterance for that. He was often an embarrassment to his friends as to his foes and loved the political battle more than fruits of party position. His tongue was feared, loved and acclaimed. He was at his best not in set speeches but in one of the famous "assemblees contradictoires" which used to be a part of Quebec election campaigns, when rival candidates spitted counter-charges at each other. Many an Ottawa big-wig was ruffled by his biting, emotional attacks, awful to suffer, delightful to witness.

We write of Henri Bourassa in the past tense. Though he is still alive, his tongue is quiet and his life quietly removed from political avenues.

The French Dilemma

Last month M. Paul Reynaud, chief minister in the Marie Government, succeeded in securing for himself wide statutory powers to regulate the economic affairs of France. He attempted to use them to institute the policy of laissez-faire advocated by Rene Mayer, financier and businessman. The policy was simply—hands off business, let prices reach their own level, but while they are doing this, keep wages down. That was the policy which Reynaud and Mayer tried to put through.

The Socialists supporting the Marie Government could not stomach this latest move, so they withdrew their support and the Marie Government fell. Now M. Schuman is attempting to pick up the pieces and carry on from where he left off in July, when his Government was replaced by the Marie Government. But M. Schuman's earlier government foundered on the same economic shoals. The new one is likely to do so again, unless the economic policy is altered to suit the Socialists. The Socialists want price ceilings, control of profits and some increase in minimum wage rates. An alteration of policy to suit the Socialists would not suit the conservative supporters of Marie or Schubert. It is not a pretty dilemma.

It is not an unusual dilemma in these times. Even in Canada where the cost-of-living has not soared as it has in France and where basic wage rates are comparatively much higher, there is a split, even within the two older parties, between the supporters of controls and the believers in complete free enterprise (laissez-faire). In France the situation is acute. The Communists, who are strong, are making large demands. The Communist-dominated Confederation of Labour is threatening widespread strikes.

Some compromise way out may be found, for France is involved in Europe's aches and pains and needs stable government, and the middle parties are anxious to keep the Communists and De Gaullists out of power. France's dilemma is really the French Socialists' dilemma. If they compromise their economic principles for the sake of establishing steady government will many of their followers be disillusioned and drift into Communist arms? If they do not and not only stay out of the Schuman cabinet but vote against it, government in France will be unsteady if not on the rocks.

Unauthorized Immigrants Authorized

During the summer nearly a hundred Baltic refugees—for so these Lats and Estonians who have thus sought homes in Canada must be termed—crossed the Atlantic in small boats. They came without visas or authority from our immigration officials. They came as would-be immigrants, leaving behind them their homelands now under Soviet domination. The fields and freedom of Canada must have had magnetic attraction for them who braved thousands of miles of sea and months of exposure to the elements in ketches no bigger than the vessels used by Norsemen and the discoverers of our shores.

The first 29 of these people have formally been admitted to Canada. The Immigration Branch is now screening the other intrepid immigrants and we hope that as many as are found politically innocuous will be given freedom to live in Canada. Their demonstrated courage, will for freedom and tenacity of purpose are credentials of their fitness for Canadian citizenship.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Another headline informs us that the "Lord's Day Act To Be Expected". Some new revelation of the divine, or more Sunday performances at holiday resorts?

When a suburban bus and a truck collided late Wednesday afternoon at the corner of Water and Hunter streets we noticed that the police arrived about eight minutes after the accident but that five lawyers were Johnny-on-the-spot in three minutes. Tush! gentlemen, where are your professional ethics?

American chemists have announced the discovery of a new chemical which will kill 'athlete's foot' fungi. The chemical is derived from oven gas. Is this merely another indication that modern scientists are catching up with the knowledge of old-timers? In our grandfather's day everybody who could crowd in, put his feet up to the oven door of the kitchen stove—so in that day we never heard of anybody having 'athlete's foot'.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Is there a railway station at Chemong?

ANSWER: If you mean Chemong, Saskatchewan, yes. It is really only a flag stop on the Winnipeg, Hudson Bay Junction, The Pas and Prince Albert line (C.N.R.). Chemong (Sask.) is between Ceba and Otosquen—if that information is any help to you. It is 421 miles from Winnipeg, and 68 from The Pas. If you mean Chemong, Peterborough County, Ontario, no. Perhaps you do not mean our Chemong, because most official directories and boards on which the name appears spell it "Chemung". They apparently heard the Indians say it differently from what Chemong Park folk heard it.

QUESTION: Why is it called a "holiday"?

ANSWER: Originally a holiday was a holy day—a feast day in commemoration of a saint or a sacred personage (like annointed kings) or some great event in the Church calendar—like the Crucifixion. (The word comes from Old English "halig daeg.") Now it is a day, or days (the more the merrier) when homo stupidens is snatched away from the easy, quiet and congenial routine of his work and home and begins to labour at making merry in strange, unhandy and wearisome locations. The chief purpose of holidays now is not to worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness, but to be able to come back with a new set of fish stories or descriptions of the clothes, food and envy-rousing amenities encountered during nights under canvas or under the dome of the Palladium hotel.

SIR: What is the best remedy for a hangover?

ANSWER: My partner Omega is the expert on mornings-after, but he is at present in Moscow tussling with vodka while acting as an invisible observer at the elbows of the foreign ministers who have been thrashing out this and that with Uncle Joe's minions. However, I shall give you my advice for what it is worth.

First of all, take at least cold comfort in the warning of Mayster Isaac Judaeus who said: "It is unpossybie for them that drinketh overmoche water in theyr youth to come to ye aege that God ordained them". Then you migat try a little of the tail of the dog that bit you (e.g. some flat beer). Or a drink of concentrated lime juice, or a big breakfast. A draught of the following cordial is especially recommended by learned men: Take of Sp. Ammon. Aromat. mx, Sodii Bic. gr. xv, Tr. Capsici miii, Tr. Card. Co. Zi, Tr. Zingib. Fort. mv, Tr. Cinc. Co. mx, Tr. Nuc. Vom. mx, Sp. Chlorof. mx. and Water of Orange Flowers up to Zi. Take also of Caffein Cit. gr. v, Acid Cit. gr. x, Tr. Aurant mv; and water up to Zi. Add two tablespoonfuls of the first to two of the second and drink whilst the effervescence lasts.

QUESTION: How long is the Trent Canal?

ANSWER: 240.56 miles, from Trenton to Port Severn. You may add to that the 5.15 miles of the Murray Canal, which cuts through Prince Edward County (thus creating it an island) and makes navigation possible directly between Lake Ontario and Trenton, without going through the Bay of Quinte.

I KNOW that a group of hens is called "a brood of hens"/ What about geese?

ANSWER: "A gaggle of geese" or, if they are flying, a "skein". You may be interested in others: A sege of herons, A bevy of quails, A covey of partridge, A congregation of plovers, A murmuration of starling, An exaltation of larks, A watch of nightingales, A badelynge of ducks, A muster of peacocks, A building of rooks, A cast of hawks, A plump of wildfowl, A host of sparrows, A herd of swans or cranes.

YOU have written in your column quite a bit about Peterborough street names. Can you tell me why Reid Street is called that?

ANSWER: I am sorry that I cannot answer your question. I presume it was named after a man called Reid. Who he was or what he was I cannot say. I shall be grateful to any reader who can assist me to answer this question.

WHAT is "flotsam and jetsam"?

ANSWER: Goods which float on the sea after a shipwreck are called "flotsam"; but if they are thrown out to lighten the ship they are "jetsam". Actually there is a third category which poets and cliche-makers omit—ligan. Goods which are thrown out of a ship and sunk, with a buoy attached, are called "ligan". When it cannot be ascertained who is the owner of such goods, then, if found in the sea, they belong to the finder. But all wrecks and wreckages cast ashore are in general the perquisites of the Crown, unless the owner of the land on which they are found has a legitimate "grant of wreck".

FOR THE RECORD: The fruit and vegetable crop this year promised to be a bumper one, as was the grain. However the heat wave of August 25-28 and the dry month have taken a toll particularly of the fruit crop. Forty per cent. of the tomato crop has been damaged but peaches have survived to blush prettily in six-quart baskets at prices ranging from 89 to $1.00. Tomatoes are selling as low as 49 cents for a six-quart basket.

Why The Earl Of Derby Is A "Catskin Earl"

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

A CORRESPONDENT who recently picked up a back number of a British newspaper writes to ask us why the Earl of Derby is a "catskin earl", and why so much fuss was made in Britain early this year when Edward George Villiers Stanley died and was succeeded by his grandson, Lord Stanley (his son having died ten years ago).

The answer to the first question is easily given. There are three "catskin earls"—the Earl of Derby, the Earl of Shrewsbury, and the Earl of Huntingdon. The word "catskin" is the corruption of "quatre skin", referring to the four rows of ermine worn on the robes of the ancient earls. Now an earl is restricted to three rows, with the exceptions noted above; only dukes have four rows.

Answering the second question is a little more difficult. Part of the answer may be found in an observation made by The London Times some years ago, that "The Derby family is the most powerful territorial influence left in England. They were once kings in Man Island, and all over South Lancashire today the Derby name is much affected by public houses for their signboards and by fond mothers for their first born". Certainly the family has a unique hold upon the English public, which is hardly surprising when its richly varied history is even briefly examined.

The Earls of Derby have been great men in Britain's history for eight centuries, and several of them won lasting renown. The first Earl was Robert de Ferrers, who was given the title as a reward for valiant fighting in the cause of King Stephen. John of Gaunt, great soldier and politician, was an Earl of Derby as well as Duke of Lancaster; another Earl was Gaunt's son, Henry Bolingbroke, the Prince Hal who became King Henry IV. When he ascended the Throne in 1399, that line of Derbys was discontinued. The present line began eighty-six years later, when Thomas Stanley, a prominent politician and landowner, was selected as Earl of Derby.

One of the most famous Earls was James Stanley, seventh of his line, a fearless cavalier who rushed to the aid of King Charles I when the Cromwell rebellion broke out. James Stanley fought bravely and in many instances successfully; he raised money and troops for the King, and fortified one of his estates so well his Countess held it for two years against the rebels. He shared his Sovereign's fate, however, and was beheaded on October 15, 1651. It was in his honour that the English Derby was instituted, 129 years later, by Edward Smith Stanley, the twelfth Earl.

Most distinguished of the Earls of Derby was the fourteenth, Edward Geoffrey Stanley, the first statesman in British history to become Prime Minister three times, who was also a man of considerable scholarship and literary attainments, as well as a keen sportsman. In his person, perhaps, was to be found most of the things which give the Derby family so firm a hold upon the British public, for as one writer put it, "Horses and Homer, politics and property, poetry and eloquence—these have been among the Derby attributes for as long as Britain has been a United Kingdom."

Speaking With Embarrassing Authority

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

IT is the common practice of politicians to say that all undesirable developments are due to forces beyond their own control and to say that all desirable developments are due directly to their own wide policies. Most often the matters under question are so vague or confused that few can sort out the elements of truth and error. But once in a while a voice speaks with embarrassing authority and sets the record right.

This has recently happened in England where Rt. Hon. Aneurin Bevan, the Minister of Health, has been publicly corrected by Dr. J. Chassar Moir, the professor of obstetrics and gynaecology in the University of Oxford. Certainly in the speech to which Dr. Moir took exception Mr. Bevan had claimed a great deal to his own credit and to the discredit of Mr. Winston Churchill. While addressing a gathering at Durham, Mr. Bevan quoted figures upon maternal and infant mortality as they were in 1926, when Mr. Churchill was Chancellor of the Exchequer, and those of the last two years, under the Labour Government. Then he declared:

"I am keeping the mothers and children alive, but Mr. Churchill half starved them to death... Every single vital statistic by which the health and progress of the population can be measured is infinitely better now under the supervision of a common miner than they were under the supervision of an aristocrat."

Upon reading a report of Mr. Bevan's speech Dr. Moir wrote a letter to the editor of The Sunday Times. He pointed out that by 1935 improved methods of controlling the spread of infection (use of face masks, etc.) were coming into use. Then came the new drugs for the control of sepsis, sulphonamide first, and then penicillin. Because of these innovations alone, for every six women who died from sepsis in 1934 only three died in 1937 and only one died in 1945. And there were parallel developments in the control of toxaemia and haemorrhage in 1934 there was only one in 1944.

If credit is to be given for the wonderful improvement in these statistics, Dr. Moir believes, it should be given to medical science and its discoveries, rather than to the politicians. "Medical statistics," he wrote, "are sober and—scientifically speaking—sacred facts. So at least it might be supposed. But these statistics are fast becoming the plaything of politics."

In short, the difference between the statistics of 1926 and those of today are not entirely the difference between Mr. Churchill and Mr. Bevan. "The causes of this change," as Dr. Moir points out, "are plain to all who have technical knowledge." But it is always possible for the politician to assume that those who have the technical knowledge are not likely to be very many.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy, Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee.

And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth. And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and walk?

But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy), Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house.

But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men. (Matt. 9: 2-3.)

Peace Chances Improving In Palestine

PARIS, Sept. 2 (Reuters). — The chances for a peace settlement in Palestine have improved, Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations Palestine mediator, declared here to-day afer talks Wednesday with Trgve Line, UN Secretary-General.

"When I began my negotiations I said there was a one-per-cent chance," Count Pernadotte said. "Now I think the chances are better, perhaps two per cent.

"The situation in Palestine is very calm except in Jerusalem where it is very grave."

Asked if he knew of any peace negotiations between the Jews and Arabs at present, Count Bernadotte replied:

"I don't know anything about it personally. If the Arabs and the Jews should start negotiations without going through me, I should be the happiest man in the world.

"I don't mind how peace comes to Palestine, whether it is through me or through others."

Referring to neutralization of the Red Cross area of Jerusalem, Count Bernadotte said there had been an agreement between the Egyptians, the Jews, and the United Nations officers that all the troops should be withdrawn from this area.

Yugoslavs Run Own Show But Still Linked To USSR

BY ALEX SINGLETON

LONDON, Sept. 3 (CP)—Deep in the cominform's dog-house, Marshall Tito and his Yugoslav government still plan a future tightly linked with Russia in world affairs.

But, just as firmly, they have adopted a no-compromise policy of independence on domestic decisions and, short of occupation by Russia they seem determined to stick to it.

If the Yugoslavs get away with their double-edged objective it will mark a historic departure from the Marxist concept of unswerving and unquestioning disciplined docility.

Yugoslav authorities in a position to know say this brought about the cominform's denunciation in the fear this "single step" toward domestic independence would lead to others on a world-wide basis.

Russia initiated the attempted purge of Yugoslavia's leaders in the frank fear they would move further away from Kremlin control to the point of seeking neutrality in the struggle between East and West.

Can Run Own Show

The Yugolsavs say they had no such thought, that their loyalty to the Communist cause has been proven.

They say they recognize the need of a supreme command in a common battle against what they term the "Imperialist" world.

But strongly nationalist by tradition, the Yugoslav leaders insist they can prove their communist solidarity while demonstrating their domestic independence.

What, then, are the prospect of Soviet action in the immediate future?

The first —and the one upon which the Yugoslavs believe the Russians will concentrate— is propaganda warfare and moral persuasion.

The second is Economic Warfare.

The third: occupation by the Red Army along with a revolt by anti-Tito factions.

With fingers crossed, the Yugoslav leaders are gambling that Russia won't try occupation—at least not now. They figure the Reds would run across resistance, just as the Germans did, which would cost them more in prestige than the potential benefits.

Believes Tito On Death List

MONTREAL, Sept. 3 —(CP)— Capt. Michael Fielding, a British writer and lecturer who makes his home in Chicago, is back from Yugoslavia and says all is not well there, that "Tito is due for assassination."

He arrived here Wednesday and declared the Yugoslav leader Marshal Tito, was in disfavor because he has been invloved in in a plot to assassinate Stalin. But, he said, outside countries are wrong in believing Tito's quarrel with the Kremlin means he is swinging to the West."

Of Canadian Yugoslavs who have been returning to their homeland— the last group left Montreal last Saturday—in the last year he said they "haven't got a chance. . .Most will not be heard from again."

He said Yugoslavs abroad were considered a potential threat to Tito's regime and are subject to heavy propaganda on return. However, once inside the country, even the sincerest communists are regarded with suspicion simply because they have had contact with "Fascist" countries.

Electrics Tie The Petes In Soccer Go

Two smart soccer aggregations, Petes and CGE, entertained the fans to a league match that was split between them, each getting one point in a two-all goal count at King Edward Park Thursday evening, thereby tying all the teams in the league standing.

Within seven minutes, CGE were up two goals. Dalton Downer, Petes' full back, put the ball through his own goal from a Booth corner kick. On the next visit by CGE Welland left Strong in possession to find the inside of the upright with a bullet drive. Quickly Larry Payne introduced a close-passing game that let Hennessey place the sphere right across the goal where the Petes' forwards failed to connect. Just before the interval, Byers placed a dropping ball over the crossbar.

On resuming, the Petes battled to the limit, but the Electric boys peppered the Petes' goalie, G. Roster, from all angles to find him unbeatable. A breakaway by the Payne brothers ended in Harold placing a beautiful centre into goal where Hennessey connected with his head for the first count. Keen play prevailed thereafter with Eddie Payne getting the equalizer on an individual effort to even the count. Towards the finish both goals went under steady pressure without anything happening.

CGE—A. Greenhörn, goal; J. Booth and S. Murduff, full-backs; H. Steel, S. McGann and E. Cotton, half-backs; R. Strong, A. Welland, F. Attard, T. McPhate, J. Turner, forwards; sub, McCurrah.

Petes — G. Foster, goal; K. Downer and Dalt Downer, full-backs; W. Post, J. Byers and N. Lane, half-backs; J. Hennessey, L. Payne, H. Payne, Don Downer and E. Lane, forwards.

Referee—Art O'Halloran.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

"They're not at all unbeatable, though they seem to think so lately," Coach Red Creighton remarks about Oshawa's senior "B" lacrossers, who play the Petes here at nine tonight in Miller Bowl. We figure the locals can take 'em if they really hustle, though it is true the Motor Citizens took the Petes in their last two clashes. It is quite probable that these clubs will meet in the finals, and tonight's match might be a good indication of what fans can expect. Schedule winds up this eve, but for a loose end or two, and then group semi-finals commence. This is the right weather for this rugged game, and a huge crowd will be on deck for tonight's doings.

* * * * * *

The same might be said of tomorrow aft at three in Riverside, weather being okay. That's when the surprising Kingston Locos—who knocked off Batawa in three straight—tangle with the Petes' baseballers in the first of four-in-seven COBL finals. And the right to meet Toronto in provincial semi-finals. Second game is Monday in Kingston and third here next Wednesday. Manager Eddie Murphy has his three hurlers, Loucks, Edger and Whitehill, all available, and the Locos are reported at full strength, too. Should be the ball game of the season before packed stands. Locos refused to open the series here last night, wanting to rest their flingers up.

Oshawa Plays Legion

At the Bowl tomorrow night, two men's softball games are on tap. Oshawa juves play Kawartha Sports at 6.15 in an OASA fixture, and then about eight the Oshawa Colts tackle our Legionnaires. In the first of their two-of-three OASA senior "B" playdowns. Fans will recognize some former senior "A" Oshawa players in this lineup: Yourkevitch, cf; Stark, 3b; Magee, 2b; Keeler, ss; Weatherup, 1b; Tyson, rf; Turner, lf; Cooper, c; McConkey, p; McLaughlin, p; etc. Legion will be battling for this first one and they rate support.

Woollens and Ashby's have one, or two if necessary, games at the Bowl tonight, starting at seven. Second—and maybe third—of their two-of-three PWSU junior playdowns, Ashby's taking the first. Winner continues then in provincial playdowns, losers being out. And Westclox are off for St. Catharines tomorrow for the rest of their PWSU intermediate "A" series, provincial semi-finals. St. Kitts took the first win here, but the Clockers are confident they can even it up in the aft and force a deciding game in the evening. Some local fans were expected to go along. A few more local lasses' playoffs and their season is o'er.

Giving Up The Ghosts

Bill Fry came down from Toronto for the ORFU to conduct a grid meeting here last eve. Fred Dufton phoned up from Cobourg to say the Ghosts were definitely out this fall, so it'll be Panthers, Oshawa and Orillia in a three-team group. They'll fill in with an exhibition or two and a run a two-game playoff for the top two teams instead of a sudden-deather. That'll fill up the autumn Saturdays and Thanksgiving Day okay. All three clubs were emphatic in saying Cobourg was trying to pull a fast one and get a flock of Toronto stars later on—overlooking the Sept. 1 residence rule. It is too bad, as we liked the Galloping Ghosts, but rules are rules. Rest of the info is in elsewhere.

Some Soccer Chatter

CGE and Petes tied 2-2 in a neat soccer number last evening to sew up the standing. No match tomorrow but CGE goes to Toronto to play Davenports for the works' championship. Bus leaves at nine. Following Saturday sees Toronto Irish, an outstanding outfit, playing Electrics here. Local clubs should arrange to pick up their postponements, keeping it in mind that Lindsay can't get down in time for evening frays. Juvenile and junior school soccer schedules will be starting in a few weeks here. Glad to hear Ben McMaster is back again—he took in last night's game. And we're told that two Old Country teams will be touring Canada next summer. Next loop executive meeting is Tuesday night in the "Y".

Montreal Edges Leafs 8-7; Grimes Homers

By The Associated Press

Montreal Royals, after a year's absence, once again reign as champions of the International League.

Manager Clay Hopper's ball team mathematically clinched the circuit's 1948 pennant Thursday night by defeating the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs 8-7, while the runner-up Newark Bears divided a doubleheader with the last-place Baltimore Orioles.

The Royals, who paced the circuit most of the way, are 13 games ahead of the Bears and have 13 games to play while the Bears have only 11.

For the Royals, it is their third pennant in the last four years. They missed winning last year's flag on the final day of the season when Jersey City nosed them out by a single game.

A three-run ninth inning homer by Toronto's Len Kensecke knocked the Royals out of the race last year and Thursday night a ninth-inning four-bagger won the flag for Montreal.

Oscar Grimes, who played for Toronto in 1947, belted Montreal's pennant-winning homer. The blow came, with the bases empty, off relief pitcher Al Porto.

Six-Run Blast

Jack Banta, who started the game in which Montreal lost the flag in 1947, opened for the Royals Thursday night and had a 7-1 lead going into the eighth inning when he was knocked from the hill during a six-run blast that enabled the Leafs to tie the score. Big blow of the Toronto rally was a three-run homer by Van Harrington.

The first five Leafs to face Banta in the eighth reached base safely. Frank Laga came in but couldn't stem the rally and he was replaced by Al Zachary who finally got the Leafs out.

The Orioles downed the Bears 8-7 in the first game, pounding out 11 hits, including Howie Moss' 33rd homer. The Bears took the nightcap 8-4, scoring six runs in the eighth inning to win.

In the battle for fourth place, Rochester Red Wings remained half a game ahead of Syracuse Chiefs by beating Buffalo Bisons 7-6, while the Chiefs turned back Jersey City Giants 4-3.

FIGHT LIQUIDATION

LITTLE TEY, Essex, England—(CP).—The 90 residents of this village without a pub have agreed to fight "by every constitutional means" a proposal to unite them with Marks Tey, a larger village which has a public house and a railway station.

Local Panthers Will Play In Three-Team Grouping

Owing to the withdrawal of Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts, the Peterborough Panthers will operate in a three-team ORFU intermediate group this autumn with Oshawa and Orillia. They will fill in the date left vacant with exhibition games and the top two clubs at schedule's end will play a home-and-home series for group honors, instead of a sudden-death game.

These points were cleared up at a group meeting in the Legion Hall last night, with Bill Fry of Toronto coming down to act as chairman. Three clubs were present, and Fred Dufton of Cobourg phoned to say Cobourg definitely would not be in this season. The winners of this group playoff in the ORFU with the Niagara group to declare finalists against Western Ontario. The Ontario winner may challenge for Eastern Canada and Dominion sudden-death playoffs; also.

Group Chairman

Dave Wilson of Peterborough was elected chairman of this group with Roy Cornish of Oshawa secretary-treasurer. Dick Ouimet of this city is on the ORFU intermediate executive, and Bill McGill of Orillia was added in place of Fred Dufton of Cobourg. It was decided not to refund Cobourg's entry fee this season, and an effort will be made to get another club than Cobourg for a fourth entry next year. The Ghosts had dropped out when other clubs declined to permit them to bring in imports after the Sept. 1 deadline, it being pointed out that Cobourg could draw from centres al the way east to Montreal, without requiring imports.

The revised schedule drawn up has Oshawa opening in Orillia on Sept. 18. Orillia plays in Peterborough on Sept. 25. The Panthers go to Oshawa on Oct. 2 and Oshawa is back here on Oct. 11. Panthers at Orillia on Oct. 23. An exhibition game or two will also be worked in, and playoffs are on Oct. 30 and Nov. 6.

BIG FIELD

A crack field of Canadian-bred two-year-olds will contest the $5,000 Canadian Derby at Polo Park in Winnipeg Saturday.

The full field has not yet been disclosed, but certain starters include the Winnipeg-owned horses that will likely go postwards as public choices—Lord Fairmond and Victory Gift. Lord Fairmond, R. J. Speers' great colt, will probably rate slightly over A. G. (Scotty) Kennedy's smart filly on the strength of his showing in the Ontario King's Plate, when he ran second to Last Mark.

NHL Governors Launch Pension Plan

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.—(CP).—Governors of the National Hockey League Thursday launched player pension and insurance plans and talked of a possible 70-game schedule for each club in 1949-50. Conn Smythe, general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, proposed at the governors' semi-annual meeting here that the present schedule be lengthened from 60 to 70 games.

No change was made in the already prepared 1948-49 schedule, and the proposal was held over to the governors' next meeting in the spring.

The hockey moguls gave formal approval to the long-heralded pension plan, retroactive to the 1947-48 season. It is a contributory scheme, with the amount of the benefits depending on the player's length of service.

Contracts were awarded for the group insurance scheme, which amounts to a $10,000 straight life policy on each player.

Adoption of the 70-game schedule would probably mean a boost of about 10 per cent. in players' salaries.

Full schedule for the coming season will be announced next week. Chicago Black Hawks are already scheduled to open at Detroit Red Wings Oct. 13, and Rangers will meet Canadiens Oct. 13. Boston gets under way Oct. 17 at Toronto.

Drunk Receives Change

CALGARY (CP). — Pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly, a man brought into court was fined $20. "But you have got $25 of mine already" he exclaimed, referring to his bail. "Fine," replied the magistrate, "you'll get $5 change."

VERN STEPHENS, sensational, hard-hitting shortstop of the Boston Red Sox whose exceedingly potent bat in recent weeks has kept his team in the thick of the American League baseball pennant fight. Stephens, who is second only to Joe DiMaggio, in runs batted in and home runs, came to the Sox from St. Louis Browns. When Ted Williams, the Sox slugger, was forced out of the game several weeks due to injuries, it was Stephens who jumped into the void with his bat.

Cubs At Bottom of Heap But Knock Out Dodgers 7-6

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They aren't going any place themselves, but the Chicago Cubs are having plenty to say in deciding the National League pennant winner.

Mired in the basement almost from the start of the campaign, the Cubs have assumed the role of "spoilers" with a vengeance. They are raising havoc with the league leaders.

First they threw a monkey wrench into the pennant plans of the New York Giants, then the St. Louis Cardinals, then the Boston Braves and now the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Giants were the first to feel the sting of the Bruins. Back on June 9 they were sitting in the driver's seat, enjoying a two-game lead on the Cardinals. The Cubs proceeded to knock the Polo Grounders right out of first place by taking three out of four.

Three weeks later, on June 29, the Cardinals were waging a neck-and-neck struggle with the Braves for the top rung. Boston had a one-game lead.

The Cubs sent the Cards out of town with their tails between their legs after knocking them off three straight.

Another Victim

Only a week ago, the Braves still riding high, arrived at Chicago with an idea of increasing their league lead. Instead, the Cubs whipped them three out of four to set the stage for Brooklyn's wresting of the league lead from Boston the next day.

The Dodgers came to town last Tuesday expecting to fatten up on the cellar-dwellers. The Cubs set them back on their heels by sweeping both ends of a double-header. The Brooks bounced back the next day to shut out the Cubs.

Instead of folding up, the Grizzlies clawed back Thursday, edging out Burt Shotton's pennant-minded crew, 7-6, to win the series, three games to one.

The defeat cut Brooklyn's first-place margin over the runner-up Braves to two percentage points. The Cards, in third place, are only a game and a half behind, and the fourth place Pittsburgh Pirates trail by three games.

The Pirates lost an opportunity to pick up ground when they were beaten by the Giants, 5-4, in Pittsburgh. They were the only games played in the major leagues yesterday.

Johnny Schmitz, who was the victim of the Dodgers' shutout victory Wednesday, came back to pitch four scoreless relief innings to gain credit for Thursday's Chicago victory. It was his 16th of the season, and his sixth against the Brooks.

Phillies Recalling 3 Men From Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—(CP). — Philadelphia Phillies of the National League announced Thursday night the recall of three players on their roster who have been with the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League this season.

They are pitchers Lou Possehl, who has won 11 and lost 11 so far this season for the Leafs, and Al Porto, 7 and 4, and third-sacker Willie (Puddinhead) Jones, who is hitting a .270 clip. They are not expected to move up before the end of the season and will probably stay with the Leafs for the team's remaining games.

Also mentioned in the announcement was the purchase by the Phils from the Leafs of pitcher Jim Konstanty, who has won 10 and lost 10, while batting .220. This would be under the working agreement between the two clubs. Peter Campbell, Leaf president, however, said last night that the parent club has not yet decided on its selection and will not exercise its option until the final selection date of Sept. 10.

Says Alouettes Will Take Argo Champs

By The Canadian Press

The Dominion champion Toronto Argonauts start after their fourth straight Grey Cup this week-end. The results of the Scullers two week-end games may go a long way to showing just how the champions will rate for their title defence.

For their first opponents, the Argos draw Montreal Alouettes in Toronto Saturday. Then they swing over to Hamilton to meet the league's newcomers, the Wildcats, in a Labor Day game.

These two contests will mean that all four of the Interprovincial Union's teams will have seen action by Monday nightfall. Ottawa Rough Riders already demonstrated their strengthened status when they opened with a smashing, 36-18, victory over the Alouettes at Montreal Tuesday night.

Hayman figures that the Alouettes will take Tedder Morris' champs. He said in Montreal Thursday night that his team will be stronger than the lineup that Ottawa swamped. The main reason is that he'll have Red Nower, Joey Pal and Norm Cox back. He also expects Steve Nemeth, who played some ball with Notre Dame, to show better forward passing form now that he has a Canadian game under his belt.

Morris expects Joe Krol to be back in the Argo lineup after an ankle injury suffered last Saturday when the Argos defeated Toronto Beaches, 13-8, in an exhibition game.

The east's other cup-challenging league doesn't start play until Sept. 11 when the Beaches Indians open the Ontario Union at Sarnia while Windsor Rockets play Hamilton Tigers at Hamilton.

Gazel Favored To Win CN Swim

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—(CP). — Fifty-two swimmers take to the water this afternoon in quest of the $5,000 first prize in the Canadian National Exhibition's 10-mile race for the men's world professional championnship.

The $10,000 race, top event on the CNE sport program, offers other big prizes. Second prize is $2,500, third $1,000, fourth $750, fifth $500 and sixth $250. In addition, there is $50 to the leading swimmer at the end of each mile lap.

Favored to repeat in the big splash is Ben Gazel, 37, of Toronto, who won it last year. He has stiff competition among the bronzed youths who will plunge into Lake Ontario before the waterfront grandstand at 1.30 p.m. EDT.

One top contender is Jerry Kershner, 23, of Columbus, Ohio. He finished second last year. From Italy comes Gianni Gambi, who recently swam the English Channel.

Cricketers Ready For Two Matches

By C. H. IRESON

Since the fine win of the local cricket team over Carleton County at Ottawa on July 10, they have had no matches. But this week-end they get busy again playing New Hambleton, a newly-formed Toronto team on Saturday, at Nicholls Oval, and on Labor Day, Sept. 6, they go to Toronto to play in the final of the County Cricket Championship against either Wentworth County or Halton County. The match will be played on Upper Canada College ground.

The long absence from match play is unfortunate, as at the time of the Carleton match the locals were at the top of their form. There had been a match against Oshawa scheduled for the Oval on Aug. 14, but the opposition never turned up and have given no reason or expression of regret for their default. Then the match against Toronto Parkdale arranged for Aug. 28, also had to be cancelled but the Toronto team sent a satisfactory reason. To quote their secretary's letter, "Parkdale sincerely regret the inconvenience to your club and hope that we may still be able to get together." And the local secretary has suggested Saturday, Sept. 11 as an acceptable date.

The New Hambledon team expected here on Saturday is, we are informed, composed of young fellows who have recently come to Canada to take up positions in industry.

They have chosen a name which recalls one of the greatest English clubs of two centuries ago. At that time cricket flourished in England and there is a record of the full score of a match played between Kent and England in London in 1746, and there were many strong clubs in existence.

Referring to Saturday's visitors the original Hambledon Club was undoubtedly the strongest club in those far-off days. Hambledon was a small village in Hampshire and the club founded in 1750 later held a position similar to the MCC—the Marylebone Cricket Club—of today, cricket's governing body. It held its own against all comers until 1769, when it temporarily ceased operations.

However in 1771 it was reorganized and the next 10 years saw them add to their laurels. In a book published at tthat time "Nyren's Cricketers Tutor," the author writes that when the club was at its best "No eleven had any chance with these men."

After a glorious cricket career, of which there is not space available to record, the year 1791 saw the dissolution of the Hambledon Club and the dispersal of its members over the counties of Surrey, Hampshire, Kent and Middlesex.

Here and There In Sport

Babe Didrickson Zaharias, United States woman golfer, Thursday lashed 250-yard drives down the fairways of Toronto's suburban Scarboro Golf Club in an exhibition best-ball match.

The Babe, who last year won 18 consecutive major tournaments, teamed up with Scarboro's pro, Bob Gray, to defeat Mississauga's Gordon Brydson and Scarboro's Phil Farley 2 and 1.

She made the green on the 542-yard, par-five, 10th hole in two, dropping the ball six feet from the pin. She missed short putt for an angle. On the 13th, a par hole 463 yards long, she picked up a birdie.

At least six speedboats of the unlimited power class were indicated Thursday as probable starters in the Silver Cup Trophy race at Detroit this week-end. They are Miss Canada III, owned and driven by Ernie Wilson of Ingersoll, Ont.; Archille Castoldi's Ambrogio of Italy; R. Stanley Dollar's Skipalong of San Francisco; Miss Pepsi, Miss Frostie and M. Sheri-Ann, of Detroit.

Two Ottawa teams won preliminary games and a third took a first-round contest Thursday in opening play of the 12th annual Globe and Mail Scotch doubles, women's lawn bowling tournament, in Toronto. First-round winners were Mrs. C. Armstrong and Mrs. R. Tunnock, who defeated Richmond Hill 16-14.

Sturdy Eddie Giosa, 137½, Philadelphia, slashed Patsy Brandino, Hamilton, for eight rounds at Toppi Stadium in Philadelphia Thursday to win a unanimous decision before a crowd of 1,839.

North Sydney, N.S., Victorias, having announced they will be represented in the Cape Breton Senior Hockey League this season, Thursday revealed they were negotiating with Howard (Swat) Mason of Hamilton to take the coaching job.

Promoter Jack Solomons Thursday made a bid to bring heavyweight Joe Louis out of retirement for a title bout in London. Solomon's offer, cabled to Louis' manager, Marshall Miles, asked the champion to "have one more fight" in London.

Merry Way, with Nova Scotia's Joe O'Brien in the sulky, Thursday won the champion stallion three-year-old pace on the Grand Circuit program at the Illinois State Fair at Duquoin. The stallion, owned by Castleton Farms, won both heats in the $5,458 event.

Ray Billows, a laughing printing salesman from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., smashed Frank Stranahan's bid for a golfing "little slam" Thursday at Memphis, Tenn., by blasting the Toledo Tee Titan, 6 and 5, in the quarter-finals of the 48th amateur championship.

Muskrats Pay Off

YORKTON, Sask. (CP). — Trappers in the Spy Hill, Langeburg and Churchbridge areas near here marketed over $40,000 worth of muskrats last season. The 292 trappers concerned sold 18,059 pelts, receiving an average net price of $2.22 and an average $137 per trapper.

Greco Fight At Montreal 'No Contest'

MONTREAL, Sept. 3 (CP). — A non-title welterweight bout Thursday night ended in the fourth round for the two contestants, Canadian champion Johnny Greco and Larry Cisneros of Los Angeles, Cal., when it was termed "no contest" by Referee Maurice O'Connell, gave every indication to-day that the battle will rage on outside the four-cornered ring.

The fight is an aftermath of an "outside the ring" quarrel between Promoter Raoul Godbout and the Montreal Athletic Commission, with Chairman Dave Rochon doing all the talking.

Rochon declared last week the Commission would not sanction the bout because it deemed Cisneros an unfit opponent for Greco.

Godbout, however, secured a Superior Court injunction allowing the fight to go on as scheduled. He also took out a $5,000 damage suit against the Commission.

He said that O'Connell had been ordered by the Commission to stop the fight "because of the dispute between myself and the Commission."

Godbout said that he will appeal to the decision.

The two pugilists held on to a slow tempo for the first three rounds, with very few punches being thrown. O'Connell says he told the fighters to "mix it up more" several times but the lagging continued until the fourth round when Cisneros dropped to the canvas.

Ringsiders claimed that the American fighter was not hit when he fell. O'Connell immediately called the fight off without bothering to count. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Labor To Play Big Role In Next Election

HALIBURTON, Sept. 3. — A prediction that labor will play an important role in determining the results in from 60 to 75 of the 245 seats in the next Federal election was made by Eamon Park, member of Ontario Legislature for Toronto-Dovercourt, speaking at the CCF Summer School.

The effectiveness of the labor vote, he said, would be determined by the co-ordination of activities worked out by the organized labor movement and the CCF.

Mr. Park criticized the new Liberal Leader, Louis St. Laurent saying that while no one questioned his integrity "there are few who will deny that his viewpoint is that of a 19th century statesman, rather than a 20th century progressive." Such a leader would have little appeal to labor.

Of Premier George Drew, mentioned prominently as the next Leader of the Progressive Conservatives, Mr. Park said:

"If, as now seems likely, the Conservatives choose the ex-member of the Ontario Legislature for High Park, as their new leader, it will have the effect of heightening labor opposition to the Conservative Party.

"Since Ontario is the key to Tory Federal hopes and since it is also the province with the largest number of seats in the Federal House, where labor can affect the outcome, the issue of which party may have the biggest group in the next Parliament of Canada may well be determined by the contests in this province.

"No man in Canadian politics is more disliked by labor than is Mr. Drew, and certainly labor will be more than anxious to prevent any possibility of his becoming a Dominion Prime Minister."

Attorney General Orders 2 Policemen Face Trial

TORONTO, Sept. 3 — (CP). — In an apparent attempt to clarify the legal responsibility of policemen who shoot and kill criminals in the course of duty, the Attorney-General of Ontario has ordered that two Ontraio policemen be charged with manslaughter.

Charged are Detective William Homer of the Hamilton force and Constable Floyd V. Neuen of the Toronto force. Detective Homer is charged with the death at Hamilton last Aug. 19 of Frank Wasni, who was wanted for questioning in the robbery of a brewer's warehouse messenger. Constable Neuen is charged in the death here last Aug. 14 of Charles McMahon, suspected of theft.

Both victims were shot as they attempted to escape. Both officers have said they fired several warning shots in the air and called repeated warning to the fleeing men before firing the fatal shot.

Last Resort

A coroner's jury decided at Hamilton Last Aug. 23 that Detective Homer was justified in shooting Wasni and that Homer was performing his duty in firing on the fleeing suspect after giving fair warning. Police officers testified Wasni made a break as he was being taken to the police station for questioning in regard to the $5,000 robbery of a brewer's warehouse messenger. They said Homer fired his last shot low, aiming for the legs.

Police said McMahon was caught ransacking a parked United States automobile in Toronto. He knocked Constable Neuen down and attempted to escape. After firing one warning shot, the officer aimed at the fleeing man's legs. Three bullets struck McMahon in the buttocks. He contracted pneumonia following an emergency operation and died on Aug. 24. Doctors said death was caused by hemorrhages and peritonitis.

The Toronto police commissioners issued a warning Aug. 26 that police officers in training must be made to realize they can use their guns in the capture of escaping suspects "only as the very last resort when all other means have failed."

Enters Appeal

Police Constable George Joyce was charged with manslaughter July 30, 1948, in the fatal shooting of 14-year-old Donald Robertson. Police said two officers saw two youths take two suitcases from a parked automobile. The boys fled despite calls to halt. Both officers fire a warning shot. Joyce fired a third shot, aiming at the boy's legs. Donald strumbled and the bullet struck him in the chest. He died on the way to hospital.

A Supreme Court grand jury found there was not sufficient evidence to commit the policeman for trial. The boy's parents sued Joyce for unstated damages and were awarded $4,250 damages. Joyce entered an appeal.

Press And Radio Guests At Fair

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—(CP). — Press and radio had their day at the Canadian National Exhibition today along with the men's world's professional swimming championship for a total of $10,500 in prizes.

For farmers, there was judging of poultry, waterfowl and continued judging in horses, cattle, sheep and swine as well as displays of dairy products and eggs.

Music held sway over many CNE activities Thursday. Troubadors in colorful costumes brightened the grounds, walking to plays and dances on impromptu stages through the fair. Band competitions and old-time fiddlers' contest, choral groups, Highland dancing, and vocal competitions rounded out the day.

Attendance to date passed the 1,000,000-mark Thursday. Despite showers in the forenoon, attendance of 174,000 touched an all-time high for the sixth day of the fair and was well ahead of the 151,000 for the sixth day last year. It brought the total to date this year to 1,099,500, against 990,500 for the comparable period last year.

Bow-and-Arrow Trio Emulate Robin Hood

VICTORIA, Sept. 3 — (CP). — Soaring meat prices don't mean a thing to three adventurous Californians now a 20,000-mile, six-month hunting trek.

They carry no firearms but are experts with bow and arrow and plan to live off the land.

Maurice Charles, his wife, Nikki, and Leo B. Theroux, all of San Francisco, makeup the party.

"Our main objective is to prove that even in this day it is possible to live off the land as in the days of Robin Hood," said Charles.

They allow themselves only basic foodstuffs, such as flour, sugar, coffee, rice and spices.

The trio left San Francisco July 1, and proceeded through Oregon and Washington. Their planned route extends across Canada, down the east coast of the United States to Cuba, then into Mexico, arriving home about Jan. 1, 1949.

Prices Board Will Study Shirt Prices

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 — (CP). — The Prices Commission, through with a three-week investigation into shoe prices, will turn next Wednesday to an examination of the cost and selling price of men's and boys' shirts.

Commission Counsel H. A. Dyde said that, drawing on information on textiles placed before the original prices committee of the Commons, he will attempt to trace a piece of men's shirting throughout the processes and transactions that precede its final purchase by a man who wants to wear it.

The Commission adjourned Thursday night for the Labor Day week-end and, following its usual method of leaving an open day after a holiday, will not resume until Wednesday.

The testimony and evidence gathered during the nine public hearings in the shoe probe and the earlier fertilizer inquiry are already being studied by the commissioners.

Need More Time

Mr. Dyde completed the shoe inquiry with the reservation that he thought there had not been enough time fully to digest extensive records presented by the United Shoe Machinery Co. of Canada, a Montreal firm owned in the United States, which is the largest supplier of equipment to the industry. He warned that he might recall representatives of the company for further examination if study of their records and the verbal evidence made it desirable.

The final day's evidence was largely taken up with examination of the firm's financial records and its methods of charging members of the industry for leased equipment. Prof. C. A. Curtis, chairman, commented several times on the complicated nature of the charges and received the answer that the practice had grown up through tradition.

Bar Association Convention Winds Up Today

By DON HUNT

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.—(CP).—Convention-weary delegates today will wind up business of the Canadian Bar Association and prepare to set out for their homes across Canada.

The 30th annual convention officially closes late this afternoon with a meeting of the 1948-49 council.

For five days, delegates have argued finer points of law, suggested improvements and heard the opinion of prominent barristers from four countries.

They heard Chief Justice Arthur Vanderbilt of New Jersey, and G. Russel Vick, chairman of the general councils of bar in England and Wales.

Thursday delegates listened as Chief Justice Vanderbilt sounded the warning that "the legal profession is in grave danger." Thursday night, Mr. Vick told them that justice would be within the reach of all persons however small their purse may be.

The American jurist said "the legal profession is in grave danger—and that means society is in grave danger—at the hands of the doctrine of the division of labor."

Mr. Vick, addressing the annual dinner of the association under the patronage of the governor-general, outlined the purpose of the legal aid bill, scheduled to come before the British Parliament at their next session.

The bill, he said, will "enable anyone with an income of less than £400 ($1,600) to obtain services of a barrister free of charge if he has a good case and cannot afford to pay for legal services.

Russell Long Ready To Follow Father

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 3—(AP)—Russell Long, 29, is ready to take up where his father, the late Huey P. Long, left off as United States senator from Louisiana.

He claimed victory in Tuesday's Democratic primary, though returns were incomplete and unofficial.

His opponent, Judge Robert F. Kennon, was "watching the returns closely" and had no statement. Long, with only 47 of the state's 1,683 precincts unreported, had a lead of 8,216 votes — 257,953 to 249,737.

Democratic nomination in Louisiana is equivalent of election.

Cottage Used By Porcupines For Their Home

Police will have a knotty legal problem on their hands if they should catch up with the person or persons who broke into a cabin in Haliburton recently. The questions raised would be: is the persons who breaks and enters a cottage responsible for what damage is done by animals wandering in after him?

The cottage in question is owned by William Clay of Rochester, who has not been there for some time Someone (police suspect it may have been hunters last fall), broke in the back door. Their loot was pretty small: they found two pints of beer, opened and drank them at the table, left the empties, and sauntered out.

The inconsiderate visitors left the door open. A family of porcupines walked through the inviting opening. From the looks of things, they made themselves right at home.

The hectic mess was discovered only a few days ago by Harold Lara of Rochester, a friend of the owner who had his permission to use the premises. The porcupines were uncermoniously ushered out of their rent-free diggings and sent back to nature to try to readjust themselves to the rigors of out-of-doors again.

Just about everything in the cottage which a porcupine's biased eyes might consider edible had been chewed: furniture, wall boards, doors, window-casings. Added to the normal mess a bunch of animals make in a house, it made the loss of the two pints look rather meager.

Provincial constable Bert Howden of Apsley has been called in on the case. But the porcupines had escaped scot-free before his arrival.

SILVER JUBILEE of Frederick G. Mann, L.Mus., as organist and choirmaster of St. John's Anglican Church, Peterborough, will be observed on Sunday with special selections composed by the jubilant playing an important part in the services. —The Roy Studio Photo

Frederick G. Mann, 25 Years Organist St. John's Sunday

Sunday's services in the ivy-clad limestone St. John's Anglican Church will be of special significance as the music rolls from the organ. The Centenary Anthem, written and played by organist Frederick G. Mann, L.Mus., will be heard again together with other selections of his own writing, a fitting dedication to his span of 25 years as church organist at St. John's.

Church music has been Mr. Mann's life which started years ago in Norwich, England, where he became a boy chorister in St. Andrew's Church. He started musical training at the same time, an exacting career that was to lead him to his first appointment as organist and choirmaster at St. Andrew's Church, Beeston, Norfolk, England, and later to St. James' Church, Carleton Place, Ont., Grace Church, Ridgway, Pa., St. John's Church, Ottawa, and finally a quarter of a century ago to St. John's Anglican Church, Peterborough. He has been a member of the Canadian College of Organists since 1916 and honorary local secretary to the Faculty of Music, McGill University, for the past 25 years.

Not content with his heavy regular duties through the years he turned to the composition of church music and as far back as 1921 his "Holy Communion in Key of A Flat" was published in the United States. In the Professional Class, he won first prize twice in competition at the Stratford Musical Festival and once in the same category at the Canadian Musical Festival in London. Mr. Mann has writen many other church compositions, among them the Centenary Anthem, which commemorated the first century of St. John's Church.

Started As Boy Chorister

Since Mr. Mann staried his church music carreer as a boy chorister, his interest has been in choir training and this branch of music has won him much recognition. For three successive years at the Stratford Music Festival his Boys' Choir won the Stillman Shield and retained permanent possession of the trophy. The training of some of the boys who participated must have been very thorough indeed for many of them have themselves gained prominence in professional positions in piano, singing, organ and theory.

One would think that this intense career in music would take up as much of Mr. Mann's time as the clock would allow but, no, there were various heavy programs of public work that started during the first Great War in Carleton Place where he was honorary local secretary of the Navy League of Canada. His greatest public achievment was performed during World War II when, as secretary-manager of Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, he was instrumental in raising almost $100,000 for that very worthy cause. Peace brought no cessation in public work for as chairman of the Peterborough Committee of the Ontario Flood Relief campaign, he again proved his organizational ability by raising $6,000 in very short order. Besides musical titles he has been made a Fellow of the Royal Society of St. George, (parent society), London, England.

VISIT UNITED STATES

2 Water Mains To Be Built Across Otonabee

Two water jobs are looming for the Utilities Commission. Both are river crossings. One will be north of Park Hill Road bridge, probably at Argyle St., 12-inch pipe, to increase the water pressure in Ashburnham, an urgent request of Western Clock Co.

The other crossing will be at Lansdowne St. to deliver water and fire protection to the growing community at Downer's Corners.

"That is the first time we ever received from the council a complete proposal where they assume all the cost," was the comment of Gordon Matthews, chairman, referring to the Lansdowne St. work.

Council considered making several reservoirs near the corners as a means of fire protection. The more they looked at that idea the less they liked it. The preferred plan is to extend the present water main on Lansdowne St. across the river. Because it is a fire protection investment the detail of revenue is secondary to the Commission. The council assumes the cost and also asks that the Commission credit revenues to the account. That means the money received from consumers will be used to pay off the capital debt for this job.

The Argyle St. crossing will be laid this fall. It is possible that Canadian Dock and Dredge Co. may be asked to quote on both jobs. Ross Dobbin, manager, has plans for the crossing at Argyle, but the Lansdowne St. extension across the Otonabee is more difficult because there the water is deeper and the span longer. That job requires special equipment. If the company took one, they might do both in their local engagement.

Quaker Oats Co. have promised co-operation at Argyle. They undertake to remove all their stop logs and lower the reach to Auburn. A trench could be dug most of the way across by machines, the pipe fitted together on the shore and hauled into the trench, using barrel floats.

The Commission used the phrasing of the council "go ahead as soon as practicable" rather than "possible" in their reply to the Lansdowne St. proposal. The back-log of work is still substantial and various new projects are facing the Commission. These two crossings will likely be under way this fall, but the completion of the Ashburnham extension from the east side of the river will probably have to be held over until next spring.

Relations between the council and the Commission are decidedly cordial. A letter this week conveyed the senior body's thanks to the Commission for promptness in making an enquiry of the water pressures in Ashburnham, particularly for security of Westclox.

Reports of Easter lillies blooming again include one from Mrs. Albert Glen, 859 Lansdowne St. She has seven flowers in full bloom and 11 in bud again. She added that this occurrence is not really unusual and does not surprise flower-growers. It does come as an unusual thing to the general public, though, she added.

Discuss Forming UE Local In Outboard Plant

Workers from the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. were present at a special organizational meeting held in the Brock Street Summer Gardens on Thursday night. The meeting was called as the first step in a possible link up with the UE-CIO.

Speakers were union members from Ontario Marble, Peterborough Lock Co., and CGE. The main speaker was Ross Russell, organizing director of the UE.

The independent union at the Outboard plant had given management notice of the cancellation of the present contract which expires at the end of September. Negotiations have been proceeding since between the union and management.

Clarence B. Neal, secretary-treasurer of the Outboard, said today that the negotiating committee of the union had reached an agreement with management, and it would be presented to the workers at a mass meeting next week for ratification.

C. R. Sullivan, district organizer for the UE, commenting on the meeting, said:

"A group of workers from Outboard Marine came to the union office advising me that the workers there were dissatisfied with the progress in negotiations, and they had instructed officers of the independent union to serve the company with notice of cancellation of contract."

"The workers invited the UE to assist them in forming a local into the UE-CIO."

It was reported that considerable time was spent in answering questions and discussing details relating to the possible establishment of a UE local.

An undisclosed number of those present signed UE membership cards and other undertook the job of helping to organize the plant.

Textile Workers Agree On 10 Cents

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP)—Textile Workers Union (CIO) announced today it has reached an agreement with Consolidated Piece Dyers Ltd., of Toronto and Cobourg, Ont., providing for a 10-cent hourly wage increase. The 10-cent increase is in addition to a five-cent hourly increase granted April 5, 1948.

The new agreement provides for a five-cent hourly increase, retroactive to April 5, 1948, and an additional five cents, effective Sept. 2. Locals 753, at Toronto, and Local 718, of Cobourg, have unanimously ratified the agreement, a union spokesman said.

35 Senior Scouts To Visit Pittsburgh Weekend Trip

Thirty-five members of the Peterborough Senior Scout Troop are leaving tonight by bus for a four-day international junket to Pittsburgh as guests of Troop 111 of Beth Shalom Men's Club. It is a return gesture organized by the American Scouts in appreciation of their camping fun this summer in Peterborough, and the Peterborough Scouts' visit will mark the first event of this kind in the Pittsburgh area. The boys are under the leadership of Reginald Perkes, R. B. (Scotty) McDougall and Stanley McGann.

By a mass troop effort two days in August, the boys collected $252 worth of waste paper to defray travelling expenses and their sponsors, the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Legion, presented them with a cheque for $100 on Wednesday evening at Legion headquarters to assure them a good time. Each boy will pay for his own meals, but it seems that they will have to buy very few according to the extensive program being laid out for them.

On arrival in Pittsburgh at the Frick Park Scout campsite on Saturday they will make camp; in the afternoon they will tour the city, and in the evening there will be a Grand Council camp fire. Sunday morning will start with breakfast at the Beth Shalom Synagogue Hall, followed by church service at East Liberty Presbyterian Church. They will see a double-header ball game between Pittsburgh and Chicago in the afternoon, and attend a barbecue at the Lou Hamburg residence in the evening. If they survive all this excitement, they are scheduled to appear on Monday in the grand parade of the Alleghenny County Fair with a reputed attendance of 60,000, the largest in the State, and they will turn toward home in the evening.

Cars Damaged

About $250 damage to two cars resulted in a collision about 11 a.m. today at an intersection of two township roads of Smith near Concession 7. Drivers, who were unhurt, were Roy E. Delahey, 544 Bethune St. and Charles S. Boyce, Smith township. Dense underbrush growth beside the roads cut visibility of both drivers and was blamed for the accident. Provincial Constable George Henderson investigated.

Kassabog Lake Owners Plan To Reclaim Area

A group of 50 landowners in the Kassabog Lake district have decided to put the lake chain on a footing where it should belong and eventually make it a small counterpart of Algonquin Park. The area has everything to offer in scenery, fish and game and choice building sites, but through lack of interest by county conservation groups to correct a long term low-water situation, the landowners met on Thursday evening to form the Kassabog Lake Conservation Association. William Dennison, MPP, St. David's, Toronto, was elected temporary president and Dr. J. Holdcroft of Havelock, honorary president.

The first aim is to build a dam at the entrance of the North river on the south-centre shore of the lake. A group of 10 visited the site on Thursday and took soundings and measurements and found that a concrete structure 67 feet long and about 8 feet high will be required to raise the lake level four feet overall. The original lumber dam, that was later maintenanced by the Ontario Hydro for their power project at Round Lake, was washed out two years ago resulting in the lake being lowered more than six feet. Fish spawning in flooded swales left their fry high and dry and a great many of the passable channels are closed.

Department Survey

Kassabog is getting to be quite an important district and those interested believe that its reclamation to former topography will place it rightfully near the top of the Kawarthas chain where fishing, hunting and camping can be enjoyed in full. The 370 lots as possible building sites together with strategit parcels of ground where public camping sites will be available. At normal water levels the lake chain has a 200-mile shoreline.

An additional feature of the Kassabog Lake area which is situated in Methuen township east of Stony Lake and north of Havelock is that the district is roughly divided in half by a Crown Game Preserve allotment. The Kassabog Lake Conservation Association is composed of men who are sincere workers and landowners who are determined that their district will be brought to the fore.

Seamen's Strike Likely To Be A Long Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. — (AP).—A contract strike paralyzing United States Pacific coast ports today was accepted by the shipping industry and Harry Bridges' CIO longshoremen as a battle for survival.

The walkout, stretching from the Mexican to the Canadian borders, held some 120 ships in port, made idle about 12,000 dock workers and kept 16,000 seafarers shorebound.

Bridges warned his union members to prepare to pound the waterfront pavements in picket lines for four to six months.

In Washington, President Truman said the Government was powerless to act further except through negotiation. A federal court injunction banning the strike for an 80-day cooling-off period expired Thursday as the strike began.

Across the country effects of the tie-up were felt as railroads halted shipment of most export freight to the coast, and some exporting manufacturers cut production.

The Waterfront Employers' Association and Pacific American Shipowners' Association declared survival of the industry was at stake.

They announced they no longer would deal with any union whose officers refused to file non-Communist affidavits with the National Labor Relations Board. Such affidavits now are required to qualify unions for NLRB services. Bridges has refused to make such an affidavit, but said he was willing to refer the question to the union membership.

Glorious Days Of Juniper Island Date Back To Purchase In 1883

The eclipse of Juniper Island as the community centre of Stony Lake cottagers during their summer vacations was a gradual effect of the dispersive influence of the automobile. Its importance as the social meeting place of the summer colony that extended around the shores and nestled on the islands began to dim with the neglect of steamservice and transportation from the rail end at Lakefield, when cars began to appear on the old back roads through the townships.

That displacement has been complete for some years when the boats passed into extinction, and with them all the friendly hours of passage for the cottagers, their families and guests bound for the most beautiful lake in the Kawarthas.

This trend appears in the context of reminiscence of the Cottagers' Association given by Mr. John M. R. Fairbairn at a meeting of its directors.

History of Association

"Juniper Island was purchased about 1883 by the late Judge George M. Roger from the Dominion Government. His object was to provide a private property in Stony Lake on which he could permit the American Canoe Association to hold its annual camp without interference from such of the public as might appear undesirable to its members."

"Some years later when E. Burritt Edwards, a solicitor of Peterborough, and a great personal friend of Judge Roger became Commodore of the ACA, he asked if he could have some ownership in the island on account of his interest in the ACA. Judge Roger sold to him an undivided half interest under certain conditions as set forth in the agreement of sale. For the convenience of the Association's members and also as the general public about 1885-1890 were beginning to occupy some of the other islands in the lake, Messrs. Roger and Edwards built a small store to take the place of a lumberman's crib which the Judge had previously put up for the supply of the campers. Mr. T. W. Robinson and his successor, W. H. Hamilton of Peterborough, ran the store with great satisfaction to all for many years as tenants and caused the general public to come to Juniper for their supplies."

Pavilion Built

"Later on a pavilion was built and a wharf provided in order that regattas might be held, dancing indulged in and a gathering place provided where the cottagers could assemble for divine services, amusement, presentation of prizes, etc.

"About this time some of the more prominent cottagers on Stony Lake inaugurated the Stony Lake Cottagers Association and purchased from the original owners the property on which the store and pavilion existed. An issue of stock was subscribed to by various cottagers to raise the money for this purchase and any other expenditure that might arise. This worked out very well for many years during which many of the originals of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association passed on."

Steamboats Stopped

"The improvement of roads and the advent of automobiles practically killed the steamboat trade with its several daily stops at Juniper Island. This also resulted in cottages springing up on the shore and eventually to the establishment of supply stores to accommodate them. Thus Juniper and its store gradually ceased to be the centre of attraction."

"Mr. Lillico, some years ago, knowing that I as the owner of the balance of the island was probably more interested than anyone else, offered me his stock in the Association. This I purchased and at the same time took over the existing mortgage on the property at its full value. Since then with the assistance of your directors I have endeavoured to keep the Association running on a pleasant and respectable basis."

Many of the things which worried the shareholders and directors have since become of less importance. The most significant factor is the increase in the number of shareholders from a scanty 22 in 1942 to over 100 today.

Juniper Island is again becoming one of the centres of summer activity at Stony Lake. One very interestinng fact came up at a recent shareholders' meeting; the founder of Stock's Bakery had a small oven in a building behind the pavilion which in years gone by was also used as a barber shop. In fact the old barber's chair still lies beneath the pavilion.

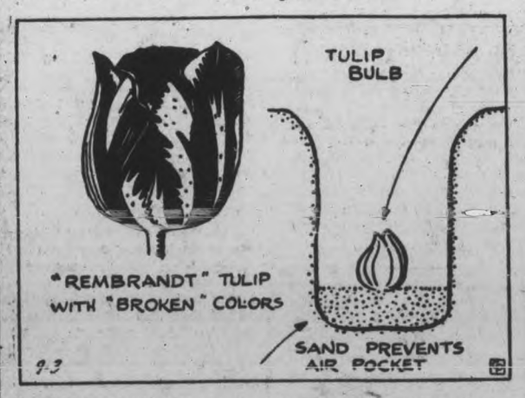
YOUR GARDEN . . .

Time To Order Tulip Bulbs



By DEAN HALLIDAY

Tulips should have their place in every garden, as they always contribute color and are most dependable. Seldom does a bulb fail to produce a flower, if properly planted in well-drained soil.

Tulips should not be planted until later but now, when the fall planting catalogs are arriving, is the time to order them.

You may see listed a queerly colored tulip, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden Graph. This unusual result happens when the coloring matter of a "self-color" tulip has become split up into stripes and blotches. Such a tulip is called "broken". When the Darwin tulips "break" into these variations, they are called "Rembrandt" tulips. They are very decorative but should be planted by themseves or in combination with the "Bizarres" and others which are the broken forms of the Breeder tulips.

Regardless of what type or class of tulip may be planted, the object to consider is procuring good, sound, disease-free bulbs from a reputable dealer. With such a start, success is fairly certain because almost any good garden soil is suitable for their culture.

A rich, well-drained sandy loam is ideal and in this type of soil the bulbs should be planted about five inches deep, although in a sandy soil, six inches is better, and in a heavy soil, four inches is plenty.

When planting the bulbs informally, the individual holes can be dug with a hand trowel, making sure that no air pockets are left beneath the bulbs. To avoid this put a small handful of sand in the bottom of the hole and set the bulb firmly upon it, as illustrated. This sand also assists drainage.

Mock Air War Marks Battle Of Britain

LONDON, Sept. 3 — (AP). — The Battle of Britain will be fought anew today, on what one London newspaper calls "the most somber anniversary of our generation.

Exactly nine years ago, Britain and France declared war on Hitler's Germany, which had invaded Poland.

Only a year later the very life of this embattled island was threatened by the Germany air force, attempting to soften Britain for a land invasion. But the RAF averted disaster and the Battle of Britain passed into history as an outstanding exploit of free fighting men.

It is fitting in the minds of most people that these two anniversaries are marked today by a mock air war which for the first time in more than seven years tests Britain's defences in full-scale operations.

Sharing "Operation Dagger" with hundreds of RAF bombers and fighters are 90 United States B-29 Superfortresses now based in Britain. They have been assigned to the "attacking force."

The air "war" will continue for four days, with the action taking place over the Midlands and southern England, which endured plenty of the real thing in 1940 and 1941.

Hurricane Heading Toward Greenland

HALIFAX, Spt. 3— (CP). — The hurricane which smashed across Cape Breton and Newfoundland in the last two days was reported by the Dominion Weather Office here to be roaring along the Labrador Coast to Greenland.

After beating through the main Cape Breton centres of Sydney and Glace Bay Wednesday afternoon, the wicked fringe of an Atlantic tropical blow hit Southern Newfoundland on Thursday night.

But early information reaching the island capital of St. John's and relayed here reported no extensive damafe. Minor transportation and communication tie-ups seemed the most serious tally.

The some 120,000 Cape Bretoners also considered themselves fortunate to-day not to have suffered any loss of life in the vicious, six-hour beating they took.

Cornwall Youths Hurt As Car Out Of Control

CORNWALL, Sept. 3 (CP). — William Rocheleau, 21, and Garnet Pitts, 18, both of Cornwall, were critically injured Thursday night when their automobile went out of control on a curve seven miles east of here on No. 2 Highway and crashed into a ditch..

Taken to hospital, Rocheleau was found to be suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries while total extent of Pitts' injuries had not been determined early to-day.

Few details of the accident were available. The vehicle had veered wildly out of control before i went into teh ditch, and ran for 150 feet along the ditch before crashing to a stop.

Washington Experiences Lull Before Political Storm Breaks

BY CLDYE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (CP).— Washington has at last reached the dog days that were delayed by the special congressional session and by fairly reasonable weather.

But Congress went back home, the bureaucrats rushed to their summer retreats, a record-breaking heat wave set in and the arrival of a crested cormorant from the Alberta Zoo became a news feature for all the papers.

Sally and Rose

The people forced to remain in Washington talked about the espionage charges against high former government officials, the belated treason trail of Axis Sally and the forthcoming arrival of Tokyo Rose to face similar charges.

And the press agents turned to the crested cormorant from the Calgary Zoo. All the papers had something to say about it but the zoo master was a little blase.

"The bird is a foot long and its neck is another foot, and its wingspread is about two feet," said Dr. William Mann, the Director. He said it was the first cormorant he has had in the Zoo in several years.

"It's a humdrum sort of a bird," said Dr. Mann. "It eats fish— I hope."

President To Dog-Catcher

This, of course, is the lull before the storm. In another week the candidates will rush the hustings and from President Truman and Governor Thomas Dewey of New York, down through the United States Senate and House and on down through the ranks of public officials to dog catchers, candidates will be wooing the voters.

Henry Wallace Pregressive party leader, is the only big shot that ignored the calendar. He is campaigning for president knowing full well he cannot be elected but building carefully toward what may be possible for him and his followers four years from now.

Sally In Hitler's Alley

But for the moment the Washington scene is more interested in the court room activities of platinum-headed Mildred Gillars, 47-year-old New England girl who was in Germany when the war came and, as Axis Sally, is charged with treason in that she made moral-destroying broadcasts to the Allied forces from Hitler-land.

Just why Axis Sally is being tried now, three years after the event, nobody seems to know.

Unhappiest people about the Axis Sally episode, apart from Sally herself, are a dozen former soldiers who have been called here from their civilian employment as witnesses against her—to tell how she cajoled them into broadcasting Nazi-slanted messages when they were prisoners of war.

Town Audit Cost Additional $470

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 3. — (ENS). — A letter from C. W. Cochrane and Company enclosed the report of the auditors covering the period Jan., 1948, to July 1, 1948, was received by Town Council this week. An account was enclosed, seven months' audit service, $200 (this is at the rate of $350 per year, as authorized) and 260 hours additional work for which the charge is $470.50.

The additional work was necessary in view of the fact that there had been no entries made in the town books since the first of the year.

Reporting on the filing system in use in the town offices, the report said that there is at present one filing cabinet in the office of the clerk, and another one in the office of the treasurer. This last was his own property, and the report suggested that this or some other be purchased.

No Cheques Signed in Advance

The books, the report stated, are up-to-date and correct. Among the many recommendations, the auditors suggested that all receipts be deposited in the bank at intervals, that no cheques be signed in advance by the mayor, and that a petty cash account be maintained for small payments.

Following some explanations by Mr. Lynch on behalf of the auditors, members agreed that members of the finance committee should study the long report before entering into further discussions.

A letter from five members of the town road gang requested that Council consider an increase in wages in view of the cost of living, and also as recent increases have been granted some factories in town, and to employees of the Public Utilities Commission. The matter was left with the chairman of the roads and bridges committee (Councillor P. H. Macmillan) for investigation and report.

E. F. Clarke, operating the town weigh scale, asked the Council authorize an increase in the rates at the weigh scale. The present charge is 10 cents per ton, and he requested that the rate be increased to 15 cents per ton. In later discussion, the clerk told members that the matter was one in which Council would have to amend a bylaw before the rate could be changed. He had searched for the bylaw, however, and could not find it. It would probably be one passed about 40 years ago.

Fell On Street

Mrs. Frances McEachran notified Council that she had a fall on Bridge St. in front of Hubbel's store, due to a faulty grating. Council agreed that the letter was not a formal claim, but decided to have the legal committee discuss the matter with the insurance company representative.

Councillor Macmillan was authorized by Council to dispose of surplus sewer pipe to a contractor at Belleville, who is willing to pay the necessary cartage fees plus the market price of the pipe.

Councillors decided to send a letter to the Public Utilities Commission asking what they intend to do regarding the engagement of a treasurer. It has been usual for the town treasurer to hold the same office for the PUC, but so far the commission has not made a decision.

Reporting for Deputy-Reeve R. J. Locke, who could not attend the meeting, Councillor F. W. Burgess asked Council to authorize the installation of a telephone booth alongside the Bank of Montreal, on the Bridge St. side, near the canal railing. There would be no cost to the town, and it would be convenient to the public when all stores are closed. Council agreed.

Police Expose Vile Vice Ring

QUEBEC, Sept. 3 — (CP). — A vice ring which police said was the "most repugnant in police files" has been exposed here, municipal police made known Thursday night.

They said the case had been turned over to the office of Premier Maurice Duplessis in his capacity as attorney-general.

The disclosure followed investigation of almost two months and came after the arrest and conviction of a 19-year-old country boy on a vagrancy charge. He was sentenced to eight days in jail but police said he made declarations which enabled them to crack the vice ring wide open.

Authorities said several additional arrests could be expected shortly.

The youth and two unidentified women, so police said, made statements under oath naming two men and a woman as ring leaders.

Police said the youth told them he had been kept in an alleged brothel on downtown Sous-le-Cap street against his will and had been forced under threats to commit immoral acts.

EARLY PENDANTS

In the 16th century, women's rings were often worn suspended from a chain.

Grapes and Melons Used To Advantage in Autumn

During the summer and early fall months, the Canadian housewife has a rich and abundant supply of healthful and colorful fruits and vegetables from which to choose in planning attractive meals for her family. It is the wise homemaker who takes advantage of this fact and uses Canadian-grown products when they are in season and least expensive.

One of Canada's most plentiful crops comes from her bountiful vineyards which overflow with lucious purple, red and green grapes at this season of the year. The early settlers of this continent found wild grapes flourishing in such abundance along the New England coast that a section of it was given the name "Vineland."

Another welcome addition to the early fall menu is the delicious golden melon with its sweet luscious flavor. The melon belongs to a very large family and its various members are found in all parts of the world. Melons were a food of the ancients and references to it are found in records of the Persian courts. It is believed that the chief varieties of melons used today are of Persian origin.

Most homemakers use large quantities of both of these fruits and everyone knows how attractive a large bowl of grapes may be if placed in the centre of the table where each member of the family can help himself. Grapes are always acceptable at the picnic supper and are proven favorites with those who like to have their supper out-of-doors. Chilled melon is delicious either in a salad or dessert and is particularly so when topped with ice cream.

Home economists use both grapes and melons to advantage in these delightful recipes which they hope you will enjoy.

MELON ICE

1 cantaloupe
1½ cups water
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup lemon juice

Remove rind and seeds from cantaloupe and force pulp through a colander. Make a syrup of the water and sugar and simmer five minutes. Cool. Add the cantaloupe pulp and juice and the lemon juice. Freeze in an automatic refrigerator tray, stirring occasionally. Yield: six servings.

GRAPE SOUFFLE

3 cups blue grapes, stemmed and washed
1/3 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 egg whites

Crush grapes in saucepan with fork. Simmer for about 15 minutes or until soft. Press through sieve. Mix sugar, salt and cornstarch. Add to sieved grapes gradually, stirring to blend. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Cool. Fold grape mixture in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into buttered baking dish. Oven-poach in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Serve hot or cold with custard sauce. Yield. six servings

GRAPE CUSTARD SPONGE

1½ teaspoons gelatine
2 tablespoons cold water
1 egg yolk
3 tablespoons sugar
Few grains salt
½ cup scalded milk
1/3 cup sieved grape pulp
1 egg white

Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Beat egg yolk slightly, add sugar and salt. Slowly stir in the scalded milk and cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until custard is thickened sufficiently to coat a spoon. Add softened gelatine and stir until gelatine is dissolved; strain. Cool, stirring occasionally, until mixture just begins to set. Using a rotary beater, beat in grape pulp, chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture just begins to set again. Beat egg white until stiff, but not dry. Beat the gelatine mixture until frothy, then fold in the stiffly-beaten egg white. Turn into individual dessert glasses. Chill. Serve with cream. Yield: six servings.

FINE DETAIL — Fine and intricate detail lends charm to the cream of the new fur coat crop. Designed for a slim and slender silhouette is this handsome coat of black Persian lamb, so lustrous and supple. Broad cartridge pleats starting at the hip line run down the front of the skirt. A cuffed chin collar and deeply cuffed straight sleeves offset the narrower and more rounded shoulder line. Golden half-barrel buttons close the fitted front and a black silk braid belt snaps at the back in frogged tassels.

The mental health of children suffers when they are punished or denied too much. But it also suffers when they are made to make their own decisions too early, before they have had time to work out any set of values.

"The real goal is to teach children to discipline themselves. The way to do this is first to give them a congenial, happy home. Give them a backlog of satisfactions, so they can take it when the parents have to clamp down and say No."

Reeve's Daughter Wed In Marmora

MARMORA, Sept. 3—(ENS)—The wedding was solemnized on August 28 of Margaret Katharine, daughter of Reeve and Mrs. John A. Bell, of Marmora, and Smith Anderson MacLean of the Trenton RCAF station. Rev. G. D. Young officiated at the service in St. Andrew's United Church decorated with gladiolus and other summer flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a floor length gown of ivory silk with fingertip veil of embroidered net, held in place with a halo of seed pearls and silver beads. She carried a bouquet of red roses and bouvardia. The bride's sister Irene was bridesmaid and wore an ice blue silk gown, blue shoulder length net veil and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Philip Bell, brother of the bride, was best man. Music was played by Mrs. A. F. Fraser and during the signing of the register, Mrs. E. C. Prentice sang "When Song is Sweet".

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church hall where the bride's mother received wearing a dress of black silk crepe with sequin trim and matching accessories, and a corsage of rose pink carnations. The wedding luncheon was served by members of St. Andrew's Women's Association.

Later, the couple left on a trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls. For travelling, the bride chose a blue crepe dress and blue shortie coat with black accessories. The groom, a member of the permanent Air Force, has been posted to Goose Bay, Labrador.

Religious Drama Stirs Interest At Whitby Course

WHITBY, Sept. 3 — Interest was at a high peak Wednesday at the School for Leaders being held at the Ontario Ladies' College where 158 delegates are now registered. At dinner the delegates welcomed Miss Anna Jacob, a graduate on the staff of the hospital at Vellore, India. Miss Jacob winner of a Woman's Missionary Society scholarship, is taking a nursing course at McGill University.

Continue Service

Mrs. W. L. Smyth, Dean of the school, delivered her second lecture in the series, "The Coming of the Kingdom."

The group in dramatics, under the leadership of Miss Constance Wagar of Peterborough, has been studying the value of religious drama in church life, as well as something of its historical background. The various types of drama studied include choral reading, pantomime, plays and pageants.

Describes China

Mrs. Hugh Taylor discussed China. Having spent three months there, Mrs. Taylor said that the critical situation had grown progressively worse. She urged the reading of books on China to understand more clearly the political situation with its two governments, Nationalist and Communist.

"National morale is at a low ebb in China. There is a general feeling of hopelessness. It is a unique opportunity for the preaching of the Gospel. We must study the situation."

Inflation is a very serious situation in China, she said. Mrs. Taylor had purchased shoes while in China for $2,200,000 in Chinese money which is $7 in American money. The inflation had risen since then.

The finest school in China, Mrs. Taylor thought, was the Normal School at Canton, sponsored by the Church of Christ in China. It has 1,100 students from kindergarten to teachers in training.

The Canadian Red Cross and the Canadian Aid to China have made available the money to make repairs to the buildings in Kongmoon damaged by war. They have also supplied new hospital equipment and ambulances. In West China, the three main hospitals are sadly understaffed. They need more finances and the need for evangelistic workers is very great, she said.

Says Hospitality Inevitable In Family Life

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—Don't expect your husband or wife to love you all the time — or you're in for trouble.

And when your young child gets angry with you, even to saying he'd gladly kill you, don't punish him. Take it easy. All children feel that way at times.

And don't spoil things at home by overworking the old adage: "Don't put off until tomorrow what can be done today." It makes for a neurotic kind of life.

All these are just some of the elements that can produce an unhappy home life, says Dr. Luther E. Woodward, field consultant of the National Committee for Mental Health.

A lot depends on the kind of people who live in the home, and what they do and think.

One cause of trouble is the movie and fiction idea of "they lived happily ever after," Dr. Woodward said. A wedding is pictured as the acme of happiness and the first month of marriage as the happiest. That's nonsense, he says, and when tempers flare and quarrels start, the disillusioned spouses may start to worry and brood.

"Probably no one loves anyone 100 per cent of the time. Some anger and hostility is natural and inevitable. If married people understand that, they can make allowances when a mate is upset, and avoid serious quarrels that leaves scars."

Safety-Valve Tactics

And, he continued, "there's just no way to bring up children so they won't be angry with you at some time. When you do have to cross them or deny them something, they may get violently angry, hating you, even threatening you. When they talk that way, don't punish them. Punishment would only add to their resentment. Listen to the child, let him know you understand what he means, and be willing to play with as soon as he's ready. His anger blows over much sooner, and he avoids nervous reactions and lasting resentments."

Homes need safety-valve people, Dr. Woodward said. "At lease one member of the family, and preferably all, should be good at relieving others of their troubles, good at draining off their feelings of hostility, fear, and anger."

In many homes, he added, the enjoyment of today is spoiled by someone's nagging about past mistakes, or about possible future troubles.

"Families should use the present to enrich each member's joys and satisfactions as much as they can. Following the old adage of not postponing till tomorrow what can be done today can produce a nation of neurotics. Instead, people should do today what is important today, and forget the rest. That doesn't mean laziness or lack of foresight."

"Mental health suffers from wrong ideas about too much authority, or too little discipline.

Widower Tells Fiancee Dream Of His First Wife

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am engaged to a widower whom I love very much and who loves me. But he has had several dreams about his former wife and he feels as though it were some sort of warning and as if she would always come between us. What do you think about this?

WORRIED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I should think that your widower is tryig to break off the engagement on a very flimsy pretext, that his dreams are far more likely to be inspired by what he ate for dinner than by any interference from the spirit world.

Dorothy Dix

There is nothing more ridiculous than the idea that we carry the little personal jealousies of this life beyond the grave. Certainly it could add nothing to the bliss of an angel in Heaven to keep the husband that she had left on earth lonely and uncared for, loveless and homeless.

But if your sweetheart is one of the blundering idiots who never understands that a second wife is always more or less jealous of her predeccessor, then of course Wife Number 1 can be a menace to your happiness and she will come between you and him.

Poor Prospect

So my advice to you is that unless your fiance can regard his first marriage as a closed incident, you had better have a few dreams yourself and be warned not to marry a widower.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 18 and I know a great deal about life. Your articles shock me with some of your old-fashioned ideas. Why should not a woman do as she pleases? Tell me where there is a man with so spotless a past that he can question any manner of his life his wife or sweetheart may have lived.

Certainly the day is past when a girl's only thought is of marrying. Why, then, must she consider her every move in fear that no man will marry her? I believe that a girl has a right to her own mind and actions.

A MODERN GIRL

ANSWER: I am sorry you consider my ideas so old-fashioned, but the Ten Commandments also are old-fashioned. So is Nature. So are the rules of conduct that civilization has built up through thousands of years of experimenting in the relationship of men and women.

Of course, a man may have no more right to demand a woman with a spotless past than she has to demand a Joseph as a husband. But the trouble is he does. Mighty few men are broad and liberal in their views when it comes to their own wives.

Girls don't have to consider whether a man will marry them or not, only it just happens that practically every girl in the world wants to get married, and this is the one subject that she does spend her time considering.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, September 4

A move in the wrong direction an error of judgment, a false effort at putting over ambitious prospects, could prove detrimental to the most brilliant plans and objectives, imperiling the support of needful capital and cooperation, will consequent financial loss as well as decline of prestige and popularity. The situation is not entirely hopeless, however, since a domestic, friendly or sentimental desire to assist might be turned to splendid advantage. Loyalty in a crisis should be generously met, especially in family circles.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are on the verge of a devastating or perplexing situation in which their own faulty judgment, forced issued, or beclouded thinking may bring about loss of funds or possessions of standing in business or decline of personal prestige or popularity. An emotional impulse, a mistake in judgment or wrong action could precipitate a crash of radical importance, with reactions on social, cultural or affectional life. At the same time it is mostly from this source that assistance is likely to be relied upon. Family could be susceptible to loyalty appeals in crisis.

A child born on this day may encounter many changes and vicissitudes in life, with dangers of loss and defeat, although family and friends may be depended upon to "stand by" in difficulties.

Princess Margaret Sets New Fashion In Hats

LONDON, Sept. 3 (CP)—Princess Margaret, the Royal Family's upholder of the "New Look," is about to set a new fashion in hats.

It was disclosed that at her request the Queen's milliner, Aage Thaarup, has designed two new hats the Princess will wear when she goes to Holland Saturday for the Coronation Monday of Princess Juliana.

And the word from Buckingham Palace is that they are something.

The first is described as a "Fluffy Little Cap, half a hat, that fits from ear to ear and is worn with a Jaunty air on one side." Rather like a Florence Nightingale bonnet, it is trimmed with pink velvet and has one white and one pink ostrict tip.

The second is a shrimp-pink felt casquette cap, rather like a bert with a shovel brim plus a pom pom.

The second one is said to be the Princess' favorite.

No Visit To U. S.

A Buckingham Palace official denied a New York report that Princess Margaret will visit the United States next year.

"There has been no suggestion that she should go there," the officers said.

"Her trip to Australia and New Zealand will extend over the first six months of next year and it is hardly likely that another strenuous tour will be planned for her."

More Expensive Foods Are Not Always Most Nutritious

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 (CP). — If the housewife wants to keep on friendly terms with her food budget these days, careful buying is necessary.

And when it comes to providing the family with well-balanced meals, the national health and welfare department claims that money isn't everything.

In fast "a low-cost assortment of foods may give better returns in nutrition and health than a more expensive list," says the department in its new 56-page booklet on "Healthful Eating."

Based on Canada's health rules the booklet contains charts on the food values of various common foods.

It also runs the gamut in diet from what the pre-school child should eat for breakfast, right down to the kind of food Grandma should have for dinner.

In addition it outlines several "low cost" menus which run something like this:

Breakfast. — Tomato juice; rolled oats with sugar and milk; whole wheat or Canada-approved toast and butter and marmalade.

Lunch.—Welsh rarebit on toast; raw carrot strips; sliced bananas and cookies; milk.

Dinner. — Fried haddock; mashed potatoes; glazed turnips; bread pudding with raisins; tea for adults, milk for children.

Mothers are urged to begin cultivating good eating habits in their children at an early age.

But this doesn't mean their food should be forced upon them.

"Like adults, they have their food preferences and do not always want the exact amount served them," says the booklet.

For the school-child, "the provision of an adequate noon meal is most important."

The teen-ager should continue to eat the same type of food as those eaten by younger children, "but should eat considerably larger quantities so that the greatly increased energy needs are met."

When it comes to careful food buying, the health department has the following suggestions:

1. Buy food in as large quantities as possible, and buy in bulk rather than fancy packages.
2. Fresh foods usually are cheapest and most nutritious when bought in season.
3. Locally grown fruits and vegetables usually are the least expensive.
4. The cheaper cuts of meat are as high in food value as the more expensive ones, provided their weight is not due to bone and gristle.

Prefers 4 Months In Reformatory To Two In Jail

Found guilty on the evidence of receiving a stolen radio and two shirts, Fred Loech of 282 Westlake Ave., Toronto, was today sentenced to four months in Guelph Reformatory by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in court. The accused pleaded not guilty to both charges. When the magistrate gave his judgment, Loech asked that the sentence first named—two months in the county jail—be changed to four months at Guelph.

He told the court that he had heard that "they'll give you a steady job and something to do at Guelph and it might give me a chance to get off the booze." Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, KC, agreed that the reformatory term may be more helpful as it will include some outside work.

The accused, an office clerk with a service record and formerly a member of the civil service, said that his nerves had gone all to pieces and that he had been advised by doctors to give up office work and get outside.

Evidence was given that Loech had been arrested in a drunken condition on the night of Aug. 20. He had been in possession of a cardboard carton, the contents of which included the tiny radio and two shirts.

Detective W. C. Clarke testified that the radio had been identified by is owner, Glen Ketchebaw, 254 Aylmer St., and that the shirts had also been identified by their owner, M. McMartin, also of 254 Aylmer. Ketchebaw and McMartin perty had been left in cars parked both gave evidence that their proon Aylmer St. and that they had missed it in the morning.

On "Quite a Bender"

Loech denied knowledge of the property. He said that he had been in the company of a man known to him only as "Jimmy" and that the two had been on "quite a bender" for two nights. He said they had planned on getting work in the tobacco fields. Later, on the 20th, "Jimmy" had gone uptown, and Loech said he had gotten drunk on wine. The carton found with him when picked up near Jackson's Creek had been packed by "Jimmy," he said, and contained some of his own clothing and property belonging to "Jimmy."

"You realize that the evidence is pretty strong against you?" he was asked by the magistrate.

"Yes, I do your worship, and now I'm sober I'm afraid my story even sounds a little fishy to me," the accused admitted candidly.

Find Model Railroad Draws Most Visitors

TORONTO, Sept. 3. (CP).—A masterpiece of model railroading at the Canadian National Exhibition draws more visitors than almost any other exhibit in the Ontario government building.

The $500 model is a scale reproduction of a sleek, Ontario Northland Railway locomotive hauling a five-car passenger train through the Northern Ontario countryside. The system represents some 70 miles of the ONR's right of way from Timagami north to New Liskeard.

Northerners who see the tiny cardboard towns and villages, rolling farmland and virgin bush made of paper mache are amazed. They say the whole setup is an exact duplicate of that part of the country the provincially-owned ONR opened about 40 years ago.

World Churches Condemn Anti-Semitism

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 3 (AP)—A report to the World Council of Churches today condemned anti-Semitism. It took no sides in the Arab-Jewish conflict in Palestine.

A committee of the World Council called upon Christianity to work for "order in Palestine" and took the view the church should offer relief for victims of the warfare in the Holy Land "without discrimination."

"Whatever position may be taken towards establishment of a Jewish state and towards the 'rights' and 'wrongs' of Jews and Arabs and of Hebrew Christians involved," the report said, "churches are in duty bound to pray and work for an order in Palestine as just as may be in the midst of our human disorder . . ."

Provide Relief

Also, it was the duty of churches "to provide within their power for relief of victims of this warfare without discrimination and to seek to influence the nations to provide a refuge for 'displaced persons' far more generously than has yet been done."

The report on the "Christian approach to the Jews" comes before the world council for action today. The committee which drafted the report was headed by Dr. Angus Dun, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Washington, a delgate to the world council.

The report called upon all Christian churches to make the Jewish question a concern of their own "as we share with them (news) the results of our too brief wrestling with it."

The church has failed to maintain its missions to the Jewish people, the report said, adding that it must consider the responsibility for missions to the Jews as a normal part of its parish work.

Belgians Parade On Anniversary

BRUSSELS, Sept. 3 (Reuters).—Belgians today commemorated their liberation from the Nazis on the fourth anniversary of the capture of Brussels by British and Canadian forces.

There were military parades throughout the country, individual pilgrimages to the graves of those who fell fighting with the resistance, and to the memorials in every village and town in memory of those carried off by the Germans and never heard of again.

Tonight former members of the resistance movement will parade through the streets of Brussels to the tomb of Belgium's Unknown Warrior.

The celebrations will continue during the week-end. Tomorrow, a torch will be lighted from the perpetual flame at the Unknown Warrior's Tomb and carried to the Heysel Stadium in Brussels. There it will be used to light a miniature Olympic flame for an athletic championship meeting in which athletes from the armed forces of eight European countries will take part.

Remanded For Sentence

Francis Booth, alias Hayward, of Forest, was remanded for sentence to Sept. 7 when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate Philp today to a charge of theft of an electric razor from Thomas Hum. The accused had sold the razor, police told the court, and the remand was given, while an effort to have it returned is made.

Packing Plants Granted Wage Increases

CALGARY, Sept. 3 (CP)—New working agreements covering the seven Burns packing plants were completed Thursday night, granting 9.6 per cent wage boosts to members of the United Packing House Workers of America (CIO).

Disclosure of the two-year contract was made by Fred Dowling, Canadian director of the union, following three days negotiations.

Plants in Vancouver, Edmonton, Clagry, Prince Albert, Sask., Regina, Winnipeg and Kitchener are affected.

The union had asked a 15-percent boost across the board. They received a 7-13 cent increase assuring minimum wages for women of 80½ cents and for men of 93 cents. In addition, workers are guaranteed pay for 36½ hours a week.

In future, wage rates will be negotiated between company and union in place of the former company-set rates. The wage clause of the contract may be reopened before July 31, 1950, expiration date of the contract.

The wage boost was in line with similar increases granted Canada Packers and Swift Canadian employees earlier and ratification of the agreement by union locals will put the contract into effect, Mr. Dowling said.

A clause seeking a 40-hour week instead of the prevailing 44 was tabled.

Will Rigidly Control Deer, Moose Shooting

NORTH BAY, Sept. 3 (CP)—The Department of Lands and Forests will "rigidly enforce" a new system of controlling the shooting of deer and moose this fall, Henry Haskins, acting fish and wildlife specialist for the North Bay forestry district, said today.

Hunters will be issued a seal when they buy hunting licences for deer and moose. The seals must be placed on the carcass of the animal immediately after it has been shot.

Howard Bailey, RR 2, Omemee, paid $5 and $2.50 costs for driving with inadequate lights.

James Keating, 383 Edison Ave., was fined $1 and $1 costs for driving a bicycle without a licence for it.

Peters Admits Being Active In Communism

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP). — "J. Peters," who faced deportation and also a contempt-of-Congress charge, Thursday admitted being an active Communist in the United States for many years.

He denied, however, testimony of government witnesses that he was a Soviet underground leader in the United States.

Peters, a 54-year-old Hungarian who calls himself Alexander Stevens, wrote "The Communist Party—A Manual On Procedure" in 1935, his counsel, Mrs. Carol King, revealed.

Peters said in a statement:

"For many years I was an active member of the Communist party and elected to various committees . . . thousands and thousands of Communists and non-Communists knew me, heard my lectures and read my articles."

"Every day's headlines produce a new No. 1 Communist," Peters said. "This week, I, Alexander Stevens, was chosen as the new 'mystery' man. The outrageous slanders, falsehoods and distortions of the witnesses paraded before the immigration service hearing have been exposed time and again at other hearings."

Peters was referred to the testimony of former Communists who told immigration and naturalization service hearing that he had been a leading underground Reds plotter.

"There is no mystery about me," Peters said in his statement. "I immigrated to this country like millions of others twice I applied for citizenship papers. They were denied me."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

PREFER LESSER HAZARD

THROUGHOUT this game of contract bridge you have to take risks of one kind or another. If other factors were always equal, the winner would be the player who managed to take the lesser risks in preference to the greater ones. That fundamental applies forcibly to situations concerning the opening leader. If every suit to be considered is topped by honors not in sequence, there is some danger in leading it that a trick-taker will thereby be jeopardized. If the choice is between two or more such suits, it usually pays to underlead the lower honor, since it is less likely to be a trick-winner anyway and hence not so much is jeopardized.

	♠ J 10 6 ♥ K 7 3 2 ♦ 3 2 ♣ A J 8 3
♠ Q 8 3 ♥ Q 8 6 4 ♦ A J 7 ♣ 10 7 5	N W E S	♠ A 7 4 2 ♥ 10 9 5 ♦ 9 6 5 ♣ K Q 6
	♠ K 9 6 ♥ A J ♦ K Q 10 8 4 ♣ 9 4 2

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 ♦

Since this deal gets into that same contract at most tables of a pair tournament, the leading problem of West was clearly delineated. Notice that in each suit he had one or more honors from which to lead. Diamonds of course would have been unthinkable, as such a lead would almost certainly throw away a trick, so the choice lay naturally among the three side suits.

Just look at them. Isn't it clear that a spade lead would present South a trick, enabling him to get two tricks there instead of one? Now look at hearts. One player [illegible] heart. You won that, the A was scored and shortly thereafter the K made possible a club discard, so that only one trick was dropped in clubs plus two each in diamonds and spades to make the contract.

Where a club was led, the declarer was beaten a trick, losing two each in clubs, diamonds and spades. In other words, the higher the card underled, the less chance it would cost a trick. A truly sound student of leading should prefer clubs on this deal, as the 10 is so low it is unlikely to be a potential winner anyway, whereas the chance of either major Q winning is great if it is not impaired by the lead.

DOLLAR DRAIN STOPPED SAYS HOWE

Flour Packer Badly Hurt In Car Crash

Thornton Smoot, 30 In Hospital After Bus Collision

Thornton Scott, 30, a resident of RR No. 1, South Monghan, and employde of the Dewart Milling Co., was critically injured at 10:45 today when his car was in collision with a Colonial Coach Lines bus at Springville on Highway 28.

The accident happened just at the bottom of the long hill and directly opposite the residence of Harold Keller into which Mr. Smoot was turning.

Mr. Smoot who was alone in the car was driving south and the bus, driven by Fred Hamilton of Bobcaygeon, was going in the same direction. As Mr. Smoot turned into the Keller driveway the bus struck his car hurling it across the road and scattering parts of the vehicle for more than 100 feet along the highway.

Mr. Smoot was hurled from the car and was unconscious when reached by Mr. and Mrs. Keller. He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital where his condition at noon was reported as very critical with little hope given for his recovery.

He has been employed as a flour packer for the Dewart Milling Co. for a number of years. He was married and had three children, the oldest of which is five.

Jean Keller, 15, was an eye witness of the accident and said that when the bus struck the car it was hurled across the road and into the ditch. Halfway across the road the top came off and Mr. Smoot was tossed out about 50 feet and the top going a like distance in the other direction.

The bus was on the Peterborough-Millbrook run.

Says Modest Increase In Reserves

National Employment To Reach Highest Level During Year

TORONTO, Sept. 4 — (CP). — The drain on Canada's reserves of United States dollars "has been stopped" and there "has been a modest increase in these reserves," Reconstruction Minister Howe said today.

In an analysis of Canada's position in world trade and her manufacturing and natural resources, he said in a speech prepared for delivery to a Canadian National Exhibition luncheon, that national income and employment "will reach their highest levels this year."

"Our gross national production for 1948 will be over $15,000,000,000 — 15 per cent higher than last year and three times higher than pre-war," he said.

He noted a great increase in Canada's exports, aided by post-war expansion in many fields.

"Compared with pre-war, our exports last year had about trebled, having increased from $900,000,000 in 1939 to almost $2,800,000,000 in 1947. We now are the third exporting country in the world.

More Than Double

"Canada's $200 per capita of exports last year was more than double the per capita of the United States and of the United Kingdom."

In 1947, manufactured products had first place among total exports and accounted for "a little less than 60 per cent."

There were "significant" changes in Canada's working forces, population shifts having expanded the industrial working forces in the central provinces and on the Pacific coast.

He said he was having an analysis made of the "ultimate effect of Canada's current investment program," but without having the results of the analysis at hand "I can predict with confidence that Canada's position of shortage in domestic markets will come to an end during 1949."

Outlines Effect

He outlined the effect of the national dollar-saving program, including the establishment of new industries in Canada.

"In the past, there has been a tendency to feel that we are not able to produce competitive with the US, he said. "Today, such an assumption is no longer justified."

Manufacturers were justified in viewing the future "with restrained optimism."

"For the first time since the war ended, I have a definite feeling, based on known facts, that we will have a levelling off of our price structure at about present-day costs."

"The threat of another war cannot be ignored, but even that threat seems less imminent than it did a few months ago."

Fear 13 Killed

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 4—(CP).—All 10 passengers and three crew members are feared to have perished in the crash of an Australian National Airways DC-3 airliner which ploughed into a mountain side near Quirindi, 290 miles northwest of here. The airliner disappeared on a routine flight from North Queensland to Sydney. Capt. J. C. Paterson, another airline pilot, sighted the wreckage this afternoon on the top of a square peak, 4,600 feet high.

Deny Pearson Slated For Cabinet Job

OTTAWA, Sept. 4 — (CP). — The Pearson-for-Parliament speculation, a consistent gossip item in the capital for weeks, was confronted with a big denial today.

Louis Stephen St. Laurent, the next prime minister, says he knows nothing about any move to take L. B. (Mike) Pearson into the cabinet as his successor as external affairs minister.

He said so Friday night in an interview, specifically denying published stories his undersecretary of state for external affairs would be unveiled as a new cabinet member by Sept. 13.

That is the date Prime Minister Mackenzie King leaves Ottawa for Paris and the United Nations general assembly meeting and Mr. St. Laurent takes over as acting chief.

Whether the denial kills off the speculation remains to be seen.

For political observers have been saying for some time the one big question is whether Mr. Pearson wants the job. Their conjecture contends, as preliminary, Mr. St. Laurent wants him to take it.

The move would mean Mr. Pearson, at the age of 51, and near a federal election, would risk a brilliant career as a federal civil servant and diplomat for the uncertainties of politics.

His only comment has been this: "I haven't been asked."

In the weeks that led up to the Liberal leadership convention that chose Mr. St. Laurent as party leader, he was embarrassed by the speculation that made him a likely candidate. The new speculation may be equally embarrassing to him as a civil servant and political neutral.

Berlin Communists Press Threatens Reprisals Against Germans At Bonn

Accuse All Helping To Form Western State Of High Treason Against Country; Russians Continue Drive To Control Berlin

BERLIN, Sept. 4—(AP).—Berlin's Communist press today threatened reprisals against Germans forcing a western government at Bonn and accused them of "high treason." Taegliche Rundschau, official organ of the Soviet military administration, declared: "Every German who helps at Bonn to create a western German separate state tears the unity of Germany. Some day he will be asked to account for it."

Meantime the Russians kept up their drive to take over political control of Berlin, despite the continuing four-power talks here aimed at solving the 73-day crisis.

In one move a group of pro-Soviet political parties met at city hall and formed a "democratic bloc." They appointed a committee to negotiate with the anti-Communist city administration "for the elimination of the present emergency."

May Be More

While the "democratic bloc" held its meeting in the city hall in the Soviet sector of Berlin, there was no indication this was the final coup.

To the contrary, Communist press reports of the meeting said the bloc still recognized the elected city government and would continue to deal with it.

The strategy apparently was to build up strength for a coup later.

In another Soviet move Maj. Gen. Alexander G. Kotikov, Soviet commandant for Berlin, recognized the pro-Russian splinter group of Christian Democrats as the only valid Christian Democratic party in future city elections.

In recognizing this branch, Kotikov rendered free elections impossible in the Soviet sector, the only place where the action could be enforced.

As the negotiations of the four military governors entered their fifth day the Soviet-licensed German news agency quoted "usually well-informed French circles" as saying the west-sponsored B-mark would be withdrawn Sept. 15.

Expect Auriol To Name New Premier

PARIS, Sept. 4 — (AP) — Robert Schuman said today he had withdrawn his resignation as premier-designate and would try again to form a new French government.

PARIS, Sept. 4 — (AP). — President Vincent Auriol is expected to name today a new premier of France.

Two men have tried and failed to form a cabinet in the six-day crisis since Andre Marie's government resigned.

The latest to give up the attempt was former Premier Robert Schuman, who said after three days of trying to form a cabinet he could not collect a team to do the job.

The next man to try may be Marie, whose month-old government quit last Saturday over the wage issue. He offered to approve a 10-per-cent raise in wages but the Socialists held out for 15 per cent. They may get it now.

Observers are wondering how long the cabinet crisis can continue without bringing new elections.

Meanwhile, Labor unrest has spread through France, although there are no big paralyzing strikes. The most serious appeared to be the walkout of Paris bakers ordered for Friday night.

Back by both Roman Catholic and Communist union leaders, the bakers are asking double pay for Sundays and wage adjustments already promised them. A bread shortage is expected in the capital today although some production will be maintained by owners of small bakeries even if the strike is fully effective.

3 More Victims Chalked Up To Mad Killer

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Sept. 4 (CP)—A Presbyterian minister, his wife and his brother, fought for their lives in hospital here today, latest victims in a gunman's reign of terror which has shocked this whole island since Wednesday.

Four persons have been killed and seven wounded.

Rev. H. B. Swabey, pastor of Goshen Church at Lucky Hill, 50 miles from here, was shot Friday by an intruder in his home when he tried to overcome the man.

After the clergyman slumped to the floor, the gunman turned his firearm on the horrified wife and mother and fired a bullet into each of them.

All three were in serious condition today.

A laborer, Jonathan Thomas was killed the same day. Riding to work near the home of Mayor W. A. Bustamante in Kingston, Thomas was stopped by two men who asked for money.

Shoots Man

When Thomas said he didn't have any, one of the men fired a bullet into his chest, shouting: "Remember those people who got killed? I'm the one who did it." Thomas died later in hospital.

Reports also were received Friday of one convict shooting another dead inside Kingston Penitentiary.

Police were unable to say today if there was any connection between Friday's shootings and those of Wednesday, committed by an escaped convict named Ivan Martin.

Martin opened the terror campaign by killing a policeman and wounding two others in shooting his way out of a small hotel hideout.

Some hours later he visited three women at a Kingston address, killed one of them and hammered bullets into the other two.

Wilhelmina Abdicates Crowds Cheer New Queen

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 4—(CP).—Wilhelmina, for 50 years Queen of The Netherlands, today presented her daughter Juliana to cheering crowds in Dam Square as their new Queen. Wilhelmina, 68, announced that she had just signed an act of abdication. The 39-year-old new Queen, who came to the throne because of her mother's ill-health, then addressed the crowd from the balcony of Moses Hall overlooking the square.

Queen Juliana said she felt a great sorrow The Netherlands in future would miss the wisdom and experience of Wilhelmina.

"But we can do one thing. We can keep on striving after the ideals for which you—my mother—have been standing firm, and to realize them."

Saying good-bye, Wilhelmina, now described as Her Royal Highness, the Princess of The Netherlands, thanked her people for their confidence during the years of her reign.

"I thank you for the good will and warmth with which you have always surrounded me," she said.

Signs Paper

Queen Wilhelmina signed the instrument of abdication in her study at the hall.

The instrument, read by Dr. Marianne Tellegen, director of the Queen's secretariat, was written in old Dutch capitals on a large parchment scroll bearing an imposing red seal.

In the long oblong room to see the Queen sign the historic document were Juliana and her husband, Prince Bernhard; the chairman of the states-general; cabinet ministers and members of the delegations from Indonesia and the Dutch West Indies.

As the first stroke of noon rang around the thronged square, a call for silence was broadcast.

As the last of the 12 strokes died away, Wilhelmina and her daughter stepped on to the balcony.

Mighty Cheer

A mighty cheer lasted some time before Wilhelmina spoke her few simple words announcing her abdication.

Wilhelmina will make one more public appearance, at the investiture of Queen Juliana Monday, and then she will pass quietly from public life to her palace by the sea at Scheveningen, near The Hague.

The investiture will be held in the Nieuwe Kerk (new church) near the palace. The ceremony will be attended by diplomats from all over the world, and delegations from the royal houses of Europe.

At Monday's investiture Juliana will wear a sapphire-blue gown beneath the royal robe Wilhelmina wore when she ascended the throne as a girl of 18, half a century ago.

Has Pink Flowers

The new Queen ordered pink flowers for the investiture at 16th Century Church. She has had enough for the present of the orange-colored African marigolds decorating all Holland for the jubilee for the past week and prefers begonias.

In contrast to the high tiara her mother wore in 1898, Juliana will appear in a tiny stringed cap crowned with a huge diamond and decorated with smaller diamonds, pearls and rubies.

Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, wartime head of the First Canadian Army which fought in the Netherlands, will represent Canada at the ceremony.

Change Ontario Travel Dept.

TORONTO, Sept. 4 (CP)—As part of a stepped-up drive to lure tourists to Ontario, the Ontario Travel and Publicity Department today announced a reorganization of its publicity branch. The change will place supervision over publicity activities directly in the hands of Deputy Minister Tom G. McCall.

Also announced was the appointment of Ted Wright and Timothy Rogers of Toronto as assistant directors and the resignation, effective the end of September, of Mary Ainslie, director of the publicity branch since the department's inception in 1946, who plans to be married.

Travel Minister Welsh said there were signs already that Ontario would have to increase its efforts to acquaint prospective tourists with its attractions. Competition was becoming keener and the free-spending tendency of the immediate post-war years had started to fall off.

Mr. Wright, a native of Petrolia who broke into newspaper work with the Toronto Globe and and until recently worked for the Toronto Evening Telegram, will have charge of publicity, advertising and public relations. Mr. Rogers, who recently returned to Ontario from England after serving with a British publishing concern since the end of the war, will be in charge of publications, photographic activity and motion pictures.

Food Dwindles Shops May Close

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (AP). — A tighter deadlock was indicated today in the truckers' wages walkout as dwindling food stocks threatened chain-store operations in the metropolitan area.

Mayor William O'Dwyer said the food stores, their regular channels of supply broken, might be forced to close if the tie-up continues. Independent food stores, whose drivers still are on the jobs, are obtaining new stocks.

That no settlement of the walkout was near was indicated Friday when a new set of contract demands, calling for a truckers' pay increase of 25 cents an hour, was reported rejected by employers.

AFL teamsters, who originally asked 50 cents, had called the demands "rock-bottom" terms they would accept.

The employer groups announced after a meeting that they had reached a decision on the new proposals, but would not disclose it until joint union-employer meeting next Tuesday.

However, one employer representative reported the verdict was to turn down the demands.

Play Soccer Match After Arms' Search

JERUSALEM, Sept. 4—(Reuters)—News of a soccer match between Jews and Arabs, who first searched each other for arms, reached here Friday night.

Officers of an Egyptian position in southern Palestine, where the opposing forces face each other at short distance, visited a nearby Jewish settlement and suggested a game of soccer.

The Jews and the Egyptian team arrived the next day. Before play started the teams searched each other for arms, but found none.

The Israeli team won 5-1 and the losers asked them over for a cup of coffee "one of these days."

Hill's Barrel Ride Definitely Scheduled

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept 4. (CP)—William (Red) Hill, Jr. said today his projected barrel ride through the Niagara River rapids is definitely on for tomorrow.

The slight son of a famous riverman so far has not disclosed place of his takeoff or time he will start on his hazardous ride through the swirling stretch of water below the Falls.

It will be the second such ride for Hill who made his first trip July 8, 1945, in defiance of police and the Niagara Parks Commission. Thousands lined the banks on both sides of the river to watch the specially-built barrel tossed about in the fast-moving river. So far there has been no indication as to whether an effort will be made to prevent tomorrow's ride.

15,000 Flee Volcano's Lava

MANILA, Sept. 4—(AP)—Several thousand Filipinos today crowded the shores of stricken Camiguin Island, fleeing the wrath of a volcano eruption that is shaking the southern Philippines.

On-the-spot reports said clouds of sulphurous smoke mushroomed 15,000 feet over 5,6200-foot Hibokhibok, which is in eruption for the fourth day. Inactive for 77 years, it had been considered extinct.

All ships in Southern Philippines waters were sent in to help bring off refugees. An estimated 70,000 live on Camiguin, which is only 12 miles long and eight miles wide. Reports from the area said 15,000 of them already had been taken to safety.

Longshoremen Draw 1st Blood

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4 — (AP)—Waterfront employers and Harry Bridges' C.I.O. Longshoremen drew their lines tighter today for a bitter "fight to the finish" in the Maritime strike on the United States west coast.

First blood in the strike, which began Thursday, was drawn Friday at Wilmington, a port for the Los Angeles area.

There, 150 A.F.L. sailors, not bound by the C.I.O. strike call in the contract dispute, scuffled with about the same number of C.I.O. pickets over the unloading of a lumber ship from Oregon. Heads were struck and knuckles bruised in the melee.

Two men, including a police officer, were in hospital. Ten others, all A.F.L. seamen, were given first-aid treatment. Police said C.I.O. longshoremen injured were treated privately.

Call Brief Truce As 2 Airmen Killed

LONDON, Sept. 4—(AP)—The first phase of the four-day mock air battle of Britain ended today with a brief truce for the adversaries after the death for two participants.

From Vlissingen, the Netherlands, came word that Sgt. Walter Doyle-Roquet, one of the 11 aboard the United States Superfortress that crashed Friday over islands southwest of the Netherlands, had died of injuries.

The B-29, one of the attack bombers in "operation dagger" had engine trouble. The skipper ordered all the crew except the radio operator to bail out. He then tried to fly back to his British base. Unable to maintain altitude they too were obliged to jump.

The second tragedy came when an RAF Spitfire crashed Friday night in Durham county, killing the pilot, who was en route to join today's exercises.

Union Heads' Views Differ In Labor-Day Messages

OTTAWA, Sept. 4—(CP).—Dissenting views on the fortunes of Canadian workers are expressed by the heads of Canada's two National Labor Congresses in Labor Day messages.

President Percy Bengough of the Trades and Labor Congress says Canadians generally are doing all right and the future outlook is good.

President A. R. Mosher of the Canadian Congress of Labor says poverty, distress and economic insecurity are widespread in the Dominion.

Labor Minister Mitchell in his message sides with Mr. Bengough's more cheerful view.

President Bengough declares Canadians are "indeed fortunate" by comparison with workers in other countries, and he adds "the prospects for the next few years also look favorable."

"Organized labor in Canada," he adds, "has every right to celebrate this Labor Day as a successful milestone."

Mr. Mosher, however, claimed government and industry had failed to protect the workers.

No Excuse

"There can be no excuse in a country so richly endowed as Canada," he said, "for the poverty and distress which are still prevalent throughout the Dominion.

"Although the organized workers have been able to protect their interests to a considerable extent, many workers are unorganized and their living standards are far from adequate to maintain health and decency; the lack of housing has become a national scandal, and there is still widespread economic insecurity."

Labor Minister Mitchell said Canada had "enjoyed another year of high employment, high wages and sound family security."

TLC Leadership Considers Showdown On Rebellion

OTTAWA, Sept. 4 —(CP)—A full-fledged battle between powerful factions in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was in the making today over the issue of Communism in that 370,000-member organiatiozn.

Provoked by an uprising of member union chief demanding a sterner policy towards Reds in the T.L.C., the congress leadership had summoned its executive to Ottawa for a Sept. 10 meeting to consider "action" on the rebellion.

Possibility of disciplining the dissatisfied officials—whose unions include between 150,000 and 175,000 men—was indicated in President Percy Bengough's call to the executive Friday.

While the T.L.C. heads prepared to thresh out that issue within its ranks, the C.S.U. faced a new threat from without.

The Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.), which this week absorbed J. A. (Pat) Sullivan's Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, announced Friday it was going to challenge the C.S.U. for members on every front where the C.S.U. now is organized.

That was seen here as almost sure to project the Great Lakes warfare between the C.S.U. and the C.L.S.U. to both sea coasts. The S.I.U. now is strong in British Columbia's coastal shipping, but it plans to invade the C.S.U. fields on the Atlantic coast and the west coast deep-sea ships.

Its drive, too, will be extended to those lake ships now manned by C.S.U. crews, the United States union announced.

Mr. Bengough recalled that the T.L.C. had branded the Seafarers' Union last year as an outlaw organization in relation to the C.S.U., and he said the executive and the affiliated unions—including the Hall-led group—were obliged to go along with that policy.

Britain Will Sell U.S. Rubber Stocks

LONDON, Sept. 4 — (AP). — The Board of Trade announced to-day Britain is selling the United States part of her stocks of natural rubber for stock-piling purposes.

This was the first transaction under the Anglo-American economic co-operation agreement through which Britain undertook to facilitate the supply of raw materials to the United States for stockpiling.

The Board said the United States has agreed that it will be regarded as a special inter-government transaction and will in no way affect the Americans' buying program for stock-piling from current production.

Nfld. Storm Worst In History

Damage Estimated More Than $400,000 But No Lives Lost

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 4 — (CP). — The south coast of this Atlantic island was still counting up the damage to-day after the Thursday's beating by a hurricane.

After smashing across Cape Breton Island — leaving Sydney and Glace Bay dark and rubble-ridden—the tropical twister ripped across Southern Newfoundland Thursday night, damaging rooftops, demolishing a church, crashing boats on to rocks, and disrupting power and communications.

With the counting not half-over to-day, damage was estimated at more than $400,000.

But one thing for which Newfoundlanders and Cape Bretoners alike gave thanks was absence of fatalities and serious injuries.

One Ship Lost

One fishing vessel was lost on the rocks at Piccadilly, while another was refloated after the storm.

The French trawler Joseph Du Hamel, just made port Friday, leaking badly. A diver made temporary repairs while crew members and the longshoremen worked frantically at the pumps.

Crops were flattened and an important breakwater at the fishing port of Lamaline was breached by mountainous waves.

The Anglican church at Port au Port was completely demolished to bring damage in that area up to $200,000, while the pier at Aguathuna limestone quarry was smashed to pieces at a cost of $150,000.

"This was the worst storm in the island's history, stormwise fishermen said.

To-day the hurricane was blowing itself out over the Atlantic.

TORONTO HOG PRICES

TORONTO, Sept. 4 — (CP). — Hog prices in Stratford today were unchanged at $33.35-$33.50.

MOVING DAY in the village of Camborne, north of Cobourg, was simplified this week by Mervin Grieve who arranged to move his two-storey stucco house from west of the village to two miles east. The house had to be raised on its rollers high enough to clear the railings of the county road bridge; it took three hours to cross the bridge and two weeks in all to move from one site to the other.

Two Cars Damaged In Water St. Crash

Extensive damage to both vehicles and a small injury to a passenger were results of a collision on Water St. about 11 p.m. Friday. It was between the cars of Frank Dracup of 1001 Water St., which was parked on Water, and a truck driven by Kenneth Anderson, 576 Rogers St.

Kenneth Gynone, 118 Aylmer St., a passenger in the truck, received a slight gash near his eye. D. Henry, 100 Aylmer St., another passenger, was not hurt, nor was either of the drivers.

Damage to the car included the headlights, bumper, fender, tire, hubcap and axle unit. The truck had damage to its bumper, grill, radiator, headlight, side, windshield, wheel and axle. P.C. Douglas Farthing investigated.

Children Raise $2.68 In Aid Of Hospital

Even very young school children are making their contribution to the financing of the new Civic Hospital. A group of a dozen children in Parkhill Road-Water Street area pooled their talent, put on a show, and raised $2.68 for the new hospital.

After extensive practising the dozen children put on their show at the home of Thomas Valois, 79 Parkhill Road.

Members of the cast were Donald and Harold Valois, Kenneth and Bob Druce, June and Norma Valois, Wayne McNamee, Marshal and Joan Weir, John Morris and Bob McGregor.

Hospital officials phoned The Examiner to tell of this gesture and said that the Board of Governors "is very appreciative of the effort and interest shown by these young members of the community.

Chinese Get Vote

VANCOUVER, Sept. 4 — (CP). — Vancouver's Chinese population may get the civic franchise. City council Friday expressed itself as favoring their application for a voice in civic affairs, and instructed delegates to the union of British Columbia municipalities convention to support the move.

Children Anxious To See Arena Go Up

An appeal to parents to keep their children away from the site of the new Civic Arena has been made by officials. Perhaps the youngsters are just too eager to get going on the building now under construction on Park St. South. Whatever the reason, harried contractors and workmen have been spending a lot of their time trying to keep the small-fry at a respectable distance during the process.

Officials said that they feared that some child would be hurt, as many are making a daily habit of playing around the lumber piles and other equipment and material being used at the site.

"I wish you'd tell them to take their time," said on worker. "We said we'd have it for them this winter — and we will. But we don't want any of them hurt in the meantime."

Ottawa Co-operation Asked By Duplessis

QUEBEC, Sept. 4, (CP)—Premier Duplessis Friday night asked Ottawa's co-operation in the Quebec government's fight against Communism.

Charging Ottawa had allowed "notorious Communists" into Canada as a result of "careless immigration policies," Mr. Duplessis told a press conference:

"I hope federal authorities will collaborate with the Quebec government in its fight against Communism."

Car Overturns In 6-Foot Ditch

As the road shoulder gave way, a car crashed into a dried-up creek bed six feet deep outside the city Friday evening, crushing its top as it landed upside down in the roadside gulley.

The car was owned by Sidney Craig, 316 McGill St., who was driving on Fairburn Ave., about half a mile north of Parkhill Rd. shortly after 9 p.m. Friday. Forced close to the side of the road by a big passing truck, the car hit the gravel shoulder which is grown to its edge with high weeds. The shoulder gave way and the car plunged the six-foot drop into the creek bed which parallels the road. Most of its length, it is just about two or three feet deep, but at this particular spot it is double that.

Craig was uninjured in the accident. Damage to the car top will be more than $300, it is estimated. Provincial Constable Gordon Langton investigated.

Boy Sick In Woods 5 Days Without Insulin, Playmate, 11, Brings Help

PICTON, Sept. 4—(Special).—A 17-year-old boy is recovering in hospital from five days of exposure during which he was without the insulin he needs for a diabetic condition. The story of Stanley Croft's ordeal and the devotion of 11-year-old Robert Reid, who made numerous trips to a well two miles away to bring water for his thirst-crazed companion, was related here Friday.

Unable to walk or talk, Croft lay in a clump of evergreens, his body craving the insulin, his mouth blistered as if with fever. Had he gone much longer without insulin, he would have died, hospital authorities said.

The Reid boy told of sleeping on the ground and being bitten by bugs. Stanley took only one injection of insulin and on Monday became ill.

Carries Water

"He kept crying for something to drink so I carried water in a syrup bottle from an old well," the boy said. "I couldn't quench his thirst and had to keep going back and forth to the well in the night as well as in the day. I used the flashlight at night and I was scared. Stanley didn't want me to leave him to go home, but I finally did."

The two lads decided to go on a camping trip August 29. Without notifying their foster parents, they hiked to a woods on Harry Everleigh's farm, about two miles from their homes, and were not seen again until the younger boy arrived in tears at the home of his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Goode, of Greenbush, three miles south of Picton.

"We were greatly relieved to find our two boys," Mrs. Goode said. "Stanley's insulin was missing when they disappeared, but we feared for his life if his supply ran out.

Both foster parents believe the boys left home because of Stanley's craving for sweets which were denied him because of his diabetes.

80 MPH Hurricane Strikes Louisiana; Widespread Flooding

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4—(AP)—The centre of a Gulf hurricane passed over New Orleans just after dawn today and headed toward the Mississippi coast.

The United States weather bureau said at 8.30 a.m. EDT that a calm indicated the centre or "eye" of the storm was over the city.

The bureau predicted winds would pick up again to almost the previous velocity of 65 to 80 miles an hour after the "dead" eye passed to the northeast.

As the city was covered by the calm, a wind of 75 miles an hour and gusts up to 95 miles an hour were reported at Moisant international airport, 12 miles to the west.

The weather bureau said the centre would also pass just west of Biloxi, Miss., before noon.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 persons in the New Orleans area had left their homes before daybreak, fleeing to more sturdy buildings or to higher ground.

There was a threat of widespread flooding from the gulf waters backed up by the wind into the lakes and bayous to the north and east of New Orleans.

Lake Pontchartrain, to the north of the city, was rising from six inches to a foot an hour. At 7:30 a.m. EDT United States army engineers said the lake level was nearly five feet above sea level.

The hurricane, which formed only Friday in the Gulf of Mexico, rapidly swept 350 miles up to the coast and crossed it about 70 miles southwest of here, between the resort of Grand Isle and the shrimp-fishing centre, Morgan City.

The coastal area where the centre of the storm first hit is a swampy, sparsely-populated section. Most of the inhabitants are French-speaking "Cajuns".

Huddle In Tower

The United States Coast Guard at Grand Isle reported shortly before 3 a.m. EDT that all 200 of the resort community's residents were huddled in the Coast Guard's lookout tower, a wooden structure in the middle of the island.

The Coast Guard reported a 50-mile-an-hour wind on the island and said it was rapidly rising. Waves were sweeping high up on the beach.

GRANT TO EXHIBITION

The municipal council of Oshawa is making a grant of $10,000 to the South Ontario Agricultural Society, the Oshawa Exhibition. Half will be paid this year and the other half next. The board spent $20,000 on a horse barn. Construction was halted short of completion when it was learned that the contractor had not taken out a building permit. Into the controversy the Board of Health injected insistance that a watertight, impervious floor be laid. The permit was recently issued, but the required floor will not be laid this year, in spite of the health department's demand.

DESTROY 80 DOGS

According to the quarterly report of the local Humane Society, 80 dogs and 216 cats were painlessly disposed of. In that same period—June, July, August—four dogs were killed on the streets, six skunks, and 24 cats. Fifty-nine dogs were lost, of which 29 were returned to their owners. After an investigation, a service station operator was forced to provide a pen, 100 square feet and with a domicile, to house a bear which he keeps on display. The other case investigated was that of a resident in the Trent River area who left nine pups and 875 chickens without fed for a day.

CHECKING ACCIDENT

Police are checking an accident near midnight Friday in which a car parked near Park and Charlotte streets did not stop after catching the bumper of another car. The incident was reported by Douglas McDonald, 2 Crescent St., who said he was driving by that corner when the other car pulled away, catching his car bumper. The vehicle did not stop, he said, but speeded up and raced through a red light to escape.

LEAVES IN PARKS

Lawns in Victoria and Confederation Parks have been looking like the end of summer this week. Grass has been conspicuously scattered with leaves, possibly an effect of the long dry weather. It looked almost like the first days of October. The season simply cannot be so far advanced as the central parks indicate.

STEAL RINK LUMBER

Ald. Hurrell Dodds reports theft Thursday night of $50 worth of lumber from the civic arena project on Park St. "For the rest of the job we'll have a night watch, and we have asked the police to drop around," he said today. "There are some kind of people you just can't understand. They steal mainly because they like stealing. The Park St. rink is a community affair. All the citizens are in on it, and it is mainly for the young people. How anybody could steal from an affair of that kind is beyond the thinking of the rest of us."

Dutch Communist Party Considers Members Failed

By GEORGE FRANKS.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 4 (Reuters) —The Netherlands Communist Party has received—and published—orders to reorganize without delay.

The loss of 25 per cent of the party's voters in the recent elections came as a blow not only to the local leaders who had expected big gains in cities such as Amsterdam and Rotterdam, but also to the big chiefs in Moscow.

Paul de Groot, Netherlands Communist "dictator," has been dismissed from his post as editor-in-chief of the party's newspaper De Waarheid. The national executive has put its cards on the table. It has issued an open letter to all party officials complaining of "a shocking lack of activity" during the last year.

The letter contains a seven-point indictment of the party's shortcomings:

1—The battle for "national independence" against the United States has been most inadequately expressed. Netherlands workers have not been convinced of a serious "threat" of American capitalism.

2—The party has not convinced Holland of the "successes of Soviet socialism."

3—The party has "shockingly failed" in its work of defending the interests of Dutch workers, agricultural laborers, and the small middle classes.

4—It has done too little to spread the ideology of Communism.

Not Enough Subscribers

5—I has failed to increase the number of subscribers to its daily paper.

6—It is too weak in its representation of municipal councils.

7—The Communist movement is not well organized.

The Communists are then ordered to make amends and carry out immediately this five-point program:

1—Conduct a new drive to increase circulation of De Waarheid from its present 120,000 to the 214,000 of two years ago.

2—Raise a loan of 300,000 guilders ($120,000) to buy a Communist printing plant.

3—Plan a "unity of action" campaign with labor members of Parliament and all Dutch workers.

4—Seek to merge the two Communist unions with the country's general trade union movement.

5—Plan and initiate "a people's movement for national independence, democracy and welfare."

However, the move—the most outspoken confession of political failure seen in the Netherlands in a long time—has caused little more than amusement. Few persons believe that, at the moment, Communism constitutes any threat to this country's life and unity.

Film Board Makes Powerful Picture On Drug Traffic

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 (CP).—The National Film Board currently is issuing a powerful piece on the evils of the narcotics traffic in Canada, and behind it lies the chuckle-worthy story of the case of the missing dope field.

To lend authenticity to the film, which deals largely with the treatment of users of narcotics, the Board went into the larger Canadian cities and, with the help of their police forces, hired confirmed drug addicts.

In one town, a member of the Film Board crew hunted out an addict, hired him, gave him his instructions and told him to report the following day for the opening of the shooting schedule.

Next day came, but the addict failed to appear and shooting was deferred. The same thing happened the following day.

On the third day, the addict was found—in jail on a drug charge.

And on the police blotter was the name of the Film Board man who had hired him. The addict had given it as an alias on arrest.

The Midnight Sun

Members of the Government's Magnetic Pole-hunting expedition just returned from a six-week jaunt within the Circle, said they lost "all track of time" because of the constant daylight. At this time of year, the sun never sets in the Arctic.

They told of one incident when, cold, hungry and sopping wet, they dropped their Canso aircraft in a tiny Roman Catholic mission and received warmth, shelter and food. Eventually, someone noticed that the mission clocks all were a half-hour slow.

The mission priests explained that they were delayed on a hunting expedition some weeks ago and returned to find that the clocks had stopped. With their radio equipment on the hummer, they set the clocks by guess.

"You'd be amazed," said one member of the expedition, "at how downright grateful they were to get the correct time."

The Unions Know The Communists

Communism is the talk of every town and every western nation. The word in its various mutations — Russia, Communists, Soviets, Reds, fellow-travellers, Them,—occurs on the front page of every newspaper in Canada every day. Yet hundreds of thousands of Canadians do not know what Communism is and have never wittingly or unwittingly met a real live Communist. A Communist is to them a foreign creature or somebody who skulks about our land in a red cape. They believe that Communists exist in the way that they believe the devil, witches and unholy ghosts exist—believing without seeing. That kind of belief doesn't move them dreadfully and doesn't affect their daily life directly.

* * *

There is a large group of Canadians who do see and rub shoulders with Communists, and know it. They are men in mines, in lumber camps, in big industrial plants. They know, and their union officials know what Communists are from personal experience of them. For it at the working man and his unions that Communists primarily aim. In some unions Communists have wormed their way into top positions, there to wield the big stick.

* * *

Clear-sighted men and unions who have felt the stick, who know what shrewd operators the Communists are and their local aims, do not like what they have seen and felt. They are on their guard, recognizing in the Communists about them a force more potent than any the employers could use against them. Lately the C.C.L. ousted from the ranks of its member unions the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, whose leader in British Columbia is a reputed Communist. The President of the C.C.L., A. R. Mosher, and the Secretary-Treasurer, Pat Conroy, may hope that the 30,000 members of the I.U.M.M.W. will seek other leadership and come back to the fold purified of Communist blotches. In the T.L.C. there is now a significant group of officials who, viewing with alarm the communist infiltration into the T.L.C., have revolted against President Bengough's policy of fending for the Canadian Seamen's Union. This union is alleged to be strongly tinged with Communism.

The revolt may not be as serious as it seems. Mr. Bengough has no love for Communists and may have his own able policy for dealing with them. It does show that the men who are in the best position to know Communists are aware of the dangers and are taking action to counteract them.

Canada's Economic Dependence On Great Britain

Three weeks ago in these columns we commented on our financial and economic dependence on the United States, pointing out that Americans had a total investment in Canadian bonds and industry of some $5,000,000,000. In order to correct any impression that Canada has given over British dependence for American it is necessary to mention that Britain still has great capital investment in Canada, despite the war and the forced conversion of British holdings during it. In 1945 British investment in stocks and bonds of Canadian governments and firms amounted to $1,766,000,000.

The days are gone when Canada was generally regarded as being owned jointly by the Canadian Pacific Railway and British financial barons. Nevertheless, the C.P.R. is still a major land owner and shareholder in Canada. According to a recent article in the Saturday Evening Post the company operates today:

Turkish baths, a dance palace, fire stations, a bus company, and has a force of 377 professional cops. It is in the insurance business, operates a north-south airline, a fleet of forty-two ocean, coastal and inland steamships, a chain of fourteen hotels, and at least one parlour palace of dubious distinction is on its property.

And, like the C.P.R.'s dominance in Canada, the British investments are by no means insignificant. The figure of $1,766,000,000 is one billion lower than the figure of British investments in 1926, but it represents large quantities of railway holdings (Canadian National as well as C.P.R.) and of municipal, provincial and corporation bonds.

In the expanded economy of Canada British investment has not kept pace with American. To many English-speaking citizens this is a matter for regret and to men like Premier Drew who lately made a pilgrimage to Britain to encourage the setting up of British industries here, more British capital is desirable. On the face of the economic situation it would seem sensible that Britain earn its Canadian dollars by sending its capital here to work for them than by receiving them in loans. The trouble is that Britain is now a debtor country and has not the free capital for splurging in Canada.

The real economic dependence of Canada on Britain and the United States results from Canada's position as an exporting and importing country in relation to both: the so-called triangle of trade. We are dependent on Britain being able to buy from us, on the United States buying from Britain, and thus on our being able to buy from the U.S. That is our present worry, and not how much American or British capital is invested in Canada. The complete total of all outside investment in Canada of $7,500,000,000 seems a large liability, but it is chicken-feed in relation to the total money Canadians have invested in themselves and their own enterprises; it is small in comparison with the national wealth of Canada.

Our Own Weather Guide

We are never amazed by the weather. We have foreknowledge of it, and knowledge is power to control amazement. We are amazed, however, that few others beside ourself seem to be equipped with our apparatus for weather-divining. It could be common property, if others had imbibed knowledge at their mother's knee and learned to suck eggs with their grandmother. Our prognostic of weather comes from ancient and therefore reliable sources. To play fair with our readers we shall part with some of our lore. Lines like this:

If Candlemas-day be dry and fair
The half of winter's to come and mair;
If Candlemas-day be wet and foul
The half o' winter's gone at Yule.

(Candlemas-day is February 2nd)

Here is another useful rhyme:

If the oak be out before the ash
The summer will be but a splash:
If the ash be out before the oak
The summer will be all a soak.

Another from memory's hoard:

St. Swithin's Day if thou dost rain,
For forty days it will remain:
St. Swithin's Day if thou be fair
For forty days 'twill rain nae mair.

(St. Swithin's Day is July 15th.)

For winter we offer you:

Ice in October enough to bear a duck,
All the coming winter will be mud and muck.

Or this doleful line: A green Christmas makes a full churchyard.

For daily use there is this distich:

Rain before seven,
Fine before eleven.

And another sane couplet:

Between one and two
See what the day will do.

Or this:

Red at night is the shepherd's delight.
Red in the morning is the shepherd's warning.

Our ancestors observed the weather for several thousand years. They had the wit to pass on the deductions (or philosophically speaking, inductions) from their observations. It seems that people of this twentieth century have not had the wit to remember them. Perhaps they do not really care about the weather, living and working indoors as many of them do. However, nearly all of us have carried on the custom of talking about the weather even if it no longer concerns us. Vavid talk, in keeping with much of our vapid activity.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Sign in a photographer's shop window: "Will You Remember Exactly How Your Child Looked On Each Succeeding Birthday?" No, thank heaven.

The Ludington Daily News of Michigan carried recently an advertisement that "Grotemat's Wife Saving Station" would be closed from August 30th to September 7th. That must be the week when husbands are saved.

A Canadian geographical expedition to the Arctic has come back with a mysterious skull. It is elongated and its teeth slant forward. Probably a result of the creature worrying about the high cost of living and bewailing the modern times in the last ice age.

Diary Of A Heat Wave

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Passed the afternoon with a large group of people, including a young couple with their first baby. They seemed greatly fussed for fear the child would inconvenience the rest of the company by its occasional cries, and they were plunged into the deepest mortification when it showed signs of gas. It is very hard for young parents to realize that most people over twenty-five have some first-hand knowledge of babies, and are fully aware of all their disgusting habits and are not embarrassed or put out by them. I myself, though no expert on the subject, know that babies cry, and belch, and are not housebroken, and I do not care. Indeed, I am quite fond of children between the ages of 0 and 1. But most young parents are convinced that theirs is the only child in which the Old Adam still rages, and work themselves into agonies about it. Relax, parents; it is not in the power of human baby to embarrass Marchbanks who declares, without fear of successful contradiction, that he was once a baby himself.

◇ ◇ ◇

MONDAY: A friend of mine who makes a living out of poultry tells me that there is a new method of turning cockerels into capons, by feeding them a special substance. The only difficulty is that it has not yet been proved that people can eat such capons without some danger of absorbing this substance, and thus becoming capons themselves. This is certainly a solemn thought, but it seems to me that if you can make a capon of a man by feeding him one thing, you can decaponize him by feeding him something else, and I might make a fortune by discovering the right corrective. Imagine my discreet advertisement: "Madam, is your husband a capon? Then feed him Marchbanks Bullo, the Best of the Bull. A teaspoonful in hot milk at bedtime, and your worries are over. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back". There are millions in such a scheme.

◇ ◇ ◇

TUESDAY: The heat wave reached a new peak today. I do not greatly mind the heat; I simply drink water by the pailful, and go about my business. But some of my friends were in a sad state. This leads me to wonder whether the use of the fan by men might not be revived in Canada. Men carried fans in the eighteenth century; Orientals carry fans to this day. Of course the modern craze for utility would make it impossible to revive the fan as a thing of beauty, but a fan which was also a notebook, or which had actuarial tables printed on it, or which bore a large advertisement for one's own business would surely be permissible. Golfers could keep their scores on special fans, and preachers would write their sermons on them. It has been whispered to me by a low fellow of secular tendencies that many a preacher last Sunday wore no trousers under his gown. It may be so, but it would ill become a layman like me to let his mind dwell on such a subject.

◇ ◇ ◇

WEDNESDAY: The heat grows more intense, and only men whose natural juices have dried up fail to sweat through the back of their shirts. I am melting like a tallow candle, but I do not really mind. In a shop today I saw two of the clerks fanning each other, but they fanned so hard and laughed so much that they had to stop in order to cool off. My brother Fairchild, avid of a martyr's crown, has taken his children to the C.N.E., and from time to time my thoughts turn to him, and I have sharp stabs of exquisite self-congratulation because I am not with him. What really amazes me is that many young people under twenty moan to me about the heat, though I am sure that they are not really suffering; they just think that such complaining is grown-up, and makes them seem mature. Well, let it rage. I can stand a lot of heat, and in no time at all it will be winter. This evening I drank a pail of cold water, and put my feet in a pail of beer, and was perfectly happy.

◇ ◇ ◇

THURSDAY: Business takes me to the city of Kingston, and from my hotel window I can look at the backs of the shops which line its principal street. Now these shops have modern faces, bedizened with black glass, steel, chromium, tile and all the junk which our age thinks smart, but their backs are of honest, beautiful old limestone, and their windows and chimneys have proportions which speak of an earlier and, architecturally speaking, better day. I am glad to have this view of Kingston's enduring old charms; the old lady would be very pretty if she did not raddle her aged face in an attempt to look like Kapuskasing, or Coboconk or some other graceless youngster.

◇ ◇ ◇

FRIDAY: I have been a lifelong reader in bed, and as I grow busier I find that bed is the only place in which I read at all. But I am now so torpid that I am never able to read more than a page of print before I drop off to sleep. At this rate it takes me several months to finish a modern novel, and more than a year to wade through a Victorian novel. What is more, I have to re-read whatever I read while semi-conscious, and valuable time is lost. If this tendency increases the time will soon be at hand when I never read anything. Would that be a good thing? There are times when I think that the reading I have done in the past has had no effect except to cloud my mind and make me indecisive. However, when I look at the determined non-readers among my acquaintance I feel that there may be something in reading, after all.

◇ ◇ ◇

SATURDAY: A man groaned to me today that he rarely ate anything in such weather as this, and that even in spite of this healthy self-denial he felt dreadful. "Poor deluded wretch", said I, pulling out a sausage-roll and munching it before his astonished eyes, "haven't you the gumption to know that if the heat makes you suffer you need energy to compensate for that suffering? I always eat like a poor relation in hot weather to keep my strength up. A hot cereal for breakfast, two eggs, toast and four cups of coffee puts me in trim for the day. A hearty lunch, a light tea at four, dinner at seven and a snack at bedtime keep me going. And do I suffer from heat? Not on your tin-type!" ....He was unconvinced, but I cannot help that; in my dietary ideas I am away ahead of my time.

Stiff Program For C.C.F.

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

SHOULD the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation be elected to power nationally it will find that it has set itself a formidable array of tasks for its first term of office. It is doubtful that the wide program of fiscal and social reform, together with the nationalization of a substantial group of industries, could be carried out in the time allotted. Certainly it would seem impossible unless the C.C.F. had an overwhelming Commons majority.

Once in office the C.C.F. plans to proceed immediately with the socialization of banks, railways and such basic industries as steel, meat-packing, farm implements, fertilizer, fuel and power. But after the example of socialism in operation in Britain and Saskatchewan, these proposals no longer shock Canadians as they once did. Nor do they constitute a program to put such a "vast section" of Canadian enterprise under state ownership as some press reports imply. If and when completed the great bulk of Canadian industry and services would still remain—as in Britain—under private control.

In the fields of power and transportation, public ownership has progressed to the stage where complete nationalization can no longer be considered a revolutionary step. The largest Canadian railway is already publicly-owned. Canada's air services, both domestic and international, are mainly under state ownership and control. Most of the Dominion's hydro-electric power resources belong to and are operated by the people. In the realm of fuel and steel, the coal mines of the Maritimes are heavily subsidized, as is iron production in Ontario.

How far and how fast socialization of other basic industries should proceed is a matter for the people of Canada to determine. The forthright platform presented by the C.C.F. will give the electorate an opportunity to render its decision in the next and succeeding general elections. For it is clear now that the C.C.F., conceived and nurtured in the depression years of the last decade, remains a strong progressive force in these more prosperous times.

The Lawyers Meet

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

WITH top-ranking men of their profession from England, Ireland, the United States and France as their guests, Canadian lawyers (the Canadian Bar Association) are in annual session in Montreal. It is no mean event. Lawyers are often a target for jest, and sometimes for cynicism, such as when Carl Sandburg wrote his line :"Why does the hearse-horse snicker when the hearse is carrying a lawyer?" or when one of the Russian Czars, visiting a European capital, said there were only 10 lawyers in Russia and that he was "going home to hang five of them". Yet the truth remains, with the most cynical or envious unable to deny it, that law is a great and noble profession, and that all history is studded with the deeds of its illustrious members. Indeed, the story of the rise of liberty, and more especially of liberty as we know it in English-speaking lands, is largely the story of great lawyers, of men who understood what their profession was about.

True it is that the character of the practice of law has changed, with some of the most eminent members of the profession now counsellors for corporations, and apt to be imbued with their philosophy and outlook. Nevertheless, there remains the lawyer and jurist (one of them, Charles Evans Hughes, died last week) who understand the connection of law with liberty, who keep in mind Macaulay's line about "law sustained by liberty, and liberty sustained by law".

So long as these remain law will be a great profession, worthy of the great figures who have moulded its traditions.

Hurricane Treatment

Ottawa forecasts suggest that it will take at least until next March to complete the negotiations for Newfoundland's entry into Confederation. The Dominion weather office at Dorval has other views. Its synopsis Tuesday contained the following striking phrase:

"It is too early to determine the future path of the hurricane but it is now definite that the only parts of Canada which might be affected, are Nova Scotia and Newfoundland."

Quite a hurricane! It has apparently blown Newfoundland into our arms months before anyone thought it possible. It remains possible that, if a hurricane can blow Newfoundland in, it can also blow it out. This is the weakness of hurricane treatment. We would like something more enduring. — Montreal Star.

SMART BOY

A boy went to work in an engineer's shop and after he had been there three weeks announced his intention of leaving. His employer asked the reason, whether the hours were all right, and the money all right, and the boy replied:

"Yes, those are all right, but I don't like it, and I'm sorry I learned the business now."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus.... And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise. (Gal. 3: 26, 29.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Now I say, That the heir, as long as he is a child, differeth nothing from a servant, though he be lord of all; but is under tutors and governors until the time appointed of the father.

Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the elements of the world: but when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons.

And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ. (Gal. 4: 1-7.)

Wheat Subsidy

In view of the fact that the Federal Government was paying a subsidy of forty-five cents a bushel to protect the public after the price of wheat was raised from $1.55 to $2.00 per bushel, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board very properly took action to stop the general move that was under way to increase the price of flour and bread. Where these interests do not practice discretion themselves, it indicates the necessity of governmental intervention.—Brantford Expositor.

TWO END WALLS are all that are left of Kelly's Tavern on No. 7 Highway near Reaboro. Built in 1832 this tavern was the only stopping-off place for the early settlers who went into Ops township and for years was a haven on the road between Omemee and Lindsay.

Built In 1832, Only Two Walls Remain, Of Kelly's Tavern On Highway No. 7

By JIM ENGLISH

Near Reaboro on the west side of Highway 7 stands two ends of what was once "Kelly's Tavern", built in 1832 by James Kelly to serve early settlers in Ops Township. At that time the district around Port Hope and Cobourg was known as "The Front" and was always referred to in that way by the settlers.

The country here at that time was all woods and was called the back country. First settlers came all the way from the front on foot later crossing Rice Lake on scows to Peterborough. They had to make the rest of the journey on foot and Kelly's Tavern was their last stop before going on to the land allotted to them in Ops township. They brought some food with them but when they needed more they had to make the trip to the front to get it.

The first year the settlers planted some potatoes and some Indian corn if they could get the seed. The next year if they had an acre or so cleared they planted some wheat. Wheat had to be carried to Port Hope to be ground. It took four days each way to make the trip and there were some men who had a living carrying wheat to the mill. They would carry a bag of wheat to Port Hope and bring the flour back. Their pay was half the flour and they supported their families in that way. They later learned to make maple sugar and that took care of their sweetening problem as well as proving a source of revenue where it was much needed.

James Kelly's daughter married John Connolly, whose father, Nicholas Connolly, was said to be the first settler in Ops township. He took up land in West Ops in 1830. John Connolly was reeve of Ops for many years and once ran for a member of parliament for South Victoria as a Liberal but was defeated by Arthur McQuade, a Conservative, who settled, near Omemee in 1837 and represented South Victoria in parliament for many years.

As Kelly's Tavern was the last stop before coming to Ops, most of the settlers stayed there over night and friendships were formed there that were to endure for more than a century between their families. Some years later two other hotels were built. One was at the top of the hill west of Omemee and the other was about two miles east of Lindsay on the Downeyville road and was known as the "Green Bush Tavern." There was no bridge south of Lindsay and travellers arrived by what is now known as the Downeyville road, and so had to pass the Green Bush Tavern.

Next time you pass the old stone house see if you can visualize things as they were along that trail over a century ago and contrast them with conditions today when you whizz past there at 50 or 60 miles an hour and arrive in Port Hope in a little more than an hour while it took our forefathers four days to make the same journey.

Millstones Found In Fields

By GLEN HANCOCK

Once in a while an Ontario farmer plows up a peculiarly shaped stone which looks as though it may have been used one time for a specific purpose. The stone is round and flat, with strange grooves on one side and a hole through the center. The plowman comes across one of these relics only occasionally now, and after a brief moment for apathetic examination he casts it upon the stonepile of the field.

This is a millstone. Most millstones have passed from existence, except, perhaps, in India But at one time, when Canada and some parts of the Holy Land. was still thought of as a "few acres of frozen snow", they were as symbolic of pioneer industry as the broadaxe and human sweat and they were as characteristic of British colonization as land grants and the Union Jack. Millstones were used in the Canadian wilderness to grind wheat into flour. Without them—at least until grist mills were built—there would have been no bread to augment the monotonous diet of beans and fish.

When a millstone is uncovered nowadays, and removed from the place where it was discarded, only the romanticist feels the emotional significance of the stones which were once used as commonly as refrigerators and egg-beaters are used today.

Millstones are like old nags in a pasture, and old lace in an attic trunk. They have served their purpose well, and exist now only in the color of historical novels.

In the two generations following the American revolution, including the period during which the Peterborough district was settled, the United Empire Loyalists and emigrants from the British Isles poured into the lake districts of Upper Canada and subsequently populated the inland areas. Living was hard in the bush, where there were no roads and no supply centres. But the British government, often reluctantly, provided the colonists with many facilities which encouraged the clearing of land and the founding of towns and villages. Among these were the millstones.

The millstones which England sent across the Atlantic to Goderich, Landon and York, and to the Rice Lake and Otonabee districts, were made in Scotland from burrstone which had been found in the Paris Basin of France. The stones were hard and porous and of a cellular formation.

Two stones were used in the milling operation. The bottom one was grooved and fixed. The under side of the upper one was also scored with furrows, and was rotated manually over the disc beneath. The grain to be ground was poured into the center (or the "eye") of the stone and the grooves led the milled grist away from the center. Even the husks of the grain were ground to powder in this rustic operation.

This early method of milling in Canada, and the equipment used in the procedure, was identical to that employed by the women of Biblical times.

Although the burrstones, made cellular because of fossil casts, were best for hand milling, German stones found near Cologne and composed of a basaltic lava were used in America. Tough sandstones and grits were also used, and sandstones found in Ulster and Landcaster counties, in New York and Pennsylvania, respectively, were common in early colonial homes.

One millstone served every six families, and the stones were passed from shanty to shanty until such time as men like Adam Scott built grist mills in the bushlands.

There may come a time when the millstone which tangles with a farmer's plowshear will be worth more than the produce of the field. Like postage stamps and first editions, their value increases with their rarity.

At any rate, the pioneer millstones in the museums, and the few still interred in Upper Canadian fields, testify to a Canadian civilization which has developed in three short centuries in a land which eons of years ago was nothing but vast expanses of neolithic ice.

Labor Day Only Holiday Canada Adopted From US

Labor Day, which falls this year on Monday, Sept. 6, is unique among Canadian holidays because it is the only one this country has adopted from the United States.

All our other holidays—except perhaps Thanksgiving — are of British origin or entirely Canadian; such as Dominion Day, and in Quebec, St. Jean Baptiste Day.

It was a Canadian—Alexander W. Wright, a native of Markham Township in Ontario—who put Labor Day on the Canadian calendar. Wright, who had worked as a newspaper man in Guelph and later became editor of an influential American labor journal also was largely responsible for United States labor deciding on the September observance. One faction of American labor favored May 1, but Wright, never well disposed towards Communists, stubbornly opposed the date common in European countries.

And it was Wright's zeal that resulted in labor day becoming a statutory holiday in Canada, though a bill introduced—oddly enough—by a Conservative prime minister and endorsed by Conservative majorities in the Senate and Commons.

Wright returned to Canada after working in the United States and, without funds, went to Ottawa as a labor lobbyist. The dynamic journalist not only talked a majority of the Conservative members into favoring the idea; he even converted Prime Minister Sir John Thompson, who personally piloted the measure through Commons in 1894.

The holiday, originally observed Sept. 1, later was fixed for the first Monday in September to provide a long week-end.

Though Labor Day is American in origin, the idea of a labor holiday isn't a modern one. It's written that in the Middle Ages processions were organized by trade guilds in England and other parts of Europe. The parades showed the medieval working man's pride of craftsmanship and stressed his position in the society of his day.

Responsible Government Given Canada 100 Years Ago

Before 1848, the Canadian provinces of the time, United Canada (comprising Ontario and Quebec), Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, were in a general way administered by a governor named by the British Cabinet, an executive council chosen by the governor, a legislative council life-appointed also by the governor and a legislative assembly elected by the people. Legislation was debated and voted on by the two branches of the legislature, but the governor, was left completely free to assent or dissent any bill thus passed when presented for sanction.

The remarkable peculiarity of the system resided in the fact that the governor also exercised the executions of the government, thus combining the dual authority of governor and prime minister. The system was aggravated the more by the governor's complete liberty to select, regardless of politics and parties, whom he pleased as members of his executive council. Moreover, these councillors bore no responsibility to the legislative assembly British Cabinet. Consequently, the people's elected representatives had but a very limited share in the administration of the country, since even its legislation was left to the discretion of the governor and the policy of the executive council was not submitted to the control of the legislature. Indeed, the government before 1848, was not in any way responsible for its administration to the people of the country.

First in Quebec, and later in Ontario and Nova Scotia, the political leaders had for years vainly sought the introduction of some kind of responsible government, that is, responsible to the elected representatives of the country. Such claims were not accepted by the British Cabinet, which held the opinion that the British principle of responsible government could not be adopted in a colony, without creating an inadmissible dual accountability to the British Cabinet and the colonial legislature. But Canadian reformers steadily combatted this long spent theory, by maintaining that there really existed a double field of administration, an imperial one accountable to the British Cabinet, but also a provincial one inherently accountable through its elected representatives, to the people of the colony.

In a more or less groping way, such was the principle advocated by Canadian legislators. First enunciated by Bedard in the first decade of the last century, it was taken up from different angles by Papineau and McKenzie but without any definite concessions from the British ministers until eventually colonial discontent exploded in the Rebellion of 1837, in English Upper Canada and French Lower Canada.

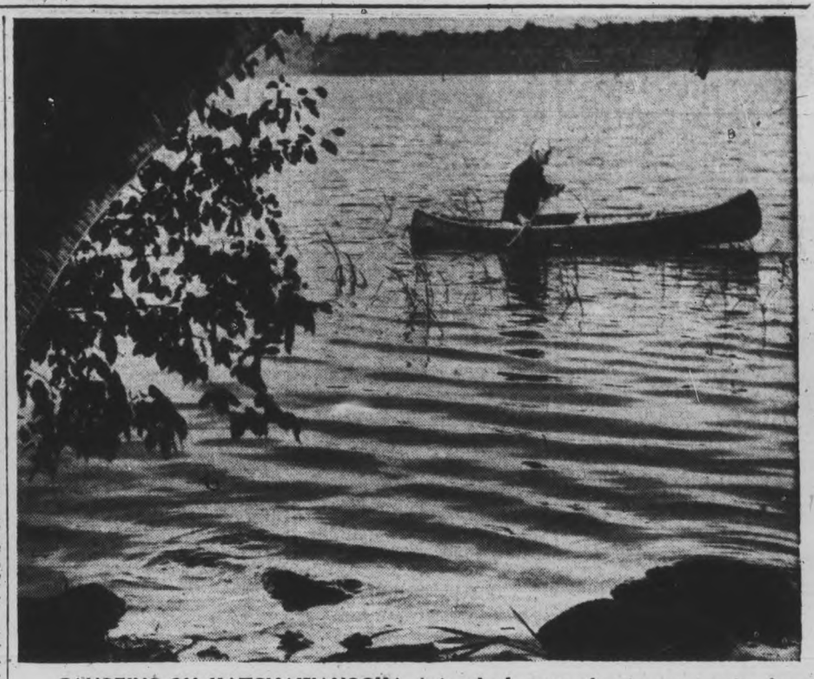
Appointed to remedy the political crisis, Lord Durham, adopting Baldwin's suggestions, supported the principle that the "internal government of the colony" should rest "in the hands of the colonists themselves" and "thus leave to them the execution of the laws." Unfortunately with the dilatory instructions of the British Cabinet and the personal reluctance of the governors of both United Canada and Nova Scotia, the two leading provinces in the movement, colonial administrations refused to yield to the legislatures' resolutions claiming control of the executive council and requiring that the executive councillors be selected from the majority party in the legislative assembly.

But the reformers refused to be denied their rights and pushed forward under Uniacke and Howe in Nova Scotia and LaFontaine and Baldwin in United Canada. Their unrelenting pressure with its logical presentation of their case, slowly moved the British Cabinet into a partial acceptation of their demand. In March 1847, the Colonial Secretary, Earl Grey wrote that "it is doubtless necessary that the direction of the internal policy of the colony should be entrusted to those who enjoy the confidence of the Provincial Parliament." Though unaware of this change of British opinion the provincial leaders decided to force a constitutional decision of their case on the floor of the legislatures.

On January 26, 1848, the Nova Scotian Assembly in Halifax voted a motion of want of confidence in the executive council, stating that "the present Executive Council does not possess that confidence so essential to the promoting of the public welfare, and so necessary to insure to Your Excellency the harmonious co-operation of the Assembly." As a result the executive council was reluctantly forced to resign and the lieutenant-governor Sir John Harvey, asked James Boyle Uniacke to form a government from members of the majority party in the Assembly. The way being thus cleared, a genuine responsible government was formed on February 2, 1848, under Uniacke as President of the Executive Council and Joseph Howe as Provincial Secretary.

Similarly, in United Canada, a few weeks later, on the 3rd of March, the assembly in Montreal expressed by a heavy vote its want of confidence in the executive council of the province, with the declaration that it was "essential to the satisfactory result of our deliberations" that "Her Majesty's Provincial Administration should possess the confidence of the present Advisers of His Excellency." Immediately the Executive Councillors tendered their resignation and the Government representing the Governor, Lord Eligin asked La Fontaine, its leader to constitute a government representing the majority party in the legislature. In consulation with Baldwin as co-associate La Fontaine proceeded to form on March 11th, the first responsible ministry of central Canada.

Thus, in the year 1848 in both provinces the government was entrusted to an executive council chosen from and accountable to the party having a majority in the legislative assembly. This accountability of the Executive Council to the majority of the people's elected representatives introduced responsible government in Canada which, in reality, meant the administration of the country by the people of the country. Through the recognition of this principle, Canada achieved a new great step towards autonomy—a step which in the course of political evolution led the country to its present political independence.



CANOEING ON KATCHAWANOOKA was common before the first white explorers travelled the Trent system. Veteran canoeman, Archie Shook, Lakefield Park, is shown above trolling through the rice beds in a bark canoe of native construction from around Bobcaygeon area. Museum pieces such as this are tricky leaky affairs; as natives know, they will not stand storage and their life span is five years with constant care.

Few Canoeists Are Left In Country But There Are Plenty of Canoodlers

By NICK NICKELS

Power boating in the past few years has all but swept canoeists and canoeing from the Kawarthas but there are one or two exceptions, diehards if you will, who have a lifetime of canoe knowhow behind them and still prefer that skillful mode of travel that is distinctly Canadian.

One familiar figure that can be seen paddling leisurely on the upper Otonabee at Lakefield and in Lake aKtchawanooka is Archie Shook, a resident of Lakefield Park. He owns a low-slung black and white craft that was built to his specifications years ago in Woodstock. He was then a resident of Detroit and a member of the American Canoe Club and a familiar figure in the lagoons of Belle Isle Park. He has pictures in his home from a Detroit weekly paper showing him in Indian costume in some bygone water carnival with the same canoe fixed up to make it appear like a bark canoe; it was a handpainted design on an oilcloth "bag" covering and looks very close to the real thing.

Tiring of life in the Automobile City, Mr. Shook decided to go up into Algoma, by canoe, and paddled the 400-mile sweep of Lake Huron with his duffle secured by a buckled-down canvas cover that shed water from the ally he comes down to the villong rollers. After he had reached his destination at Blind River on the North Channel, he took more sheltered trips in and out of the Canadian Soo.

Mr. Shook also has a fine collection of choice paddles that he prizes highly, some he made himself and others were custom orders. There are maple, white ash and spruce pieces that show much wear through their gleaming coats of varnish. We asked him if he had a wild cherry paddle.

"No, but I would give my eye teeth to own one," said he.

Just up the Lake from the village on the east shore, George Douglas is the owner of one of these prized paddles, or was. When the City of Peterborough accepted a very special canoe built by the Peterborough Canoe Company for Princess Elizabeth, Mr. Douglas presented this cherished paddle to the city to be included in the shipment. It is said that he is a collector of canoes and has many fine specimens at his home and occasionlage by water with his long effortless stroke sending his canoe along at a good clip.

Paddlers who rent canoes from liveries for a few hours of floating about are not canoeists, they have been called "canoodlers" and from half a mile away an experienced paddler can tell that they are rank amateurs by the way they fail to hook their paddle stroke, how they sit on a thwart instead of kneeling on the bottom and the apparent frenzied work they attach to the sport. Another amazing thing they seem to disregard altogether is the loading of the canoe. It is one of the most delicate craft made and the centre of gravity is something that an expert "feels" and knows just where weight should be distributed to give him that two-inch cant of the bow and therein lies part of the secret of easy handling.

Canoeing is not considered a summer sport by experts for they can be seen paddling through till well into January, like "Chief" Lee who goes back and forth to his work at the Grove School as long as ice permits and launches his craft again among the swirling ice pans in Spring. It almost amounts to a nine-month sport in the Kawarthas, if one is enthusiastic.

Commons Rises Again

By Ernest Atkinson in UK Bulletin

While Britain's Parliament has been adjourned for a short summer break, the work of building up the new Chamber for the House of Commons has gone on apace. This will be at least the seventh place in which the Commons have sat. It is hard, indeed to put a number to it. Parliaments, in the sense in which nowadays we understand the name, did not appear until King John, in the twelfth century, had been forced to sign the Magna Charta.

The earliest assemblies meriting the name of Parliament met more or less where the King's Court found it convenient—at Oxford or Lincoln or Windsor or St. Alban's. But as Westminster became recognized as the home of Parliament, meetings became regular in the Palace of Westminster. The earliest pictorial representation of Parliament appears to show the estates of the realm meeting together in the reign of Edward I. He died in 1307. But in about 150 years onwards from his reign, the House of Commons gained a great place in the Constitution. And those early meetings were in Westminster Hall, which still stands.

• • •

Just now, workmen are repairing the roof, damaged by German fire-bombs. The timbers they are using comes from the same wood in Sussex from which the original timbers for that masterpiece of construction came in the twelfth century. In a very special sense, here is something of the fabric of English history.

By the time of Edward I it became very difficult, for one reason or another, for the Commons to continue meeting in the Palace of Westminster. Across the road, in the ancient Chapter House of Westminster Abbey, they found a place to gather together. And there — in the building which stands today—the Commons met for two centuries in some of the most formative and important years of its long history.

In the Palace of Westminster they stayed until the destruction of the Commons Chamber, in 1941, caused them once again to seek the hospitality of the Church and stay in the newly built Church House.

Petes Beat Oshawa, 14-10 In Rough Lacrosse Joust

The Petes beat Oshawa 14-10 before a big crowd in Miller Bowl last night in an OLA senior "B" fixture. It was a typical scrap between these clubs, hard and close-checking with no less than 27 penalties passed out, 14 to the homesters. Several of these were for fighting, and one a misconduct to Hilson for shoving the referee after a fight. Lou Vitarelli was cut over the eye. Play was close after the first frame and rugged all the way. The Petes had a 6-1 first-quarter edge but were only in front 8-7 at the half and 11-7 going into the fourth.

Goalie Bun Hill was outstanding in the local cage, and the whole team worked well in the sizzling struggle. Scoring honors were pretty well spread around, but frequent penalties spoiled line combinations a lot. At one time there were seven players in the sin pew. McAdam sparked the Oshawa attack, while Sanders, Sutherland and Hilson also caught the eye in a good game.

The teams:

Oshawa: Goal, Chambers; defence, L. Vipond and W. Vipond; centre, Christie; wings, De Pippo and McAdam; rover, Cook; alternates, Sanders, Hilson, Sutherland, Murphy, Robson, Bush, Bastien and Bradley.

Petes: Goal, Hill; defence, Chute and Magee; centre, E. Creighton; wings, Dugan and Foote; rover, R. Breakspear; alternates, Horton, Warren, L. Vitarelli, D. Vitarelli, Smith, Gordon and J. Breakspear.

Referees, D. Wilson and T. Hewitt.

Ashby's Oust Woollens In Third Fray

Ashby's won their junior PW SU series from Woollens at the Bowl last night, dropping the first game 8-7, but winning the deciding one 16-3. The victors now continue in provincial playdowns. Woollens tried hard and looked good in the first fray, but ran into too much Doris McFadden in the nightcap.

The Ashby girls got a poor game out of their systems as the Woollens went well in the opener. B. Reid pitched all right, but had bad support, while the winners clicked neatly and won the game with two runs in the ninth. M. Laing threw eight-hit ball and each flinger fanned four. B. Hall and J. McIlwain shone afield for the Woollens, with E. Simmons and J. Dunk best for Ashby's. M. Freeman got three hits for the latter, and C. Ferguson and E. Humphries each had three for the Woollens.

D. McFadden gave up but six hits in the second scrap as she whiffed eight, though she was wild in spots. Ashby's fielded better this game as the Woollens weakened, M. Laing replacing S. Harris on the mound in the fourth, and then giving way to E. Humphries in the fifth. J. Dunk, E. Simmons, C. Ferguson, and E. Humphries all fielded well. E. Simmons and E. McFadden each hit safely three times for Ashby's, the latter, M. Freeman and D. Callan clouting a homer apiece. B. Hall got two of the losers' hits. The teams:

Woollens — C. Ferguson c, R. McIlroy rf, B. Hall 2b, E. Humphries cf, J. McIlwain ss, S. Harris 1b, B. Jaquith c, M. Laing p, H. Goodfellow 3b.

Ashby's — E. McFadden 2b, J. Reynolds c, E. Simmonds 3b, M. Freeman cf, D. Manley ss, G. Dracup lf, D. Callan rf, J. Dunk 1b, B. Reid p, D. McFadden p.

Umpires—Akers and Quemby.

Calgary Stampeders Down Bombers 10-5

By The Canadian Press

Eastern Canada football fans, who a few days ago mightn't have bet a plugged nickel on the East's chances of retaining the Dominion title, took new heart today from the latest exploits of the mazing Calgary Stampeders.

The Stamps last night won their third straight victory in the Western Canada Football League, defeating Winnipeg Blue Bombers 10-5. But the score seemed to lower them a bit below the super-team rating they gained by defeating the same Blue Bombers 30-0 last Monday night.

THE WINNER — Goalie Bun Hill won the hat last night for a fine lacrosse chore as the Petes defeated Oshawa 14-10 here in a rugged game.

Heavy drills are the nightly order now for the local ORFU Panthers as the schedule opens two weeks from today. Panthers aren't drawn on the opening date—Oshawa goes to Orillia—but an exhibition game may be arranged. Orillia opens here on Sept. 25. Coach Gord Young's squad will be minus a few of the good players for a time, following injuries, but large turnouts mean the team will have a choice in replacements. By the way, a couple of last year's lacrosse Petes, Pup Curtin and Jerry Creighton, have been working out with the gridder. Haven't heard anything lately on the PCVS footballers but no doubt will get some info shortly.

Ottawa Nationals appear to be headed for their second straight Border Pro Ball Loop title. And it appears improbable that Peterborough will be having a pro club for another year or two. We need floodlights in Riverside Park before any pro circuit will show interest. Recently a scout in St. Thomas explained to the writer there that most small U.S. centres financed ball lights over a two-year period and paid the cost in that time. Pro clubs in the States are looking more and more toward Canada for young prospects. We noted a Brantford item stating one Bill Johnson was offered a Cardinal contract at the Hamilton school, getting $300 to sign and $300 a month to play minor professional baseball.

Old Feudin' Enemies

Weather being right, the COBL finals are due to start this aft at three in Riverside between Kingston Locos and the Petes. A four-in-seven series, return being in Kingston on Monday and then back here Wednesday twilight. It's like old Central League times to see these long-time feudin' enemies at each other's throats in titular playoffs. If Doug Loucks' ailing arm comes around okay, we believe the Petes' chances are good, but otherwise they're likely to have hurling trouble if the series drags out too much. Well, we'll just have to wait and see.

* * * * * * *

Discussing the delay in starting this series, our old sparring mate, Mike Rodden of Kingston, comments: "Manager Olsen does not subscribe to the opinion that managers should remain silent when contentious matters suddenly arise. However, even at his most fluent best he doubts very much that he would be able to out-talk either Cec. Perdue or members of the Peterborough executive. He did have better luck when addressing the league heads and, following that victory, he stated that he will be astonished if the onrushing Locos don't upset the Petes in four consecutive games. What a man!" Yes, indeed.

They'll Have To Hustle

Oshawa GM-Colts begin their OASA senior "B" playdown series, two out of three, against the local Legionnaires at eight tonight in the Ashburnham Bowl. Following a juvenile Oshawa-Kawarthas' playoff at 6.15. The K's lost the first one and must take tonight's tilt or they're out. The Colts have a classy club, including some senior "A" players of a year ago, so Howie Dalton's bunch will have to hustle here if they want to grab that first one. It promises to be a smart scrap and should draw one of the season's biggest Bowl crowds.

* * * * * * *

Ashby's eliminated Woollens at the Bowl last night in the third game of their junior PWSU series, 16 to 3. But Woollens won the second struggle 8-7 to extend the Ashby lasses. Latter now continue in provincial playdowns, probably playing a game or two this coming week. Still a few local playoff games to settle, and Westclox are in provincial playoffs down St. Kitts' way today. The Woollens pulled out the first fray last night in the ninth heat as they played good ball and Ashby's weren't so hot. But Ashby's swung back smartly to earn the second handily and that was that.

* * * * * * *

Typical Rugged Struggle

Quite a scrap down at Miller Bowl last e'en before the Petes' lacrossers beat Oshawa 14-10. A typical rugged tilt betwixt these teams with 27 penalties handed out. Frequent fights, slashing and general rough-housing as they checked closely and lost tempers in the tight going. Some old scores cropped up, too, to be settled among some of the boys. Oshawa will be fined $15 for being half an hour late—and we see no reason for such tardiness on a short hop like that. Goalie Bun Hill starred for the Creighton crew while McAdam—local fans called the husky "nature boy"—notched five markers for the visitors. There'll be some rough times if these two teams meet in the finals, eh?

Truck Driver Down To Buck But Wins Swim

By JACK GRAY.

TORONTO, Sept. 4 — (CP).— A $35-a-week Buffalo, NY, truck driver who said he was "down to his last buck," 33-year-old Stephen (Steve) Wozniak is the new world professional swimming champion.

He won the title and $5,150 on Friday by staging a great finish, forging ahead in the eighth mile to win the annual 10-mile Canadian National Exhibition swim classic over 53 other starters. Ben Gazel of Toronto, last year's champion, finished five minutes later to take second place money of $2,500.

The stacky, heavy-tanned Wozniak had just climbed the ladder on to the finishing barge when his wife Cecelia rushed up with two-year-old daughter Stephanio on one arm.

Asked what he would do with the money, Wozniak replied "Buy a new car."

"And I think he has earned it," said his wife. "But I think we will put the rest of the money in the bank."

Slower Time

Wozniak's time of 4:39:16 hours was 10 minutes slower than the best time for the 10 miles in the the three CNE swims held at that distance. The course inside the breakwater on the Exhibition Park waterfront was slightly choppy, but Lake Ontario was a near ideal 69 degrees.

Jerry Kerschner, 23, of Columbus, Ohio, leader for most of the afternoon, took third place and a total of $1,350. It was made up of $1,000 prize money and $50 for each of the seven mile laps in which he led the pack before Wozniak overhauled him.

Two amateurs-turned-pro figured in the money winners. Bob Pirie of Toronto and Jacques Amyot of Quebec City, neither of whom had tried the 10-mile distance before, came in fourth and and sixth to win $750 and $250 respectively.

Toronto Slugs Montreal 14-4

By The Associated Press

The International Baseball League has a little more than a week to run but it appears the final make-up of the first division won't be determined until the waning days of the race.

Only Montreal Royals, who clinched the pennant Thursday night, are assured of their final finish. The runner-up Newark Bears, 13 games off the pace, are only four games ahead of the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Leafs are only a game ahead of the fourth-place Rochester Red Wings who in turn are only half a game in front of the fifth-place Syracuse Chiefs, defending circuit playoff champions.

Friday night the Chiefs turned back the Bears 8-4, while Rochester beat Buffalo Bisons 11-6; Toronto slugged Montreal 14-4 and Baltimore nipped the Jersey City Giants 5-4.

Led by Barney Lutz who batted in two runs and scored three while collecting four singles, the Leafs had an easy time downing the Royals. The Leafs jumped Charlie Lare for four runs in the first inning and were never headed. Jocko Thompson blanked the Royals until the ninth when they scored four times.

LED BY CAPTAIN BILL YEOMAN of Austin, Texas, Army's 1948 football squad dashes from the gymnasium to the playing field at West Point, N.Y., for the first practice session of the season. Coach Earl "Red" Blaik will field a brawny squad this year, and will need it to handle a stiff schedule. His principal job will be to groom replacements for last year's stars such as Rip Rowan, Joe Steffy and Goble Bryant. The new team looks strong at the ends, has a reasonably good amount of experience in the centre of the line, but will need a lot of work in the backfield.

Funeral Service For Mrs. Needler

MILLBROOK, Sept. 4—(ENS). —The funeral of Mrs. G. H. Needler, wife of Dr. G. H. Needler, of Toronto, took place from George Funeral Chapel, Port Hope, on Thursday afternoon, with Rev. J. M. Crissall, rector of St. John's Anglican Church, in charge.

Burial was in the Port Hope Union Cemetery. Pall-bearers were Messrs. Davidson and Hume, of Port Hope, G. E. Burnham, Millbrook, and a brother-in-law, Malcolm McGee, Toronto. There were many floral tributes.

Mrs. Needler, born Mary Winnifred Chisholm, was a daughter of the late Judge Chisholm, and his wife, Mary Craig, of Port Hope, where she was born and brought up. Her marriage to George Henry Needler, at that time a member of the faculty of the University of Toronto, meant the union of two families whose history had an intimate connection with that of Millbrook and Port Hope almost from pioneer days.

Mrs. Needler's death took place suddenly on August 31, following return the previous week from their summer home, Lake of Bays, Muskoka, where she and her husband had spent the vacation months. Return was at an earlier date than usual, as Mrs. Needler's health had not been satisfactory.

Accompanying her husband, Mrs. Needler had travelled extensively in the British Isles, and on the Continent, and following his retirement after more than 40 years on the University of Toronto staff, they had lived for a time in England. Return to Canada was ahead of time owing to the imminence of the war. Active in Red Cross work, Mrs. Needler had also a keen interest in educational work, and gave much capable help to her husband in his literary research and writings.

Surviving are her husband, one son, Alfred, of St. Andrew's Nova Scotia, Assistant Deputy-Minister of Fisheries; two daughters, Mary and Winnifred, Toronto; one sister, Mrs. Malcolm McGee, Aurora, and one brother, Dr. John Chisholm, of Sale, England. There are three grandchildren.

House Rides Bridge Railing In Trip Along Highway

COBOURG, Sept. 4 (ENS). — Quite an engineering feat has been accomplished at Camborne, north of here, on the Rice Lake Road, in moving a large, two-storey house owned by Mervin Grieve of Camborne, from its original location west of the village to its new site one and one-half miles distant to the east. The job of moving it was taken on by Bill Waddell of Port Hope.

Biggest task of all was getting the house across the concrete and steel counties road bridge due to the fact that the house overhung the rail about 4 feet on each side. It was necessary to raise the level of the rollers by running on top of square beams in order to elevate the house high enough to ride over the railings. It took about three hours to traverse the bridge which is about 60 feet long, as the block and tackle and rollers had to be adjusted at frequent intervals in order to keep the house in proper position to cross the bridge. An army vehicle converted to civilian use provided the motive power plus a gang of men to assist with the cables and rollers.

About two weeks were expended in bringing the house across the fields and down country lanes to the bridge and the final job of going over the bridge was witnessed by a large number of residents in that area. Down the road a comparativly short distance from the bridge is the cellar excavation and late in the afternoon the house was in its new location.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

One of the world's more moderate international feuds is going to be revived.

It is the traditional annual hockey game between Canada's Royal Military College at Kingston — reopening this months after being closed during the war — and West Point, the United States' Military Academy.

They have met 17 times. R.M.C. has won 14 games, tied one and lost two. The teams play their hockey the gentlemanly way.

Ill luck that has plagued the Italian speedboat Sant' Ambrogio since its arrival in the United States last month struck again Friday as the craft sank during its final tune-up for the Silver Cup trophy race at Detroit Saturday.

Achille Castoldi, pilot of the big red craft, said the boat veered off the course and sank just off shore. The craft was recovered but it's unlikely it will race.

Two tourney-tough New Yorkers—Icy Willie Turnesa and rollicking Ray Billows—meet this afternon for the amateur golf championship of the United States. This pair of 34-year-old campaigners grooved their shots over Memphis Country Club's fairways in the 36-hole Friday to snuff out the "dark horse" challenge of two youngsters.

Charles Burton of Olcott, N.Y., Yacht Club Friday won the fourth race in the International Tumlaren team championship at the Canadian National Exhibition. In second place was his United States teammate, Leonard Johnson, of Michigan City Yacht Club, Ind. The leading Canadian Al Rae of Queen's City Yacht Club, Toronto, was third.

A broken leg pays off at the gate. Local sportsmen Friday related the story of a London, Ont., district softball playoff this week when Jack Richard, 26-year-old Harrietsville player, broke his leg sliding into second base. A collection was taken for Richard, an air force veteran, and it totalled $124, or $25 more than the gate at the game.

J. J. Desjardins of Montreal Friday was the last Canadian to be ousted from the senior singles race at the Toronto Crick Club's annual invitation tennis tournament. Fred Kovaleski of Detroit beat him 6-4, 6-3 in a quarter final match.

It was announced at Chatham Friday that Chatham Hadleys would meet Windsor Canada Service stores in the second round in the intermediate "A" Ontario Baseball Association playoff series. The Windsorites ousted Tecumseh Indians Thursday after a three-game series in which one was tied.

Rodney and Victory Song battled to a new three-heat record Friday in the Maud S. Trot at the Duquoin, Ill., state fair. The day's program closed out the week's card there. Heat times were 2.00, 1.59 and 1.58 2-5.

Push-Button Fireworks

TORONTO, Sept. 4 — (CP). — Fireworks are being set off by push-button at the Canadian National Exhibition. "It has never been done before anywhere in the world," said Hugh Hand, an official of the company which handles the display. In other years, workmen with flaming torches have run helter-skelter among the fuses to touch off the skyrockets.

Giants Trounce Dodgers Top Spot Goes To Braves

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Since crossing the river to boss the New York Giants Leo Durocher is finding it easy to win in his old stamping grounds, Ebbets Field.

When Leo left Brooklyn in July he had guided the Dodgers to only 14 victories while losing 23 decisions at Ebbets Field, a .378 gait.

Leo has sent his Giants into action against the Dodgers in Brooklyn three times since he assumed command of the Polo Grounders and his fence-busting crew has come out on top each time.

Yesterday the Giants rubbed salt into the wound, knocking the Dodgers out of first place in the National League pennant race by taking both ends of a double-header, 7-5 and 6-3.

The twin setbacks dumped the Dodgers 1½ games behind the Boston Braves who vaulted to the top by downing the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-1. In addition, the Dodgers are only a half-game ahead of the third place St. Louis Cardinals. who were idle.

Brooklyn-born Sid Gordon was the big gun in the Giants' first-game triumph before 33,099 Flatbush fans. Gordon clouted his 28th and 29th homers of the season and drove in four runs.

Nip Phils

At Boston, the Braves scored three times in the fourth inning to nip the Phils 3-1. Big blow of the uprising was Jeff Heath's 17th homer of the year with one on off Dutch Leonard who allowed only three hits. Johnny Sain went the distance for the Braves and picked up his 17th win.

The Chicago Cubs, continuing their role of "giant killers," trounced the fourth place Pirates, 10-1 in a night game at Pittsburgh and vacated the cellar in favor of the idle Cincinnati Reds.

In the equally stirring American League race, the runner-up New York Yankees pushed to within a half-game of the league-leading Boston Red Sox.

The Yanks, paced by Joe DiMaggio, clipped the Washington Senators, 6-2 and 5-2, at the Yankee Stadium while the Red Sox beat the Athletics 2-0 in a night game at Philadelphia.

DiMaggio belted three homers, two in the first game and one in the second. Lefty Ed Lopat and Frank Shea were the winning moundsmen for the Yanks.

At St. Louis, Bob Lemon became the first major league pitcher to win 19 games this season when he pitched the third-place Cleveland Indians to a 7-0 triumph over the Browns. The Browns won the second game, 4-3 behind Joe Ostrowski. Lemon fanned nine and yielded only six hits. The shutout was his 10th.

The Detroit Tigers turned back the White Sox, 5-2 in a night game at Chicago. The Tigers snapped a 2-2 tie with a three-run ninth-inning rally.

Oshawa Gets First Over The Quakers

OSHAWA, Sept. 4—Oshawa Legion Branch 43 trounced Peterborough Quakers, 21-3, here last night in the first game of their Eastern Ontario zone finals in the OASA intermediate AA playdowns.

With Bud Wilson pitching steady six-hit ball, the Liftlock City team failed to do much at the plate except for their one rally that netted them three runs, when an outfield crash by two Oshawa players let a drive go that resulted in three runs. Legion opened with a five-run splash, added three in the second and kept adding to their total almost every inning after that. Bob Dionne clouted the only homer of the game, while McMillan, Weatherup and Waddell all did well at the plate.

Loose play in the Peterborough infield made Oshawa's scoring task fairly simple in most frames.

Father of Six Rescues Boy from Trent Canal

WINS DOW AWARD

D'ARCY HILL OF LAKEFIELD, ONTARIO, brings unconscious youngster to surface after diving three times

At his home in Lakefield, near Peterboro, Ontario, D'Arcy Hill had just started to remove his work clothes when a shrill cry, coming from the direction of the Otonabee River, pierced the air. Dashing 300 yards down the wooded path, he came to the sheer, cement-walled bank of the barge canal. At first he could see nothing . . . and then, suddenly, he noticed a few bubbles rising to the surface.

Immediately Hill dove into 17 feet of murky water. Swimming to the bottom of the canal he found a bicycle. A leaking air valve had caused the bubbles . . . and Hill was certain that the rider must be somewhere near. Coming to the surface for air, the rescuer made two more dives to the bottom. Despite the heavy undertow from a nearby power dam, he finally located the unconscious body of a 12-year-old boy and brought him to the surface. Eight feet of bare cement wall faced the rescuer . . . so he began the slow, difficult swim to the canal entrance. Luckily, help arrived within a few minutes . . . and soon the boy was in the hands of a doctor.

That young boy is alive and well today due to the bravery and cool efforts of D'Arcy Hill of Lakefield, Ont. We are proud to pay him tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award.

Seeing bubbles rising to the surface, 46-year-old D'Arcy Hill dove into 17 feet of dark, murky canal water.

The sheer, cement wall was impossible to climb . . . so Hill swam with the unconscious boy towards the canal entrance. Fortunately, others soon arrived and helped them out of the water.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers.

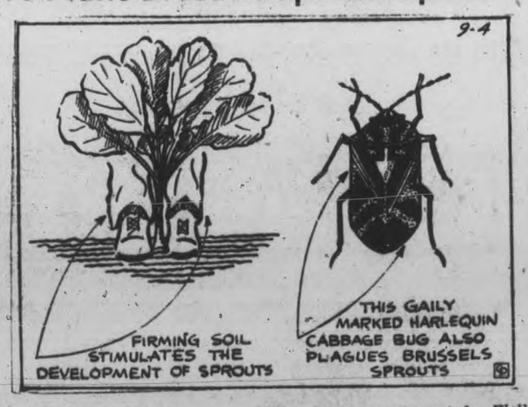
YOUR GARDEN . . .

To Make Brussels Sprouts Sprout



By DEAN HALLIDAY

It is not difficult to grow Brussels sprouts in the Freedom garden, although many gardeners shy away from them.

The enemies and diseases to which sprouts are subject are the same as those of the fall crops of other cabbage-like plants.

Among the insect pests to be guarded against is the harlequin bug, which is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. This bug is about three-eighths of an inch long, mottled with red, black, orange or yellow, hence its name—harlequin.

To control this pest spray with rotentone, using a neutral soap in the mixture in order to make the spray stick to the plant foliage.

To stimulate the plants to grow sprouts instead of going all to leaf, firm the soil tightly around the stems, as illustrated. Well-firmed soil encourages the formation of sound sprouts, while loose soil and loosely placed plants result in just the opposite effect.

As the sprouts are removed as the season progresses, keep breaking off the lower leaves to force all the strength of the plants into the newly forming sprouts, which will continue to develop higher up on the main stalks.

The "buds" are edible when they are from one to two inches in diameter. The first pickings may not be as tasty as you had hoped for, but as the later sprouts come along you will find they have more flavor.

A large part of the growth of Brussels sprouts is made during the early, cool fall days. They are at their best after the first light frost.

Want Grand Jury Investigation In Drug Case

HOLLWOOD, Sept. 3. (AP) — The district attorney's office moved today for a county grand jury investigation into the marijuana smoking case involving Robert Mitchum, handsome film hero, and attractive actress Lila Leeds.

District Attorney William E. Simpson announced the chairman of the jury's criminal complaints committee has promised he will recommend an inquiry by the entire panel Tuesday when the group resumes sessions.

Simpson added that if the jury decides to take up the case, Mitchum, Miss Leeds and two others arrested with them early Wednesday will be invited to appear and tell their stories.

The four—Mitchum, 31; Miss Leeds, 20; Dancer Vickie Evans, 25, and a real estate man, Robin Ford, 31—were arrested when city and federal narcotics officers raided a secluded canyon home occupied by the two girls. All are free under $1,000 bond each.

The motion picture industry, through a spokesman, Producer Dore Schary, appealed to the public not to "indict the entire working personnel of 32,000 well-disciplined and clean-living American citizens" in the industry because of the Mitchum case.

Schary, former production chief at R-K-O studio, Mitchum's principal employer, said in a statement that "implications that a widespread or considerable use of narcotics exists in the motion picture industry are shocking, capricious and untrue."

Mrs. Dorothy Mitchum, the actor's wife who was returning from the east with their two sons, was located in Las Vegas, Nev., where she told reporters: "I am undecided what to do."

Claim Negro Seamen Smuggled Into UK

LONDON, Sept. 4—(CP)—A mysterious organization in Aden was accused of smuggling Negro seamen into Britain by a delegate to the annual meeting of the National Union of Seamen.

J. Ockleton, district secretary of the northeast coast section of the union, said the men, who often could speak no English, were flown into England, where they gave "a big rake-off" to agents who found them jobs abroad British ships.

White seamen were often displaced, he said.

The meeting passed a resolution condemning influx of Negro seamen into the merchant navy, and asking that the government take steps to check "abuses now currents."

Beery Decides To Talk After Trip

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 4 (AP)— "Beery will talk."

That message, whispered into the phone by an M-G-M aide, was a signal for action. Wally was just back from a trip to Europe and was willing to converse. Beery the inscrutable! Beery, Hollywood's best-known, best-loved screen slob!

I hastened out to Culver City and found the actor plumped in a chair in a studio office. His face was shaven, his hair combed, but the Beery informality wasn't lacking: he was in shirt sleeves with the collar spread wide.

"Don't know why anybody would want to come out and talk to an old ..... like me," he rumbled.

But talk we did. Two M-G-M praise agents glowed as Wally admitted his current "A Date With Judy" is one of his best shows in years.

"It was good to get away from the parlor, bedroom and bath sort of thing," he remarked. But "It can't be compared to things like 'The Champ,' 'Viva Villa,'" and some of the others.

Beery talked about his film following, a band of enthusiasts only slightly less rabid than supporters of the Brooklyn Baseball Club.

"A lot of men like my pictures," he divulged. "They resent seeing those pretty boys on the screen all the time."

Beery has been a film commodity since the early flicker days when he played a Swedish parlor maid. He has weathered every kind of cycle. "For a while, I played nothing but kings," he recalled. "Then it was sea pictures and I didn't shave for two or three years. Then it was westerns, then I played Mexicans and so forth."

In his next opus, "The Big Harp," he returns to his screen sparring mate, Marjorie Main.

Busy Session In Hastings Court

HASTINGS, Sept. 4—(ENS)— Appearing at Hastings court before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, 10 persons were fined $5 and $2.50 costs each for driving with inadequate lights. They were: George Lee, Hastings; James G. Gallavan, Kingston; Bart Crowley, Hastings; L. E. Stinson, Hastings; Stanley McCutcheon, Havelock; William Ellis, Indian River; Eric Pulfer, Hastings; Everett Bomhower, Monkland, Ont.; Jas. W. Bevin, Cobourg; Wilfred Hocking, Castleton.

For failing to signal before making a left hand turn Leo Sheridan, Campbellford, was fined $5 and $2.50 costs.

James Gordon Esson, Toronto and Ralph Hancock, Peterborough each paid fined of $10 and $2.50 costs for being drunk in public.

A charge against Morris Palmer, 26, of Campbellford, of assaulting his wife causing bodily harm was reduced to common assault. He was given one year's suspended sentence. Constable Carrigan, Campbellford, gave the evidence stating that in answering a call he found the accused in an intoxicated condition and the house upside down. After stepping outside to speak to Mrs. Palmer the constable smelled smoke on his return and going upstairs he found the bed on fire. The accused was arrested and taken to Campbellford police station. Constable Corrigan said that he had received four previous complaints regarding this house.

Magistrate Philp commented that it was too bad that two people could not get along.

Palmer was charged $2.50 court costs.

Complete Accord Found At Lambeth Conference

OTTAWA Sept. 4 (CP)—With a little touch of Irish color in his cheeks and looking remarkably fit, Rt. Rev. Robert Jefferson, Bishop of Ottawa, returned to the city this week from London where, in company with other Canadian bishops and bishops from all over the world, he had attended his first Lambeth Conference.

Bishop Jefferson felt that from the meetings of the conference a force might come which would prevent similar devastation in future.

But the chief value of the conference, Bishop Jefferson thought, would be in "redirecting the thoughts" of millions of people. Most of the countries of the world, except Russia, were represented by bishops of the Anglican Communion.

Bishop Jefferson was impressed by the complete harmony with which leaders of 12 million people discussed such questions as war, the atomic bomb and communism.

"There was a wonderful feeling, a wonderful fellowship. We could feel the presence of the Holy Spirit in the way we reached harmonious decisions."

A signpost on the road was the newly-formed Church of South India which received the full approval of the conference. Comprising members of the Church of England, Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches, it was the "first effort of its kind towards the reunion of Christendom".

While the Anglican Church approved, they were not yet in Communion with the new church. But they had been asked to clarify some of their statements, and "then we will be able to enter into Communion with them".

The new church was an experiment. If successful, it would be the forerunner of other movements towards re-union.

Bible Class Closes, Work Commended

NORWOOD, Sept. 4—(ENS)— The daily Vocational Bible Class held in Norwood for two weeks under the direction of Miss J. Cornelious of Chatham closed on Saturday night with a display in the town hall.

Sponsored by the Norwood Pentecostal Tabernacle, a large number of children from the village received practical instruction. The girls made an apron and the boys made stands for flowers with wood.

Saturday evening's program opened with a processional from the church to the town hall, where the flag bearers were placed.

Rev. Duncanson led in prayer followed by a few brief words of welcome by Mr. Shannon, pastor of the Pentecostal Tabernacle.

W. E. Pakenham, reeve, also addressed the gathering and commended the leaders on their splendid work. Mrs. Shannon, Miss I. Gallagher, the latter from Warsaw, led their classes in songs and choruses. Misses Ruth Davey and Marjorie Smith were usherettes.

Certificates of awards were made and Rev. R. Dick closed with prayer.

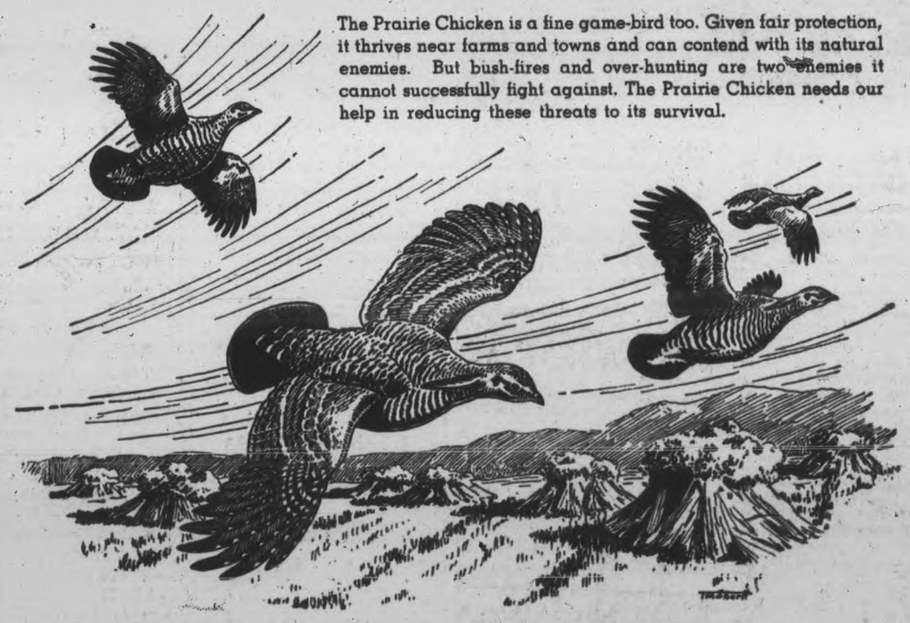
SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

A friend in need...


An important weight in the balance of nature is the Prairie Chicken. By destroying weed seeds, grasshoppers and other insects, it makes the farmer's work easier and more profitable . . . it helps protect the food you eat.
The Prairie Chicken is a fine game-bird too. Given fair protection, it thrives near farms and towns and can contend with its natural enemies. But bush-fires and over-hunting are two enemies it cannot successfully fight against. The Prairie Chicken needs our help in reducing these threats to its survival.

The Heath Hen, a close relative of the Prairie Chicken, has been extinct since 1933. The forces that exterminated the Heath Hen can destroy the Prairie Chicken unless we act now to protect it.

Ideal Christian Home Exemplifies Friendliness

Scripture— Acts 18:1-3, 18-26: Romans 16:3-5a; I Corinthians 16: 19; II Timothy 4:19.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

We all have experienced the pleasure of meeting friendly, hospitable people who have entertained us in their homes, comforted us in our griefs and helped us solve our problems. Such people were Aquila and Priscilla.

This husband and wife were Jews and Christians who had been living in Rome, from which city they had been banished with all their courtymen by decree of the Emperor Claudius and were living in Corinth, a city of Greece.

After Paul, that apostle, left Athens where he had made memrable speeches, he, too, came to Corinth, and went to Aquila and Priscilla's home. They were tentmakers by trade, and so was Paul, it being the custom of that time for Jewish youths to learn some trade.

Paul stayed with Aquila and Priscilla for some time, working at this craft and then with them, sailed for Ephesus, where he "reasoned with the Jews" in the synagogue. Aquila and Priscilla were anxious to keep Paul with them, but after a time he left them, saying that he must keep the feast that was coming in Jerusalem.

He promised, however, that he would return to them. From them Paul had learned of the church in Rome, and he, in turn, had taught them to be expert evangelists.

After Paul had gone, a certain Jew named Apollos, who was born in Alexandria, came to Ephesus. He also was a Christian, and fervent in his spirit, and he talked and taught diligently, but he did not know baptism of Jesus, only of John the Baptist.

Aquila and Priscilla heard him, and they took him with them, in their kind, friendly manner, and told him about the baptism of Jesus, "expounding unto him the way of God more prefectly."

Differences in religion are very often touchy matters, and many bitter arguments have followed them. However, Aquila and Priscilla were not the type of people who would grow angry over such matters.

They took this man into their home and kindly set him right where they thought he was in error, in the most tactful manner. And Apollos, being reasonable and teachable, was helped a great deal.

The kindness of these two did not stop there—when Apollos left them they wrote to Achara, where he was going, asking the brethren there to receive him kindly.

The names of this husband and wife, Aquila and Priscilla, are mentioned six times in Acts and Paul's Epistles, always together. They evidently were a devoted couple, working together at their craft and in the church.

From Paul's letter to the Roman church he sends greetings to "Priscilla and Aquila, my helpers in Christ Jesus: who have for my life laid down their necks"—which seems to indicate that this devoted couple had risked their lives for their friend Paul. He speaks of the church being in their home and sends greetings to the members.

At Corinth, too, the church meetings seems to have been held in the home of Aquila and Priscilla, and Paul, in his first letter to the Corinthians, sends greetings from them and the churches of Asia "with the church that is in their house."—I Corinthians 16:19.

Our final salute from Paul to these two friends appears in II Timothy 4:19, where he again sends greetings to the two, by name. This greeting was sent from Rome where Paul was brought before Nero for the second time. This was the last letter Paul ever wrote.

As we read the few paragraphs about Aquila and Priscilla we get a delightful impression of two fine people who were kind and gentle in all their ways, and whose home was the meetings place of all—friends or strangers.

Theirs is the type of home we need in the modern world. A home in which Jesus himself would have loved to visit. This is the type of home, too, where Europe's displaced persons—especially children— would be happy after their many harrowing experiences in their former home lands. It is the ideal Christian home.

Human Insight of Christ

Jesus knew what was in man.—St. John 2:25.

Is this the first time you have noticed these moving words? They are the introduction to the story of Nicodemus, a member of the Sanhedrin, and other characters see only in this Gospel. It throws a flood of thought.

St. John is dictating after more than 50 years of meditation on the Character of the Lord Jesus. The Master was visiting Jerusalem and many of the Jews of the City joined themselves but "Jesus did not commit Himself to them because He knew all men and needed not that any should testify of man for He knew what was in man."

The Teacher was looking for men, not popularity. He did not write a book. He desired to write His secrets upon the hearts of men who would not be ashamed to proclaim them from the housetops and face persecution. They were to be the "commando troops" of His Kingdom. St. John points us to some of the men to whom He committed Himself.

NICODEMUS. A pharisee and a member of the highest Ecclesiastical Court of his nation. In a word he was a prince of the Church. His position came to him by birth, educaiion and wealth. He was startled to find that he must become like a little child to enter into the Kingdom of God. Did you ever realize the amazement in his voice as he exclaims: 'How can these things be?" To him the Teacher reveals Himself as the One who must be lifted up, even as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness.

THE SAMARITAN WOMAN. The Lord committed Himself to her, a social outcast. He clearly revealed Himself to her: "I, that speak unto thee am the Christ." She needs this revelation that she may have the strength and inspiration to live a new life. It will not be easy for her but she has had the privilege of knowing that the Christ has committed Himself to her and His grace will be with her.

THE BLIND BEGGAR. The Lord reveals Himself to the blind beggar. "Thou has both seen the Son of God and He it is that talketh with thee." This revelation gives the beggar strength and courage to look for work and rebuild his self respect. The habits of a lifetime are not easy to break. Read the story with imagination and you will see that the Master knew what was in man; his spirit of independence and courage.

THE APOSTLES. It is instructive to remember that Our Lord did not reveal Himself clearly to the Apostles. He was a Man Who had a great secret and hoped that the Apostles would discover it. After two years He asks the important question: 'But whom am I?" Simon answers: "Thou art the Christ". With deep human emotion the Lord exclaims: "Blessed are thou, Simon Barjona. Flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but My Father in heaven." The Lord committed Himself to them. Slowly they gave Him the value of God.

JESUS KNEW WHAT WAS IN MAN. He stands at the door of you heart and knocks. He knows your high ideals and low desires. Yet the risen Lord is offering Himself to you. If you will open He will enter and slowly change you life that men may see "The Christ being formed in you."

- EVEN SO COME LORD JESUS.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Acts 18:1-3, 18:26; Romans 16:3-5a; I Corinthians 16:19; II Timothy 4:19

The Apostle Paul went to Corinth, where he found a man by the name of Aquila and Priscilla salute you much with the church which is in their house."

After tarrying awhile in Corinth Paul took leave of the brethren and sailed for Syria, and Aquila and Priscilla went with him. They reached Ephesus, and Paul went into the synagogue to preach.

Paul left Ephesus but Aquila and Priscilla stayed and met a man who was an eloquent, learned preacher, but John had baptised him, so they took him with them and explained God's ways.

In a letter to the Corinthians, Paul wrote, "The churches of Asia salute you. Aquila and Priscilla salute you much in the Lord, with the church which is in their house."

Holiday Traffic Through City Heaviest Of Year

Motor traffic in the Kawartha district during the present Labor Day week-end may be the heaviest of the year according to some service station operators. By 9 a.m. several of them had pronounced the flood of cars to be as large, if not larger, than that of the Civic Holiday.

All night long there was a stream of cars carrying families into the heart of the Kawarthas. For many of them it will be the last summer outing before the holiday season ends, and apparently a record number have decided to take advantage of the favorable weather and have an "outdoor" weekend.

One city worker who motored in from Clear Lake today said he had never seen so many cars on the Lakefield Highway so early in the morning. Many of them had boats strapped to the top and others were pulling trailers.

Steady Flow All Night

"It was one steady flow of traffic all night, and they really kept us busy," said one service station operator in the north end who was called upon to give night-long service. He said most of the early-hour travellers were American tourists and seemed headed chiefly for the Bancroft region and Stony Lake.

On the Warsaw Road traffic was described as "much heavier than usual, and at Fraserville it was "heaviest of the season." Bridgenorth was not much affected and one operator on the Port Hope Highway was of the opinion that there were more cars than over the Civic Holiday.

Another service station operator who does business on the Chemong Road confirmed the view that traffic was heaviest of the year, particularly on Friday night.

He said it seemed that "every other car was an American."

While it was too soon to say for certain most of them volunteered the opinion that the Civic Holiday mark would be surpassed and possibly a new record established for the Peterborough region.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

BIG DONATION FROM COF

The Youth Club of the Canadian Order of Foresters has donated $150 to the Peterborough Civic Arena, officials said Friday.

NEW START ON DRIVE

A meeting of the General Committee of the Civic Arena has been called for next Tuesday evening. At that time, plans will be laid for restarting the campaign for the rink. It has been inactive during the past six weeks to allow for summer holidays.

50 BUS. WHEAT CLUB

Two entries in the 50-Bushel Winter Wheat Club have been received at the office of F. C. Paterson. Fifteen farmers joined the club last year. Their field score has been published, but the results of the grain threshing have not yet arrived back from OAC.

"DOURO DOINGS"

Cards around town announce the usual Labor Day picnic at Douro. It recalls the late P. G. Towns whose covert humor coined the phrase "Douro Doings". He probably had a deeper fund of humor in his nature than might have been generally known. Close friends saw many glints of it.

IN COLLISION WITH U.S. CAR

Slight damage to the car of E. L. Horning, 168 Aylmer St., was caused Friday night when it was was in collision with the car of William J. Brandon of Erie, Pa. The accident was at George and Simcoe streets about 10 o'clock. The door and tail light of the Horning vehicle were reported damaged. There was no damage to the American car.

TWO CARS INVOLVED

A collision early today at Douro St. and Armour Rd. caused damage to the two cars involved. Drivers were Edward Lynch, 466 Rubidge St. and Arthur McGrath, 648 Armour Rd. The right side of the Lynch car was effected and damage to the bumper, fender and headlights of the McGrath car resulted. PC Louis Rodreque investigated.

SCREEN BASEMENT WINDOWS

During the summer the Peterborough Humane Society has had several calls from people who have had skunks crawl into their basements. Officials point out that the animals are in search of food and enter the city when they are hungry. If basement windows are properly screened they will be unable to gain entrance.

PARADE AT 10:30 A.M.

The Labor Day parade which will feature 2,000 children from the playgrounds and members of local unions will begin at 10:30 a.m. and will start from the CNR sheds at Charlotte and Aylmer streets. The itinerary will be: along Charlotte St. to George St., north to Hunter St. and east over the bridge to Riverside Park. Prizes will be given for the play-best decorated wagon, doll carriage, bicycle, tricycle. A shield will be awarded to the local with the largest turnout.

Inverlea Team Captures Cup

The cup and medals donated by the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club for the swimming team attaining the highest number of points for loyalty, behaviour, progress and attendance will be presented by the mayor on Monday night to the Kangaroo team from Inverlea, captained by Don Stewart.

Close behind were the Woodpecker team of Riverside, captained by Geraldine Vinette, and the Eagle team of Riverside whose captain is Maureen Masterson. The cup to the child making the most progress will be given to nine - year - old Billie Crowley. These teams and the children mentioned below will be taking part in the swimming regatta to be held Monday at the H-wharf at Riverside.

Tourist Failed To Land Big Maskinonge But Thrill Of Battle Will Remain Long Time

E. J. Buchheit of St. Mary's, Pa., didn't land the big muskie he hooked the other evening at Clear Lake, but the thrill of it will remain with him for a long time. At least that's what he said on his way home when he returned to H. I. Keefer's store on Water Street, to thank him for his direction to Tom Curvin's camp.

Mr. Buchheit and his bride happened to call at the Keefer place with a tourist enquiry about accommodation near Peterborough for a few days. That was Monday. Tuesday evening he went out on the lake with Gordon Curvin, Monaghan Road, six-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Curvin. Thursday, Mr. Buchheit returned to thank Mr. Keefer for his recommendation.

He said the boy hooked the muskie and managed to get it up so close to the boat that he got a plain view of its size, especially its head with big jaws and threshing tail.

"It bent double the youngster's short pole, and I thought we had him," Mr. Buchheit said. "But, apparently it was caught only on a small hook that tore free in the struggle almost within arm's reach. Gordon was far more disappointed than I was. I never saw such a big lunge, and we almost had him in the boat. But, Gordon was almost in tears. "If we had landed that fellow I could have had my picture in the paper with him, was his grief," the boy said. Anyway, it was a real thrill, and my only disappointment was that I couldn't stay longer than a few days."

5 Student Aid Bursaries Go To Norwood

NORWOOD, Sept. 4.—(Special). — Five Dominion - Provincial Aid Bursaries have been awarded to students of the Norwood High School, it was announced this week. There is a possible total of 11 such awards for all of Peterborough County.

Word has been received by High School Principal L. H. Cooke of Havelock that two students of his school have been awarded Dominion-Provincial Student Aid Bursaries to complete grade XIII. The two winners are Gerald Melville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melville, and Miss Joyce Agnew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Agnew, both of Havelock.

Havelock High School, with an enrolment of about 70, has a staff of three.

Will Bank Be Next Magistrate Asks

LINDSAY, Sept. 3.—(CP). — George Ernest Graham, 20, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft from a ladies' wear store and was convicted by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Friday. Before sentence his worship said, "I suppose you'll hold up a bank next."

"I don't know, you never can tell," said Graham, who has a long list of convictions.

"I sentence you to two years definite and two years indeterminate in reformatory," replied Magistrate Gee.

Melville Brown, 26, arrested with Graham, was given a year's suspended sentence as an "accessory."

MISS CONNIE BRUMMEL, student of the Norwood High School, who has been awarded a $400 government bursary and a $200 scholarship by Queen's University, Kingston.

Lakefield Area Swept By Hail Storm

A slashing hail storm of 10-minutes duration passed through Lakefield Friday evening just after 7 p.m. and in short order the ground was covered with ice pellets about one inch in diameter. In tree-sheltered areas mounds of hail piled up and early this morning there were still miniature drifts where the rising sun was late in melting them. The hail pelted down in a heavy downpour of rain that came in such volume that it lay in pools for a long time before sinking into the thirsty earth.

A survey showed that the storm had a very narrow track. It came from the west over Chemong Park and its northern fringe touched Bridgenorth. There was no hail south toward Peterborough or north at Young's Point although there was some rain at the Point. Several home owners reported little damage to gardens except for tomatoes being badly pitted; other garden stuff did not appear to have suffered.

Foliage that had been prematurely dried during the recent dry spell took the worst beating as the hail drove the dry green leaves from the trees and in some places covered the ground.

Duck Hatchings Above Normal; Bag Limit Less

Duck hunters in the Kawartha district are already oiling their guns and watching the calendar with an impatient eye as they anticipate an excellent season.

Experts say there was an excellent hatching of mallards and blacks this year, and it is believed that there are plenty of whistlers, teals and pintails as well.

Residents in the Rice Lake area have observed hundreds of mallards and blacks flying there in the evenings. Reports on the other breeds are less specific as they do not nest in the area.

Building Blinds.

Already some enthusiastic hunters have started building blinds at strategic points so they can bag their limit on the first day.

In the Peterborough district duck hunting will be from Sept. 25 to Nov. 8 in that portion of the country lying north of No. 7 Highway; and from Oct. 2 to Nov. 15 to the south of No. 7.

In an effort to cut down on the slaughter of the birds the daily bag of ducks (with the exception of mergansers) has been reduced to seven, with the possession limit for any one person, 14. Five geese a day may be shot with the possession limit 10.

Few Licenses Issued

License issuers say that to date the demand for gun licenses has not been heavy, but business is expected to perk up as the deadline approaches.

"It's like any other year," said one sporting goods man, "they all wait until the last minute, and then come with a rush."

The expiratory date on duck shipping coupons has been changed from Dec. 13, 1948, to Nov. 20, and on geese from Jan. 15, 1949 to Jan. 5, 1949.

TRAFFIC SWELLS

Rail traffic was heavy in and out of Peterborough at both stations Friday night. This was the beginning of the last of the long week-end holidays of the summer. Toronto C.N.E. will probably draw a record crowd for Labor Day.

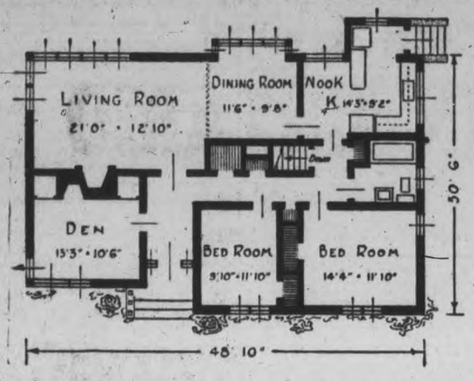
PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT



HOUSE NO. 78 — When an architect produces a faultless exterior and matches it with a top-notch floor plan . . . that's worth shouting about isn't it? Well, we think that's just what architect Wm. K. Noppe did when he designed this six room house. You will be as enthusiastic about the splendid handling of the entrance and window details . . . to say nothing of the chimney and overhanging eaves. The whole picture has been enhanced by the pale grey coloring of roof and siding. All trim is white. Both windows and closets are in ample supply, and the floor plan is convenient. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St. Toronto.

Separate Dining Room Has Comeback In New Homes

We are not going to get into an argument about whether you should have a dining room or not — we intend to remain strictly neutral. We do know, however, that more people are thinking about the finer things in life again, and want to get away from cramped quarters. They want to live like dignified human beings again. This feeling reflects itself in the desire for a separate dining room. Surveys prove that more than 69% of Canada's home-builders will provide for a dining room when they build.

Nothing Like Dining Room

Breakfast nooks and kitchen bars are very nice indeed, but when it comes to "high days and holidays" there's nothing that quite compares with charm and dignity that belongs exclusively to the dining room. Here lies part of the strength in family unity. It is here that Dad still occupies his traditional position as head of the house, and where the children learn a great part of life's lessons in etiquette. It is often true that our fondest memories of home centre around festive occasions when the family gathered in the dining room. Can't you picture right now some long past Christmas or Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings! Mother had on display the best china, linen and silver—and perhaps candles added to the glamour of the occasion.

Of course the breakfast nook enthusiasts will tell you this is all a lot of nonsense, and that the dining room is only used for less than an hour a day. They will also point out the extra cost of a dining room in terms of labour and materials, to say nothing of furniture. Well, maybe they're right. We still think that you should think seriously before you eliminate the dining room.

The spirit of compromise is in the air these days, and you may do well to consider the dining room as an adjunct to the kitchen or living room in the form of an "L". Both ideas are very successful, and it preserves much of the dignity of the separate room. Many people prefer curtains or a screen to make the room quite separate during the meal hour, but this is a matter of choice.

Choose Furniture Carefully

If you are buying furniture for your new dining room, try to keep in mind the size of the room. The whole picture can be spoiled by having furniture out of scale. Most common is to have the pieces too large for the room, creating a crowded, over-balanced effect. Avoid another common mistake, that of buying furniture not in keeping with the house. Heavy Elizabethan pieces just aren't appropriate in a modern Georgian house!

Gets Two Months As Witness Says Sold Him Liquor

LINDSAY, Sept. 4.—(ENS). — "I know when a case is proven after 25 years experience," said W. J. Arthur Fair before storming out of the Lindsay court Friday after hearing Magistrate E. A. Gee's judgment on the case against Bruce Young, 24, of Bobcaygeon.

Young was convicted and sentenced to two months in jail on a charge of keeping liquor for sale, and his counsel immediately informed that he would appeal the decision. The Peterborough barrister had argued for 30 minutes on behalf of his client prior to his worship making his decision.

Provincial Constable William Warner testified that the Young home was raided on August 18 about 10 p.m. following information from Charles Carr that he had purchased a bottle of whiskey from Young a few hours previous. Carr, who was serving three months on being convicted of having liquor other than purchased from a licensed vendor, was the Crown's main witness. He said that he had purchased a bottle from Young and given a cheque in payment.

Corporal Ralph Taylor and Constable Doug Dennison of Lindsay accompanied Constable Warner into the Young home where seven bottles of wine were found in a bedroom where two young babies were sleeping. Also seized were two full bottles of whiskey and one partly full along with 12 empty wine bottles and 15 empty whisky bottles.

Constable Vague

Questioned by Mr. Fair as to how many bottles of wine and whiskey a man is allowed to buy, Constable Warner answered that he didn't know.

Silas Nicholls, 72, stepfather of the accused, took the stand. Magistrate Gee quickly moved a half-filled bottle of whiskey away and handed him the Bible. "You might be tempted," quipped his worship. Nicholls testified that Carr came to the door, and when he asked for a bottle of wine, Young replied, "I haven't got any—and if I did I wouldn't sell it to you."

"Do you take a drink?" asked Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan.

"I certainly do!" replied Mr. Nicholls. "Not as much as I used to, but I can still take my share."

Nicholls and Bob Hill and the accused all denied that any liquor was sold to Carr or that a cheque was cashed.

In summing up, Mr. Fair stated that he didn't know how the court could find the accused guilty of the charge, pointing out that corroborated evidence of three defense witnesses against that of Carr, who appeared in the clothing of a prisoner from the county gaol.

Magistrate Gee stated he was inclined to believe the evidence of Carr and disbelieve that of the three defense witnesses.

Greek Family Sent Clothing By Havelock WA

HAVELOCK, Sept. 4.—(ENS). —When the Greek ship Liguria sails from Montreal on Sept. 8, it will have on board two large bales of clothing and quilts. They are being shipped by the Women's Association of Havelock United Church to Apostolos Papadopoulos, Kilkis, Greece, whose family comprises his wife, three daughters and a son.

Mr. Papadopoulos was held a Nazi prisoner in Bulgaria during the war. On his release he found his family in need of food and clothing. In the pocket of a sweater coat given him by the Red Cross he found the name of Wm. Platt of Havelock to whom he wrote and who referred the case to the Women's Association.

On receipt of the size of clothing worn by the different members of this Greek family, the women immediately started the task of outfitting each one for the winter. The Young People's Society of the church is paying the cost of transportation.

Says Canadian Personality Vague and Nebulous Thing

In a magazine article called "The Case of the Missing Face," Hugh Kenner says the Canadian personality is a vague and nebulous thing,—the Canadian face has not yet been found.

A series of replies to the article will be given on CBC Wednesday night programs. The first will be Sept. 8 at 8.40 by Matthew Halton, CBC European correspondent.

Mr. Kenner is now assistant Professor of English at the University of Western Ontario, London. He was born in Peterborough, received his M.A. in English at the University of Toronto in 1946, and is now working on a book about James Joyce. An earlier book, Paradox in Chesterton was published in New York last year.

His article maintains that Canadian painting, literature and advertisements reflect only too well our tendency to a "half-conscious self-identification with the aboriginal wilderness-tamers," an indentification not at all in keeping with our half-hearted way of living and thinking. This, he says, accounts for the preponderance of rugged landscape paintings, the "great outdoors" as seen everywhere in Canada, and the continual stressing of things rather than people.

Mr. Kenner suggests that we should stop gloating over our lack of clearly defined personality, our avoidance of the human element in favor of the concrete and visibily material. "What now requires to be defined is the subrational jungle of fear and hate and rigidity that craves this ant-like security so deeply." We must seek out the missing face.

CBC Times remarks that Matthew Halton's opinions on the Canadian personality will have special significance for those to whom he has become familiar through his broadcasts from the various fighting fronts during war, and his regular overseas commentaries since 1945. The CBC broadcast is Wednesday, Sept. 8, at 8.40 p.m.

Two Unknown Actresses Centre of Current Success Story

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Sept. 4. (CP)—Out of nowhere onto Broadway is the success story of two young actresses about to make their first professional appearances in Manhattan theatre productions.

One is Mary V. Malone, whose performance won warm approval of the critics recently in "Peg o' My Heart", as revived by On-Stage, a local Little Theatre group. Now she has been given an important role in "Goodbye My Fancy," the Fay Kanin comedy which is due on Broadway late this autumn.

"Goodbye My Fancy," starring Madeleine Carroll, is due to open in mid-October at the Grand Theatre in London, Ont. It will play also in Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and Boston before coming to Manhattan.

The other actress leading to prominence before the footlights is Joan Gray. Marc Connelly saw her recently in a Summer Theatre production of "Boy Meets Girl" at Smithtown Branch, NY. He was so impressed that she had been signed for a leading role in Connelly's "A Story for Strangers".

Busy Month

September is to be a busy month on Broadway. Twelve productions are scheduled to arrive, six of them musicals. The first newcomers are "Sundown Beach", opening at the Belasco Theatre Sept. 7, and a revival of "Show Boat," which shows on the Theatre Sept. 7, and a revival of "Show Boat" showing on the same night at the City Centre. These will be followed by Morey Amsterdam's "Hilarities" and a variety show featuring Myria Feretti, Italian singer, both due Sept. 9; "Small Wonder," a revue, Sept. 15; "Heaven on Earth", a musical comedy, Sept. 16; "Magdalena," a musical comedy, Sept. 20; "A Story for Strangers", a fantasy by Marc Connelly, Sept. 21; "Town House," a comedy by Gertrude Tonkonogy, Sept. 22; "Grandma's Diary," a comedy by Albert Barker, Sept. 23; "April Fool," a comedy by Norman Krasna and Groucho Marx, Sept. 27, and "Edward, My Son," A drama by Noel Langley and Robert Morley, Sept. 30.

Guild Plans

"The Silver Whistle," a comedy by Robert McEnroe, will be the Theatre Guild's first production of the new season on Broadway. It stars Jose Ferer in what is described as the best role he has had in five years. The Guild is said to be elated by the reception given "The Silver Whistle" when it opened in Westport, Conn., last night. It is due in Manhattan some time in October.

GLITTERING ACCESSORIES—Pointing up the emphasis on the neckline is the glitter of clips. The nicest way to accent a high neckline, a squared or draped effect, is through the sparkling medium of beautiful clips. These scrolls of tiny brilliants and graduated colored stones add up to charm when worn on each side of a neckline or when worn close together in an alternate diagonal. The tiny scroll earrings match.

Mary Lawson Weds Eric M. Skuce

In Mount Pleasant United Church today, Mary, youngest daughter of Mrs. J. H. Lawson and the late Mr. Lawson, became the bride of Eric M. Skuce, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer R. Skuce of Reaboro. Rev. W. E. Honey of Lindsay officiated, and music was played by Mr. Herman McLean of Toronto. Mr. Gordon Burke sang "Until" as the bride entered the church and during the signing of the register he sang "O Perfect Love".

Given in marriage by her brother, David Lawson, the bride wore a gown of heavy ivory satin with a sweetheart neckline, tight waisted bodice, and lily point sleeves. A hip length flared peplum of satin edged with deep lace hung over a double net floor length skirt. Her veil was floor length and was in wedding bell pattern caught with a bridal wreath tiara. The bride carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bridesmaid was Miss Florence Lawson, sister of the bride, who wore a swiss embroidered gown of lilac net with sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves, and a hip length peplum. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and mauve sweet peas.

Best man was Mr. George Skuce, brother of the groom and ushers were William Lawson and Ralph Burke. Following the ceremony a reception was held in Hooper's Palm Room, where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of powder blue crepe with a hat of navy felt, and a bouquet of pink roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of grey crepe, with a hat of black felt and a bouquet of pink roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a motor trip, for which the bride wore a sky blue suit with navy hat and accessories. On their return they will live at 276 Lansdowne St., Peterborough.

Timlin-Davidson Wedding First in Church's History

ROSENEATH, Sept. 4 (ENS)—Centenary United Church for the first time in its long history was the scene of a wedding when this afternoon Beatirce Marie, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davidson, became the bride of Reginald Leslie Bruce Timlin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Timlin, all of Roseneath.

Gladioli, fern and asters formed a setting for the ceremony performed by Rev. R. C. White.

Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Hilda Arthur. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. R. C. White sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and during the signing of the register, "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy white satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, lace yoke outlined with a satin ruffle caught at intervals with pearl clusters, fitted basque, long sleeves pointed over the hands, and a full gored skirt. Her full length English net veil had a Mary Queen of Scots headdress. She carried a bouquet of red roses and wore the groom's gift a yellow gold wrist watch.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Bruce Marriott of Harwood, was matron of honor, wearing ice blue moire taffeta, with a fitted bodice, round ruffled neckline, puff sleeves and full skirt with bustle bow. Her fingertip veil was caught to a head band of white roses. She carried an old fashioned nosegay of mixed summer flowers centered with a rose, and wore long lace mittens.

Jean, six-year-old sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was pink sheer fashioned like the matron of honor, a pink taffeta bow in her hair matched the bustle bow on her dress. She carried a basket of sweet peas.

The groomsman was Neil Adams of Roseneath, and ushers were Joe Davidson, brother of the bride, and Ross Timlin, Coldsprings, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received wearing a black crepe gown and black hat. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a grey crepe gown and black hat and both wore corsages of pink roses.

The bride's table was attractive, centered with her three-tiered cake, pink and white tapers in silver holders, and small silver vases of sweet peas. The waitresses were Misses Mitzi Overland of Detroit, Muriel Doris and Shirley Speirs, Hastings, Doreen Davidson, Baltimore, Doris Roberts and Lois Arthur, Roseneath.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Timlin left for a honeymoon in Toronto and Detroit. For travelling, the bride wore a blue printed jersey dress, ice blue shortie coat, black and navy accessories and a corsage of red roses. They will reside on their farm, near Roseneath.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Gordon Overland, Mitzi and Gregory Overland of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. George Speirs of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Spiers, Charles and Cedric Spiers of Keene; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Davidson, Baltimore, Mrs. Barbara Davidson of Cobourg and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Speirs of Hastings.

Of Interest to Women

Girls Handicapped Race Boys Have The Advantage

Bobby-soxer writes to this column: "Of course, if you are born a girl, you have to take it and pretend to like it. You can't help yourself. But WHAT is the advantage of belonging to the female sex?"

Dorothy Dix

Well, daughter, the perquisites of being a he instead of a she are so numerous and great that it is impossible to enumerate them all.

Generally speaking, there is nothing that a woman has to do between the cradle and the grave that isn't harder for her to do just because she is a woman.

To begin with, a girl baby starts life under the handicap of having to be beautiful though homely; whereas a man's looks don't really count. Of course, it must be a comfort to a man to be able to take pleasure at what he looks at when he shaves every morning, but his personal satisfaction is about all that it amounts to. Being pretty doesn't get a man elected President, or even get him a good job, but being easy on the eyes certainly does help a girl to get a husband.

Then, being a man is a social asset. No hostess refrains from inviting a man to a party because he has carroty hair and pale eyes, but Homely Sarah never has a date. No girl declines a man's invitation to go to a dance or the theatre because he is fat and bald-headed, but you can figure out for yourself what chance Chubby Jane would have of ever being taken to a night club.

Easy Popularity

For a girl to be popular in society she has to be pretty and bright and charming, a good dancer and have a managing Mama, but all that a man needs to make every door open to him is just to be a man. He may be dull as dishwater and dance like a performing bear, but girls will still date him.

A man doesn't have to watch his step as a woman does. He can do things with impunity for which a woman is sent to Coventry. He doesn't have to keep one ear cocked listening to what Mrs. Grundy is saying behind his back, but if a girl stumbles she is gossipped about and her past is remembered against her as long as she lives. Nor does a man have to console amorous bosses who are married to wives who don't understand them. All that is expected of him is for him to do his work. He personally does not have to run a petting party.

Another great advantage in being a man is the privilege of picking out your mate. He doesn't have to take what he can get, as so often does a woman. If a man sees a maiden who fires his fancy, he can use his every endeavor to sell himself to her and convince her that he is the hero of her girlish dreams and that she can never be happy unless she has him for her husband, but all that a poor girl can do towards getting the man she wants is just to sit around and look willing.

And the crowning advantage of being a man is that he can have his cake and eat it, too. He can go on with his life work and still get married, as women very seldom can do without eventually landing in the divorce court. For when a man marries he adds the joy of a home and wife and children to his career, but when a woman marries she has to sacrifice one or the other, because because being a wife and mother is no part-time job.

So, considering this and that and the other thing, it is not to be denied that men get the best of it in life.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, September 5

SUNDAY'S horoscope emphasizes the desirability of concentrating the interest on the conventional avocations of the day: cultural, creative, mystical and idealistic—since the prospects of success or security in any mundane and practical vocations or projects might prove distressing and even sinister.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may be prepared for a year of strange, curious and unconventional experiences, in which the subtle, intriguing, hidden and mysterious complicate the affairs. Duplicity, treachery, double-dealing of varied aspects, could have serious reactions on the fortunes.

A child born on this day may have mental and emotional drives, inciting to peculiar and unaccountable actions, with final resort to intrigue and strange entanglements. Early training is advised.

* * *

For Monday, September 6

Monday's astrological forecast is for a more than usually ambitious and constructive state of affairs, with the energies and initiative keyed to high purpose and aspirations. This tension may be due to novel and strange ideas, with the strong emotional urge to put them over with strenuous and aggressive tactics. The danger is from over-doing in such efforts and indomitable determination to win against all odds and opposition.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may anticipate a year of particularly lively and energetic ventures, in which there is determination to put over an original idea or more than customary project. Funds are involved, and might advance progressive plans, but in certain places there might be antagonisms or lukewarm interest to batter down. Persistent effort and sound purpose might ultimately impress.

A child born on this day could possess unusual talents, with ingenuity, and fresh slants, urged to action by determination, industry and perhaps finesse, winning by appeal to sentiment in opposition.

* * *

For Tuesday, September 7

The aspect of opportunity and productivity, indicated by a benefic aspect between the luminaries, accelerates the energies and ambitions, pointing them into channels of accomplishment and prosperity. Under such rule there is probability of rapid rise or promotion, due to the friendly interest and personal assistance of those in influential positions. Under such cooperation it is the time to make important deals, to change positions, renew contracts or to travel. With this upward sweep in business, personal objectives flourish also.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are encouraged to make changes, put over new deals or objectives, to travel or change, as desired, or make more lucrative arrangements on present positions. The friendly support and interest of influential personages should be sought, especially for rapid promotion, and financial increase. Social aims are enhanced, possibly by home entertainment, or other courtesy of mutual benefit. But finese and tact should be used, not force or audacity.

A child born on this day has promise of a progressive and influential career, well endowed, and benefited also by personal or social prestige.

LANDMARK INDUSTRIALIZED

WESTBURY, Wiltshire, England — (CP). — Minister of Town and Country Planning Silkin has approved a proposal to build a £1,500,000 ($6,000,000) cement works near the famous land mark, White Horse, here. The White Horse marks the scene of Alfred the Great's defeat of the Danes in 871.

Margaret Katheleen Udy Weds Edwin Smith

Amid decorations of gladiolus and asters in Park St. Baptist Church, Margaret Katheleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Udy, today became the bride of Edwin Smith, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith. Rev. E. J. Whan officiated, and music was played by Mr. Adam Hawley. As the bride entered the church, Mr. Roy Land sang "The Lord's Prayer", and during the signing of the register "O Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory crepe roma, heavily embroidered in silk cord, with a stiffened fold of crepe outlining the embroidered yoke, and finished with a square neck line, closely fitted sleeves and a veil of French tulle hanging from a juliet cap. She carried a cascade of white gladiolus.

Bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Libby of Oshawa, who was frocked in a gown of dusty blue sheer with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves with smocking at the shoulder and waistline. Her head dress was a band of blue flowers and she carried a cascade of salmon pink gladiolus. Best man was Mr. Len Cooper and the ushers were Mr. Quentin Avey and Mr. Walter Libby of Oshawa.

Following the wedding a reception was held at Hooper's Palm Room where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of black crepe with touches of shell pink, a hat of black satin, and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. C. Avey, who also received wore a gown of brown crepe with a white pattern, and a white hat and a corsage of pink roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Haliburton for which the bride wore a wine suit with black accessories and a neckpiece of Russian squirrel. On their return they will live at 686A Water St.

Straighter Lines Give Clothes Tailored Effect

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 4 — (CP) — Autumn clothes by British dress designers see a modification of the New Look with straighter lines that give a tailored effect.

Dresses on display during London's recent "Fashion Fortnight" had lost their "bunchy" look and had smooth flowing lines with the fulness coming from the hip instead of the waist for greater slimming effect.

Norman Hartnell, one of Britain's outstanding designers, said, "The modification has gone over well. The buyers want it because its wearable and has the English tailored look they like."

Suits in the autumn show were straighter, more tailored, but with no return to mannish cut. Shoulders had a soft, padded line; waists were still small with slight gathering at the waistline, or flaring gently from a low hipline with slight back fulness.

Smart for teen-agers was the "bell-boy" suit by Molyneux. Of dark leaf green tweed, it had straight skirt gathered onto the waist belt with tiny split hip pockets trimmed with beaver lamb. The jacket was waist length and tight with beaver collar and cuffs. A lightweight wool high-necked blouse of reddish check completed the outfit.

Coats were neat-waisted and full-skirted, or big and boxy with optional belts and many duvteens and velours were used. Fur was a popular accoutrement with both suits and coats. Fur muffs and muff-bags were also popular.

Evening dresses were magnificent crinolines or softly draped early "2's" styles.

A lovely crinoline in white slipper satin had tight strapless bodice and wide panelled skirt decorated with hand-painted sevres roses of deep red. Another, still in white slipper satin, had narrow panels of ruching composing the entire skirt with half-hidden posies of velveteen roses low on the skirt. The bodice was plain tight and strapless.

THE GENTLE LAMB

Offspring of the sacred ram revered by many pastoral tribes, has been in many places regarded as the symbol of regeneration and burnt as sacrifice. Early in the Christian era, the lamb became connected with Jesus, one of whose titles was "the lamb of God". The above illustration is after a silver-gilt monstrance in the cathedral at Aix-la-Chapelle. Today, the lamb is employed as a symbol of piety on memorials.

West naturally opened the heart K, which South won with the A. Seeing that his contract depended on bringing in the diamonds, the declarer promptly put forth the Q, hoping the holder of the A would hold it up. If that occurred the next diamond lead could clear the suit while the spade A remained as a dummy entry.

But in the West was Able Abe Sperber, famous as the winner of Sidney Lenz's great national problem contest some years ago. He saw what South was up to, so came right in with the A and scored his heart J and Q to have three tricks. Realizing that South might have no diamonds left except the K, he wisely refrained from taking his heart thirteener at this stage. Scoring that card would have enabled South to discard the blocking diamond K.

Mr. Sperber instead ruined the dummy with a beautiful Deschapelles coup by leading the spade K. That left the blocking diamond K with South, so that the declarer could only try the club finesse. When the Q won it, Mr. Sperber cashed the setting heart 2.

No matter what South tried after the spade K lead, he had no chance for the contract. It will be seen, however, that if South had held both the spade Q and J he could have made it even against the coup. But Mr. Sperber realized that with South's strong bidding and his own big hand, there was still a chance that East could have one of the secondary spade honors, as he did.

Your Weekend Question

What two entirely different kinds of information are given you when your partner doubles a low suit bid by the opponents on a deal in which they eventually land in a higher contract of another suit?

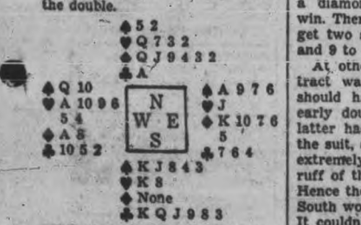
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TWO KINDS OF FACTS

TO ONE EXTENT or another, every double of any type gives two kinds of information to your partner. It indicates something about the high card strength in the hand of the doubler, also something respecting his number of cards in one suit or perhaps several suits. Paying heed to both the definite and probable implications of the double in both of those respects may prove important during the play as well as in any bidding which may follow the double.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♥	2 ♦	Dbl.
2 ♠	3 ♥	Pass	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dbl.
4 ♣	Dbl.

West proved himself anything except a card-reader in his inept defense against that contract. Presumably he was pleased to contest that contract, since he doubled it. The game was a match-point pair duplicate, and he hoped to get his side a fine score, but did not manage to.

His opening lead was okeh, the heart A. But then he went off the beam. His reasoning concerned the missing heart K. If South had that, a repeat of hearts would give East a useful trick by ruffing. But if East had the heart K, South could ruff and have control of the remaining play, he reckoned. This scared him away from the heart repeat and he led the club 2.

South, of course, won in the dummy. He led the spade 2 and, on East's low play, stuck in the K. The club K and Q were now scored and the spade 3 given up to the Q. West now led back the heart 10, on which East discarded a diamond, allowing the K to win. Thereafter East was sure to get two spade tricks with the A and 9 to set the contract a trick.

At other tables the same contract was beaten worse. West should have read from East's early double of spades that the latter had either the A or K of the suit, and therefore South was extremely unlikely to get a quick ruff of the first or second round. Hence the risk of a heart ruff by South would have meant nothing. It couldn't lose, could gain.

Livestock Valuators Paid Road Mileage

Application to the Department of Highways for Dummer's road subsidy of $7,158.79 was authorized in a motion by Councillors Gallaher and Hamblin. The tax collector's roll for 1947 was accepted at the meeting Thursday.

Payment of road accounts amounting to $490.12 was ordered in a motion by Councillors Olver and Sloan.

A bylaw amendment provides that livestock valuators in Dummer are to be paid mileage up to seven miles. Authority to levy this year's tax rates was contained in a bylaw that received three readings.

A motion by Councillors Gallaher and Sloan directed that tenders to advertise for snowplowing all township roads in Dummer.

General accounts of $418.20 were ordered paid in a motion by Councillors Hamblin and Olver.

County Farm Notes

—By HARRY THEOBALD

Local Corn Test Plots Commended By Dr. McRostie of OAC — Junior Farmers Invited To Judging Contest At Roseneath Fair — Senior Winter Wheat Club Begins New Season.

Dr. G. P. McRostie, head of the field husbandry department, OAC, recently visited Peterborough to compare results obtained locally in hybrid corn tests with those at Guelph. He was interested in the corn test plots conducted this season by Dewart Miling Co., for several reasons:

(1)—Results are different from those at Guelph, in some salient respects, pointing to the importance of local test plots. This was particularly true with the new hybrids Canbred 240 and Canbred 250. Both these varieties do well at Guelph, but are entirely unsuitable to this area due to their inability to produce a satisfactory root system. This point alone should merit the continuation of the corn test plots, Dr. McRostie told Ernest McWilliam and should be a warning to all Peterborough farmers not to grow crops unless they are tested and found suitable to this area.

(2) Nitrogen and potash starvation is severe in the corn test plots even after application of 200 lbs. of 4-8-10 fertilizer to the acre. As this soil was tested at OAC and their recommendations were followed, it indicates the advice obtained is the minimum requirement not the maximum. Better results could have been accomplished if the application of fertilizer had been doubled.

(3) Several varieties of corn will mature for gain in this area. The following seem very promising: 240; 275; 279; 355. Of these four varieties the 275 and 279 are the most suitable.

Following the visit to the corn plots, Dr. McRostie went to the farm of Gerald Anderson in South Monaghan. Mr. Anderson has just completed harvesting an excellent crop of alsike clover seed, with yields approximating 10 bushels per acre. These remarkable returns are to be studied by the Ontario alsike investigating committee in an attempt to find the reason for such a volume of seed, as yields such as this are rare indeed.

Mr. Anderson also produced several hundred pounds of ladino clover seed. This is one of the most valuable crops grown, often valued at $2 to $2.50 per pound. This crop is highly interesting as it is the first time any volume of ladino clover seed has bee produced in the Peterborough area.

As a summary of Dr. McRostie's visit and observations in the county, Mr. McWilliams said he stressed the value of local experimentation and tests in the area, including pasture mixtures, corn and cereal crops and varieties, due to the variation in performance of these crops and their varying results from county to county.

"It was a pleasure and an inspiration to have Dr. McRostie visit the county," Mr. McWilliam said, "and it is hoped that he will to return annually."

RIDEAU WHEAT IN OTTAWA VALLEY

Plot yields of winter wheat at the cereal division of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, have been exceptionally high, according to Federal Department of Agriculture report.

"Rideau winter wheat variety developed by the cereal division for use in eastern Ontario, under field conditions, yielded 56 bushels per acre. This crop was excellent for combining two weeks after it was ripe enough to harvest by binder.

Rideau was developed from a cross between Kharkov and Dawson's Golden Chaff. It has brought together much of the winter hardiness of Kharkov with the high yielding qualities of Dawson's Golden Chaff. In comparative yield tests at four different locations in the Ottawa Valley over a period of three years Rideau gave 39.9 bushels, Dawson's Golden Chaff 38.1 bus.; and Kharkov 31.8 bus. per acre.

At Ottawa in years when winter injury was a factor Rideau has outyielded Dawson's Golden Chaff by a substantial margin."

FARM QUIZ AT EXHIBITION

Most of the questions in the agricultural quiz in the junior farmers division of the Peterborough Exhibition are listed below. Adults may fill in their own answers to these questions, and rate themselves from the correct answers which are found elsewhere on this page.

The quiz was prepared by Frank C. Paterson and his temporary assistant Murray McRae. Some of the questions have been omitted for the reason that they required reference to samples or pictures. One of those was: "Examine the samples of cuts from hog carcasses and tell which came from a Grade "A" carcass.

Here is one that was merely overlooked. It is of interest as relating to long term pasture mixtures.

"Following are two long term pasture mixtures: (a) alfalfa 5 lbs., timothy 4, brome grass 5, orchard grass 5, Kentucky blue 1, Canada blue 1, White Dutch 1, ladino 1, meadow fescue 3. Total 26 lbs. per acre. (b) timothy 6 lbs., red top 3 lbs., reed canary grass 6 lbs., alsike 3 lbs. Total 18 lbs. per acre.

Mixture (a) is the better suited to low-lying poorly drained areas subject to flooding. Yes: No."

The correct answer was "no". Most of the other questions were:

1.—Is soil permanent?

2.—Is soil unstable?

3.—In a soils laboratory report on a sample of soil from a field which is to be sown to fall wheat it shows as follows: organic matter, medium; nitrogen, high; phosphoric acid, low; potash, low; calcium high; magnesium, low. Would an application of 300 lbs. per acre of 4-8-10 fertilizer be preferable to one of 300 lbs. per acre of 0-12-10?

4.—The Trent Valley Waterways system is of greater economic value to Peterborough county as a conservation project than as a transportation system?

5.—Can all farmers buy adequate supplies of humus?

6.—Is there any nitrogent in 20% superphosphate?

7.—The tag on a fertilizer bag show 2%N; 12% P205; 6% K2). Does this mean that 100 lbs. of this fertilizer contain 2 lbs. Nitrogen, 12 lbs. Phosphoric Acid and 6 lbs. of Potash?

8.—Is barnyard manure rich in phosphorus?

9.—Loose smut on wheat can be controlled by treating with chemicals?

10—Planting hybrid corn at the rate of a bushel to three acres is too thick for either grain or silage?

11.—Does a tiller (one way disc) save time and keep crop residue (sod and stubble, etc.) near the surface?

12.—Either legume or corn silage is commonly fed to dairy cattle to supply essential nutrients as well as good succulent roughage?

13.—A ration containing 16-18% protein is too rich for dairy cows in milk?

14.—A mixture of brome grass with alfalfa gives a better quality hay and pasture than does a mixture of orchard grass and alfalfa?

15.—Sheep infested with internal parasites (worms) can be successfully treated by using, according to proper directions: (a) a good commercial sheep dip; (b) phenothiaszine; (c) sodium bicarbonate?

16.—Anemia in young pigs can be successfully treated by administering: (a) steamed bone meal; (b) reduced iron?

17.—Bang's disease in cattle can be satisfactorily controlled by properly vaccinating at: (a) 1 to 2 years of age; (b) 4 to 8 months of age?

18. — Common barberry and buckthorn (as shown in the pictures) are important in the development of: (a) smut on grain; (b) rust on grain; (c) Blight on potatoes?

19—Phosphorous promotes root and seed development of a cereal crop?

RURAL SCHOOLS RE-OPEN

While their taxpaying elders are thinking about two or three schools of a new type for the southern section of Peterborough county, rural children begin next week the new school year. For the youngest it will be their first enrollment, the initial step in their educational adventure.

Their older brothers and sisters advance to higher grades. Others move on to the high schools and collegiate institute. Time does not stand still for youth. It is caught up in the quick current of life. The quiet bays are farther down the stream in the reaches of adulthood. Where the ripples end is the place of cautious planning and careful building.

A few of the modern rural school buildings are opening in Ontario next week. For those that are projected, the obstacle of costs must properly be considered. Responsible trustess and councillors are hardly to be blamed for their quest of larger grants for the improved schools, assistance which they contend should come out of provincial revenues, lightening the levy on farm values.

But, time is impatient of delays in decision. Adults forget that the penalty does not fall on them. Urgency slackens in the autumn of life. It is the springtime that demands action, or the opportunity is lost. Men stoutly cling to attitudes and convictions, and boys and girls who could have benefitted from a consolidated school and its broader program are soon past its helping.

(Arena-auditoriums that could have been promptly accomplished in compromise, in big-brotherly response to the silent appeal of youth and in the adjustments which men know well how to make when necessity compels them, become an unrealized dream of a community's boys and girls, too soon swept beyond the impressionable and memorable years of brightest enjoyment.)

When today's youngsters grow up they will probably envy the shining facilities and accommodations that will have been provided for the boys and girls who have taken their places. And as men have done since Adam they will even yearn for the good old days.

✦ ✦ ✦

FALL FAIRS

Fall fairs next week are: Port Perry, Labor Day; Coe Hill, Blackstock and Wooler, Wednesday, Sept. 8; Orono, Sept. 11. Apsley was yesterday and Kinmount today.

✦ ✦ ✦

INVITATION TO JUNIORS

Roseneath fair board will distribute $100 in prizes for a junior judging competition Oct. 8. Ralph Banbury, agricultural representative, outlines the following conditions: The only restriction are the ages of 12 and 26, and not graduates of any agricultural college. A contest featuring the identification of 10 specimens of weeds, farm seeds, poultry, fruits and vegetables will test familiarity with farm practice. Young people are asked to register at Roseneath by 10 a.m. There will be one class each of horses, dairy and beef cattle, sheep and swine. Placings are to be made with one sentence criticism on each animal in order that ties may be broken. Oral reasons not to be taken. Both juniors farm girls and boys are welcomed. There is no entry fee, and contestants arriving before 10 a.m. will be given free admission.

Mr. Banbury says he hopes to see some of the Peterborough juniors at Roseneath.

A POULTRY RANGE

Bernard Helms of Union County, N.C., prepared a poultry range by overseeding ladino clover on a pasture already sodded with rye grass. Results were so good that he put in more of the same pasture last spring. Most pasture advisers suggest seeding ladino at the rate of 2 pounds an acre when used with other grasse, or four pounds to the acre for ladino alone. A standard pasture mixture for chickens as recommended: 12 pounds of Kentucky blue grass; 6 pounds of perennial rye grass; 2 pounds of ladino clover.

LILA LEEDS, actress, left, is pictured in a somewhat resigned mood, after she was arrested as a result of a raid on her home. Federal agents claim she was smoking marijuana when they entered. Others arrested in the raid were Robert Mitchum, film star, Robin Ford, 31, his friend, and Vickie Evans, dancer. It was an unlucky day for Vickie Evans, right, when she strolled into a Hollywood house just as officers of a narcotics squad were raiding it. They pulled her in, but she was in distinguished company.

2 Peterborough Men Among Eleven Barred at Fort Erie

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(CP).—C. S. Jackson, an officer of the Electrical Workers Union (CIO) at Toronto today was taken off a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane by United States immigration officials at La Guardia Airfield and placed in the custody of an immigration official.

Jackson was identified as international vice-president of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO), and president of its Canadian affiliate, District 5. Immigration service officials here declined comment.

Arthur Kinoy, an associate general counsel for the union, who was on hand to meet Jackson, said the Canadian official was en route to the U.E. national convention here.

Eleven other UEW delegates, including two from Peterborough, Mervin Chambers, president of Local 54 UE-CIO, and Thomas Davies, a shop steward in 524, were barred from the country by immigration officials. Chambers and Davies were chosen along with Arthur Hunter, of Peterborough to attend the New York convention.

Both have protested to the American consulate in Toronto. They were two of 11 delegates who were informed on Saturday night by United States' immigration officials that they could not cross the border. The other seven delegates, including Mr. Hunter, were allowed to continue on to the convention.

Yesterday a Canadian delegate to the U.E. convention said 11 of the 18 Canadian delegates were turned back by immigration authorities when they sought to enter the United States from Ham-

DEATH AT THE WHISTLE STOP, one mile east of Birdsall's Station on the CNR, Otonabee Township, came to 10-year-old Kenneth Bull of Lindsay. He was sleeping in the caboose of a stalled westbound freight. His father, Conductor William Bull, walked to Birdsall's Station to phone the night dispatcher at Hastings to delay a following westbound freight. He was too late; the second freight piled into the stalled train, killing his son and derailing seven cars. TOP LEFT photo shows roof of the wrecked caboose (ARROW) on top of second train. LOWER LEFT shows the point of impact in foreground by the whistle post, and ARROW shows again top of caboose and the distance it was carried. CENTRE INSERT, victim of the crash, Kenneth Bull of Lindsay. Husband Found In Cabin With Bullet In Head, Hold Kirkfield War Bride

Dead Man And Wife Had Visited His Parents At Summer Cottage Sunday Evening Shortly Before Shooting

KIRKFIELD, Sept. 7— (Special)— Mrs. Jean McAllister, 25, an attractive redhaired war-bride, has been charged with the murder of her husband. The woman was arrested near here Monday morning by provincial police. Her husband, John Burton McAllister, 30, was found in his bed about 10,30 Sunday night with a single bullet in his head. He died about mid-night, before he could be taken to hospital.

The young couple lived on R. R. 3 of Kirkfield, a little village on the Trent Canal about 15 miles north of Lindsay. McAllister was a navy war veteran, formerly of Hamilton, who met and married his wife in Scotland while on leave from a convoy trip across the Atlantic. She is of Scotch-Irish origin and had lived in Greenoch, Scotland. They had been living in this community in Carden Township of Victoria County for about two years and were well-liked by their neighbours.

Mrs. McAllister appeared before Justice of the Peace H. H. Brown in the jail this morning and was remanded without plea until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when she will be formally charged before the magistrate.

Visited Parents

The dead man and his wife had visited McAllister's parents Sunday night and had left them about 10 o'clock, shortly before the tragedy. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McAllister of Hamilton, had been spending a vacation at a cottage on the Trent not far from the old cabin which served as a home for their son and daughter-in-law. They brokenly told police that when the two left, they seemed in fine spirits and on good terms.

First indication that something was wrong at the McAllister home came about 10.30, when neighborhood residents heard "a commotion" there. Miss Sarah McCallum, a neighbor, met the young wife on the road near the house. Miss McCallum immediately notified neighbors about a half a mile away. They called a brother, Bruce McAllister.

He rushed to his brother's house and found him lying in bed with a bullet hole in his head. Mrs. McAllister was not in the house or did not answer his call, he said, although she could not have been gone from it long.

Fearing the wound was serious, Bruce McAllister left as soon as he realized the situation, intent on getting medical assistance. A doctor at Kirkfield was not available and he had to drive all the way to Coboconk—more than 10 miles away—before he could find a doctor. When they returned, they found that McAllister's condition was steadily growing worse. The veteran died as the two attempted to make arrangements for moving him to a hospital.

Police who in the meantime had been summoned, put in an inten-

Communist Mob Storms City Hall, Chains 19 Police

BERLIN, Sept. 7—(AP)— The Russians today served notice at the four-power Berlin air safety centre that Soviet planes will hold manoeuvres over the Berlin area and the Russian zone during the week ending Sept. 14.

A United States official said it is not known how extensive the manoeuvres will be "but the implication is that there will be more than normal activity." Since the Russians blockaded the land approaches to Berlin in late June, Britain and the United States have been supplying western sectors of the city by air.

But Communist battering-ram tactics have hammered efforts to settle the cold war in Berlin to a new low.

Tension was at the breaking point after Communist-led mobs yesterday pounded their way into the city hall in the Soviet sector and forced the elected city government to withdraw to western Berlin. It was the third such invasion of the city hall in 10 days as Communists steamed up their campaign to take over Berlin and impose their own rule on the divided, blockaded city.

A heavy cordon of Russian-backed German police, sprinkled with Soviet military police, has isolated the city hall. Everyone leaving is subjected to a thorough check as often as three times.

27 Police Hidden

Twenty-seven western-Berlin police still were hidden in the city hall early today after the rival Soviet-sector police last night invaded the American liaison office there. They brushed aside a protesting American officer and dragged off 19 western German police in handcuffs and chains.

A towering Russian major ordered liaison officers of the three Western Powers to leave the building. The Western officers refused and the Russians did not press their demand.

The prospect grew that final division of Berlin into two cities soon would follow. Forced by Communist-led demonstrators to abandon their chamber, the anti-Communist city council met yesterday in the British sector.

The Communist press accused the deputies of "running away"

Racing Car Kills Fair Spectator

SUTTON, Sept. 7 — Shirley (Trixie) Harris of Duplex Ave., Toronto, was killed when a racing car went out of control and crashed through the rail fence into the spectators at Sutton Race Track Monday nigh. Four other spectators were injured, two of them from Toronto: Jack Robinson, a university student, and Don Slade. Also injured was Mrs. Elerby Sair of Sharon and Amos York of Brown Hill. Mrs. Sair and Robinson both have possible back fractures and were taken to Toronto General Hospital. The others are being treated at Sutton Hospital.

The driver, Barney Robinson, of 186 Earlscourt Ave., Toronto, received minor injuries. A member of the Toronto Race Drivers and Motorcycle Association, he was giving a demonstration of "daredevil" driving before a large crowd at the annual Sutton Fair.

Eire Prepared To Scrap British Treaty

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 — (CP) — Premier Costello of Eire today confirmed a Dublin newspaper report that Eire is preparing to scrap her external relations act of 1936, thus severing one of Eire's last ties with the British crown.

Mr. Costello, in a parliamentary press conference, reiterated a statement he made before a meeting of the Canadian Bar Association in Montreal that the act was full of "inaccuracies and infirmities" and the only thing left to do was to scrap it.

Under the act, Eire's diplomatic representatives abroad and foreign diplomats to Eire are accredited through the crown. The Dublin Independent during the week-end said Eire "is going to be formally declared a republic."

At the conference, Mr. Costello said there was no reason why Eire could not continue in "association" with Britain, but not as a formal member of the British Commonwealth.

Ireland wanted to stand on its own feet, said the Premier. If partition were ended, he was certain Ireland could persuade many of its former citizens to return to the country. During the 1800's, Ireland had a population of some 8,000,000; now she was down to 3,000,000.

Partition must end, he said, before Eire would consider entering into a defence pact with the countries of Western Europe. He indicated unity of the whole country must be achieved before Eire would consider the defence agreement at all.

Boy 10 Killed In Train Crash As Engine Telescopes Caboose

HASTINGS, Sept. 7 — (Staff) — Ten-year-old Kenneth Bull of Lindsay, son of a CNR railway conductor, was instantly killed Monday morning in a collision of two freight trains which smashed seven box-cars and a caboose. The boy had been sleeping in the caboose on the rear of a freight train which was stopped on the CNR track a mile east of Birdsall Station, about six miles west of Hastings. It was plowed into by another freight about one a.m. Monday.

The first train, which was in charge of the dead boy's father, William T. Bull of Lindsay, had been stalled on the tracks across a concession road on the 5th concession of Asphodel. It had come to a stop there, about a mile before reaching the little Birdsall Station as a rod of the eccentric wheel of the engine had broken.

While Conductor Bull went to Birdsall Station to telephone for mechanical assistance to get the train moving again, a second freight roared around the slight bend beyond which the first train was stopped and crashed into the rear, scattering the small rear van for hundreds of feet and piling up seven box cars into a mass of twisted metal and splintered wood. Apparently the engineer had not seen the crewman from the first train whom the crew said had been sent back of the train with a signal flag for the train following.

None of the crew of the stopped train was near the end of the train when the engine of the second one struck. First to reach the scene was Trainman W. M. Austin, Lindsay. As with all the men of both crews, he was a fellow townsman of Bull and knew that the boy had been

U.S. Liaison Officer Hides 20 Policemen From Reds

By LYFORD MOORE.

INSIDE THE CITY HALL, BERLIN, Sept. 7 — (Reuters) —I have just awakened on the floor of the United States liaison office after a fantastic night in Berlin's beseiged city hall. The American liaison officer entrusted with the safety of some 20 western-sector German policemen who are locked in an adjoining room is still asleep on a nearby sofa.

From this office window I can see clusters of Soviet-sector German police stretched all around the city hall. They stand in every doorway and rigidly screen everyone entering or leaving the building, which Communist demonstrators stormed yesterday to prevent a meeting of the city assembly.

From the time to time throughout a hectic night during which none of us had much sleep patrols of Russian soldiers with tommy-guns slung over their shoulders have been keeping watch outside.

We have been told that two men who were brought here as "orderlies" and who now are prisoners.

Reds Absent From Investiture

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 7 — (AP). — The Netherlands Communist party explained today why four Communist members of parliament were absent from Queen Juliana's formal investiture yesterday. They were ill, abroad, or on vacation, the announcement said.

The party said the absence of the four Communist deputies should not be viewed as a demonstration. Juliana took the formal oath as Queen before the parliament yesterday, succeeding her mother, Wilhelmina, who appeared as queen in the legal sense for the first time before her people in a public appearance.

Pilot And Crew Blamed For Gaspe Crash

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—(CP). — Crash of a Rimouski Airlines plane in Gaspe Peninsula July 24 with the loss of 29 lives is blamed on the plane's crew in a preliminary report of a Transport Department Board of Inquiry released today.

Transport Minister Chevrier announced the board's report assigned "major responsibility" to Pilot E. E. Mills and First Officer R. B. Miles for undertaking the flight in thick fog.

The plane—a Douglas DC-3—crashed at Grande Greve, Que., while on a commercial non-scheduled flight from Port Menier, Manticosti Island. All 29 aboard the ship—mostly lumberjacks en route to the mainland for a holiday from the Anticosti lumber woods—were killed.

The Board of Inquiry report said weather conditions at Port Menier were "satisfactory" at takeoff time and the pilot had expressed belief "doubtful" weather reported near Gaspe would clear up in time to permit him to make a safe landing.

However, the expected improvement failed to develop.

The report added:

"The investigation disclosed that the flight was of such short duration that a return to Port Menier could have been normally made in event of severe deterioration of the weather. It was also revealed that the aircraft had a sufficient quantity of fuel for approximately three hours cruising flight and could have reached alternate airports at Mont Joli or Rimouski. However, the captain continued his flight in the vicinity of the Gaspe coast and in the existing fog struck the trees at the top of the cliff near Grande Greve.

"The Board of Enquiry reports that it cannot be too critical of the captain for departing from Port Menier under the existing weather conditions and entering the fog bank encountered in the region

Polish Reds Launch Purge

Party Breach Threatens Control Of Country

WARSAW, Sept. 7—(AP)—President Boleslaw Bierut was picked today to take over sweeping political power as head of a new united Communist-Socialist workers party.

Polish Communists meanwhile launched a purge intended to heal a party breach which threatens their control of Poland. The purge is aimed at Nationalists in the Communist Workers party who deviate from the Moscow party line—or international Communism.

ulka, who lost his job as the party's secretary-general Sunday because of his nationalist attitude and his support for Premier Tito of Yugoslavia, declared last night that the party's troubles are past the crisis.

He appeared before a war council of party leaders to admit charges levelled against him that he had pursued "a false and anti-marxist line" and had permitted rightist and nationalist deviations. He said he had patched up his ideological differences with Poland's communist chieftains.

The council was called by president Boleslaw Bierut, who succeeded Gomulka as party secretary-general, to draw up plans for ending the party breach. He offered an eight-point program. Political circles said Gomulka's recanting would strengthen Bierut's hand in enforcing this program to halt the straying of members who prefer the nationalist brand of communism to that of the communist international information bureau.

Candy Factory Blast Kills 2, Injures 20

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—(AP).—At least two persons were killed early today by an explosion and fire in a large west side candy factory. Twenty persons were injured.

The two bodies in the county morgue remained unidentified. The shattered plant was searched for others. Max Gorenson, chief investigator for the coroner's office, said he believes that five more persons were killed.

Fire officials estimated damage at between $500,000 and $750,000.

Detective Dies 100 Deaths In Wild Ride Kidnapped By 2, Trigger Clicks 100 Times

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7—(AP)—"He clicked that trigger back a hundred times and I died a hundred deaths."

Stocky, grey-haired detective John J. Jackson's hand shook as he fingered his notes early this morning—notes that covered seven tense hours of driving two armed men over a maze of Louisiana backwoods roads.

The two men are Dale Simpson, 26, of Salt Lake City, and H. E. Miller, 23, of Monticello, Miss. The pair were captured after a night long search.

Jacob was killed while bringing the 2 from Gulfport, Miss., to New Orleans in connection with a theft charge. Miller and Simpson subsequently hitchhiked to New Orleans, seized Jackson and his automobile at police headquarters, and forced the detective to aid in their getaway.

"Every time we passed a car on the road," Jackson related, "Miller, who was riding in the front seat with me, would click back the trigger of his automatic. And every time he clicked it, I died again. I was sure they intended to kill me, but I didn't know when it would come."

Near Hobart, La., Jackson was ordered from the car.

Toss Bottles At Police In Wild 65 MPH Chase

GODERICH, Sept. 7 (CP). — Six shots fired by police during a wild 65-miles-an-hourchase on the Clinton-Goderich Highway failed to stop two beer-drinking Ethel, Ont., cousins, Provincial Constable Frank Taylor said today.

The youths, in an old-model automobile, were trapped when they turned into a blind street here. They jumped from the car and a fist fight ensued before Constable Taylor made the arrests.

"While I was chasing them," Constable Taylor said, "they were throwing empty beer bottles from the car. They almost forced me into the ditch and how they escaped a smashup I don't know. They forced several cars into the ditch."

Constable Taylor said the pair "fought like mad" when he attempted to arrest them.

Bus Demolishes Passenger Car Driver Killed

SPRINGVILLE, Sept. 7 (Staff) —Thornton Smout, of R.R. 1, South Monaghan, 30-year-old father of three children, died in hospital in Peterborough Saturday, an hour after his car was struck here by a bus of the Colonial Coach Lines. The fatality happened on Highway 28, just south of Springville, at the bottom of a long hill.

The scene was directly in front of the house of Harold Keller. Smout was turning his car into the Keller driveway when it was struck broadside by the big bus. Smout was alone in the car.

The car was thrown by the impact across the highway and into the east ditch. Fifteen-year-old Jean Keller, standing on the verandah of the Keller house, saw the collision.

She said: "When it was about half-way across the road, the top of the car came off and the driver came out with it."

The car itself came to rest nearly 100 feet from the point of impact and the car roof landed another 100 feet beyond that. Smout struck the ground about half-way between the two. Parts of the car were scattered all around the scene for many feet.

Driver of the bus was Fred Hamilton of Bobcaygeon. He told police that Smout had made no signal for the left-hand turn and had been in front of him crossing the road too fast for braking. The front of the bus was badly dented by the collision. Both vehicles had been travelling south. The bus was on the Peterborough-Millbrook run.

Smout was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, where his condition was at once reported as critical. He died about 11.45, an hour after the crash.

The dead man was married and the father of three children, the oldest of which is five years. He had been an employee of the Dewart Milling Co. in Peterborough for some years.

None of the three passengers in the bus at the time was injured. They were: Mrs. George Bothwell, Millbrook; M. Blair, 813 Water St. and Mrs. Ray Fry, 718 Lock St.

Family Joyful, No Tears Sees Girl Wade To Death

BARRY'S BAY, Sept. 7 —(CP)— Violet Goglin, 18, was "called by the Holy Spirit" into the icy waters of the river Madawaska river near here, where she was drowned, her father said Sunday. That was the explanation farmer Henry Goglin gave for the Aug. 29 death of his daughter, who waded into the river beyond her depth. As the water closed over her head she was said to have repeated: 'faith is the victory."

Viola Goglin, Violet's 23-year-old sister, stood on the isolated, wooded river bank and watched Violet, who couldn't swim, enter the river.

Mr. Goglin, born of German descent in this backwoods district, said he was not sad about Violet's death. Neither were Violet's 11 brothers and sisters. They said they are happy because she had "received the blessing of the Lord and had been called to Him."

Praised the Lord

Mr. Goglin, whose wife died 15 years ago, said Violet received the "blessing" a week ago last Thursday. That day she began "praising the Lord" and "the praising kept up until Sunday morning."

" . . . Then Violet was led by the Holy Spirit to the river and into the water the same as Philip was led by the Spirit in the Bible."

Viola said "God told me to go with her."

"I stood on the bank and kept praising while Violet walked into the river," she said. "She kept walking in and praising and repeating, 'faith is the victory,' until she disappeared."

"I wasn't frightened because I knew it was God's will and there was no need to be afraid. That was God's way of talking to her."

Don't Understand

Mr. Goglin said his family belonged to no religious cult. Their form of worship, based on the Bible, had no other name but "Jesus." He said he left the evangelical church at Palmer Rapids about five years ago to worship in his own way.

"Those who aren't saved don't understand," he said.

Provincial police investigated and said there will not be a coroner's inquest.

Watches 5 Minutes

"It was still dark and there was no sound in the river and I kept praising and thought I could see some movement. I stayed on the bank about five minutes, I guess, praising the Lord, when God told me to take the boat and row across the river, and carry my praises to the neighbors."

Viola then described how the Lord led her to the village of Palmer Rapids and she was stopped by two men in a car. "They heard my praises and offered to drive me home. I asked the Lord, and He said it was all right, and they drove me home."

Asked whether she was worried when Violet went into the water, Viola replied: "I wasn't frightened because I knew it was God's will and there was no need to be afraid. That was God's way of taking her."

Wilfred, Violet's first cousin, who said he came to the farm five years ago because the Lord wished this, described how he found Violet Thursday about noon sitting on the porch of the house weeping.

"I tried to comfort her because I knew the Lord was convicting her. And then I quoted from the Bible: "Taste and see that the Lord is Good," and this seemed to comfort her and she went to her room.

"Later she called me and asked me to read something from the Bible, and as I was reading I looked up and saw that she was laughing. Then I said, 'The Lord love you,' and a strange light came over her face and I knew from my own experience the Lord has toucher her.

their colleagues were removed forcibly, in handcuffs made of chains, from a nearby American office last night.

They are confident they will eventually be freed by the western powers.

Throughout the night they have been reassured by the presence of American, British, and French liaison officers who remained with them in spite of Russian demands that they quit the building.

Two groups of armed German police are checking papers at every door, under orders to apprehend the 20 west- sector police, who are not recognized as police in the Soviet sector.

Only one of the western policemen escaped. He made his way out of the building last night by posing as an American. But now rupled clothes and a day's growth of beard would identify any attempted escape.

No Russians have appeared inside the city hall this morning.

They were last seen at approximately midnight last night after telling the British, American and French officers that they could stay here all night if they wished.

Shortly after the Russians left a French courier arrived with food ranging from fine cheese to champagne.

Western allied personnel then had a delightful midnight feast.

Husband Found

sive all-night search for the missing wife, scouring the surrounding woods and fields without success. They found a .22 pistol, believed to be the one from which the shot was fired, lying in the grass beside the road near the house.

Police believe the woman wandered aimlessly in her bare feet in the area all night. Mrs. McAllister was arrested about 7.30 a.m. A group of the searching police saw her emerge from a clump of bushes growing near the canal, which is only a few hundred yards from the house. She started to walk towards the group. First to reach her was provincial constable L. T. Keeler of Peterborough, who placed her under arrest.

Back Daughter-in-Law.

In Fenelon Falls to-day, Mrs. McAllister said that she will "stand by" her daughter-in-law, facing a charge of murdering her son.

"I intend to obtain counsel for her," said the accused's mother-in-law, whose vacation in the Kirkfield area with her husband was interrupted by the tragedy.

"She is one of our family and we have a responsibility to her. We are going to help her all we can."

It was reported from Fenelon Falls this morning that the accused had given a statement to police about the shooting, but they would not discuss its contents. One Toronto newspaper quoted Unspecified police sources as saying: "Jealousy was the motive."

Quiet and Reserved

Resident of the village of Kirkfield, which has a population of about 200, all spoke highly of the couple. They had been quiet and reserved, but were well-liked by their neighbours.

"They were a fine, good-living young couple," said Rev. A. S. McLean, minister of the Kirkfield Presbyterian Church.

"They were grand neighbors," confirmed Mrs. Elaine Barrett, who lives nearest the McAllisters. "They were always willing to help others whenever they could."

Bride Ill In Spring

Neighbors said the young bride had been very ill last spring, when she had undergone a serious operation. As a result of her ill-health, they said, the couple were inclined recently to "keep pretty well to themselves, although they were friendly with everybody."

The illness had also resulted in a marked degree of nervousness in Mrs. McAllister's behavior, they had all noted.

For the past several months, the dead man had been a member of a maintenance crew of the Federal Department of Transport working in the district. He had also been operating a small trucking business in the Kirkfield area for some time. In his spare time, he helped his wife cultivate a small garden and raise a few chickens.

A post-mortem on the body was held Monday afternoon in Lindsay by Dr. C. B. Waite, director of the provincial laboratory at Peterborough. Its report confirmed that death was due to hemmorhage caused by a bullet wound in the head.

Provincial Police Inspector W. J. Franks of the Criminal Investigation Branch, Toronto, has been in charge of the case. Taking part in the all-night search were District Inspector E. V. McNeill and Constable Keeler of Peterborough, Provincial Corporal R. L. Taylor of Lindsay and Prov. Constable L. G. Lyle of Fenelon Falls, who had been the first officer called. Victoria County Coroner Dr. Hugh D. Logan of Lindsay, also took part in the case.

A Chief Petty Officer in the Royal Canadian Navy during the war, McAllister returned to his home in Hamilton after discharge. For a time he worked in a steel plant, but was unable to stand the noise due to a head injury suffered in the service. A short time after his wife arrived in Canada, they moved to the quiet surroundings of Kirkfield, where they located in the log cabin.

Another brother of the dead man was "Scotty" McAllister, a figure in the news during the war for his overseas exploits, who was later killed in action.

Elderly residents of the village had to search back in their memories to recall "anything like this" in the history of the area. They recalled that about 40 years ago there had been a sensational case in which a man had murdered his wife and later taken his own life.

Boy 10 Killed

lying on the exposed side of one of the crazily-tilted cars, close to the funnel of the second engine. He was dead at that time.

Fragments of the caboose in which the boy had been making the night trip with his trainman-father were scattered along both sides and on the track for hundreds of feet back. The charred remains of the small mattress on which Kenneth had been sleeping lay smouldering beside the track hours later.

The pile of the seven cars and the caboose were all packed within a distance of three box-car lengths. Twenty-ton cars hung at weird angles around the engine which had smashed into them. Three more lay on their sides to the south, laying in the woods where they had crushed several heavy trees as they fell. The front of the second engine was torn open by the force of the impact.

Both trains were freights and extras, making the trip from Belleville to Lindsay. The second train was loaded with coal. The 32-car freight ahead had been empty.

An American nurse, Miss Eleanor Lang, of Akron, Ohio, who had been staying at a nearby tourist camp, arrived and attended the boy. There was nothing to be done for him, she told trainmen.

Wrecking crews arrived about six hours later, after an extra engine had moved the remainder of the first train to the Keene siding. They started work with a railway crane to clear the right-of-way of the 150 tons of wreckage blocking it. The collision meant the re-routing of several CNR trains scheduled for travel along it later Monday.

Telephone and telegraph lines were cut between Belleville and Lindsay by the box-cars crashing into the woods. Service was restored shortly after noon.

Conductor of the secon dtrain was J. Hogan, engineer was C Sleep. Both trains crews, of five men each, were from Lindsay.

Provincial constable Arthur Kellogg and Police Chief Potten of Hastings investigated the accident.

County Coroner Dr. Herb Young said that it is expected that an inquest into the occurrence will be held shortly.

The dead boy lived with his family at 4 George St. Lindsay. An active boy, he was pleased at the opportunity to accompany his father on this extra freight run, his heart-broken parents said.

Telling the story after, Mr. Bull recalled that when his freight broke down, the boy wanted to go with him to the despatcher's office while the phone call was made, but Mr. Bull told him to stay in the caboose.

He asked: "Will you wake me when you come back?", as the boy did not want to miss anything on his first trip on the freights. He had been with his father before on work trains and was popular with other members of the crews.

Conductor Bull has been railroading for 30 years and is due for pension in another seven years. He had been in one accident before near Belleville, and still suffers occasional headaches as a result.

Hill Trapped Twice During Barrel Trip

QUEENSTON, Sept. 7 — (CP). — Red Hill, veteran riverman riding the Niagara River rapids in a steel barrel, ended his five-mile trip Sunday night after twice becoming trapped at treacherous points in the river.

Hill reached the steamship docks here at 8 p.m. EDT, Sunday, four hours and 15 minutes after starting the course near the Whirlpool Rapids Bridge below Niagara Falls, Ont.

Hill's trip was halted temporarily, shortly after the start when the barrel was caught in the Niagara whirlpool. His three brothers —Major, Corky and Wesley — freed the cigar-shaped barrel from the fast-whirling current and opened the barrel to let Hill have fresh air. After bailing it out, Hill re-entered and continued down river.

Three miles from Queenston, between the Whirlpool and Niagara Glen, he again became trapped in an eddy. Hill was freed again by his brothers.

Jonathan Barlow Dies At Age 100

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 7.—Jonathan Barlow, the oldest resident of Hastings county, died early Saturday morning after an illness of three weeks at the home of his son, John Frederick Barlow of Tyendinaga township.

The late Mr. Barlow had reached his 101st year. On the second day of July last he observed the one hundredth anniversary of his birth and a happy family gathering was held to mark the occasion. He enjoyed greatly the festivities of the gathering and was much pleased to receive the good wishes and congratulations of his sons, brothers and numerous friends.

Born in Belleville

Jonathan Barlow was born in Belleville being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Barlow. When a young man he delivered gravel and stone to be used in the construction of the Belleville City Hall. Later he became a farmer and the greater part of his life was devoted to agriculture. He was interested in the cheese industry and served as an official of the Montau Cheese Factory.

The Shannonville Fair received his support and valued services for many years and he was a director of the fair for more than 50 years.

Jonathan Barlow lived a long and useful life and throughout his lifetime he was highly esteemed and held many close friendships. He was a member of the Church of England and a parishioner of Trinity Church, Shannonville.

from "protesting workers" and claimed the meeting was illegal.

Wanted Meeting

Some observers felt that a meeting of the city council majority in western Berlin was exactly what the Russian-sponsored Socialist Unity Party wanted.

They felt the council might not be permitted to return to the city hall by the Russian-controlled police. Instead they thought the Socialist Unity minority there might try to set up a rump government, charging the administration had "deserted."

"That would leave no alternative," a top Allied official said. "We then will have two completely separated cities."

May Protest

LONDON, Sept. 7 —(AP)—A British diplomatic source said today the western powers are planning a joint protest to Russia over the continuing Communist-led riots in Berlin.

The foreign office issued a formal statement, however, saying that any report that an official British diplomatic source had said the western powers are planning a joint protest to Russia over the Berlin rioting is without foundation.

Special Meeting

The spokesman said he could not comment officially on what action was contemplated by the western powers.

The three military commandants of the western powers were holding a special meeting in Berlin to consider yesterday's riots in which Russian-zone German police arrested western-German zonal policemen in the city hall after German Communists took over the building.

The diplomatic source here said that future British action, in concert with the French and United States governments, will be deferred until the report of the military commandants is received.

He then added that the British authorities had no doubt [illegible] wave of Communist [illegible] Berlin during the past few we[illegible] has been organized "with the d[illegible] liberate intention of wrecking t[illegible] city council."

A foreign office spokesman made this unsolicited statement:

"I need not emphasize the seriousness with which the deterioration in the Berlin position, resulting from the demonstrations of a minority party, is regarded here in London."

German police in the course of their search arrested 19 of the western sector policemen, burst into the office of United States liaison officers and rifled its files.

This was done "in the name of the Soviet military administration," according to a Russian officer.

The Western sector police had sought refuge in the rooms of the liaison officers. Shortly after the order to the Allied personnel was issued, the Soviet-backed German police broke into one of the rooms and began dragging out the Western police in handcuffs. Some were in chains. All were taken to a police station across the street.

The arrested Western sector policemen were driven away in a Russian truck followed by a Russian jeep which played a spotlight on them.

Fire Fighters Battling Flaming Oil

EDMONTON, Sept. 7 —(CP)— Patient fire fighters struck deep underground today in an effort to tame a rogue oil well where flame upheaval last night was another phase of a months-long battle between men and the unpredictable elements from which they draw their riches.

The latest gaudy chapter in the history of Atlantic No. 3 well had been feared for months, ever since its rich reservoir of oil gushed uncontrollably last March when it was first drilled in the Leduc oil field, 15 miles south o here.

The public had been kept away from the area since May, when the oil started leaking through ground fissures and saturating 40 acres of surrounding terrain. Plans for coping with a possible fire threat had been part of the campaign to gain control of the well. That had been part of the campain to gain control of the well.

That threat became a reality last night as a ball of flame shot from the well head and slowly spread over the surrounding territory, eating its way through the oil-soaked land and settling over the fissures from which the fresh oil was oozing.

Bull-dozers threw up earthen trenches to prevent it from spreading to other areas of the $300,000,000 field. Officials were confident last night that this initial objective had been achieved.

But choking off the fire in the well area itself was another problem. The steady supply of fresh oil bubbling from the earth made conventional fire-fighting equipment useless.

Driven Away

Jackson was placed in an immigration automobile and driven away. As the car started two men who identified themselves as his lawyers, attempted to open the door of the car and were knocked down as the immigration official ordered the chauffeur to start.

Kinoy said Jackson was on his way to take part in the U.E. national convention now in progress. He said Jackson was elected chairman yesterday of the major committee at the convention and was to take an active part in the convention activities today.

Kinoy added that 13 delegates to the convention had been stopped at the border last night.

George G. Aldredge of Toronto, a delegate to the convention from Local 32, said last night that only seven of the 18 Canadian delegates had been permitted to enter the United States. He said no reason for the action was given.

The Daily Mirror says today that the United States has a blacklist of certain Canadian members of the U.E.W. and has refused to admit at least 11 Canadian delegates to the U.E. convention.

The Mirror said the U.E. is about to be probed by Congress as an alleged breeding ground for Communism.

No Explanation

According to C. R. Sullivan, district UE representative at Peterborough, the two men were approached by an immigration officer after the New York-bound train pulled out of Sunnyside on Saturday morning.

"The officer asked them their names, where they were going, and what they were going to do when they got to their destination.. When Chambers and Davies did so," continued Mr. Sullivan, then "he leafed through his note book and said 'we have instructions not to allow you into the USA'."

"When asked why, he stated, 'Don't argue with me; I have instruc[illegible] allow you in'."

Commenting on this move Mr. Sullivan said: "This is a deliberate attempt on the part of big business to deny Canadian Workers their proper affiliations with international unions. And it is one of the steps toward smashing the trade union moment.

Plan Changes In Phone System

HASTINGS, Sept. 7.—(ENS).—Telephone users in Hastings will receive improved service in the fall when a new common battery exchange comes into service here, replacing the present 'magneto' exchange, according to F. D. Tufford, Bell Tepehone manager for this area.

In the new exchange a light on the operator's switchboard will go on whenever a subscriber lifts his receiver. This signal replaces the hand crank signal, and informs the operator that someone on that line wishes to make a call.

Similarly when a call is completed the operator is automatically informed by the light, without the need for 'ringing off,' thus completely eliminating the need for the hand crank.

The main benefits of the new system are faster handling of calls, quicker clearance of lines after conversations are finished and a reduction in the number of rings heard on party lines.

New telephone numbers may be assigned to some subscribers at the time of the change.

The new exchange is designed to give service to present Hastings subscribers and allow for expansion for several years. In addition to about 360 Bell subscribers, the exchange serves about 110 subscribers of the Percy municipal telephone system.

26,000 Unionists March In Parade

TORONTO, Sept. 7 — (CP) — International affairs was on the agenda today as the Canadian National Exhibition moved well into its second—and last— week with a soaring attendance record.

Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, External Affairs Minister and Prime Minister-designate, was scheduled to address the directors luncheon.

Yesterday — Labor Day— the great fair set an attendance record of 267,000.

Thousands of labor adherents from both the Canadian Congress of Labor and Trades and Labor Congress poured into the grounds with their families.

An estimated 26,000 trade unionists in a parade six miles long and escorted by 28 bands marched to the C.N.E. There they roared approval of hard-hitting speeches by their leaders on such subjects as labor unity or communism.

In the parade, the Canadian Seamen's Union which struck for union recognition against three Canadian Great Lakes Shipping Companies, put on a show with an improvised jail on wheels, crammed with seamen.

Crown Prince Throne Lever

BRUSSELS, Sept. 7 — (AP) — Scholarly, bespectacled Crown Prince Baudouin of Belgium, King Leopold III's best trump in any forth-coming attempt to regain his throne, attains his royal majority at the age of 18 today with exiled father in Switzerland.

Most Belgians have not seen him since before the war. They remember him as a nervous boy of 10 who made rare public appearances with his tall, uniformed father.

Baudouin, like his father, never has returned to the land which his uncle Prince Charles now heads as regent. There were rumors that the government had invited him to represent Belgium at the investiture of Princess Juliana as Queen of the Netherlands, but that Leopold had refused to permit it.

At 18, Prince Baudouin theoretically could take his seat, like all royal princes, in the Belgian Senate, but that would mean he would have to take an oath of allegiance to his uncle as present head of the state and there has been no indication that Leopold would be willing to permit such a step.

Hamilton Man Loses $5,800 In Bonds At 'Ex' Toronto Woman Finds It Few Hours Later

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—(CP). — George McEwen of Hamilton lost $5,800 in war bonds at the Canadian National Exhibition Monday and had them returned intact a few hours later.

Police said a woman, who identified herself only as Mrs. Saunders of Toronto, turned them in after finding them on the 350-acre grounds, where some 300,000 persons tramped during the day.

Mr. McEwan said he brought them with him for safe-keeping because of several robberies around his district recently, was carrying the bonds in a brown paper bag in his wife's shopping bag. He placed the bag in the back of his car along with a picnic hamper.

When he went to remove the hamper from the car, McEwan placed his wife's shopping bag on the bumper of the car behind. He then took the hamper around to his wife and his daughter asked where the shopping bag was. He returne dto the back of the car, but the shopping bag had disappeared.

Of the $5,800 in bonds, only $500 was registered. McEwan said.

Long Live The Queen!

Yesterday Princess Juliana of the House of Orange-Nassau was formally installed as Queen of the Netherlands in succession to her mother, now Dowager Princess of the realm over which she ruled for fifty years. Queen Juliana's consort Bernhard who at 37 is two years younger than his wife already bears the title and rank of Prince of the Netherlands. The royal couple have four daughters. This Dutch family is well-known by Canadians because of both the residence of Queen Juliana and her children in Ottawa during the war, and Canadains' service in Holland in 1944 and 1945. Prince Bernhard participated with Canadian officers in various ceremonial functions and military affairs, like the formal capitulation of the Twenty-Fifth Germany Army to the First Canadian Corps. It was fitting that at the inauguration ceremonies (in democractic Holland the sovereign is not crowned) the wartime commander of the First Canadian Army, General H. D. G. Crerar was one of the official representatives of the Canadian people. May Queen Juliana's reign be long and illustrious and may concord and happiness unite in her and her people.

Water Mains Across The River.

The laying of two new watermains across the river to service Ashburnham and the developing urban area around Highway 7 at Downer's Corners is a necessity which the City Council could not shelve even if the Utilities Commission could. Both mains are needed to provide adequate water supplies for firefighting. The central and northern section of East City has insufficient water-pressure; the new district at the south has no water from the system at all.

The Utilities Commission could argue successfully that putting two mains across the river was not a matter of immediate urgency on its agenda; that it was the Council's job to provide fire-protection. Whether or not this argument was used the Council has seen its duty, has done something about it, and the Commission is co-operating, though the Council is footing the bill.

The main north of the Black Bridge (Inverlea) will be laid this autumn. The main at Lansdowne Street will be laid "as soon as practicable" (the phrase is the Council's). It is a larger project, beyond the local engineering resources of the Commission. A good proportion of the costs will eventually be met through the usual water rates, for as time goes on there will be more and more domestic consumers. It was a wise decision to build the mains and not to erect reservoirs for fire-fighting equipment only.

It is a small project in comparison with the job that must be undertaken to renovate the sewage system in Peterborough. Like thousands of citizens, we await with more than casual interest the report on the system which a consulting sanitary engineering firm is preparing. We await the report and the action which the Council will take on it.

School's In.

We have nothing freshly profound to say about the annual and perhaps most important of all events in any civilized nation, the re-opening of the schools. Because it is one of the fixed dates of our editorial calendar and is so important, we note that it happened this morning.

We congratulate the parents who are sending their children to school for the first time. We breathe thankful sighs with all parents who are relieved that their children are not only again off their hands for fixed hours during the day but that they need not worry during the five-day week about finding something for the children to do. As for the compact of pupils and teachers—there is on this day a general gladness to get back to school. The pupils are in a society they understand; they are increasing in wisdom and learning. The teachers come back to the classrooms refreshed by the vacation they sorely needed in June; they have the artist's desire to test out new methods and the hope that this year their creative moulding will have even better result than last; they are glad to be back to the exercise of their profession.

The autumn begins. Since school is such a large part of society and of the the life of the people both as pupils and as parents, the year seems to begin now rather than in January.

Reducing Our American Dollar Distress.

Last autmun Canada was in difficult economic straits because its supply of American dollars was running dry. Severe measures were taken by the Government to check the flow; embargoes or quotas were imposed against American goods, Canadians' freedom to spend American currency on travel south of the border was restricted, and special taxes were levied in an attempt to reduce the buying of goods which had large American components. These measures have had some success and there have been other elements which now seem to have saved the situation.

In the first six months of this year the adverse balance of trade with the United States and possessions was reduced by over 260 million dollars. In the first half of 1947 the adverse balance was 488 millions; in the first six months of this year, 228. Nearly 100 million dollars of the total reduction of 260 resulted, it is estimated, from the emergency import curbs and allied measures. Sixty-five per cent. ($165,000,000) came from the swelling of exports to the U. S. or to countries paying in U. S. dollars. (E. R. P. has been and will be useful in this regard). Our exports climbed in this six-month period from less than 500 million dollars to nearly 660 million dollars.

Canada is still not out of the woods. The adverse balance of trade was still large for the first half-year—228 million dollars. We are moving from the centre of it to the fringe, however. A great aid has been the good tourist business this year. When the count is made it is expected that about 25 million visitors will have spent 250 million dollars. This is an increase of 14 per cent, in the number of tourists and ten per cent in dollar spending. Another aid is the greater understanding of our economic problem by the Americans themselves.

A report recently issued by the Nation Foreign Trade Council of the United States is encouragingly significant of this understanding. The report notes that Canada's adverse balance of trade with the United States last year was $918,000,000. For generations we have bought more from the Americans than they have from us, but 1947 was unhappily a record year. The Trade Council suggests that henceforth American policy should consciously and deliberately promote Canadian exports to the United States, and it outlines ways in which this could be done. If American industry and governmental officals take such a sane and cordial attitude as this, and Canada is careful in expending American dollars, expands its export to the United States and its import from Britain, we shall not merely be on the fringe of the economic woods, but out of them.

Male Fashion Parade.

The human male of the western world has been one of the few male animals which does not strut and crow and parade its finery of dress. The human male has fallen down on his job as king of the animal world. He lets his women preen and paint and clothe themselves spectacularly, while he slinks around in drab stovepipes. He did let them, that is. But a change is coming over the world. For two decades, with the assistance of magazines devoted exclusively to men's foibles and jokes, he has been secretly gathering strength to express his libido in colourful costume and ornament of beauty. For several years now he has been using scented toilet water, body-belts, and elegant socks and ties. Now he is parading in the open, and in throbbing centres of twentieth century culture (like Hollywood) fashion shows are being held for him.

Britain has now affirmed that revolution in the male sartorial world has been accomplished. Britain's Bond Street has put its crest on the change. This year the Diamond jubilee of Britain's National Federation of Merchant Tailors is being celebrated by an exhibition of men's clothes in which male actors will take the part of mannequins. They will parade in a specially written play dressed in costumes ranging from hunting pink to Highland evening dress. Royalty has blessed the project, for the Duke of Edinburgh is patron of the exhibition which will be held in a ballroom of the Grosvenor House Hotel in London this month.

In the interest of transatlantic cordiality (and good business) the show will be repeated in New York in October. So far no arrangements have been made to bring it to Peterborough.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

THE most famous conjoined twins and the ones that introduced the term "Siamese twins" into the vernacular were the Siamese twins themselves, Chang and Eng, (writes Horatio Newman in his fascinating study, "Multiple Human Births") who were really not Siamese at all but Chinese. Born of Chinese parents in Siam in 1811, they were discovered at the age of thirteen by a British merchant. They had but recently come to the attention of King Chowpohyi of Siam and were about to be put to death by him because he believed that they were a portent of evil to the country of their birth. The British merchant, however, was able to purchase their release on condition that they should be at once removed from the country. In the course of time they were brought to Boston and offered to Barnum, the circus magnate, who was glad to secure them for a side show. For many years they were a major attraction among the exhibits of this famous circus and travelled over most of the world. In later life, having accumulated a small fortune, they married two sisters and settled down as farmers in North Carolina, adopting the name of Bunker. They died in 1874 at the fairly ripe age of sixty-three.

CHANG and Eng, Newman continues, were the objects of considerable scientific study in both Boston and London. Much has been written about them, some of it serious and some of it facetious. One witty writer informs us that "they were at present very much attached to each other. "They were, however, not so extensively attached as are most conjoined twins, for they were connected by a relatively narrow band of flesh at the sides of the lower chest or upper abdominal region, a connection that was flexible enough to permit them to "tumble head over heels without the slightest inconvenience."

The author of a study made when the twins were in London was impressed with the lack of any strong resemblance between Chang and Eng. Much emphasis was placed on their different dispositions and temperaments. Chang was inclined to drunkenness while Eng was a teetotaler. Throughout life they showed an "affectionate forbearance" for each other's weaknesses and exhibited great sympathy and understanding. One wonders what would have happened had they been intolerant or pugnacious.

THE Public Libraries across Canada report that readers are showing increased interest in historical novels and straight history. So a discussion of recent works on history is timely. The last few years have witnessed the publishing of Lower's "Colony To Nation", Creighton's "Dominion Of The North", McInnis's "The Unguarded Frontier", to mention only three. Colonel C. P. Stacey has described Creighton's book as "still the best one volume history of Canada."

"At first sight (writes Creighton in his eloquent description of John A. Macdonald) it might have seemed difficult to discover anybody more remote from these youthful ideals —of the new Canadian nationalist group— more incapable of realizing them, than the Prime Minister and the leader of the Conservative party, Sir John Alexander Macdonald. Macdonald had no particular objection to 'community of profit'; he had been known to practice 'shiftless expediency.' There was no doubt that Canada First highly disapproved of him. And yet, though he seemed such an unlikely champion for a crusade, the story of Canadian nationality seemed to write itself around him from the start. In 1873 he was still two years short of sixty; but already he was enveloped in the mysterious prestige of the elder statesman."

◆ ◆ ◆

"THE enormous nose, the hair curling thickly over the ears, the faintly Disraelian cast of countenance, were the picturesque features of innumerable cartoons. There was about him an air of jaunty distinction, an air of assured, casual, and friendly expertness. In the alien atmosphere of the nineteenth century he seemed to evoke a ghost of the old eighteenth century idea that government was a craft which could be practiced best by gentlemen amateurs.

◆ ◆ ◆

"UNPHILOSOPHICAL, intensely practical in his shrewd, rather indolent fashion, he brought a broad humanity to his basic assumption that politics was simply the art of the possible in the management of living men. He knew the Canadian as nobody has ever known them since. He met them in crowded hotels and committee rooms, in the long, lamplit winter sessions of the House of Commons, on the interminable train rides from Riviere du Loup to Sarnia, and out in country fairgrounds and shaded picnic places where the farm people used to congregate on long summer afternoons to hear him speak. He knew all the faces. He threaded his way through the intricacies of Canadian politics, like a man crossing a room which is crowded with his friends. Skeptical, tolerant, easy-going, the suave contriver of compromises and reconciliations, the 'Old Tomorrow' of innumerable and notorious postponements, he seemed almost to practice opportunism as an art for its own sake. Yet in him there existed certain ultimate objectives, certain subterranean loyalities, which in the end gave to his career a marked character of unity and design."

Britain's Exports Near End-Year Target

Five months ahead of schedule Britain is near to achieving her export target for the end of 1948. Overseas trade returns published August 24 show that in July the volume of Britain's exports was about 49% above the 1938 level—only 1% below the target set for next December. This is reckoned to be the largest quantity of goods sent abroad in any one month for nearly twenty years. In terms of value last month Britain exported goods totalling $582,400,000. They topped by $32,800,000 the previous best figure established July 1920.—U.K. Information Office.

The Interregnum

(WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

MR. King's plan to represent Canada at the United Nations Assembly and the imperial conference and not to retire until his return to Canada late in the autumn can hardly be considered wise and, it is to be supposed, will disappoint the Canadian people.

In the first place, with Mr. King in Europe and in full charge of our foreign policy, and Mr. St. Laurent administering the domestic affairs of the nation here as acting prime minister, a remarkable new division of responsibility will occur. Since Mr. St. Laurent will not be an ordinary acting prime minister but the chosen leader of the Liberal party and the prime minister-designate, the arrangements announced by Mr. King for the immediate future will provide Canada, in practical effect, with two prime ministers for some time. While this procedure continues, the formation of Mr. St. Laurent's government will be delayed for weeks, perhaps for months, when this government should have every available day to accustom itself to its duties, when new ministers should be learning the work of their departments and when the program of the next parliamentary session should be in preparation.

However, the more serious aspect of the interregnum is its effect on the future of Mr. St. Laurent and his government.

When Mr. St. Laurent was chosen by an overwhelming convention majority as the Liberal party leader—undoubtedly with the general approval of the public—the Canadian people assumed, and properly, that he would take office without delay. They looked forward with interest and high expectations to a new government and a new chapter in our national politics. And in the personality of Mr. St. Laurent they expected to see, as the Liberal convention had foreseen, what might be called a new climate in Ottawa with a new national leader using his own methods and freely exercising his own high talents.

Charles A. Beard

(NEW YORK TIMES)

HISTORY is no longer a chronicle of battles and conquests or of the deeds of great rulers and statesmen, but a record and an interpretation of the way restless, fighting, ambitious, supine or oppressed men respond to social forces. One of the American pioneers who thus conceived history, especially the history of the United States, was Charles A. Beard, who singly or with his wife, Mary, wrote a dozen books about which academicians still quarrel. Dr. Beard did not write history in this new way because some eminent Europeans were doing so or because he had listened to them in the days that he spent at Oxford, but because liberalism was not only a tradition in his family but also a creed that was to be carried into practice.

When he treated European history in terms of economic materialism there was nothing but applause, but when in "An Economic Interpretation of the United States" and its successors he massed evidence to prove that the framers of the Constitution were not wholly the high-minded idealists that textbooks proclaimed, trouble brewed. Even before the storm broke he championed freedom of academic thinking. He disagreed with J. McKeen Catell and H. W. L. Dana for opposing our entry into the First World War, but defended them against a reactionary board of trustees that had dismissed them from Columbia and resigned from the faculty himself. With Thorsten Veblen, John Dewey and James Harvey Robinson he founded the New School for Social Research, where a scholar might say and write what he liked, provided he did not court the interference of the police.

The sharp edge of views that outraged the press and university boards of trustees a generation and more ago has been blunted by time. In fact, Dr. Beard changed his mind more than once about the effect of economics on history. His following in the Middle West was probably greater at the time of his death than ever before, and this because of his isolationism and his opposition to our participation in the Second World War. Wrong as his isolationism now seems to many of us, his prediction of the insecurity and the tensions that were to follow a victory proves how good a prophet he could be. The future will have to decide his merit as a historian; the present honors him as a defender of liberties that must be upheld if this democracy is to survive.

Homes In Russia

With a characteristic flourish, the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet has granted every Russian the right to build and own a home. Considering, however, that for years the U.S.S.R. has been citing home ownership as an individual right, it remains to be seen whether the Russians have gained anything under the new ukase.

Like so many other things in Russia, home ownership under Communism has been compromised. The Russian could own his house, or apartment, but was granted no title whatever to the land on which it stood. That remained the property of the state, which in this way reserved the power to deny the owner access to his residence if he incurred its displeasure.

Incidentally, the Presidium's new ruling commands local authorities to provide building lots "in eternal use" for those who would erect homes. Just what this means isn't clear, but it suggests that the state is not relinquishing title to the housing sites.

If this reservation still applies, then the Soviet home ownership program is just another piece of flimflam. The Russian may erect whatever type of dwelling he can afford, but the state still can deny him the right to set foot on the soil it occupies. Along with food cards, this is another excellent way to keep the people on their best behavior.—Windsor Star.

Why Yearn To Be Tall?

Over in Tokyo the Japanese, who on the average are several inches shorter than members of the United States Army of Occupation, have not only given thought to adding a cubit to their stature but are really doing something about it. Even before World War II, the Japanese had made some progress in increasing the national height average through the more conservative means of special diet and exercises. Presence of the tall U.S. Marines and members of other units have spurred them to further upward efforts.

According to an Associated Press despatch a method which seems to be proving successful is grafting pituitary gland tissue from cows to the thighs of patients—a dodge which they say has resulted in growth as extensive as four-fifths of an inch a month or nearly 10 inches a year. Presumably the operating surgeons have some substance which will apply the brakes to this vertical extension, thus preventing the pituitary cowboys from developing into giants.

Reason for the whole thing seems to be that the shorter Japanese feel inferior to the GI's they see around them and want to be on terms of physical equality. It is true that the short man often feels outranked, if not actually inferior to his six-foot neighbour, and secretly longs for additional inches. Some have been known even to go to the extreme of having lifts installed in the heels of their shoes.

But let them either read history or look upon the men around them of normal or even subnormal height who have attained eminence, and be comforted. Julius Caesar was by all accounts a small man. So was Napoleon. So also was Field Marshal Lord Roberts, Commander-in-Chief of the British Army when Britain was at the height of her imperial glory. In modern days, Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery, Fiorello Laguardia and Mahatma Gandhi were quite unhampered in their achievements by their scanty inches. And as for Canadians, we never heard that Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King —a prime minister of strictly normal height —had the slightest trouble in holding control over the six-footers of his Cabinet and his party.

So let's keep away from those pituitary glands of cows and leave things as they are. After all, it's the space between the ears that counts—not the linear distance from sidewalk to hatbrim.—Ottawa Journal.

Canadian Shipping

Canada acted gladly to her industrial stature during the Second World War and also emerged with a merchant fleet larger than ever before. In fact this country's tonnage of ocean-going vessels is five times as great as it was before the war.

Total Canadian tonnage — of vessels of more than 500 gross tons — is now about 1,900,000 tons, compared with 1,000,000 in 1939. Ocean-going tonnage is 1,113,000, a big jump over the prewar figure of 227,000. Coastal tonnage totals 150,000, and vessels on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River total 627,000 gross tons.—Kitchener-Waterloo Record.

A Bible Message

How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings....For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light. (Ps. 36: 7, 9.)

◆ ◆ ◆

Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts. (II Cor. 1: 21, 22.)

And such trust have we through Christ to God-ward: not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God....

But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord. (II Cor. 3: 4, 5, 18.)

For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ..

For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God. (II Cor. 4: 6, 15.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A road-hog known for his determination never to be overtaken was going at great speed one day when he heard an insistent "honking" behind him. He turned and saw, just on his wheels, a baby car driven by a wild-looking individual.

Back he turned to his wheel, down went the accelerator pedal, and up rushed the speed indicator.

Seventy-eighty miles an hour was touched, but still the hooting continued.

At last, worn out, the speed maniac slowed down and drew to the side of the road.

"Come on, then, if you must pass," he cried.

"I'm sorry," said the driver of the baby car, "but I'm hooked on."

Tenderly nursing his swollen face, the man hurried down the street and anxiously rang the bell of the new dentist's house. Whilst he was waiting for the door to be opened he literally danced with pain.

"You wish to see the dentist," asked the wife who eventually opened the door. "Could you possibly come back again tomorrow morning?"

"T---to-morro m-m-morning," gasped the man, his eyes rolling, "b-b-but my t-t-tooth—"

"Oh, please do," interrupted the lady, looking at him coyly. "You see, you're his very first patient, and I'd like you to be a surprise for him tomorrow, as it is his birthday."

Orioles Hand Chiefs Blow, Take 2 Games

By The Associated Press

Baltimore Orioles, mired throughout most of the International League season in last place, are giving the clubs fighting for a play-off berth plenty of trouble.

During the last week the Orioles eliminated the runner-up Newark Bears from the pennant race and squashed Jersey City Giants' bid for a play-off berth.

Yesterday manager Tommy Thomas' Orioles dealt the play-off hopes of the Syracuse Chiefs a stunning blow, beating the Chiefs twice, 2-1 and 5-1, to stretch their winning streak to six games.

The twin setbacks knocked the Chiefs out of fourth place, Toronto Maple Leafs taking over the fourth slot. The Leafs divided a twin bill with the third-place Rochester Red Wings, winning the opener, 7-6, but losing the finale, 7-2.

Fred Wollpert held the Chiefs to six hits in the first game. Johnny Wittig limited the Chiefs to five blows in the nightcap. One of the Oriole runs in the windup was a home by Ken Mapes.

Stage Rally

The Leafs, who lead the Chiefs by a half game, staged a five-run fifth-inning rally to beat the Wings in their first game. Oscar Judd, who needed help from Jim Konstanty, received credit for the victory, his 13th.

Al Papai, John Mikan and Steve Gerking checked the Leafs on four safeties in the nightcap to enable the Wings to stay a game ahead of Toronto. Papai was the winner and Nick Strincevich the loser.

The pennant-winning Montreal Royals split with Buffalo Bisons, winning the nightcap, 4-2 after Buffalo took the opener, 9-7.

Johnny Bero was the star of the Buffalo victory. Bero socked two homers and drove in four runs. Jack Banta, gunning for his 19th victory, was the loser.

Al Zachary scattered seven hits in stopping the Bisons in the finale.

Newark Bears and Jersey City Giants also divided a twin bill. The Giants winning the first tilt, 5-4, and the Bears the second, 6-5.

Oshawa Downs Brockville; In Playdowns

TRENTON, Sept. 7—(CP)—Oshawa qualified Saturday to represent Eastern Ontario in the Ontario Amateur Softball Association Junior A playdowns when they defeated Brockville 9-3 in the third and deciding game of their best-of-three series. Each team won their home game so the third game was played in Trenton.

The Oshawa club will now meet a Toronto team in the next round.

The game was closely contested until the eighth when Oshawa scored five markers.

Masovitch, hurling for the winners, went the route, striking out six and allowing an equal number of hits. Curtis, who pitched seven frames and was relieved by Collison in the eighth allowed seven hits and whiffed a like number.

Curtis received poor support from his team-mrates, who kicked in with nine miscues.

Oshawa only had a 4-3 lead going into the last half of the eighth when they came through for five runs to make the score 9-3. The Oshawa club took advantage of three errors sandwiched in with three hits for the five runs in their eighth-inning rally.

Oshawa took a 1-0 lead in the second inning and then increased it to 2-0 with another single run in the fifth. Brockville tied the count when they tallied two runs in the top half of the seventh.

The tie score didn't last long for Oshawa came right back with two runs in their half of the seventh to go ahead 4-2. Brockville pushed across a run in their half of the eighth inning but Oshawa then followed with their five-run rally that allowed them to coast in the final frame.

William Peter Turnesa, youngest brother of the famous golfing clan, has won his second United States amateur championship.

Saturday, in a drizzling rain at Memphis, Tenn., he won a 2-and-1 victory over Ray Billows.

Turnesa, tiny automaton from Elmsford, N.Y., turned into the last nine holes with a two-up advantage only to see Billows rack up three holes in a row to go ahead. But by the 32nd hole Turnesa was back up front. Then he played the 34th and 35th in steady pars for halves to clinch the victory.

Schroeder Squelches Aussies For Davis Cup

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept 7—(AP)—Having given one of the most devastating exhibitions of power tennis in Davis-cup history, Ted Schroeder headed home to Los Angeles today, again snubbing the National Championships which start Friday.

Ted, now strictly a week-end tennis player, only came east long enough to help squelch the Australian challengers again.

Frankie Parker, the other Californian who also covered himself with tennis glory in the one-sided 5-0, rout of the Aussies, is staying on to play in the championships, and he almost certainly will win them for the third time.

Schroeder was a ring-tailed wonder in his 6-2, 6-1, 6-1 victory over Billy Sidwell in the first of yesterday's concluding cup matches. The match lasted only 57 minutes and must have been one of the shortest in cup history. To give an idea of the near perfection of Schroeder's touch, he hit only 19 shots into the net in 22 games.

Ontario Honors To P-W Club Over Wentworth

By C. H. IRESON

Local cricketers continued their recent good form by winning the Ontario County cricket championship on Monday (Labor Day) by a large margin over Wentworth Co., the holders the past year.

The score was Wentworth 49, and Peterborough got 51 for one out, and won the match by nine wickets. For some unknown reason additional overs were bowled and the total take to 84 for two wickets.

The story of the game is perhaps best told in the full score given below. Some highlights are Pyle getting three wickts in four balls and later hitting two sixes and four fours in his 40 not out. Jennings made four catches behind the wicket and conceded no extras. The opening batsmen, Wright and Booth, scored 32 for the first wicket and virtually assured the splendid win by a team which has been improving every time it played.

Cricket Club Wins From Hambledon

The Peterborough - Whitaker cricketers resumed match play on Saturday at the Oval after an enforced rest since the Carleton County match at Ottawa on July 10. Two matches had been defaulted by the opposition and every effort to get other matches failed.

On Saturday the visitors were the newly formed New Hambledon Club, consisting of recent arrivals from the British Isles who have done fairly well in Toronto District League matches and are very keen. On Saturday the local men were too good for them in every department of the game, and won out by 130 to 62.

Batting first, the winners scored freely and using the theory that offence is safer than defence, quickly ran up a total of 130. The leading batsmen were F. Booth 32, B. Roberts 20, H. Pyle 17, W Wright 10, W. Rashleigh 10, and J. Wild 10. Booth in 4 innings has now scored 126 runs, average 31.5, and Wright 193 runs, average 21.44.

The visiting batsmen fared badly against the local attack and only one batsman scored double figures, J. Cresswell (10) and the total only reached 62 included 14 extras. Pyle followed up his good batting by taking 4 wickets for 4 as did Booth who had 3 for 8. Contrary to many years' custom, the bowling. He is still feeling the strain sustained in the Carleton match and wished to save himself for the County match on Labor Day in Toronto. He also wished to give his other bowlers a chance to show their stuff, which they did. Following is the score:

P.-W.'s—W. Wright 10, F. Booth 32, H. Pyle 17, B. Roberts 20, J. Wild 10, W. Rashleigh 10, R. Rollwagen 0, W. Dyer 0, F Dyer 8, F. Honour 7 not out, J. McKissock 6, H. Dibbin 0. Extras 10. Total 130.

New Hambledon—V. Barber 0, R. M. Davis 9, R. Robertson 4, R. Ray 0, J. Cresswell 10, J. Beresford 2, G. Stirling 7, T. Letts 0, W. Jones 4, P. Letts 8, L. Cresswell 0, F. Sterling 4 not out. Extras 14. Total 62.

Bowling—F. Booth 3 for 8, W Wright 1 for 17, H. Pyle 4 for 6, J. Wild 1 for 12, F. Dyer 1 for 5.

Argonauts Whip Montreal 20-7 Down Hamilton Wildcats 14-7

(By The Canadian Press)

With the last rose of summer hardly wilted, football is bidding for attention with a capital A. Already three teams have poked their noses out front as favorites in the championship race.

Fans are talking up these three clubs from the other two senior leagues as Grey Cup favorites — the Dominion champion Toronto Argonauts. Ottawa Rough Riders and Calgary Stampeders.

The Stamps enhanced their prestige in the Western Canada League by turning in their fourth straight victory Labor Day, defeating Regina's Saskatchewan Roughriders 14-8. It was this game that saw irate fans attack the officials and a protest lodged by the Roughriders.

The Argonauts pulled into a tie for the leadership in the Interprovincial Union when they won two holiday week-end contests. The champions whipped Montreal Alouettes 20-7 at Toronto Saturday and followed up with a 14-7 triumph over the Wildcats at Hamilton Labor Day.

Ottawa Rough Riders held a first-place tie with Argos by virtue of their 30-5 triumph over the Wildcats at Ottawa Saturday. Winners of their first start 36-18 over Alouettes last Tuesday night, the Rough Riders now have scored an impressive 66 points in two games, against 23.

Show Power

The Argos showed last-half power in winning their two week-end tilts. Behind 7-6 at the halfway mark against Alouettes, they won going away before a Varsity Stadium crowd of 10,000 after veteran middle Steve Levantis fell on a blocked kick behind the Montreal line early in the third quarter.

The other two Argonaut touchdowns were scored by Frankie Dunlap and Fred Brown while Joe Krol, who sparked the victory with his passing and punting, kicked four points on two converts and two rouges. Virgil Wagner, Alouettes veteran United States import, scored their touchdown on a forward pass, with Ches McCance converting it. Fred Kijek kicked a first-quarter rouge.

Tied 7-all at the half in Hamilton, Argos won on seven fourth-quarter points while holding Wildcats scoreless in the final 30 minutes. The teams played even in the first quarter when veteran outside Jack Wedley turned a blocked kick into an Argo touchdown that Krol converted and Billy Murmylyk converted Don Toms' major for Wildcats.

Royal Copeland punted a single for Argos to match Jim Stewart's rouge in the second quarter.

Capitalize on Breaks

Argos make quick capital of a couple of fourth-quarter breaks and Krol punted what proved to be the winning rouge. Ken Whitlock, Argos first United States import in four seasons, clinched the victory by kicking another single point and running five yards for a touchdown in the closing minutes.

Whitlock, 175-pound halfback from Virginia State College, also punted one single against Alouettes from the fullback spot where he subs for Krol, giving him seven points for the week-end.

The Rough Riders ran away from Wildcats before a crowd of 11,000 at Ottawa Saturday, scoring five converted touchdowns. Tony Golab was the big gun with two, while Howie Turner, Doug Smylie and Lally Lalonde got the others.

Hamilton scored the final touchdown of the game when Toms took a forward pass from Mel Lawson and crossed the line.

Johnny Russelle's B-A bunch are due to go at 8.15 tonight against Oshawa Pedlars, weather being okay, in the Bowl over east. First of their two-of-three OASA intermediate "A" playdown series. The Oshawa outfit, which put out Pointe Anne a week ago, is strong and has an ace twirler in McConkey. But B-A have a lot of class, too, and three good flingers. They should make it a tough series against our old softball nemesis, the Motor City. And this tussle ought to draw a big crowd. The return one will be Friday down Oshawa way.

* * * * * *

At the Bowl on Saturday night, Kawartha Sports took a neat 11-10 juvenile win from Oshawa to force a third one in Port Hope on Wednesday. But Legions lost 12-8 to Oshawa Colts in the senior "B" scrap. Return is tomorrow in Oshawa. Greenlaw pitched swell but weakened in the ninth and issued too many walks, and Dalton couldn't halt 'em in a relief role. Looked like a Legion win till that fatal ninth when they got seven. Where were Reid and Parsons for this game?? Whitely threw good ball, too, and Jubenville still hits the apple hard. Harrison and Dalton shone at bat, base-running and defensively, and Withers looked good in the field. A tough one.

Locos Versus Petes

Kingston Locos play the Petes at 5.30 tomorrow eve in Riverside Park, their next COBL final playoff, a four-in-seven serial. Petes hammered the pill hard here Saturday for a 13-4 triumph before a goodly gallery as Gunner Whitehill threw six-hit ball. His support was perfect, our whole infield sparkling. Menzies, Starr, Whitehill, Crowe, Pagett and Mackness all hit hard, with Crowe and Pagett driving in five runs each. Latter got a homer and triple. Nice catches by Menzies and Garrison. Locos were loose afield. Big argument once over a hit Ole Olsen said went into the crowd. He's a great old scrapper.

* * * * * *

Scrapping is one thing but stalling is another, and the Locos again stalled the COBL finals when they refused last night to play the game in Kingston. Ole phoned Eddie Murphy in the morning, saying Nels Magaffin, owner of the stadium, had died and they'd called off the game out of respect to him. A two-minute tribute under the circs would have sufficed, and Nels would have been the first to say: "Certainly, don't think of calling off a game for that." The OBA wants a winner to be ready for Toronto this Saturday but how they're going to get a four-in-seven serial in by that time—even with breaks in the weather—we just don't know.

Another One Passes

Jack Turner's intermediate Petes bowed out of the OBA intermediate "A" picture in Napanee on Saturday. Lost 5-4 in the deciding joust of their series. No disgrace as they made it a keen fight all the way and lost to a good club. Punkett pitched real well, Dugan and White had a couple of clouts each, and Legrow yanked in several fine ones in the garden. Team missed Don McRae the last couple of trips. The Napanee squad hustled throughout to earn the close verdict. And that eliminates another local ball team, leaving just the senior Petes now, the midget Aces, the East City bantams, and the peewee Trojans in playoffs as far as the OBA is concerned.

Orchids to Norma Kennedy (nee Strickland) on her great stunt of pitching 20 innings Saturday in St. Kitts and giving up but eight hits! Won for Westclox 3-2 in 10 heats and then threw 10 more in the 11-inning 5-all tie. Whole club rates a bouquet in tying up the series after losing 9-4 here. Aggie Anderson saved the second one by pulling down an almost-sure homer one-handed in the 11th. That's the fight that makes champs. Nothing definite at the moment on where or when they meet again to settle the PWSU intermediate "A" semi-final series.

Cricketers Get Title

Hearty congratulations to the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club for winning the Ontario County championship over Wentworth in Toronto yesterday. The local cricketers turned the tables in decisive fashion against the winners last year—the P-W team had been runners-up. The first time this provincial title came this way, while Wentworth won the Matthews Trophy seven times. The Hon. Mr. Matthews, who put up the trophy back in 1933, was on hand to present it to the champions. The club has been showing improvement consistently all season, and deserves this title.

Napanee Gets The Series Against Petes

By FRED MAYBEE

Napanee took the deciding game of the series Saturday against Peterborough 5-4 in the OBA intermediate "A" playdowns before a large home crowd. Peterborough staged a late rally in the ninth and threatened to turn a hard defeat to a close victory but fell one short.

Jake Edwards and Doug Plunkett engaged in a spirited pitchers' duel for five innings and both went the route in fine style with little to choose between them. Herbie Hayes led the hitters with three for five, one a triple, and drove in four runs, while Bud Green and Burtt fielded well. For Peterborough, White and Dugan led at bat, the former driving in two runs in the ninth with a double while the latter had two for four.

Ferguson caught a fine game while outfield honors went to Legros in centre with four sparkling putouts.

Petes Capture First One Over Kingston

The Petes pounded out a 13-4 victory here Saturday to open their four-in-seven COBL finals with Kingston Locos before a big crowd. They exploded for seven runs in a hard-hitting fifth frame to pretty well clinch an otherwise neat game. The homesters played errorless ball behind Gunner Whitehill's six-hit hurling chore, while the Locos were loose defensively and Sam Mulholland was hit hard. The second game was Monday in Kingston and third one in Peterborough Wednesday evening.

Bob Crowe and Don Pagett each drove in five runs for the Petes, the former having a double and two singles in five, while Pagett banged out a homer and triple. Al Menzies led the hitters with three for four, and Ed Starr and Whitehill each hit safely three times in five. Mike Cosgrove led Locos with a homer and single in three, and Mike Kereluk hit a homer and Clark Carnegie a three-bagger. Catches by Menzies and Garrison, and a home double-play were fielding features

Kennedy Hurls 20 Innings As Westclox Even Up Series

With Norma Kennedy pitching sensational ball for 20 innings Saturday in St. Catharines, Westclox girls tied up their PWSU intermediate "A" semi-final series with St. Kitts' Mic Macs. Down a game from 9-4 loss here, Frank McCormack's crew tied up the series in the afternoon with a sparkling 3-2 win in 10 innings. And they went to a 5-5 draw in 11 heats at night before it was called for darkness. There is nothing definite yet on the next tilt.

Norma Kennedy went the route in the afternoon fixture and threw five-hit ball as she fanned five and had fine support. V. McGrath also pitched a neat game for the losers. M. Downer got a single in the 10th and later scored on N. Kennedy's hit. M. Hawthorne hurt her hand in this contest but stayed in gamely for both frays. She, Bea Morrow, M. Jenkinson and S. Cooke went best in the field and Barb Rome got two safe hits. The teams:

NIGHT GAME

H. Waite started on Westclox slab in the night game but was nicked for two runs and gave way to Norma Kennedy. The latter did the "iron man" stunt to perfection as she pitched three-hit ball till it was finally called for darkness as the 11th ended. She had five strikeouts and good support again, while the homesters backed up M. Stewart and V. McGrath well, too. The latter took over in the fifth as Westclox drove hard for four runs. Aggie Anderson saved the game for the visitors in the 11th when she backed up to a fence and took a terrific drive one-handed. She and M. Hawthorne shone afield, as did V. McGrath and L. Thrasher for St. Kitts. N. Whetung and J. Vass had three hits each for Westclox, and R. Cosgrove and R. O'Flaherty got two blows each for St. Catharines, and H. Jenkinson belted a homer. The teams:

Oshawa Colts Get First From Legion

Oshawa GM-Colts cashed in on walks in the ninth inning to score seven runs and beat Legion 12-8 here in the first of their two-of-three OASA senior "B" series. Next one is tomorrow in Oshawa. A large crowd Saturday night at the Bowl saw a dogfight all the way with Legion finally going ahead 8-5 in the seventh and holding it into the ninth. But Bob Greenlaw, who pitched fine ball till then, weakened and a hit and three walks set up the Colts for the win. Howie Dalton took oven then but had trouble, too, in halting them. Preem Whitely pitched good ball for Colts but gave way to a pinch-hitter in the ninth and Dean McLaughlin finished.

Red Jubenville led the visitors' attack with a homer and three singles in five. Dalton and Harrison were the big guns for Legion with three hits each, including five extra-base blows. Their fielding and base-running were good, too. Pagett got a homer. The difference between a win and a loss was the set of free tickets passed out in the heart-breaking ninth inning.

Kawartha Sports Take A Neat One

Kawartha Sports yanked out an 11-10 decision over Oshawa Mills Motors at the Bowl Saturday in the twilight before a fair crowd. The victory evened up their OASA juvenile "A" series at a win each, and the deciding game will be staged on a neutral diamond in Port Hope tomorrow evening.

Kawartha had two big frames when they counted nine runs, but Oshawa also had two, one being a belated four-run drive in the ninth that nearly sewed it up. The visitors had more hits but kicked in with seven miscues, while Bob Crowe's crew played well in the field. Doris started but Bigford took over as Oshawa threatened hard in the fourth. Braves' Double Win Leaves Dodgers 4 Games Behind

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"They can't catch me when I'm in front."

Those words, uttered by Boston's Billy Southworth earlier this season, were ringing in the ears today of Manager Burt Shotten of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Shotten received a first-hand illustration Monday of what Southworth meant when the league-leading Braves drubbed them in both ends of a Labor Day doubleheader, 2-1 and 4-0.

A sweep of the twin bill would have boosted Brooklyn into first place. They now find themselves still in second place four games behind Boston.

The Dodgers were not alone in their misery. The St. Louis Cardinals, only 2½ games off the pace before Monday's games, were handed a staggering double defeat by the amazing Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1 and 4-1, to fall into fourth place, 4½ games behind. The Pirates advanced a notch to third place, two percentage points in front of St. Louis, and three behind Brooklyn.

The fifth-place New York Giants retained an outside chance by sweeping a doubleheader from the Phillies in Philadelphia, 4-3 and 3-0. They trail by 6½ games but only four on the losing side of the ledger.

Sweep Both Games

Climaxing a great day for Boston, the American league-leading Red Sox boosted their first-place margin over the New York Yankees to 1½ games, sweeping both games from the Senators in Washington, 14-6 and 2-1. The Yankees lost a full game when they were held to a split by the Philadelphia Athletics. The Yanks won the opener, 6-4, for their ninth consecutive triumph, but the A's ended an eight-game losing string by winning the nightcap, 6-2.

The third-place Cleveland Indians continued to lose ground to the Red Sox, as they were held even in their doubleheader in Chicago, to skid 4½ games off the pace. After losing the opener 3-1 the Tribe came back to defeat the White Sox in the second game, 1-0.

The Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds divided a National League doubleheader, the Reds winning the opener, 3-1, and the Cubs taking the second game, 6-2.

The Braves had to go fourteen innings before downing the Dodgers in the first game. Lefty Warren Spahn went all the way for the Tribesmen and gave up only five hits as he won his 12th victory of the year.

Pitches Shutout

Johnny Sain gave the Braves their fifth straight over the Dodgers, pitching a 4-0 shutout in an abbreviated nightcap.

Rookie Bob Chesnes and southpaw Vic Lombardi limited the Red Birds to a run apiece as the Pirates made it 11 out of 18 against St. Louis.

Ralph Kiner belted a two-run homer, his 38th, to account for all Pittsburgh runs in the opener.

Wes Westrum's single off Ed Heusser scored Sid Gordon from third to give the Giants a 13-inning first-game victory over the Phils. Clint Hartung was credited with a four-hit second game seven-inning shutout when darkness halted play.

30th Home Run

Hank Sauer's 30th home run for Cincinnati with a man on base in the eighth gave Johnny Vandermeer his 13th victory in the first game. The only Cub run resulted from Emil Verban's homer. Roy Smalley's three-run homer helped the Cubs in the second game.

The Red Sox unloaded 18 hits and a nine-run fifth inning to beat the Senators in the opener as Mel Parnell racked up his 12th victory. Jack Kramer posted his 16th win in 20 decision in the second game.

Vic Raschi registered his 18th triumph of the season and his eighth in two years against Philadelphia, with a nine-hit first-game effort. Outfielder Hank Bauer of the Yankees cracked three hits in his major league debut, drove in a run and scored another.

Joe Haynes gained his seventh victory of the season, and his fourth over the Indians, in the White Sox' first-game triumph. Bob Feller gained his third straight victory and No. 15 for the season, limiting the Sox to three singles in the second game.

Home runs by Pat Mullin, Dick Wakefield and Bob Swift helped rookie Ted Gray and Detroit win the first game from St. Louis. Mullin hit another homer, his 19th, in the second game, but a five-run third inning, and a four-run sixth, enabled the Browns to outscore the Bengals 11-10.

Beaches-Indians Strongest Hope Veteran Players

By WILFRID GRUSON.

TORONTO, Sept. 7 — (CP).—With the handicap of producing the strongest possible Toronto team in the Ontario Rugby Football Union overcome by amalgamation of two clubs, Toronto gridiron fans have hopes that the combined entry, Beaches-Indians will produce the league's first peacetime Grey Cup winner since 1936.

Most of the key men of the old teams, Indians and Balmy Beach, have lined up for the new squad. These, flushed with a few strong additions from other senior clubs and one or two American imports and high school players, should form Toronto's most formidable ORFU club in years.

Veteran Players

With the big majority of players veterans of many years of senior football, the squad is long on experience. It is this factor along with a large list of potential backfielders which makes Coach Ted Reeve believe the team should hold its own in nay company.

Evidence of the combine's defensive strength is shown in the scores of their recent exhibition games. They defeated Winnipeg Blue Bombers 12-9, Saskatchewan Rough Riders 1-0, while losing to Calgary Stampeders 16-7 and Argos 13-8.

The Beaches didn't show much offensive strength in those games but several of their first-string players were unable to make the Western trip.

Since then they have added further defensive strength in snaring two American snaps with the same surname but not related—Ray and Jerry Whelan. Jerry who has not decided whether he wants to play in Canada, last year played with Buffalo's Canisius College.

Reeve, who has come out of retirement to act as coach, said he does not intend to obtain any other Americans before the team plays their opening game against the Imperials at Sarnia on September 11.

Ponies Win 8-7.

KINGSTON, Sept. 7—(CP)—Despite brilliant relief pitching by Bob Blanchfield, Kingston Ponies coasted to an 8-7 victory over Ottawa East End Saturday in the first game of their best-of-three juvenile A series for the Eastern Ontario Baseball title. The second game will be played in Ottawa next Saturday.

THE FINAL SECTION of what is believed to be the largest funnel ever built was fitted at Clydebank, Scotland, shipyards recently, on the new Cunard White Star liner Caronia, which will be one of Britain's biggest and most consistent dollar earners. Now in the last stages of costruction, the liner will go into commission a few months hence. Thousands will travel on her both across the Atlantic and on cruises. The funnel with its machinery weighs 125 tons and is 53 feet long—nine feet longer than either of the Queen Elizabeth's funnels—and 46 feet high. Above, the 15-ton funnel top of the liner Caronia is raised by crane to be swung into position before being mounted on its structure.

Death Toll 44 Across Dominion In Labor Day Holiday Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Canada counted a toll of 44 deaths during the three-day Labor Day week-end, the last long week-end of the summer. Police said one death was murder, two others suicide.

Seventeen persons died in Ontario, 10 in Quebec, seven in New Brunswick, three each in Alberta and Nova Scotia, and two each in Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Jean McAllister, a 25-year-old Scottish war bride, is charged with the murder of her husband, John Burton McAllister, who died early Monday of a bullet wound in a lonely cabin at Kirkfield.

Shirley (Trixie) Harris, 16, of Toronto, was killed at Sutton, when a racing car driver, demonstrating dare-devil stunts, crashed through a wall of flame, missed a turn in the track and plowed into spectators' stands.

10 Traffic Deaths

Ten persons met death in traffic accidents in Ontario as automobiles jammed highways. Three other persons drowned at Ontario beaches.

Oddest tragedy of the week-end was the death of Mrs. Helen Zenevich, who attempted to climb through a lower storey window of her house near Windsor and caught her neck between the sill and the window frame.

Eight persons drowned in Quebec during the week-end. Two of the bodies, removed from Montreal harbor, were not identified, but one was believed to be that of a former sailor of Greek nationality. Fred Precourt was gored to death by a bull at his farm near Lanoraie, Que. Police said John Boshchuck, aged about 40, whose body was found beneath the Jacques Cartier Bridge in Montreal, had taken his own life. Three other persons lost their lives in Quebec in traffic accidents.

Five Drownings

Five persons drowned in New Brunswick, two of them 15-year-old boys. Four-year-old Keith Giberson was killed at Bath, N.B., when struck by a truck driven by a 15-year-old boy. Nine-year-old George Blades died at Yarmouth when a tombstone toppled on him while he played in a graveyard. An airman at Greenwood, N.S., RCAF station, was said to have taken his own life.

Police late Monday night were dragging waters of Harrison Lake in British Columbia for the body of a second man believed to have drowned there during the week-end. He was identified as Joe Francis, a Vancouver painter. The first body found was that of Everett McLaren, 50, a waiter in a Vancouver club.

Alberta's fatalities included two traffic deaths and one drowning. A Saskatchewan farmer was killed when his clothing caught in a combine and a public health nurse was killed at Yorkton in a traffic accident.

TORONTO STREET RAILWAY and motor traffic employees rode along in antique splendor in Monday's Labor Day parade. They are seen in flag-decked old motor coach, closely followed by a modern style bus, just east of the Parkdale railway station.

Goddard Plans To Produce Film In France

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 7 (AP)—That international couple, Paulette Goddard and Burgess Meredith, are planning to produce their own picture in France.

Meredith is leaving for Paris to appear in "The Man on the Eiffel Tower" with Charles Laughton and Franchot Tone. Paulette will join him as soon as she finishes "The Mask of Lucretia."

Long Runs

Loretta Young is back at 20th-Fox after an eight-year absence and has her old gang working with her again. When he speculated about whether her "Rachel and the Stranger" (with Bob Mitchum and Bill Holden) would make money, she replied: "That is why I don't produce my own pictures—so I won't have to worry about whether they make money."

Jennifer Jones says she would like to do either "Romeo and Juliet" or "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" next. I asked if her long-run "Portrait of Jenny" is finally finished. "I think so," she answered, "but you never can be sure."

"The heiress," another Marathan production, is expected to wheeze to a halt this week. This will show you how long it has been shooting — Mona Freeman started her role in it, then did a big Western, "Streets of Laredo." Now she is back finishing up her role in "Heiress."

Trades Union Council Raps Wildcat Strikes

MARGATE, England, Sept. 7 — (AP). — The powerful trades union council adopted Monday a resolution condemning unauthorized strikes on the grounds they undermine union solidarity and hamper Britain's economic recovery.

The action came at the council's 80th annual conference, which brought together delegates from 188 trade unions representing nearly 8,000,000 workers.

The resolution reflected the concern of labor leaders over such wildcat strikes as that which tied up the port of London a few months ago.

Emanuel Shinwell, Secretary for War, told the delegates they must be prepared to make additional experiments in nationalization and "must not be deterred by opposition, nor intimated by politicians with axes to grind."

He hinted at a higher measure of direction in the conduct of privately-owned industry and said "we should also use the vast facilities afforded by the great co-operative movement in this country, principally in the field of distribution."

LAURENTI P. BERIA, Soviet secret police chief, is now looked upon as a man who is going places in Soviet politics. The death from heart attack of Col. Gen. Andrei A. Zhdanov brings him much closer to the charmed and tight little circle dominated by Stalin and Molotov. But Stalin is now old and ailing and it is only natural that Beria's name be whispered as a possible Stalin successor.

Pope Warns Germans May Fight Again

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 7—(AP)—Pope Pius XII told German Catholics Sunday in a speech by the Vatican radio they may have to fight "to the last drop of blood" for the indeepndence of the Roman Catholic church.

The pope did not say specifically against whom the German Roman Catholics may have to fight. It seemed clear, however, he wished to emphasize anew the peril of "athestic Communism", against which he has repeatedly rallied Catholics in the past.

Canadian Press In New Building

TORONTO, Sept. 7 — (CP) — Head office of The Canadian Press moved into its own home Saturday.

The heart of Canada's national news agency operates today from a modern two-storey building in downtown Toronto, built in eight months at a cost of $225,000.

Late Saturday the 11,000-mile wire system linking CP's 13 Canadian bureaux with its 93 newspaper members was hooked to teletypes in the new buildin's news room at 55 University Ave. A major wiring job, involving 15,000 separate connections and the routing of 15 miles of wire within the building itself, had been completed during the two months of advance work supervised by traffic chief M. W. Bradbury. The actual switching of the news flown from CP's previous quarters in the Metropolitan building was a matter of minutes.

The new building is a stone-fronted structure of reinforced concrete which will house CP, its radio subsidiary Press News, Ltd. and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association. Its foundations provide for eventual addition of third and fourth storeys.

"DODGE is first with me" say DODGE owners from coast to coast

"BECAUSE DODGE HAS BEEN A LEADER IN OFFERING WORTHWHILE NEW FEATURES FOR 35 YEARS"

From 1914 when Dodge was first to introduce the all-steel body . . . up to 1948 when Dodge added the extra comfort of super-cushion tires . . . you have been able to enjoy in a Dodge car the most modern features in automotive engineering and design.

Let's look at the engineering record: in 1931 Dodge adopted Floating Power, featuring 3-point rubber cushioned engine suspension* to cut the effect of engine vibration to a minimum; in 1934 Dodge added Scientific Weight Distribution, with all passengers cradled between the axles* — as part of the famous Dodge Floating Ride; in 1937 owners acclaimed the Hypoid Rear Axle* for its quieter operation and longer life — in 1939 Independent Front Wheel Suspension*, by absorbing road shocks, produced a much smoother ride — in 1941 Dodge introduced Fluid Drive* on its Custom models, which still remain the lowest-priced cars with this quality feature — also in 1941 Dodge set a new standard of motoring safety with blowout-safe Safety Rim Wheels — in 1946 Dodge eliminated the annoyance of the clogged fuel line by fitting an Oilite Permanent Fuel Filter in the gas tank — water and dirt is filtered from the gas before it enters the fuel lines; in 1948 Dodge once again was a leader in its price class by fitting super-cushion tires as standard equipment on all models.

Add to this outstanding engineering record the style and comfort that have always been combined in Dodge . . . restful chair-high seats — ample head and leg room — wide doors and many other comfort features . . . then you'll understand why Dodge owners say: "Dodge is First with me!"

*Only now being adopted by other manufacturers.

British Scientist Suspended From Job

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(AP).—Dr. Cabot Seton Bull, 45, a British scientist, said Monday he had been suspended from work at a government atomic energy research station in a purge of suspected Communists, fellow travellers and Fascists in defence departments. One Cloudy Day Blow To Hydro

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—The Ontario Hydro Commission has approached the municipalities with a request for co-operation in the event an emergency makes power cuts necessary in advance of Sept. 14 date set for the beginning of conservation, measures, Hydro Chairman H. R. Saunders disclosed last night.

"We are running so close to the line that we are a little nervous," explained Mr. Saunders. "Sept. 14 is the date set for inaugurating conservation of electricity, but any unexpected factor, such as a machine going out, may force us to revise our plans."

The commission chairman said that cuts in at-will power, particularly in the Niagara Peninsula, have been made in recent weeks, as much as 2,800,000 kilowatts in a single day.

"We have gone as far as we can reasonably go with these users of power in the Niagara Peninsula," Mr. Saunders said. "Unfortunately, we have no reserves because of the water situation. The exceptionally dry summer has aggravated our problem. We just haven't enough power to go around."

Cuts in interruptible power may have been made during the summer months, but even with these, the situation is grim, Mr. Saunders said.

'One cold, damp day would be pretty bad right now," he remarked.

Among Hastings Changes Music At Separate School

HASTINGS, Sept. 7—(ENS)—Children of the village are busy preparing to commence school next Tuesday morning.

The public school has been redecorated with 12 new desks and seats being added to the senior room.

Miss Highland of Markham has been engaged to replace Mrs. Miller in the teaching of the intermediate grade with Mr. McKeever teaching the senior grades and Mrs. Brown the juniors.

Owing to the overcrowding in the school it has been decided that unless a child has already reached the age of six by Sept. 1 he will not be admitted to the school.

The Hastings separate school has been busy reopening the back room which has been closed for five years with one teacher teaching all eight grades. This year the sisters of St. Joseph of Peterborough will staff the separate school up to grade 10 inclusive. They have also opened an academy of music in the former rectory of Our Lady of Mount Carmel where they will teach the children music, theory, vocal and instrumental.

JOHN T. HACKETT, KC, MP, retiring president of the Canadian Bar Association, congratulates Stanley H. McQuaig, KC, of Edmonton, who was recently elected president by acclamation.

Ontario Universities Expect Smaller Attendance This Year

By The Canadian Press

A grim housing shortage — especially for married couples — looks in certain cities as the first obstacle in the paths of students when they trek back to universities and colleges this Autumn.

A country-wide Canadian Press survey also reveals the pretty coed will have a smaller assortment of males to choose from as several centres report smaller expected enrolments. The smaller student bodies will result mainly from graduation of veterans. Many universities report new courses but no worries about insufficient teaching staffs.

Married students, especially those with children, will have the toughest time finding accommodation. But women, too, will have some difficulties as landlords are said to favor men when renting rooms or apartments. Special drives are being made by student administrations in various cities to find a home for the scholars — but all report difficulty.

Most Maritime universities still will be crowded, but other facilities, including housing, have improved slightly.

Both Laval University and the Univesity of Montreal in Quebec expect an enrolment on a level with last year, but the McGill University student body will be down.

Smaller Attendance

Ontario universities generally will have a smaller attendance. The University of Toronto expects 15,000 students compared with 17,000 last year, while the University of Western Ontario also reports a smaller expected enrolment. Assumption College at Windsor expects a slight increase.

At Toronto some 600 housekeeping units are needed for married couples. Arts, Science, Graduate studies and Medicine are the leaders at Toronto while Medicine, Arts ar Business Administration are tops at Western No new courses are planned at Varsity but a graduate school in Business Administration and an expansion in the Music course will be added at Western. All schools have sufficient professors.

The University of Toronto will continue to raise $13,000,000 for improvement. Of that amount the Ontario Government has pledged $7,000,000. Parts of a new Chemistry building and a Mechanical Engineering building will be ready by Christmas while a new Physics wing will open with the term. A new $450,000 Science building will open at Assumption.

Canon W. G. Swayne Dies In Brockville

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 7. (CP)—Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne, 82, retired clergyman of the Anglican Diocese of Ontario, died Friday night at his home at Athens after having suffered a heart attack last Tuesday.

Born at Smiths Falls, he graduated from Trinity College, Toronto, and after ordination in 1896, was stationed successively at Selby, Frankville, Oxford Mills, Athens, Christ Church, Belleville, Bath, Rawdon and Maitland, where he retired in 1942. He had been rural dean of Leeds and Hastings and a Canon since 1930. Last year he observed his golden jubilee as a priest.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne, Picton and Allan daughter, Mrs. McEwan, Bonarlaw, Ont.

War Reporters Choose New President

NORTH BAY, Sept. 7.—(CP).—J. F. Sanderson of Toronto was elected president for a two-year term of the Canadian Press War Correspondents' Association at its annual meeting Monday. Mr. Sanderson was a CP war correspondent in the first year of the war and now is public relations officer of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

John Dauphinee, CP's chief of bureau at New York, who served as a war correspondent in the later stages of the war, was elected secretary.

The association, which includes 20 war correspondents who worked for CP during the war, decided to draft a constitution within the next year.

In recognition of their services, three persons were elected to membership, including two who were not actually war correspondents in the field.

They were:

R. J. (Barney) Anderson, now CP's general night editor at Toronto, who handled war correspondent's copy at the New York cablehead during the war;

J. W. G. Clark, wartime director-in-chief of public relations, Canadian Armed Forces, who now is assistant to the president of the Canadian Investment Dealers' Association;

W. A. (Bill) Wilson, with United Press as a war correspondent and now on the CP staff at Ottawa.

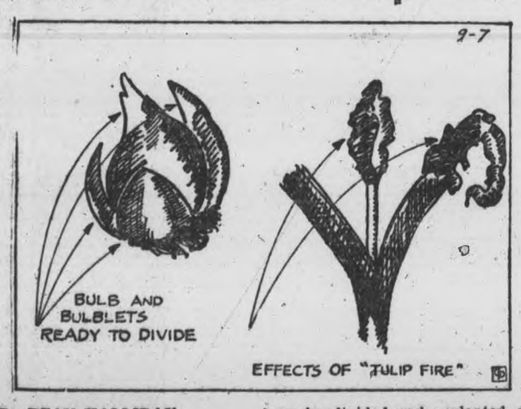
YOUR GARDEN . . .

How To Prevent 'Tulip Fire'



By DEAN HALLIDAY

TULIPS which have grown in one place for several years should be planted in a different location this fall as a prevention against "tulip fire." If this cannot be done then replace the soil in which the tulips have grown with new soil.

When tulips are infected with "fire" the leaves and flowers become spotted and "burned" in appearance, and the bloom is often completely destroyed, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Tulip "fire" also attacks the bulbs underground, destroying or damaging the bulbs.

When preparing to plant tulip bulbs this fall, take note that any which have split into three or four smaller bulbs, as illustrated, can be divided and replanted as separate bulbs.

Those which measure one inch or more in diameter will probably flower next spring. The smaller sizes of bulblets can be planted in rows in some out of the way spot in the garden where they will grow into flowering size.

After planting tulip bulbs cover the bed or border with hay, straw, leaves or other litter. This covering should not be put on, however, until several hard frosts have created a crust, this to prevent mice entering the ground unobserved. The covering should be removed as soon as the young shoots are visible in the spring.

If troubled with mice, moles or squirrels in tulip plantings, scatter partly crushed moth balls through the surface soil.

Regiment Starts Fall Training Thursday Night

Prefacing what is expected to be one of the outstanding military seasons of its career, the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment (PWR) RCA, Peterborough Reserve Force artillery unit will hold its first parade at the Armoury, Murray St., at 7.45 o'clock Thursday night of this week.

Fresh from summer camp, the regiment will commence a season of vigorous training, highlighted by Army Week, which is scheduled for September 20-26. Many interesting plans have been made for this huge recruiting drive for personnel for both the Active and Reserve Forces, and the regiment is playing a leading part in this area.

First parade of the season will take the form of a quartermaster's check of equipment, followed by an outline of the policy for the year. All ranks will gather in the gunners' mess following this session for their opening smoker of the season.

Already indications are that a goodly number of recruits will be gracing the ranks of the regiment this year, to add to more than a hundred who joined last season. Extensive plans have been made for the year's work, which will again be climaxed by 1949's summer camp.

Equipment is complete and ready for the season. This includes the new radar equipment received at the end of the last season, and the new wireless-carrier vehicles, which are being readied for work at the present time. The latter vehicles complete the "string" for the local regiment and it is now one of the best equipped reserve force regiments in Canada.

The unit will be operating a complete HAA gun site in front of the Armoury for Army Week, opening with great ceremony on September 20, Monday. His Worship Mayor Ovens will officially open the campaign, nt has been announced, and proceedings will be broadcast over CHEX. The parade area will be floodlit and competent instructors will be on hand to describe the equipment for citizens.

For the first time in Peterborough, citizens will have the privilege of peering into the radar sets which were so instrumental in sweeping British skies clean of German raiders, while in the Armoury, displays of radar, wireless, MT, and other equipments will be available for the spectators. Motion pictures are being scheduled for continuous operation and the unit's control room, where attacking aircraft are plotted, will be open to the public for inspection.

Arrangements have been made, in addition, for a special army "travelling" circus of equipment to visit Peterborough on Tuesday, Sept. 21. This circus will include about twenty special purpose army vehicles, including workshops, command vehicles, armored command vehicles and radar. A special recruiting team for the Active Force will be present on that evening, while throughout the week, a recruiting booth for both Active and Reserve Force will be operated in the Armoury by personnel of the 50th HAA Regiment.

Judging At CNE

Archie Clysdale, herdman of Old Orchard Farm east of the Lift Lock, is judging today the Hereford cattle class at the Canadian National Exhibition. This recognition of experience and his standing among Hereford breeders is appreciated by his Peterborough friends.

Mr. Clysdale is in charge of the John Stuart white faced cattle which are not represented at the C. N. E. It is understood that their next competition will be at the Royal Winter Fair in November following a sale of some of the Stuart Herefords.

6000 Students Register Many Stores Feel Impact

An estimated 6000 Peterborough boys and girls said an unofficial goodbye to the holiday season today, and hello to school days. By 8.30 a.m. clusters of children were already moving along the streets toward their local school. Most of them were eagerly awaiting assignment to their new classrooms apparently unlike Shakepeare's classical schoolboy "creeping like snail unwillingly to school. Like him, however, most of them had that "shining morning face."

More than 500 kindergarten children are expected to register, believed the largest group in the city's history. To accommodate this throng Peterborough has 10 public schools and five separate schools for junior grades. And for senior pupils there is PCVS and St. Peter's High School.

Both Confederation and Queen Mary Schools have had six room additions and they will nearly all be occupied immediately.

As the children were registered they were already renewing old acquaintances and making new ones. The younger ones were whispering conjectures about their new teacher, more interested in personalities than the year's work ahead.

Shop windows are full of text books, pencil boxes and other school paraphenalia. New school clothes have mainly all been purchased, but several merchants reported a last-minute rush on shoes.

Accommodation for the large number of school children in the fast-enlarging Peterborough area has been a constant source of worry to the local Board of Education. This year as a result of the new class rooms that have [illegible] that continue until two new buildings are completed—one in the north of the city and the other in the south.

Meanwhile, with their children no longer in the way, more than one Peterborough housewife is singing "School days, school days, dear old golden rule days." And she is singing it sincerely.

Planer Kicks Back Norman Wight Hurt

APSLEY, Sept. 7 —(Special)— Norman Wight, R.R. 3, Paudash lake, is in Civic Hospital in Peterborough in critical condition, with stomach injuries received at a sawmill near Paudash lake Saturday morning. A two-inch plank going through a planer being operated by Wight "kicked back" and struck him in the stomach. The badly injured man was admitted to hospital before noon.

Reports today said that his condition was "improving" but that he was still "not out of danger". Close relatives are now at the hospital. He formerly lived at Trent River.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

ARENA COMMITTEE MEETS

The meeting of the general committee of the Peterborough Civic Arena has been changed from tonight to Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The meeting, which will be held at the Arena HQ on George St., is expected to plan the fall campaign.

BUSINESS GOOD

A warm September is forecast, and cottage owners in the district report the demand for housekeeping cottages is brisk. Almost without exception summer cottages have been filled since before July 1, and this branch of summer business has been excellent.

VACATION READING CLUB

Vacation Reading Club of the boys' and girls' department of the Public Library closes on Saturday. A party is being planned for all children who have read 10 or more books, but it has not yet been decided when it is to be held. Admission will be by "cowboy" and prizes will be awarded to the outstanding boy and girl readers.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

A minor accident between two cars happened on Water St. about 3:30 Saturday afternoon. Drivers of the vehicles were M. J. Moher, 370 Rubidge St. and Charles J. Brown, 242 Symington Ave., Toronto. Damage to the Moher car was to a fender and bumper. The tire, rim, fender and steering of the Toronto car were damaged. PC Harold Mesley investigated.

HIGHWAY 7 POPULAR

Between 12:40 and 1:20 at noon Labor Day, 84 passenger cars, were counted at Downer's Corners heading west on highway 7. This indicates the growing popularity of this central highway, which is taking much of the cross-province traffic from No. 2 highway. About one third of the cars were American, the majority from New York state.

LOTS OF GRASS FIRES

Grass and rubbish fires kept the fire department hopping over the Labor Day weekend. On Saturday night there was a heap of burning rubbish at the rear of 697 Water St., later a bonfire at the Canal on McFarlane St. On Sunday there were grassfires at the rear of 32 Cameron St., at Leahy's Lane, Douro, and at the rear of 543 Park St. On Monday they also had two rubbish fires—one at the rear of 561 Gilmour St. and the other at the rear of 647 Park St. S. Firemen point out that it is against the law to start a fire outdoors without permission from the department; and they add that permission will not be given on Monday which is wash day.

Mother Killed As Motorcycle Takes To Ditch

A 37-year-old mother of two children died in Civic Hospital today from fractured skull received in an accident about eight o'clock Monday night. She was Mrs. James Wilson, 77 Park Hill Road.

The fatality happened about one mile east of Peterborough at the Keene turn on No. 7 highway. The dead woman, her husband and their two young children were all riding on Mr. Wilson's motorcycle, a small make machine with a tandem seat. Striking the gravel shoulder of the road, the motorcycle skidded and swerved for 300 feet, then went out of control and smashed into the ditch. None of the other three was injured. Mrs. Wilson died about 12 hours after the crash.

The children are Johnny, 3 years old and Gwen, 10 months. According to Mr. Wilson, his wife was riding on the rear seat holding the infant girl, who was wrapped in a heavy blanket. The little boy was on the front with his father, who was driving. There was some type of strapping arrangement to hold him in place.

Only minor scratches were received by the father and two children. It is believed that the infant girl fell against the mother's body when the machine upset, protecting the baby from the fall.

Provincial constable Harry Cooke investigated.

Light Rainfall Very Welcome

At least to the rural community the most important occurrence since Saturday was this morning's light fall of rain which appeared to be the outrider of accumulated moisture long on the way.

"Actually," said R. M. Peirson of Co-Op Services, "we've had more moisture than in both western and eastern Ontario, although some of our people may be doubtful about that. Visitors at our office last week expressed surprise at the comparative green appearance of the countryside after they had left Port Hope. It was a lot fresher looking than in both ends of the province.

There have been more rains scattered throughout this district than through the western counties where fields have been burnt up by long drought."

Mr. Pierson said he could not estimate effects of the lack of rain in the Peterborough area. Seeding of fall wheat has been retarded, and corn and late potato crops would be affected but the net result might not be serious.

Real Estate Agent W. Hetherington Dies

William Percy Hetherington died suddenly today at his home, 191 King St. Son of the late Stephen and Eleanor Hetherington, he was born at Millbrook and lived at Orillia before coming to Peterborough 50 years ago. Mr. Hetherington had been a real estate agent for many years and was a member of George St. United Church.

He leaves his wife, the former Alzena Frise, also a sister, Mrs. J. S. Ferguson, of Birchcliffe Heights, Toronto, and a brother, Walter, of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held on Thursday, September 9, at 3 p.m., from the Comstock Funeral Home and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. James Semple, of George St. United Church.

Rambling Reporter

THE LONG ARM

A thief with a poor sense of safety made a minor triumph over the Peterborough police department during the weekend. While investigating an accident, PC Harold Mesley laid his pair of dark glasses down. "Somebody"—a low-lifer indeed—made off with these essential instruments of a traffic officer. "Tell the guy to either return them or drop around for the case," said PC Mesley, idly outlining his plan of revenge if he should catch "the guy" later. Note to the unknown pick up artist: PC Mesley is a solid, well-built six-foot-one and weighs nearly 200.—RB.

Labor Organizer Warns Workers To Stand Firm

In a brief address to a crowd of nearly 3,000 people at Riverside Park on Labor Day, Ross Russell, organizing director of the UE-CIO, warned that "certain interests" were out to break the labor movement, and he bade the workers to stand united against this threat.

"They are trying to put into effect a witch hunt," he said, "using the same red-herring tactics that were employed previously by Hitler."

"We must decide to do this and we will have no serious trouble: we must hold our ranks solid against the profiteers and large corporations who are making millions and even billions."

"In the same way that we built the trade union movement we can hold the trade union movement, that is by fighting shoulder to shoulder. Let us continue to fight shoulder to shoulder."

Mr. Russell then reviewed recent labor achievements.

"Today it is traditional that we take inventory of the past year to determine our gains and successes as well as what lies ahead."

He briefly dismissed the recently-enacted labor code. "You have heard about the new National Labor Code which went into effect on Sept. 1. It is almost identical with the labor code introduced in this country in 1900.

And he claimed that the new code actually lacked some of the desirable features of that of 1900.

During the First World War and up to 1919 he said that Canadian workers had built a powerful union movement. "but in the years 1919-20 the trade union movement was decimated and all but completely smashed beginning with the general strike in Winnipeg."

"We had to start from scratch again," he said.

"I do not say that had we not been near dissolution we could have prevented a depression," he stated, "but it is possible we would not have reached the depth of that depression following 1929."

Gaining Strength

Mr. Russell emphasized the fact that during the past seven years that the united efforts of workers from coast to coast had restored the strength of the movement.

He maintained that the attempt failed because "thousands of workers, mainly in the picket line in 1946, maintained their unity regardless of race, religion or creed."

"Today in 1948 the trade union movement faces a more serious threat," he said. He contended that attempts are currently being made and will continue to be made to split the workers' unity through the device of a "witch hunt."

Alfred Barber, president of the Allied Labor Council thanked the citizens of Peterborough and the merchants and others who had supported them.

Describing Peterborough as a unionized city he said that labor wants two things: "One, a decent wage for the worker, and two, peace."

Mayor Ovens spoke briefly and said that he was delighted at the way labor and management were getting along in Peterborough. He

1,000 Children Entertained On Labor Day Athletic Champions Named

About 1000 children were guests of the Allied Labor Council on Labor Day. They received ice cream, chocolate and plain milk and other refreshments as the locals comprising the Peterborough Council turned the day over to them.

Highlight of the day was the series of athletic events held at Lions-Riverside Park which started off at 9 a.m. and except for an hour at lunch continued until shortly before 7 p.m. Jack Dane, Recreational Director, and his staff of play ground supervisors organized the giant field day which saw Riverside Playground win the banner and trophy presented by the Allied Labor Council.

The Riversiders coached by Max Florence took 10 firsts, one second and two thirds. Confederation Playground was a close second with six firsts, five seconds and three thirds. Following were Fleming Place with five seconds and six thirds; Inverlea with one first, three seconds and three thirds, and King Edward with three seconds and one third.

Competition was close and hard-fought for almost every event, but there were several outstanding performances. In the high jump Bryan Young, boys' bantam class (aged 14) rolled over the bar at 4 ft. 9 inches—15 inches higher than the standard expected fo his class.

Boy Sets Record

Jack Kimball, Lansdowne St., a midget completed a distance of 32 ft. 6 inches in the hop-step-and-jump; the standard is 25 ft.

Rosie McInroy, Cricket Place, a bantam (age 14) also did well in the hop-step-and-jump competition bettering the mark of those two years older than herself by going 27 ft. 10 inches.

But the outstanding competitor of the day was 8-year-old Lloyd Walling of Confederation who copped five firsts — high jump, running broad jump, standing broad jump, sprints and hop-step-and-jump. In the hop-step class he did 19 ft. 10 inches. Standard is 12 feet and his nearest competitor was 9 ft. behind him.

In the girls' primary class, Peggy Davidson, Riverside, also got five firsts.

Standards are set by the National Recreation Association in the United States which checks the results of thousands of track and field meets.

At 1.30 p.m. several hundred of the playground children joined in a parade from Charlotte and Aylmer Sts. to Riverside. They carried banners indicating their various centres. Some were dressed in costumes, others had gaily colored bicycles with streamers, and several little girls pushed decorated doll carriages. Prizes were awarded for these.

The parade was led by the Peterborough Pipe Band and included a sizeable turnout of the various locals, many of the marchers carrying placards denoting the local number or alternately, slogans denouncing the high cost of living.

Local 210 UPWA, Canada Packers, were led by their president Alfred Barber who trailed the slaughterhouse Judas goat on leash. The Packers also entered a float and were judged the neatest local on parade thus winning the Allied Labor Cup.

Prizes were awarded by Mayor William Ovens.

Thieves Ransack Factory Office

The offices of the Peterborough Block Company at 14 Langton St. were ransacked sometime during Monday night or this morning, it was found by employees on their arrival today. Nothing so far has been noticed missing, they said. Desk drawers, files and supplies were scattered in a thorough search of the place.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window leading to the shop and then entering through the shop into the office.

Provincial police are investigating.

Speedboat Burns At Chemong Is Total Loss

Tragedy was averted at Chemong Lake Monday afternoon as F. J. Buchanan brought his modern runabout launch, the "Fur Mouse" into Leonard Riley's private wharf on the Ennismore shore. Mr. Buchanan was testing the motor preparatory to taking six small children at the Riley camp for their last ride of the summer when the boat caught fire as he stepped on the starter.

There was no explosion but things happened so quickly, the owner was unable to extinguish the mounting blaze with the boat's fire extinguisher before he had to abandon it. The craft drifted more than half a mile down the shoreline before it burned itself out at the water line. Many people watched the boat burn as they made ready for the final trip to their homes after their Chemong vacation. It was a modern boat in every respect with every safety appliance on it and well-known on the lake for the past few years. Loss is estimated at $2,000.

Davies' Play Wins Acclaim

KINGSTON, Sept. 7.—(CP). — Robertson Davies, editor of The Peterborough Examiner, has scored another dramatic success with his first full-length play, "Fortune My Foe." Yesterday, it entered its second week here.

The play is presented by Arthur Sutherland's International Players, a professional stock theatre group. Grant MacDonald, artist on the staff of Queen's University here, has painted impressionistic sets representing an easily-recognizable illegal Kingston "club house" of a few years ago. In the open door he painted the skyline of this limestone city.

"Fortune My Foe," a comedy, is built around the character and difficulties of two university teachers, one old and embittered by his treatment in Canada, the other young and attracted by more lucrative work in the United States. Balancing their problems is that if a displaced European determined to remake his life in Canada by establishing the ancient art of puppetry despite a growing Canadian indifference to theatrical arts.

500 Attend Regatta at Curve Lake

Top Paddlers Show Skill And Competition Was Very Keen.

Lake in the Curve Lake Indian Reserve Labor Day to watch and take part in one of the most successful regattas that has even been held. It is the first since the war, staged by 12 women of the Home Makers' Club. They worked hard at the difficult preparation and kept the long list of water and land events rolling along without a hitch.

It was truly an Indian affair and they came by car, chartered buses and even seaplanes from Alderville, Hiawatha, Scugog Island, Christian Island, Georgina Island and Burleigh Falls and, for some, it was an annual meeting with old friends. The day was warm and the brisk west wind blowing over the wild rice beds on Buckhorn did little to cool the sweating contestants or fan a packed shoreline of spectators.

The regatta quite naturally featured paddling, an art that the Curve Lake ancestors gave to the first white explorers. It was interesting to note the enthusiasm which they entered each event. Prizes were modest and ran mostly to merchandise. Racing was hard work and people who decry the Indian as having lost the heritage of paddling would only have had to enter some of the events on tourists in the crowd enjoying the events and although the Indians shouted encouragement in their soft Ojibway tongue, a modern loudspeaker system gave the gathering a modern touch.

Following canoe races of every conceivable description, there were land sports, chiefly foot races, for toddlers of five years to men and women over 70, the latter very spry indeed.

The refreshment booth, also run by the Home Makers' Club did a roaring trade and by careful foresight, did not run short of any merchandise. There was prize-giving in the evening at the Community Hall and a large square dance to wind up the big day.

Prize winners were as follows:

Underground Nile Can Create Farms In The Libyan Desert

By HAIG NICHOLSON

CAIRO, Sept. 7—(Reuters)—Men of vision in Egypt are considering how the desert may be made to bloom and produce with water from a buried river. Only about three per cent of Egypt's 386,110 square miles is under cultivation, the rest is desert waste, most of it incapable of supporting human life.

The men who want to see grain, cotton, and other crops replace the huge expanses of slow-shifting sand know that water in the key to their problem.

The Nile could provide much of the water needed for irrigation. Every year huge quantities of rich sediment—which means potential loam—are swept unused to sea during the flood period.

But the desert planners are looking to other means of obtaining water. Running through the Libyan desert is a subterranean Nile fed from the Sud Region or Lower Egypt. The level of this underground river is stable the year round and none of its mineral-bearing water is received by the sea.

This subterranean Nile is no new discovery. It was known, and used, in the age of the Pharoahs. Research in recent times has shown that the river runs from south to north and that its supply is apparently inexhaustible.

To exploit the waters of the underground river would not require elaborate irrigation systems controlled by costly dams. It could be done by means of wells, and experts estimate land could be reclaimed at between $12 and $20 an acre.

It Was Done Before

Rehabilitation of what is known as the Valley of the Oases is not a fanciful scheme. Until the Christian era, the oases were thickly populated—perhaps by 2,000,000 persons—with agriculture and wine—making the chief occupations.

But civil war and raids by nomadic tribesmen interrupted their peaceful life. The fertile oases became deserted. Wells and cisterns were neglected. In recent years the population of the oases has been no more thtan 30,000.

Government surveys in 1942 showed a minimum of 150,000 acres could be made ready for immediate cultivation by con-

[illegible] Egyptian irrigation scheme calls for refilling of the Quattam Depression, a natural barrier which helped the British Eighth Army turn the Axis tide at Alamein. The depression is the greatest in Africa, 450 feet below sea level. It has been suggested that this dried up lake, 11,000 square miles in extent, should be filled again, possibly by means of a canal from the River Nile.

Turning the depression into a fresh-water lake (there is evidence from engravings it was done in the past) would probably change the climate of northwestern Egypt. With the expected rainfall, the area would be transformed from a desolate wasteland into farming country.

There are still other schemes to make the desert fertile. All are dependent on water, the lifeblood of Egypt; and upon roads and railways to link the reclaimed areas with important centres in the Nile Valley.

Famous Leader To Clean Up Sicily's 'Mafia'

By JOHN P. McNIGHT

ROME, Sept. 7 —(AP)—The Italian government has again put one of its best-known policemen on the trail of Sicily's notorious Mafia.

He is 60-year-old Francesco Spano, veteran inspector of public security, who was sent to the island last April after the machine-gun slaying of Calogero Cangialosi, Communist labor leader.

Spano went with orders to clean up Sicily, a job he did once before for Benito Mussolini 20 years ago. This time he went with 750 Carabinieri, all well-mounted and equipped with arms ranging up to light field pieces, and 350 special agents.

Grey-haired Spano is not finding this second campaign to uproot the deep-rooted Mafia easy going.

Police and Carabinieri still fall before Mafia or bandit guns in the island's more remote hills. The brazen, near-legendary bandit leader "Guiliano" still proves elusive, although several times Spano's men have been hot on his trail.

But Spano, keeping his "mobile force" on the move in the hills, thinks he is making some progress and points to the lessening number of bandits' raids in proof.

Just now, Spano's forces are most active in the always troublesome Partinico area, where there have been several attacks recently on men employed to guard crops. One of these was killed July 4.

So far, Spano says, he has been "getting the feel of things." When, he is ready Sicilians look for an all-out offensive, for the inspector has a reputation for cleaning up mobsters, especially the Mafia.

Veteran Bandit-Fighter

For 20 of his 36 years in police he fought the Mafia and Sicily's bandits generally. After an intensive campaign, which at some stages approached all-out war, Spano virtually wiped them out in 1928.

But 16 years later the mob was back again, nurtured by post-war strains, economic dislocation, war veterans turned malcontents and the separatist movement. All these pressures are in abundant evidence on this semi-feudal island.

One Sicilian political leader, a Liberal, said: "Until the economic plight of the island is improved, until there are good roads everywhere, until adequate and well-drilled police forces are provided, we will always have the Mafia."

Leftists claimed Cangialosi was the 35th Communist labor leader killed by the Mafia in the last two years. The government claims the number is much less.

Spano says much of the furore over the deaths of leftist leaders was "political speculation intended to influence the (April 18) elections." Many of those slain, he said, died in private, non-political fights. Furthermore, Christian Democrats and other Rightists have met sudden death on the island.

The inspector says Mafia operations centre in western Sicily, where there are many great estates. With normal police forces insufficient to hold down banditry and check theft of crops and land seizures, Spano said, many overseers make contracts with organized bands in the hope of getting peace.

NANCY OLSON (LEFT), a starring principal of the Nat Holt film production, "Canadian Pacific," now on location in Banff, near Calgary, Alta., welcomes Shirley Cain, 17-year-old Banff girl originally from Calgary, to the picture's cast. Miss Cain will be the only Canadian girl so enlisted by the Hollywood movie troupe, whose director is Edwin L. Martin. Randolph Scott is starred as the railway surveyor who finds the vital pass across the Rockies.

Thousands At Resorts Or Picnic On Sunny Labor Day Holiday

By The Canadian Press

Canadians enjoyed a warm and sunny Labor Day in most parts of the Dominion. They spent the summer's last holiday week-end relaxing at home, thronging to trade union picnics, parades, sports events or summer resorts.

Heaviest tourist traffic in the country jammed highways leading to Toronto and the Canadian National Exhibition. Many Canadian and United States motorists slept in automobiles beside the roadside.
